

FEATURE FILM SCREENPLAY COVERAGE

TITLE	Erin Brockovich
LOGLINE	A broke single mother fights for justice in a community suffering from deadly water pollution.

SUBMITTED TO	Jeffrey Hirschberg	AUTHOR	Susannah Grant
SUBMITTED BY	Takla Younes	COVERAGE DATE	3/16/2024
READER	Takla Younes	DRAFT DONE	First Draft
LENGTH	140	TIME PERIOD	Present
LOCATION	California	BUDGET	Small
GENRE	Drama	SIMILAR PROJECTS	The Biggest Little Farm
ATTACHMENTS	N/A

	EXCELLENT	GOOD	FAIR	POOR
PREMISE		X
PLOT			X
PRODUCTION VALUE			X
CHARACTERS		X
DIALOGUE		X
SETTING		X
STRUCTURE		X

CASTING POTENTIAL		X
------------------------------	--	---	--	--

	RECOMMEND	CONSIDER	PASS
SCRIPT		X
WRITER		X

SUMMARY:

ERIN BROCKOVICH is a broke single mother to MATHEW, KATIE, and BETH. She can't find a job and she's in debt. Erin is in a job interview and she was not accepted. On her way home she gets in a car accident and it was not her fault. She lost the court case against the person who hit her. She blamed her lawyer ED MASRI. Her neighbor babysits her kids while she goes to job interviews but is moving out. Her new neighbor, GEORGE owns a motorcycle, he gets a lot of money from his work so he leaves work and lives a basic life with the money he gets. He offered her to babysit her kids and she accepted the offer. She starts to work in Ed's firm. While she was looking at some medical records, she discovered the water contamination which was coming from the PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY (PG&E). Erin asks Ed if she can look into it and he accepts. She left for a couple of days because she visited DONNA's house to ask her about the water. She goes to the LAHONTAN REGIONAL WATER BOARD where she finds files that can help her. Then she asks BAXTER, a scientist about the chemicals in the water. The percentage in the water makes people die or gives them disease. When she got back to the office, she found out that Ed fired her because she hadn't gone to work for a few days. The second day Ed knocks on her door to tell her that he got a call about the money from the scientist confirming the chemical. Ed wanted more information about the water contamination so she wanted him to hire her back with a raise to tell him about what she knows. George and Erin are now a couple and live at Erin's house. He takes care of her kids and she works in the firm. Everyone liked Erin and respected her. The case was accepted by the judge to go to court. The PG&E company lawyers sat with Erin and Ed after the decision to talk about a deal. They did not accept anything. In the end, they won the case and got 333 million dollars from PG&E company.

COMMENTS:

PG&E company is not competitive, it was when Erin and Ed met the lawyer from PG&E company after the judge's decision. The script is too long. There are a lot of characters.

PASS, CONSIDER, or RECOMMEND

Consider