THE PINK ISSUE

Pink Princesses & Pink Passion

What an honor it was to host the first Darling Divas, Pink Princess Pageant. This was a special pageant for our little divas ages 3 to 8 years old. What a great time they had competing in introduction, tutuwear, casualwear and princesswear/glamwear. Our Divas also raised funds for Susan G. Komen for the Cure.

We also had the pleasure of honoring two of our Diva moms, Joan Morrison and Erica Clifton who are both battling breast cancer. They were both crowned honorary Divas by their daughters. Meet these two beautiful ladies and read what their girls had to say about them in this issue.

Check out pictures from this special pageant in this issue. We are also getting ready to rock White Plains with our 2013 “Boogie Wonderland” National Pageant. Hope to see you all there.

Meet our Honoree ERICA

and Jahneisha's dication to her mom

My mom has Breast Cancer...

Having a mother who has breast cancer is not easy. It's hard seeing all the medicine she has to take. Every day going to a breast cancer specialist to make sure she is healthy. Dealing with breast cancer looks stressful and overwhelming. With my mom having to take radiation, I think it's taking a toll over her body and making her very emotional. In the next couple of weeks she will have to take chemotherapy where she is going to lose her hair. The best thing a kid like me can do is stay strong for my mom.

Meet our Honoree Joan

and Mckayla's dication to her mom

Hi, my name is Mckayla Morrison. I am your Darling Divas and Dashing Dons Pageant 2012-2013 National Ultimate Grand Supreme. My mom has cancer. While my mom was going through chemo I wondered why it had to happen. I was mad. Not at my mom, not at myself, I was mad that tons of women and their families have to go through this. Even throughout my mom's chemo she never gave up. She really tried. She still tried to cook and clean to the point where my dad actually had to tell her to rest. My mom still took me to pageants, hang out with me even it was just watching TV together. When I grow up I will raise money for breast cancer awareness. You can help too. People need to realize that this is something real. We need to kick cancer in its butt, LOL. You never think it will happen to you or someone you love until it happens. Together we can stop cancer. It's a battle but you have to keep your head up high and keep fighting like my mom. No breast cancer is more birthdays. I don't know what I would do without my mom.

Key's Page

I am a Pink Princess

Please send letters, pictures, jokes, riddles, etc that you would like me to use on my page. Email to info@mydarlingdiva.net or mail to Darling Divas Pageant "Key's Page" at 4323 Clarendon Road, Brooklyn, NY 11203.

This is a repeat of what was printed in the Pink Princess Pageant Program book. It is sometimes difficult to share matters that are private. But some things are important to repeat if it will cause a reaction that will help someone's life.

Hello, I am 17 year old KeyAna Williams. Earlier this year, at a routine physical, a lump was discovered in my breast. My doctor recommended I have a sonogram done as a precaution. The result of this test was a mass that was "suspicious and abnormal". I was then ordered to a specialist who advised removal of the lump for a more thorough look.

Fortunately for me, tests on the mass proved that it was benign, a relief to me and my family. Again I am 17 years old and a lump was discovered in ME, a normal, otherwise healthy teenager. I encourage everyone to give yourself routine self exams and if you discover anything that is not supposed to be there, talk to your doctor. Also, make sure a breast exam becomes part of your annual physical exam whether it is manual, sonogram or mammogram.

This is a personal part of me I am sharing because I am taking the fight against breast cancer PERSONALLY
– NOW IS YOUR TURN TO JOIN THE FIGHT

This is a picture of me entertaining myself when I was little.

Send me some pics of you when you were little. Maybe I can use them on my page for the next newsletter.

Give your brain a workout and keep it buzzing for your next pageant! All the words on the right have something to do with pageantry. See how many you can find in the word grid. It's not as easy as you think! Some of the words are backwards and diagonal too! But have fun!

Help the Little Pageant Queen find her way through the Maze and find her crown!

Question: Why did the electric chicken cross the road?
