

I have been in real estate 17 years and seen a lot of change and development of brand new communities and rebirth of existing neighborhoods throughout San Diego County. Resistance to change is inevitable. Acceptance of change is controversial. But change is unavoidable. The upside? Change brings about conversation, opinion, and action - all of which can bring a community together.

"Change is normal...and can bring communities together"

Point Loma is experiencing a lot of change and more to come. Liberty Station was probably the biggest real estate development project in the past 30 years. And though it has brought unwanted traffic congestion, it has also brought a lot of benefits to our community. It brings commerce, opportunity, and support to our future generations (think schools and the arts), public recreation, retail, housing, and fuels local small businesses such as our former fitness studio, The Bar Method which we opened in 2008 at the height of bank crisis but has succeeded because of all of you.

THE MCCURDY MINUTE

Real Estate Topics Everyone Can Relate To

We are grateful for the opportunity Liberty Station provided us for 11 years and look forward to watching the business continue to flourish with its new owner.

More projects are in the works in Point Loma including "The Post" and creating more parks and recreation between Midway District and Mission Bay. Some may view these changes as problem - others as opportunity.

Regardless, home owners have benefited with higher than average equity gain. The investment in a home is still one of the best long-term options you can make.

So, whether you agree or disagree with the changes ahead for our home town, consider investing in real estate. Surrounded by water, beach to one side, harbor to the other, a National Park, great schools, unparalleled recreation, destinations such as Liberty Station, proximity to downtown and airport, we are becoming one of the most desirable areas in San Diego. Inventory and physical space to build is limited, which equates to valuable land.
