

film

HOLLYWOOD HYPE!

Sneak a peek into the stars' lives with Tiffany Rose...

The highlight of my month was having a cuppa with 2 Fast 2 Furious hunk, Paul Walker. The blued-eyed actor's even fitter in the flesh! Paul, who's currently sharing a beach house with a gang of mates, 'fessed up that he doesn't like 'glam' Hollywood parties, but prefers to throw on his shorts and hit the waves. Now, that we'd love to see!

If Leonardo DiCaprio 'accidentally' bumps into you, then y'know he fancies you! Leo was hanging out at a karaoke bar, when he spied a cute gal across the room.

Instead of approaching her, he waited for her to walk by before pretending to knock into her. You'd think the A-list star her. You'd think the A-list star would've had the guts to chat the poor lass up properly!

An angry Mena Suvari marched into a florist last week, carrying a bunch of wilted roses. The American Pie star told the manager: "I bought these yesterday, and all the petals fell off!" Mena, whose nickname at school was 'Mean Bean' turned her nose up at replacements and demanded a $40 credit at the store instead! What a diva!

J.Lo and hubby, Ben, keep in shape by hiking up Runyon Canyon together, in the Hollywood Hills. When they finish the gruelling 45-minute run, a limo equipped with towels and breakfast awaits the sweaty pair. That's what I call working out in style!

