NEWSLETTER

One of the most memorable aspects of our journey was the hospitality of the local people. The warm smiles and open hearts of the Balti and Hunza people made us feel like family. We shared stories over cups of freshly brewed apricot tea and enjoyed traditional meals like Balti dumplings and chapshuro.

In the summer of last year, my family embarked on a remarkable adventure to Gilgit-Baltistan (GB), a region often referred to as Pakistan's crown jewel. Nestled in the northernmost part of Pakistan, GB is renowned for its breathtaking landscapes, vibrant culture, and warm-hearted people.

Our journey began in Islamabad, where we boarded a flight to Skardu, a gateway to this enchanting region. As we descended into Skardu, we were greeted by the awe-inspiring panorama of the Karakoram Range, with peaks like Nanga Parbat standing tall in the distance. It was a sight that left us spellbound and set the tone for our entire trip.

Over the next two weeks, we explored various towns and valleys, each with its unique charm. Hunza Valley, with its terraced fields and historic Baltit Fort, offered insights into the rich heritage of the region. We also trekked to Rakaposhi Base Camp, where we were humbled by the grandeur of the mountains.

About Morocco's Earthquake

On September 9, 2023, a magnitude 6.8 earthquake hit Morocco, centered in the High Atlas Mountains near Marrakech. It caused significant damage, with over 2,100 casualties and 2,400 injuries, mainly affecting rural communities. Morocco's seismic activity is due to its location on the African-Eurasian plate boundary. While some earthquake-resistant measures are in place, further efforts are needed to enhance preparedness and safety in the face of future seismic events
