HIGHLIGHT

No spot was acceptable for various million Palestinians as Israeli bombs pulverized the Gaza Strip, including parts of the Palestinian locale that Israel had articulated "safe zones." Something like 12 people were killed and modest bunches harmed when a confidential design in the southern city of Khan Younis was struck, clinical work force at Nasser Crisis facility said. The heightened shelling came one day after Israel agreed to allow limited shipments of magnanimous aid into southern Gaza from Egypt.

ABOUT PALESTINE - ISRAEL WAR

Israeli Flying corps continued to strike southern areas regardless of the order for people in #Gaza to move south," the UN Help and Works Association said. The association said something like 14 of its own staff had been killed and nine more harmed – adding that the "veritable number is presumably going to be significantly higher" – in less than two weeks since a faltering, terrible attack of Hamas aggressors killed more than 1,000 Israeli occupants and empowered military kickbacks from Israel.

The death toll of Israelis and Palestinians beat 5,000, making the dispute the deadliest of five contentions including the flimsy, thickly populated part of land lining Israel, Egypt and the Mediterranean Sea
