

“Stop! You’ll ruin the feng shui!”

Stress relief: the living room just isn’t the place for it.

You’ll scare the guests, ruin a meal, and quickly cost yourself hundreds of dollars. So, before you burn a hole in your pocket with a hole in your TV, reserve a space at the DESTRUCTION ROOM.

Studies show that Americans are angrier than ever—many of them willing to punish inanimate objects because of it (no wonder the drywall business is thriving!)

But punching holes into walls and screaming into pillows is both expensive and socially unacceptable.

You need something to break, and we just happen to have a bunch of junk piled up that needs to be demolished, shattered, and pulverized. So, come blow off some steam in an environment tailored for pent-up frustration.

People come to us for many reasons:

- “It was a rough day at the office.”
- “That contractor hasn’t called me back yet.”
- “Virginia drivers have yet to discover the turn signal.”

Whatever your reason is, we can all come together and smash an old Magnovox Color TV console...or a clock radio...or anything else that will put you at ease. You bring the stress, and we’ll clean up the mess.
