BEHIND THE COVER

This month's cover pictures a secluded spot just a few minutes drive off Route 8.

Here, like everywhere else, the feeling of change is in the air ... and the frost-kissed leaves shown toasting in the warm October sunshine are about ready to tumble lazily into the water.

It's enough to remind the casual, roadside observer that pasture trails worn deep by countless fishermen have already given way to the tread of hunters' feet along the river's edge. Where surface plugs danced noisily in a water ballet just a week or two ago, duck decoys bob quietly in the stiffening breeze.

Soon, all too soon, the scene will change again ... and winter will be upon us. But, for now, autumn is lodged in nature's, guest room ... and now's the time for you and I—and everyone—to enjoy the full flavor of fall.

COLUMN O' TYPE

ARCHIE JONES, the "good humor man" of Dept. 6 who has kept co-workers in stitches with his frequent jokes and quips these past few years, pulled an appropriate stunt on his Scintilla friends when he retired on September 30th. As he made the rounds on the farewell circuit, he presented each and all with a neatly printed business card that read: "Archie B. Jones—representing DOO-LITTLE & SITMORE." Before coming to Scintilla in the early forties, Archie was city clerk and city treasurer in Binghamton for a number of years.

The continuous growth of Scintilla—six plant expansions in the past three years—has rapidly outdated existing aerial photos of the Division. As a result, a new one has been taken and will be in use in the near future. The aerial photo was made by a company that specializes in that type of photography.

Ed Burgher informs us that Mercury motors, equipped with our Scintilla K-magnetos, were used in the National Stock Outboard Championship Races. The races, which were held in the East this year, took place on Onondaga Lake late in August.

NEW SEASON, AGING YEAR

By Madelyn Pirone*

*This day of blue and green and gold
With beaten egg-white sky,
Is more than poet's heart can hold
Without a tear-brimmed eye.*

*Spring has youth and joy and birth,
Yet I must confess:
With Autumn's clear and starch-crisp days,
Age has loveliness!*

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT

SCINTILLA and BENDIX

Here's a chance to inventory your personal knowledge of Scintilla and Bendix. Whether you're a corporation expert, Scintilla whiz kid, or—like most of us—the typical employee who has a nodding acquaintance with company matters, we hope you'll have fun with the little quiz that appears on these pages. At the same time you will be able to add to your file of worthwhile information. Correct answers on Page 13.

A. In this category, cross out wrong words and leave only the right answer to complete each statement.

1. Scintilla K-magnetos are used as standard equipment on many — airplanes                      outboard motors                      trains
2. Out of each $1.00 of income received by Bendix during 1952, the employees received —
35.5c                      10.4c                      6.9c
3. You would expect to find Scintilla's jet ignition on the —
Republic Thunderstreak                      Cessna                      Navion
4. Igniter Plugs manufactured by Scintilla are used on —
Diesel engines                      jet engines                      industrial engines
5. Scintilla has been located in Sidney since —
1940                      1910                      1925

B. Scintilla is one of the 25 divisions which are a part of Bendix Aviation Corporation. In this category, match each Division with its correct geographical location by drawing straight lines from one to the other.

D. B. MORSE NAMED SALES MANAGER

Donald B. Morse has been named Sales Manager by Thomas Z. Fagan, director of sales and service, it was announced earlier this month.

Mr. Morse, who has been Scintilla representative at the Bendix West Coast Division in Burbank, Calif., since 1946, became associated with the Division in April of 1941 as a member of the Engineering Department.

Mr. Morse's transfer to Bendix West Coast took place on February 15, 1946. He was appointed Engineering Manager — Western States in February of this year and two months ago was named Manager—Western States—Sales. Before moving to the West Coast, Mr. Morse was a resident of Oxford.

The appointment of D. L. Quinney as Acting Assistant Sales Manager

— Industrial Products Section has also been announced. Mr. Quinney, who came to Scintilla in October, 1941, started his association with the Division as a draftsman in the Engineering Department.

He was promoted to Field Engineer in April, 1943. Following a period of military service during World War II, Mr. Quinney returned to Scintilla in 1946 as a Sr. Test Engineer. Since November 1, 1948, he has been a member of the Sales Department.

Promotions Announced For Two Men

Mr. Hammond

Two promotions have recently been announced at Scintilla. They include:

Henry D. Hammond, Dept. 80—promoted to Sr. District Application Engineer.

Lawrence Haywood, Dept. 5 — promoted to Methods Engineer.

Mr. Haywood

DEPARTMENTAL memorial to Andy Straka, Methods, greeted him upon his return from honeymoon.

CIVIL AIR PATROL personnel are shown here as they prepare to board bus at Scintilla's East Gate following tour of the plant on Saturday morning, October 3rd.

Civil Air Patrol Officials Visit Scintilla

Civil Air Patrol personnel, headed by Col. Joseph F. Crowley, commander of the New York Wing Headquarters Staff, held a rendezvous in Sidney on Saturday, October 3rd. Col. Crowley and other staff officers were flown to Sidney from Broome County Airport in Scintilla planes piloted by Ralph Barnard and Gene Lentz. A third group arrived in a company plane owned by AnSCO.

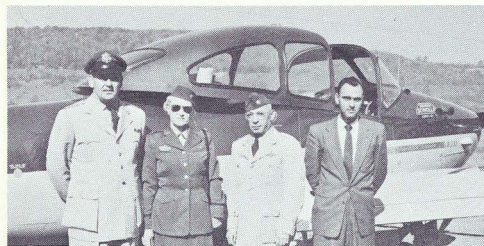

Following their arrival in Sidney the CAP members were conducted on a guided tour of Scintilla. Some 85 persons later attended a luncheon and afternoon meeting in the Victory Restaurant's Rose Room.

SCINTILLA PILOT Gene Lentz flew this group to Sidney from Binghamton. From l. to r. — Capt. Arthur Weaver, USAF-CAP Ass't. Liaison Officer; Major M. Tally, Wing Coordinator—Women's Activities; Lt. Col. A. Litwak, Wing Adjutant; and Lentz.

A WORD PORTRAIT OF....

Aut

OCTOBER sunshine sets the hills ablaze and kindles a flame of warmth in the hearts of young and old alike... gold-domed maples blend with rich hues of scarlet and orange to weave an oriental tapestry of mystic splendor... garden leftovers wear silvery beards of frost in the early morning sun... apple orchards blush with the red of hundreds of shades of lipstick where Mother Nature has left her kiss on the ripening fruit.

Tumble-down stone walls get the glamour treatment from tumbling leaves splashing color with reckless abandon... V-shaped flights of ducks and geese migrating South pattern the sky into a gigantic sampler of unusual design... wood smoke from every chimney in town flavors the air with the pungent aroma of fall...

burning leaf fires give the night a thousand and one glowing eyes.

Mist in the crisp air of an Indian Summer evening shapes itself into warrior ghosts who dance gayly through the teepee villages of New York State corn fields... sweet cider gushes from the mills in a flood of tangy goodness... the setting sun daily touches off a spectacular display of pyrotechnics that march in a myriad of colors across the valleys and up the hillsides to disappear behind the curtain of night.

A golden harvest moon sails a sea of stardust and bathes the earth in a gentle rain of moonbeams... hound dogs, lone sentinels of the farmlands, stir restlessly on a night such as this and test the air with seasoned noses... corpulent pumpkins loll lazily among the corn shocks... tree top conversations take place with ever increasing intensity as the leaves chatter back and forth in the evening breeze.

And as the month of October draws to a smoky close, Halloween spirits haunt the night... youngsters garbed in trick or treat regalia ring doorbells and smudge window panes with their noses... older folks swing their partners at old time barn dances, or settle for a jug of cider and several eating apples before roaring fireplace flames that etch a fantasy of shadow patterns into the walls and ceiling of a darkened room... the season fades fast at this point, but the memories spawned by Autumn linger on as all good things do.

Area School Officials Take Part In Industrial Relations Conference

Area school officials met with Scintilla's industrial relations staff recently.

The September 30th conference was arranged for the purpose of acquainting school representatives with plant operations and facilities at Scintilla. It was coordinated by Carlton Dwight, training supervisor.

Other industrial relations personnel who participated in the conference were Robert L. Decker, employment supervisor; Fred Kotteritz, wage and salary administrator; Thomas Kreutz and Walter M. Schaeffer, personnel administrators.

The day's program included morning and afternoon sessions in the Training Center, a tour of the plant and luncheon in the cafeteria.

The conference was attended by Lauren B. Andrews, principal, Afton Central School; Leslie C. Graves, supervising principal, Laurens Central School; Ralph F. Pyle, supervising principal, Sidney Central School;

John Staruck, vice-principal, Unadilla Central School; James Brophy, guidance counselor, Harpursville Central School; Russel L. Hogue, principal, Norwich High School.

Henry Hort, elementary principal, Sidney Central School; Warren B. Ryther, principal, Guilford Central School; James A. Johnson, principal, Oxford Academy and Central School; Lynn Secor, principal, Morris Central School; Robert Cody, high school principal, Sidney Central School; Mrs. Dorothy Keiter, guidance counselor, Kellog Central School; and John Larkin, Director-Otsego County Vocational Board, State Teachers College, Oneonta.

Souvenir Issue Of "Scintillator" To Be Published

A souvenir "Open House" edition of THE SCINTILLATOR will be published in November. Several extra pages will be added to permit printing as many photos as possible of employees and their guests. Publication date for the special issue is expected to be November 13. It will be mailed to non-employees, who register for a copy on Open House Day, as well as employees.

Scintilla People Become Gallon Club Members

Nineteen Scintilla people became members of the exclusive Gallon Club this month. The honorary organization is made up of blood donors who have given a gallon or more of blood through the Red Cross Blood Program. Each member of the group will receive a Gallon Emblem, according to A. J. Bagnall, chairman of the Sidney Blood Bank Program.

In announcing the charter list of members, Mr. Bagnall expressed his appreciation to Scintilla and its employees for the cooperation received during each visit of the bloodmobile. He pointed out that Gallon Club members have given their blood on at least eight different occasions.

"A number of other Scintilla employees are approaching that mark", he said. "Three members of the club—Bill Bure, Don Fitzgerald and Norm Meagley — have been giving blood for several years."

GALLON CLUB members are shown here following announcement of charter list of Scintillites who have given a gallon or more of their blood. Several club members were not present for photo.

The complete list of charter members was announced as follows:

Charles Brown, Dept. 87; Bill Bure, Dept. 11; Frank Burns, Dept. 37; Andy Cacciottoli, Dept. 92; Ed Davie, Dept. 91; Charles Fay, Dept. 11; Don Fitzgerald, Dept. 91; Vaughn Herrick, Dept. 91; Merl Ihrle, Dept. 32.

Ray Laraway, Dept. 11; Norman C. Meagley, Dept. 87; Louie Pittet, Dept. 13; Vivian Quimby, Dept. 48; Howard Silvernail, Dept. 11; Leon Strangeway, Dept. 99; William Beyen, Dept. 3; Roger Hoover, Dept. 11; Henry Carpenter, Dept. 92; and Glenn Rice, Dept. 100.

Safety Meeting Concluded Here

A two-day series of safety meetings came to a close at Scintilla on Thursday, October 22nd. The sessions were conducted under the supervision of E. M. Van Name, supervisor of security and safety, and Russ Elander, safety engineer, in conjunction with representatives from the Fidelity & Casualty Co.

BENDIX WINNERS—The top three Air Force pilots in the 1953 Bendix race are shown with Malcolm P. Ferguson, president of Bendix Aviation Corporation, as they received gold, silver and bronze miniatures of the huge trophy which, since 1931 has symbolized the nation's foremost flying skill and aviation advancement. Shown with Mr. Ferguson from l. to r. are Col. Clay Tice, Jr., Major E. R. Johnston, and Major W. T. Whisner, Jr., first with 603.547 miles per hour,

Jet Ace Wins Bendix Race By 4.8 Seconds

Maj. William T. Whisner, Jr., Korean war jet ace, outraced nine other crack Air Force pilots and nosed out his nearest rival by only 4.8 seconds to win the 1953 Bendix Trophy race last month.

The 29-year-old Shreveport, La., pilot roared his F-86-F Sabrejet from Edwards Air Force Base in California to the National Aircraft Show at Dayton Municipal Airport in 3 hours, 5 minutes, 45 seconds. His average speed for the 1,900-mile transcontinental speed dash was 603.547 mph—a new record.

Major Whisner received the famous Bendix Trophy from Malcolm P.

Ferguson, president of Bendix Aviation Corporation, which has sponsored the race since 1931 as a major contribution to aviation progress.

In awarding the trophy, Mr. Ferguson pointed out that in those 22 years since "Jimmy" Doolittle became the first Bendix winner, aircraft speeds have virtually tripled and the race has become a proving ground for numerous technical advances and pilot proficiency.

"It's a tremendous tribute to the Air Force and the wonderful pilots who competed this year that all of them finished the 1,900-mile course and only eight and a half minutes separated the first and last planes crossing the Bendix pylon", Mr. Ferguson said.

Scintilla Man Gets High Grotto Office

A Scintilla man has been elected to the highest post in the Empire State Grotto Association.

He is Tool Inspection Foreman Roland L. Barratt, who was elected president of the Association at the group's annual convention in Syracuse, September 25-26. The Association covers the activities of all Grottos in New York State, the Province of Ontario, Canada, and part of Pennsylvania.

The new president is a Past Monarch of Zor Grotto in Sidney. He was first elected to the official line at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in 1947.

Supervisory Forum Hears IBM Speaker

Raymond D. Jarvis, manager of general and vocational education and job training at IBM in Endicott, was guest speaker at the October 7th meeting of the Scintilla Supervisory Forum.

Mr. Jarvis, who spoke on the subject of "Human Engineering", told members of the group that it would be desirable for industry to apply the same intensive engineering effort to people as it does to product development. He presented his topic on the basis of a comparison between the differences and similarities of people and products.

The speaker was introduced by Training Supervisor Carlton Dwight.

The business meeting was conducted by Robert Doud, Forum president. A report on the annual convention of the National Association of Foremen, held recently in Milwaukee, was given by Gary N. Gray who attended the meeting with Mr. Doud.

Two Scintilla Teams Settle Golf Supremacy

Two Scintilla teams met on impartial grounds at the Cooperstown Country Club on Saturday, September 19th, to settle a matter of golf supremacy in the plant.

The match ended up with Production bowing to a team representing other Scintilla departments. The spread between victors and losers was 7 points, 21½ to 14½.

The winning team, captained by Robert Boyer, Jr., included Sam Nader, Phil Allen, Harvey Ferry, Fred Bulken, Malcolm Douglas, Bill McIntyre, J. Moore, Bob Trinder, Bob Madden, Tom Kreutz, and Bill Bowler.

The losers, piloted by Carl Kuebler, included Dick Lawrence, T. Wakin, J. Persak, Bob McCauley, Andy Wilson, Mort Baxter, Bill Schmidt, Herman Keller, Art Dietrich, Johnny Frank, and J. Zaharis.

EASTONETTES

By Ken Easton

'Twas the night before season—and the animal nation had quietly gathered to plot preservation. The rabbit, the pheasant, the deer and the bear, plus many more creatures came to the affair. As usual, the speaker was Ferdinand Fox... who pounded the gavel upon the soap box. And his speech so dramatic kept the viewers in awe... as they fussed with their feathers and wrung their small paws. 'Tomorrow the hunters will enter our wood... some of them terrible, but some of them good. We'll lose a few relatives and gain a few scars... and you'll swear an invasion has hit us from Mars. Beware of the hound dog, stay close to your home... don't linger where danger is liable to roam. We've puzzled the poachers and increased our span... but tomorrow's the day we must out-guess a man. So mark my words well, or else ye shall die... and hold up the crust of some hunter's pot pie. But if you are careful, we'll win this year's game and send them all home... empty handed and lame.'
