

Creative Writing Coursework

My educational experience studying creative writing spans the high school, undergraduate, and graduate levels, providing me with a broad understanding of how writers develop across different forms of writing stages and their academic and personal growth. These personal experiences with creative writing have encouraged a stronger sense of voice, strengthening my critical reading and revision practices, and exploring diverse literary forms and styles. Taking creative writing for teachers has reinforced my belief that effective pedagogical instruction balances form with creative freedom, while encouraging students to experiment, reflect, and engage authentically with their own lived experiences and diverse perspectives while developing a deeper self-confidence in their craft and analytical abilities.

- Traverse City Central High School Creative Writing (2004)
- Arizona State University (ASU) Creative Writing Undergraduate Course (2023)
- Indiana University-East (IU) Graduate Creative Writing for College Teachers (2026) About IU Creative Writing ENG-W508