

OCTOBER

AN UPDATE FROM MILLER MISSIONS

HELLO FAMILY AND FRIENDS

Hello friends. It's October, World Mission Month. Wow. The last several months have flown by. I apologize for not keeping on top of our newsletter. I have been slacking and will commit to doing better. We have been busy and the work continues.

In June, I (Dan) was in Paraguay and while there, participated in our Missions School along with our pastor from Canada, Daniel Chatham. He taught some great classes as well as visited some churches and taught and preached at each one. Kyle and I were able to do the translating for him as well as teach some of the classes.

This is the second time we've done a mission school here in Paraguay. This time we had 6 students who spent one week of teachings at the dorm, and then a week of outreach where they were able to help people in need. We are excited to say that one of the people we were able to help and minister to is hoping to get baptized in the next month.

During the outreach week, the team was also able to begin the construction of the local church in a town about 45 minutes away called Tajy Loma. This is a recent church plant in our district that had been having their church services under a mango tree. The team was able to leave enough supplies to continue building the walls and they look forward to having a finished building in the near future.

In July, we started visiting churches and participated in our General Assembly. It is always a joy to be able to reconnect with friends and family from around the globe. I also had the privilege at the Assembly of helping the Mission Department by driving the shuttle bus and transporting many of our National Bishops to and from the airport. It was wonderful meeting many of them that I had previously not known. I also want to recognize two amazing leaders from the Mission Department that are often behind the scenes but help make so many things happen. Shelly and Stephanie, thank you for all you do. You bless so many people.

During July and August, we were able to visit with some churches in Canada including presenting at our local church in Collingwood. Kyle and Dani went without me to visit Taylor, Michigan, and then we all returned to the USA for another 4 weeks of visits.

This was the first time that I have been able to travel and visit with Kyle, Dani, and Seth together. Normally I am going one direction and they are going another direction.

In September, Kyle, Dani and Seth went back to Paraguay in time for the annual youth convention. Kyle has been preparing ministry teams and his events teams handled all the organization and logistics. The theme was "Follow me" and laid the ground work for what will continue in January at the annual youth camp which has the theme "Abide".

Visiting with each of you is one of the highlights of what we get to do as missionaries. I have said many times and will repeat it here that you are the reason we get to do this. It would not be possible without you. Your faithfulness and support are amazing and we thank each of you. There are still churches to visit which I hope to do in the new year. I will be contacting you, pastors, to see if we can schedule a date.

On the health side of things, I just had my 15 month visit with my Oncologist and everything is going well with the treatments of the cancer. All the numbers are where they are supposed to be. Praise the Lord for this piece of good news. My back is still giving me problems though and I am trying to work through that. Your prayers are appreciated.

We love you and appreciate you. Hope to see more of you soon.
