If you itemize deductions on your federal tax return, you may be entitled to claim a charitable deduction for your donations. According to the Internal Revenue Service a taxpayer can deduct the fair market value of food, clothing, household goods, used furniture, shoes, books and so forth. Fair market value is the price a willing buyer would pay for them. Value usually depends on the condition of the item. By law, a charity cannot tell you what your donated items are worth. This is something you must do yourself.

To assess "fair market value" for your donations: Consult a local tax advisor who should be familiar with market values in your region and/or review the tax guides available from the IRS in Publication 561.

Dear Donor,

Thank you for your contribution to Shelby County Outreach Ministries, Inc. We appreciate our support. We serve the needy and low income of Shelby County. Our Emergency Food program provides for about 200 families each month. We also serve an average of 200 noon meals a month. It is because of people like you that we are able to assist these families.

God Bless,

Patsy Jackson
