

The Active Shooter Prevention Project presents the Train. Be Ready. Library Program

Assessment, Training & Roadmap

ASPP's Train. Be Ready. Library Program is custom-built for libraries, and begins with a basic, straightforward Assessment conducted by a member of our highly-experienced community of experts, establishing a baseline to build upon.

The TBR Library Program 4-hour P.R.O. Model (Prevention, Response, and Options) Training is prevention-focused, and our workshops are built for medium-sized (10-200 person) audiences. These comprehensive seminars are conducted in a "give and take" style that is very popular with all audiences. These training workshops are custom-tailored for each client, so we ensure that the training fits YOUR needs and desires.

The TBR Library Program concludes with an After-Action Report, providing you with a clear Roadmap to further securing your facility and preparing your staff, partners, and community for the future.

Why ASPP?

Chris Grollnek, America's Active Shooter Expert, is the Founder of the Active Shooter Prevention Project.

Based in Texas, ASPP has built a world-class organization comprised of experienced FBI/HRT, CIA, and military specialists who offer unparalleled active shooter preparedness training. Our approach is not only highly informative, but also easy to understand and implement, making it accessible to individuals of all skill levels.

ASPP is laser-focused on establishing a new national standard of active shooter prevention for civilians across the country.
