

THE MEMORY LINGERS

Broken hands hold your broken heart
Pieces slip through my fingers
Our lives are spent searching for innocence
When only the memory lingers

CHORUS

If we could write it all down
To keep alive the dying dream
This ink could be our saviour
If we could work out what that means.
Work out what that means

Memories fade, faced with distraction
The cracks appear at the edges
They tear at the threads, hold us together
Trying to unbalance this ledger

CHORUS

If we could write it all down
To keep alive the dying dream
This ink could be our saviour
If we could work out what that means.
Work out what that

BRIDGE

And if time it waits for no man
Can we change our form today?
If all we need are photographs
Take one now before we fade
Coz I don't wanna live forever
Unless I'm living by your side
Let me taken these broken memories
And bring em back to life,
Just bring em back to life.

SOLO CHORUS

If we could write it all down
To keep alive the dying dream
This ink could be our saviour
If we could work out what that means.
Just work out what that means

MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Broken hands hold your broken heart
Pieces slip through my fingers
We spend our lives searching for innocence
To find that time when the memory lingers
