

GOLF TOURNAMENT NEWS

Volume 2

July 1995

1995 GOLF TOURNEY BIG SUCCESS!

In spite of a soggy beginning, this year's tournament proved to be the biggest ever. Registrants included many high-profile success stories from other PGA tournaments. Unfortunately, the rain must have kept them away.

It seemed like just another day on the course until the tension-filled putt-off determined the win. With a gallery of also-rans behind them, the two pairs faced off on the practice putting range. This was not a moment for the fainthearted. Joe Dewey and Sean Thomson, after having eagled the par-5 18th hole, faced Phil Coudret and Tim Krumm, who birdied the same hole to tie at three-under par 67 (maybe next year they'll all play up to par). As the crowd drew near, Joe, Sean, Phil, and Tim told them to back off.

The Runners-Up and the Winners in a happier moment.

Only one pair emerged victorious—Phil and Tim.

The ceremonial glass of milk was not available for our winners, so they were forced to drink Gerst beer. Their names will be engraved on the tournament trophy, joining past winners Mark Jester (1992), Joe Dewey (1993), and Mark Jester and Ed Shannon (1994). (This trophy is on display at the Theriac Golf Museum and Therapeutic Massage Parlor [registered masseuse available 24 hours a day]. The museum curator usually greets visitors with a Sterling beer in his hand. Hours for the museum vary; please phone ahead for tour information and daily specials, including catch of the day.)

Other tournament winners included Jim Dewey (Ping Closest to the Pin Award), Theresa Krumm (Titleist Longest Drive Award), and Mitch Theriac (GQ magazine's Best-Dressed Award).

In this issue...

From the Executive Committee	2
Participant photos	3
Questionnaire	4

From the Desk of the Executive Committee...

We would like to thank everyone who participated in the 1995 Memorial Day Golf Tournament. We believe it went very well—once the rain stopped and golfing could begin! Response grows each year. This year we had representatives from Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Pennsylvania.

There is rumor of a possible Labor Day Golf Outing. The Junior Executive Committee (JEC), comprised of Sean Thomson, Bill Pearson, and C. J. Theriac, offered to coordinate the festivities. As this is their first major tournament, please bear with them as they experience growing pains—they probably are not as structured as the Executive Committee (EC), although we all know Julie does all the work. Even though they want to break free from the confinement of the EC, Julie is happy to offer her help in planning the tournament.

We hope that everyone had an enjoyable time golfing and celebrating afterwards. Our thanks go out again to the Theriacs for their wonderful hospitality and to our corporate sponsor, Castrol Racing.

Here's hoping that everyone can make it again next year!

P. S. We've enclosed a questionnaire for all of you to fill out (sorry Sean, you don't get one). We'd like some feedback and we're open to suggestions for improving the tournament in the years to come. Please take the time to complete and send it to John at the address provided. Thanks in advance for your help.

From time to time, the executive committee will offer assistance to golfers in need of their expertise. Direct questions you may have to any member of the executive committee.

Q: Sometimes I have a good round going and then I have a bad hole or two and everything falls apart. How can I calm myself and not ruin the day?

—S.T.

Lexington, KY

A: The best way to regroup is to focus on your next shot. Every time I focus on shot after shot after shot, I don't even know what my score is at any particular time. That's when I score the best. Playing a lot is one way to get better and calming down and focusing. When your mind starts wandering, it gets off what you're trying to do and golf becomes a wishing game. Don't wish. Focus.

—J. P.

Please take a moment to complete this questionnaire and send it to:

504 N. Emerson

Thank you!

When applicable, circle the number that corresponds to your answer.

Do not write in the shaded boxes.

- 02 No

- ☐..... Other, please specify: _____

- 02No

-
-
-
- | | |
|--|--|
| | |
|--|--|

-
-
-
-

-
-
-
-
-
-

The Participants...

Jim Dewey, Ping Closest to the Pin Award Winner

Mitch Theriac, GQ Best Dressed Award Winner

Theresa Krumm, Titleist Longest Drive Award Winner