THE INSTITUTE OF NEW DIMENSIONS Fall 2022 Semester - In-Person and Virtual Courses Registration Form for Hand Completion

Important Notes Regarding In-Person Courses:

Our student body is elderly and includes some who are not in perfect health. We are therefore paying special attention to Covid, a continuing problem with constantly evolving variants. We are implementing mitigation rules which are a combination of recommendations from the New Jersey Health Department, rules mandated by our rental space and our own considerations. In spite of our best efforts, all attendees should recognize that there can be no guarantees that other persons, or any area in our venue, will be Covid-free, any more than at any other location outside of one's home. In registering for and attending an in-person course a student is recognizing that fact, is assuming any risks involved, and agrees that if the student contracts Covid or any variant thereof, the student waives the right to assert any claims of any nature whatsoever against IND and/or our venue relating in any way to the contracting of Covid.

For all attendees, our practices against the spread of COVID may change over time. At a minimum they will include: Requiring a scan of your vaccination card showing up-to-date vaccination and booster shots; moving about inside the building and sitting six feet apart (except for family, or friends who travel together); wearing masks at all times when in the building; and not attending within five days of having tested positive for Covid or on a day when you have any doubts about your health.

Although an individual may not feel it important to abide by these restrictions, there will be attendees with compromised immunity levels for whom it is necessary to rely on all of the group to follow the rules.

Instructors who find it difficult to speak for 90 minutes while wearing a mask may be unmasked while keeping six feet from all others.
