According to the US Food and Drug Administration, "There is currently no evidence of food, food containers, or food packaging being associated with transmission of COVID-19. Like other viruses, it is possible that the virus that causes COVID-19 can survive on surfaces or objects. For that reason, it is critical to follow the 4 key steps of food safety—clean, separate, cook, and chill. If you are concerned about contamination of food or food packaging, wash your hands for at least 20 seconds after handling food packaging, after removing food from the packaging, and before you eat."
