PROFILE

Andrew L. Cohen is relocating from JPMorgan Private Bank in Geneva, Switzerland to head the Private Bank's Los Angeles office.

In Geneva, Andrew managed the Turkish-Israeli team, successfully building a substantial business during his tenure. Prior to his three years in Geneva, he covered Northern European families from the Private Bank's London office.

Andrew joined JPMorgan in 1999 after serving 10 years with Merrill Lynch's private banking business in Australia, Germany and Switzerland. He graduated from Scotch College in Melbourne, Australia, and holds a bachelor of economics degree from Monash University, also in Melbourne.
