If I were Fran-ces spelled with an "I" In o-ther words a man, they'd treat me like a col-league, a mem-ber of their clan. In - stead I have to work twice as hard for half the cre - dit, But I don't let it get in my way.

You have to play with the cards in your hand The odds are a-against you if you take a stand. It's a man's world but you can claim suc - cess and fame by learn-ing to play the game.
