

ANGELIC DREAM DIARY

Everything shared here certainly may seem outrageously fake or fictional but I assure you that it is all based off of true stories or real events of actual people and what happened to them! The main focus or interest would be how everything relates to the author because of gravity bending time allowing our minds to connect outside of regular time!? I plan to be taking lie detector tests to prove that these are all true stories or real events for the rest of my life!

THEE RING, VOLUMES (DISCOVERING PALM BEE)

<https://tweetings20s.com>

See me perform on the following days weekly!

{Check for the event on my website!}

Sundays @4pm 4731 SW Griffith Dr, Beaverton, OR 97005

Thursdays @4pm Beech Street & 72nd (Roseway Parkway)

Is there anything special about my palm? It makes more sense to me now that it is shown with purple, a green, and wood... so would you a green to stay away from Palm ___? Palm Brown?

This photo was used as my profile picture for a long time on MMORPG.com forums as I got into gaming once I moved out to the country and lived far away from dance clubs and theme parties to clean up and change my life. I began a career at Coldwater Creek rebuilding computers and replaced drugs with gaming. Among gamers, I became sort of famous, and would find special easter eggs as gifts from developers for me in the games that I played. When I played Magic The Gathering, they had a special avatar for me that copied my profile picture.

The letter 'c' would mean 'taking' and would this say that 'eye right' about Magic the Gathering?

There is real magic found when our ancestors used to tell the children that they would be found in heaven if they did not return, which meant that the people would be real if they had a dream of them. This magic was proven by stroking a fallen star fragment against a loved one enough times in the same direction that a magnetic charge was created so it became a compass showing the direction of the sky or the North when it was dropped in water.

When I dated Sierra I got into her diary and I read a passage about a sex dream that she had with a dragon in the backseat of a car. Years later after I moved out, I had this same dream. I already knew her so there seemed to be nothing wrong with going along with what she wanted to do, which was show off her body, before it would be changed by becoming a mother. I believe that she was slightly younger than what would have been legal so this would be why she called me a dragon? Dragons symbolize rape or pushing someone into it or maybe withholding information that would have prevented the act due to the behavior of a dragonfly. I had experiences during intercourse where I thought that she was a dragon, so I think that she likely did this for me as a child as well.

This girl would be the reason that the Macintosh came out with the "High Sierra" operating system since she helped my coworkers with a reverse psychology AA meeting to scare me straight using what I didn't know about my grandfather's missing finger by pretending to be Nazi since I was checking out new goth music and coming into work on Adderall once a week. She may have thought that something else was going on though since I never told her what happened in this meeting. When I would smoke or drink, the next color that I came across would be carried to something scary such as the sound of a saw along with a person screaming followed by a black man with a metal shin. She called herself a Mexican't but I never thought about how close I was to the CantAda border as Adam with a history of being a middle man, until much later. While I was monitored during time served in jail, I exchanged artwork for a piece of heroin and a number for the Mexican cartel from Leeroy and this happened while I was living with my little sister, also known as "good Jen" in the goth scene.

(Here is the link of the World Of Warcraft video that went viral for Jeeroy Jenkins that wiped out his entire party by charging into the monsters to be killed before anyone was ready)

Two years before I met my last partner, I started to pray to a jug of water that I kept in the passenger side of my car, at the same time that my next lover was praying at "The Goddess" who carried a jug made by Joseph Shemanski. When I knew that we were going to be a couple, I asked her to pick a color that was sewn into my car seat where I kept this jug and she said that the lighter blue was always the right pick!

The name of this artist helped me wake up to how she was the very first naked woman that I saw as a child in a dream. She was being escorted from a horse buggy into a ford but then she grabbed an umbrella and went up a ski lift. After we broke up, it was sad how our dreams would be cut off right when we were about to be intimate. We stayed in a yell-ow ho-tell but I work on never saying anything bad about others unless the person is around to keep things constructive so was this letting me know what she did behind my back?

Notice on the kNOw side for never are the letters "nopq"

Please, won't you come join the line-up? This would be a letter Q!

Does she see the blue behind her? By the time you are done reading this blog you might understand how this girl participated in naming Palm Springs in the past! What is she doing in this photo with her hand? What about when a green is shown in the "no" side?

What about the other photos? The ones with blue on the "no" side, I used for album covers as I tried to patch things up by releasing a bunch of albums.

First photo with blue on the "no" side that I noticed is showing her salute next to a toilet which made sense since my father's name is Jon and he was a marine while he did not have enough faith in us to recommend that we start a family together like I had wanted.

One night, I had a dream of Alisin Moon from Facebook. Luckily, I woke up in time to record the song that played in this dream which came from me somehow?

"I saw a man with 66 sponges and with 66 sponges, he fell on me!" I sang. "I saw a man!"

Our dream began by escorting her out of a dark alley when a bathroom appeared out of nowhere while she was looking for somewhere to put her backpack which makes more sense to me now since it would represent whoever spoons her the most in the future? During the process of getting into the bath, she somehow was found wearing only a red sweater and we were intimate while I was behind her, but since I could not see her face I now believe that she was someone else during this moment like my future wife! After the bath, we went to home depot where giants were fighting over her while wearing sponge armor, then when they noticed me with her, one of them hit the other that fell on top of us. Being taller would represent drinking while home depot would be met-amphetamine. Sponge armor falling on us would represent dehydration as this girl lives in Arizona. We figured out that the man that fell on us was her former husband that she was married to. It makes sense that I said 66 sponges instead of 666 since they were divorced so the air element is missing.

(This video is for a song called Ally Of Sin By Thee Untitled)

After I broke up with my last lover, I thought that it would be good to fantasize about her until I hooked up with another, since I knew I had her permission there, and I was afraid that it would not be welcome somewhere else, as I was making music with the birds so it would feel like everyone was in my head. This changed when I came across a Fork in the road.

I first discovered the show Adventure Time where I met someone that I talked to all night in my sleep, so I woke up feeling like my friend was gone and I shared on Facebook how I was looking for the flower girl. I found her in a reoccurring dream of brides as far as I could see in line to meet me that were upset they will never get a fair chance. I snuggled in a sleeping bag with Felicia Day and Forkgirl Cosplay quite innocently then came up with what I called the "Felicia fork agreement" which meant putting all of my focus into one person at a time until I found my next partner, so each girl would have at least a day of my mind, since Felicia was the name of my biggest crush during my young adult life.

I had a dream that the air kissed me on the chest, and I had to find her as she was invisible while I was warned to ignore the women between us. I found Winchester in a YouTube video on the "yes" side and at first I thought that the air was her since winchester fell off what might represent a wedding box?! It certainly was, according to a celebration that I had made to repeat annually for keeping my relationship alive for as long as possible.

(this video shows forkgirl's cat Winchester falling in love?)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NzbeJprQNNQ>

Sleeping Winchester falls

Falling in love would be bad since the air element according to the pentagram, and what I discovered, belongs to my spouse! Maybe every wedding needs a flower girl, and I plan to do things like double-date in my future, most especially weekly when we meet to play roleplaying games such as Omniverse that I made with my friend Ben R. that we called it AmBr Entertainment and it is the best one found out there by far so the world needs to know about it before its too late! Make sure to document any attempt to verify this true story just in case someone is hacked to trick someone looking into this and let me know!

The Sixteen Scented Celebration that is mostly found in the Dozen Dragon Days Of November begins by carrying the 4th representing a box or water torch to save us from rectangles then on August 6th participants are asked to find the most embarrassing definition of their name while the 9th of August is for making positive definitions for other people. Where people ask for help to change, June 4th may be a more important day than the 4th of July. The month of August makes me think of the need to run and find the air that kissed me on the chest! I knew that I would only be choosing one bride so this would mean that I needed to find men to bring a letter Q wherever QQ may be found!

Anyways, I was searching my memory for evidence of my wife found in an echo coming from our future. When I discovered Forkgirl online I noticed how she had the same chair that I sat in as a child when I painted a figurine of Takhisis, the Queen Of Darkness! Funny coincidence that her real name would be Taylor while the letter 'y' would be a line between good and evil or a change to be made aware of, so her parents asking us not to use her for T & A like she is someone's sister or mother? I wondered if we were happily married with children somewhere up there in the new "Highland" or whatever will be made?

In the Dragonlance story, the companions are supposed to go to Haven, but they took a different route through Prayer's Eye Peak while following a white stag that is also found with the Green Man of Portland that is a 2009 public art project by artist Daniel Duford that tells a modern myth about small green archers in the Pearl District. The prophecy claims that when hit by green archers, vision changes, flowers grow from people's heads, a "Greenwood" building appears, a giant tree towers over the city, and a celestial stag appears.

Do you think that this girl looks like Forkgirl? I have not been dishonest anywhere in this story nor have I done things such as withhold the truth. As a child, when my father moved out, I did not have anything showing nudity for the opposite gender as I was discovering myself, so a certain picture of the Dark Queen came to mind that I used for pleasuring myself but I had no other pictures showing the skin of a woman so what really matters was where I was found when there were decisions to be made. Defeating the Queen Of Darkness to become a God as Raistlin would represent getting as many followers and fans on Twitch.com by becoming the best videogame player?

I read Dragonlance almost every night at 8pm on my YouTube channel here and would like to do something very special for every person that synchronized as a character in this story where it is possible:

Pretty fun finding the synchronicity with fictional characters.

This girls photos woke me up to how she was synchronized as fictional characters!

My last lover told me that she thought the best sex scene in a movie came from when Keanu Reeves was attacked by "vampire women" so this undead creature has represented someone using a mermaid or merman (thinking of another while touching his or herself) while the act of levitating has meant "loaning the imagination to another" like during shamanism where a person finds a power animal and tries to think about nothing. What enters the mind is coming from somewhere else, so it is just like measuring what is happening while trying not to think. When I first did this ritual, I was surprised to find that my animal guide was a bald eagle rather than a feline like I wanted. The reason she would play the bass suggests that she should go fishing for another? I prove that this phenomenon is real on my TikTok & I have a YouTube channel that focuses on how other languages respond to my living once!

My artist name is Spoon so this is funny! When your dump truck is used? Why not bring them a letter Q? How this works? Basically, a line forms for someone as the people take turns placing an object at her feet and then go back in line facing the other direction so they cannot see what is going on where she is found while the person in front points at an object on the ground. While doing this the arms behind her may be asking him to choose another girl and this I believe would be why a goddess during ancient times would have many arms so we are recreating this starting at the Pearl District in Portland, Oregon! When he points at his own object she may say that this was the correct choice so they will then join hands with ceremonial wrapping! Sign up on <https://tweeting20s.com>

I would like to go to comic cons for performances, demonstrations, and directing traffic for work! This is definitely not a con, just using simple addition while breaking down what is negative into the origins until something positive is found. Every letter in a name becomes a verb or an action word and what I am working on will create a beautiful experience for bringing predeath funerals to those who came up with the names that deserve the best farewells. It will make for a much better experience for our loved ones too so that they don't feel alone on the way to the stone. What I am referring to is the magical synchronicity that has followed me since my mother gave birth to me in Full-er-ton while sitting down.

While I was witnessing synchronicity having to do with what was going on with me, I asked with a prayer for this randomly chosen painting made by Theo Kerg, Kathleen's relative, to show what was wrong with her.

She injured her ankle while I was with her and was upset that I drew on her "who farted?" poster in her bathroom during one of my crazy episodes like the one where I put a target on my forehead and took pictures of myself while pointing at a girl found on a magnet with no idea it had to do with anything. In my head at the time, I just wanted to take some pictures. She has a dwarf thumb that I said to her would make her a gifted cello player as if appeared to be something that would have possibly made that act easier? She also wanted me to "try a new angle" he probably did not approve of?

Next, I asked with a prayer for the randomly selected painting to show what was wrong with me.

I injured my leg and it shows here where it is found but now when I look at this, I see "not ready" in the eyes and the since the word "knife" has meant "wife" would this be "he nose his wife"? When I moved in with her, I was having sexual dreams of another woman twice per night for a week or two so I prayed to a red robe to get her off of me so that I could put my focus on who I was with even where we go to sleep should it be possible? It wasn't. An echo was coming from the future of the family yet to come.

My father's name is Jon which would mean what? J = measuring a person's worth + o = sharing/surrounding + n = loving/feeding (perfect name for someone giving the baby to his wife!) Marilyn? Ma = mother & m = moving to a different place + a = caring + r = heading + i = balancing/making sure fed + l = working + n = loving/feeding (perfect name for breastfeeding?) What about my older brother, Alex? He was writing his name down in my baby book when we met! A = caring + l = working + e = wondering + x = marking. Jenny would be my little sister! J = measuring a person's worth + e = wondering + nn = loved (gender in this case?) + y = line between good/evil or change to be made aware of (perfect name to describe showing me my baby sister?) What about Chrissy? Birthname Christina? What is the difference anyways? Two letter S's would mean "knows what entered the body" so it is asking her not to drink or use drugs where the y is found. I remember that I was asked if I wanted to hold her but I was too scared. That is also found in her name! The challenge on August 6th is finding the most embarrassing definition of your name and then coming up with at least three good definitions of other people's names you know on the 9th to help them with their journey. C = taking (seen as a camel on the walls of Egypt that would mean packing or traveling but since shoplifting would occur this letter became the letter G to ask people to fasten their tents when it appeared) h = trading / tying the knot + r = heading + i = balancing + s = measuring what enters the body + t = gifting + i = balanced / measured + n = feeding + a = caring (this word creates a definition that could look like declining the offer to hold her out of fear I would drop her, especially with Chrissy) I woke up to names that I came across having to do with whatever was going on the most when I stayed with my father at Spoon Drive in Arizona found on streets that were heart-shaped, which was so magical, since I started to run in Utah just before this, but was frightened of the smog so I waited until there was a more airy zone, somewhere like Arizona.

Let's go through all of the photos showing the blue on the "no" side when using my former lover's ouijaboard shirt to measure where it is found in the picture, shall we? The reason that things didn't work out are actually found in these photos by some miracle! What a genius woman. I want you to understand the miraculous proof that I witnessed when I finally found the largest echo of the family found in my future. Blue found mostly on the bottom right and top left would be a "yes" photo while a "no" photo contains blue mostly in the top right or bottom left.

I tried to convince her to get rid of that dress to free up some space because during our vacation in the bay area, people were saying mean things about her "vintage" look but I let it bother me too much. Also, I would never want to get kinky enough to "spank" her as others have!

The word "ex" is found on the "yes" side while the garbage with a light going to her head is found on the "no" side so it makes me think of how cramped we were in that little apartment and the dangers of trusting our thoughts, most especially while west of trash since the planet is moving and we are heavier. I noticed that when the garbage was taken out that was found on the other side of the wall for those on our floor, we would suddenly want to move out and start a family together!

He wasn't supposed to crash but something magical is coming to McDonald's called Judgement Day! I guess it's the Day Of Empathy that really matters. People will have a much better experience feeling forgiven by the time that death comes? Not today but tomorrow. There are ready wrists for participants, get it? "Underneath the arches..."

Here, she seems to say "no to Republicans" and although I wasn't really one of them, I pretended to be while paranoid my job would find out that I would have voted as a Democrat just to legalize weed. I want to prove that I am done with drugs. I paid for the Green Party when I moved out of her place while my vote was wasted on Jill Stein because I was upset at how Utah treated me when I dragged myself to the hospital and still was not only denied painkillers but they made my problems worse. My leg was purple and I couldn't walk until I went to a family doctor. It was very messed up what happened to me. I do not really consider myself liberal or a Democrat though because they don't change things fast enough but I am as long as the money goes towards what I support. I think I would want people to pay more than the blue side but in a way where they get to choose where it goes so no one is supporting something they don't believe in. I would like the prices of homes to stop going up so wouldn't mind being conservative as long as people funded the things that are needed with stocks or donations. Republicans neglect too much, haven't blamed themselves enough, and their news sounds like people yelling to me. While I was with her I called myself conservative because I didn't want to talk about it as I would have had to more if I wasn't because of family. I am getting into it more. I want to get a grant and fix problems in our country once I get some power, I won't neglect them like others have.

I woke up to the names of streets having to do with what was going on when I came across them when I helped my father move from Spoon Drive in Arizona as he looked for a more permanent residence after losing his mistress to a deadly fall while she was on vacation in Mexico. They pulled the plug while she was in a coma and he has not moved on enough to throw away her clothing while I inherited her electric hybrid car. While I was in Utah, I got off of all drugs, but to help me through the worst of the suboxone period, I used met-amphetamines. My blood pressure became too high and for the first time in my life, I had to worry about this! While watching a girl streaming she seemed to time things to try and assist in saving my life by asking me to check my pulse here.

Two has meant "no" so this would be "not ready" to do any more while she has a hood she wears as if the kiss of death awaits on the "never" side being the upper right so I knew that I to change things then so I did dramatically. I knew that I spent too much time behind the computer so I started to run every day for the first time in my life but I was concerned because of living in Utah that I called in a song the "super bowl of smog" as the mountains have a scary way of trapping it in the valley.

While watching her I realized that the very first puppet she used seemed to symbolize me since I cried until snot covered my legs while her stream helped me through it. There was new medication that made me feel depressed for the first time in my life but luckily I knew to stay away from it so it only lasted about a month.

While talking to my father about helping him move, Arizona sounded very hopeful when it came to saving me as if they were letting me know about the "airy zone" that they care for preserving, but not enough as I now woke up to how I used to be on the right side to prove that I was done with drugs and I also always thought that the character in Dragonlance named Caramon was pronounced "Car-men" but it is actually pronounced "Care-amen" . . . if I were Raistlin in Dragonlance this would mean that my brother was a Republican but I know he is not stuck there as he mostly just didn't want to talk about it with our dad and there is also not wanting to pay more for his house.

Here, with a very serious look in her face. This would mean "you know what is next" . . . in the bottom right is an arch that might be asking for predeath funerals? The 6th of August on one side and the 9th on the other for waking up others to the beautiful definitions of their names when looking into the origins since every letter becomes a verb.

In Arizona, I picked up a stone that I called my bloodstone of Fistantulus that synchronized as my father in that very helpful story. Notice the heart-shaped streets found in his area that gave me new hope that I would be able to fix my blood pressure. Notice my name that was Spoon was also the name of the drive we lived on. I have never done anything to try and make sure that names had to do with whatever was going on, it just happens. While helping my dad move out of state, we stayed at a hotel where I thought about taking the lotion for the very boring car ride since we had a long ride through Kansas and it had been awhile since I touched myself. On the way to the car I caught onto the name of the place being Tucumcari. As I drove I drank a lot of water as I was leaving the desert and pissed in a bottle to avoid asking my dad to pull over so this woke me up to the yellow brick road as I was dumping my urine out the window while driving. We passed by where my grandfather lived in Saint Paul so I couldn't help but notice the word Paul containing Pa = father + u = separating + l = working. Once we came across Minnesota, it seemed like the name of the place was reminding me not to let them put me in a mental hospital again. Brain + er + d = passing.

Once in his more permanent home that will be passed down to his kids when he dies someday, I started to have dreams of a woman coming to me often and sometimes I would suddenly feel like I was sharing space with her and would become suddenly very aroused as if she was there with me because she lived there! I had a dream of how the black robes meant "poly" while intimate with someone very tan that was married, so I was worried about who it could be, and now it makes sense that it was partially to teach me a lesson about how I was not sleeping with women like I thought that I was during a "dream dating" experiment. This means that the white robes would symbolize monogamy according to our dreams! I now believe that all of them were actually my future wife since I could never see her face on those dreams. In one of them, we were intimate in a hospital where I noticed a tattoo on her wrist, so the next day I announced on my stream during my "dream date experiment" that I was looking for a woman with a tattoo in this location.

I decided to travel the country until I could find where this largest echo was coming from that would ask me to get a place to live wherever she may be found. As I was passing through the country, I would not stop witnessing the names having to do with what was going on as I came across them while I worked on perfecting my website and predeath funerals to give folks the best possible experience whenever they would wake up to how this was really happening for them so that they could more properly say goodbye to their kids. In So-no-ma County, I talked to the beautiful Leah Metallic that asked to meet up with me since I followed the instructions she gave me in my dreams to go on a date with her. On my way there, I gave my largest echo an opportunity to let me know she was out there if she wanted to stop us from meeting by asking with a prayer for her to put yellow on her chest or in front of it. I was very surprised to find that every girl that I came across that day had done this but not where there was a black and white ad found. Her spirit must have been with me because I was late and missed my date with this very beautiful woman.

This inspired using footage for the Christmas Parade song.

Santa Rose To Cruise For A Box

Bone To Pick With The Late Skeleton

Awaiting punishment from my wife when I finally meet her... since I was thinking about another girl when I made this.. so it is not exactly timed for her but my latest work is because I was in San Rafael when it happened to me, the birds had just wrote a song using the power lines letting my know which notes to play. The turtle was about to get some help according to the lyrics that represented me in my car. Rafael was the meanest ninja turtle in that cartoon so why is this location asking us when I am going to get mad? Because, I am trying to bring a letter Q to my former lover that prevented us from meeting? Or is it because I am ready to finally meet this girl and it hasn't happened yet? Then I found her fighting turtles in her game World Of Warcraft and playing Cataclysm that woke me up to how she was synchronized as the very beautiful Crysania from Dragonlance if I were to be Raistlin!

I finally found the woman that was in my dreams that came to me as A wife as I was near a Target and Home Depot where the road becomes a ring and has the names of the streets that had to do with what happened in those sex dreams that I had of her that I remembered the most! Shoreline Street to remind me of when we were intimate and she was most tan and Kerner Street as if to remind me of the girl I made love with in the hospital (ER twice would mean that it was found in past tense). I was too scared to let anyone know about this though since it was a dream about the black robes, although she did not wear them in the dream. I saw her wearing black in her post she made on the Day Of Dreams but it took several months before I realized that she seems to gesture "no" to black while dancing with her friend! The first time that I saw the video I just noticed that the tunnel was found in it that represented the "vampire women" that came to my bed during my last relationship that I tried to get off by praying to a red robe so that I would be monogamous with my partner. Now I believe that it was actually just her rather than several but I was confused at first since sometimes she was more motherly shaped.

Pure magic to come across my astrology sign in the most important spot of her body because her wrist would be where I plan to unwrap ceremonial fabric every year to keep our relationship as strong as the beginning. Four has meant "out of time" according to the language of math where one would be "yes", two would be "kNOw", while three would be "remember" and the letter e is for questioning. This means that the way she wrote cheeeesin answers the question that I never use cheese again because I found my heroine! I needed a stinger to be born as a Scorpio since my Mother's blood type is AB- and my Father's is O+

What Made Me The Highlander (Be...

I experimented with something that I called "dream dating" online where I made a profile for dating websites and asked for the opposite gender to do things for me in the photos shared on her profile. Very simple logic prayed for by following the pentagram. These "rules" followed the ouija-board shirt that Kathleen woke me up to and it appeared that the people had a lot of fun with that. In the 1st photo, I asked for red to be shown representing her passion and to put it in the bottom right as I wanted to find someone NOW so the top left would have represented saving it while there was the "no" side I took seriously because they followed by making it a rule in my head that they HAD to or I would be impossible since I knew that my largest echo was capable of this after witnessing what my former lover did for me. The second photo asked for blue shown in the bottom left for my left foot to show me how I should change or what I should do for maybe a song idea? In the third photo, I asked for the conflict to be shown, and for purple to appear in the top right if something temporary was okay. In the 4th photo, I asked to show what we would have in the end or the reward using a green. In the 5th photo, I asked for red & green on the "yes" side or "no" side depending on whether or not they wanted children, and I was surprised to find how every profile that I checked matched their profile with where they put the colors here especially as the top right would mean "accept the children that I already have?" and I would ask for "how to put out the fire" or "what is sick?" in the 6th photo while the 7th one would be asking for direction and the 8th was a question whether or not they could live off of the food that I made for myself at home by using the same red & green colors like they would show for children. In the 9th photo, I would ask what they were tempted to do, while for the 10th, it would be whether they were zero or one? The 11th photo was for a one on one. While the 12th one would represent time and the 13th would mean going back to fix everything. 14th would be one for? 15th would be one would? If a girl liked me, maybe she would make sure to do this? Glad that I found her, who knows how long that would have taken? While going through various profiles, I thought that I was meeting various women where we would go to sleep, but now I believe that they were all my future wife since I would not be able to see their face during intercourse while in the dream because there would be hints waking me up to her real identity or how it wasn't the girl that I thought it was. For example, in one dream, we made love on top of the stairs while she wore only a red and green shirt, from behind, in the room that was not lit up, so that we would not have twins whenever it was time to have children?

While discovering a new girl on twitch by the name of Palm Bee, I checked out her Instagram to find that for the red in the 1st photo I asked to represent our passion she gave it where my head would be found during the predeath funeral! Very romantic. Found in the upper left on the dating websites it meant "saving it for later" and she was trying to make sure that I changed my rules on my requirement that she was 100% vegan while pregnant as well as following an all raw organic food diet which is constantly shown where our disagreement is found. Red in that location meant "taken turns" getting into the other person because of having different interests while the upper right would mean never. But, here she is found on the Day Of Water that is for predeath funeral preparations as if she would be attending MINE! Is that a rectangle behind her? There is yellow on her chest as if she wanted to stop me from going out with the other girl and a green coming from the figure behind her wearing my signature pants that I was most famous in the goth scene for making while growing up. I was the only one that made several pairs of velvet pants like that, those in the Salt Lake City scene would remember. They were skin tight and laced up on the sides during the days goth clothing was not as easy to come by. Is the green coming from him going to spoon behind her? Yes and yes! ;)

Orders found in the bottom left of the 2nd picture. Ready found where the stone element is located meaning I shouldn't have intercourse with anyone else.

This would be the reasons that figures "walk like an Egyptian" on ancient walls.

I believe that this was an easy way for folks speaking different languages to understand the same requests by understanding the elements found in a pentagram for safer trades and rules to follow such as trading virgins into other tribes that paid for them.

Coming across this photo was so magical! It really woke me up to how it was her that came to me when I prayed to the red robes to get her off since I was with someone else while it was happening. Thankful not to see purple in the top right as that would mean that something temporary was okay. Here, I believe that she is showing me more than one person she is praying to, so that I understand how it would hurt if it was actually more than one person coming to sleep with me in my bed while I was asleep, coming from my future.

When I moved in with my last partner, she was likely dishonest with me from the beginning, because I was having dreams of another woman almost twice per night for the first week or two. I would wake up my partner in the middle of the night to tell her about my dream and at first, I thought that it was several different women since she had a different body shape in different dreams, but now I believe that she is my largest echo coming from the future, that was upset for what this partner did that cut her off from meeting me. She was the reason that I lost friends for the first time on Facebook because of the lies she made up about the boyfriend before me by the name of Devin. The fastest way to fix this might have been by contacting Devin but I did not know his female name so maybe such a word would be obtained through Owen's mouth?

For what we a green on in the end she somehow knew that it was for a ceremony that I came up with that we will repeat every year to rekindle everything as a promise being an older person to become an extraordinary mate so that she doesn't ever leave me. Ceremonial fabric will be carried with an ankh during the Sixteen Scented Celebration that is unwrapped from the wrist on the Day Of Air to be joined around our hands.

Looking like Crysania more and more... incredibly romantic! It also gives her a more realistic view regarding our age difference.

Fifth is for children. There is a secret joke tied to the toothless grin she will get a kick out of someday.

This is the 6th photo on Palm Bee's side and it is also shown as the 8th where her friend Kyootbot shared this so hopefully it means we will double-date someday whenever she finds Gilthanas as she has synchronized as Silvara? So, what would be sick about this since its the 6th? I agree. No ready white balls for multiple women!

This is the earliest photo found of her found online? Or maybe the one easiest to access? I would show the video but while working on this it is like I can hear her in my head asking me not to. I see her as the most beautiful woman in the world right now most especially because of the experience that I have while finding her in my childhood and I know that it will be true on her side as well. This will be part of the reason why she wears a soundgarden shirt as her pumpkin PJs to bed as it means that I may wake her up, nicely. Red in the bottom for spooning? Orders to sing out of my car being the turtle? The birds made a song about a turtle about to get help that represented my car right before I discovered her online. For the conflict it shows the bee between us? Makes sense! I think its obvious why there is not a green found in the top left as she would like to hear it in my voice?

That Christmas I cried while watching her read the Red Eaten story and woke up to how they made it for us seemingly since she was on a diet of lean meats only at the time so this would follow ancient customs to have empathy for the chicken and the turkey that is also tied into the celebration that I made. Ancient Gods and Goddesses would have the head of an animal when having empathy for it or sharing space so the creators of the story could be asking us to wake up to how we could treat what we become better as proof that we are what we eat may be experienced in a dream. Rafael is the turtle with the color red?

Is she worried about horns above my head because she is holding a triangle? NO! It would be a halo on me that is only for her.

This photo that shows blue on the "no" side while she is giving such a serious face look on her face with her hand over her heart! It was this photo that woke me up to how the elements are found on the body and the reasons that figures are shown "walking Egyptian" on the ancient walls. I have learned a lot about how to read the Egyptian walls since then. Maybe this photo connects to the time that I acted crazy while taking pictures of myself because I put a purple target on my forehead while taking pictures of myself and did random things that are so very meaningful today!

Here, I show myself acting weird as if someone wants to hurt me found on the other side of the photos when no one has been mean to me since childhood, at least, not while in person! Somewhere like Facebook, they only say mean things about me behind my back, if it's found anywhere? What is negative only comes from strangers as well, unless someone is trying to prevent me from no longer being single, that is the most important thing to know if you are looking into my background. Maybe it comes from being accused of being a "dangerous stalker"? How sad and false! What the woman went through to take my virginity was pretty extreme honestly. Women were left at my house while someone drove off while I was in the car until she suddenly stopped and told us that we had to go inside somewhere with a loaner bed because she was too drunk to drive. Around the time that I posted these pictures, I told my Facebook wall that I was dreaming of another woman intimately twice every night for the first week or two while I was with my new partner so I prayed to the red robe to get her off which makes sense now as it would mean "not ready" . . . on this night, my friends asked me not to get mad at a Rasputina concert, because they had a gift for us, and at this show they changed the lyrics from "life" to "wife" while my girl wore a white dress. Look at the bracelets that I am wearing! They would mean, "know the spot behind my back in my next crossing..." while I have a purple target on my head which has meant to "avoid" if its this color because of scar tissue so this would mean, "my target is somewhere else!" Roses in the hair? The air element is for the spouse according to ancient customs found in the pentagram!

These photos were posted before the show and went online November 1st which was the same day this woman shown above posted herself in this white dress and I believe that it was her that came to our bed twice every night because of being with me for much longer in the future compared to the girl that I was with during that time. November 1st also falls on the same day that a celebration is found that I had made before I knew about this magical coincidence! It is supposed to be able to hook up everyone so that no one feels rejected, especially where they are found in the past, so that they do not become too sad when comparing themselves to us. There is a green ring found behind me on the "yes" side as well! Pumpkin colors are found which become more meaningful later. So, why the refrigerator? Because, I am currently living out of my car without one due to putting my time in making a blog post like this one rather than looking for a place to live as I have continuously thought that it would be my last week going through this for the rest of my life, but I need a response and to get the attention of the girl that did this to me where we go to sleep!

Palm Bee Kneeled - MUST SEE! wow...

So, what is this about the rose that is found on her white dress? It wakes me up to what the girl looked like in my mind during my childhood the most when I would touch myself and imagine another mermaid that looked like her while waiting. Since I found an echo of my lovers in my childhood it should be true that my children are found there as well! Would this mean that when I would pretend to cook in my plastic kitchen for my stuffed toys this is happening in the future somewhere? What is she doing with her toys? Is the one that she likes the most being picked on by the others for asking them not to be mean to another one? What kind of creations did she come up with when she would play with her legos? How much would I actually be there with her in the past if we are to stay happily married for more than just a vow for our children?

Pink Baby and Hoopity Hopper by T...

I used to turn a picture of Christie Brinkley sideways to sleep next to so that I could wake up pretending to be married to her while my favorite toy was "pink baby" and my favorite color was pink my dad would ask me in public because he thought it was funny so there might be a connection to He-man appearing as "prince Adam" wearing pink? My mother met all sorts of famous people as a flight attendant while my father became an actor later on.

Christie Brinkley? The letter "B" means "warning" while the letter "W" means "flocking with everything..."

thoughts that are sent to us whenever we come across the origins.

Later on in life, I kept a seal with me to cuddle in bed that represented the echo of a child. I took this seal everywhere with me for some time, taking pictures of travel with him. Coaty was his name.

"A-not-her love spell?" At the time that I made this it was for Kat. Why is there a triangle though? You will find out later why the triangle has associated with this Palm Bee girl everywhere... maybe, it is for a third lover? Not something I would be into.. and according to the picture below, neither would Kat?

Blue on the "no" side and this is probably for polybius because of the "giant tree looming over Portland" found in the prophecy of the Green Man made by an artist in Portland which has already started to happen as I paid Kat to read Dragonlance so her thought clouds would have shown a stag in the sky since we lived above ground level and the characters in this story follow one. She is found pointing at the blue in front of the arcade downtown where we lived.

"Leaves the hilt"?

NOW, this picture makes a lot more sense and so does the hilt! You see, before I hooked up with her I briefly dated someone by the name of Anna. Combine their names without a letter n (n = loving represented by a rising snake) and it would be katana? Just a hilt would mean what? No former lovers for me when I found that I am dreaming about my wife and the mother of my children! Where is a green man pointing? The spot on her leg that would mean the "air" element for the spouse?

I disagree here as I point it to "nose, eye right" where it is found ON the tree! Incredible... now, I know why I wore my hair ridiculous like that as well! The word "hair" contains "air" which our ancestors and subconscious minds link to our spouse as this was what the element represented for countless generations! I tied my hair above where the car is found in the background with a particular "white bottom" that is important to note for what is discovered later in this blog post!

Without withholding anything, in an attempt to prove that Palm Bee was really the girl that was coming to me in our dreams, I ran various tests such as this one:

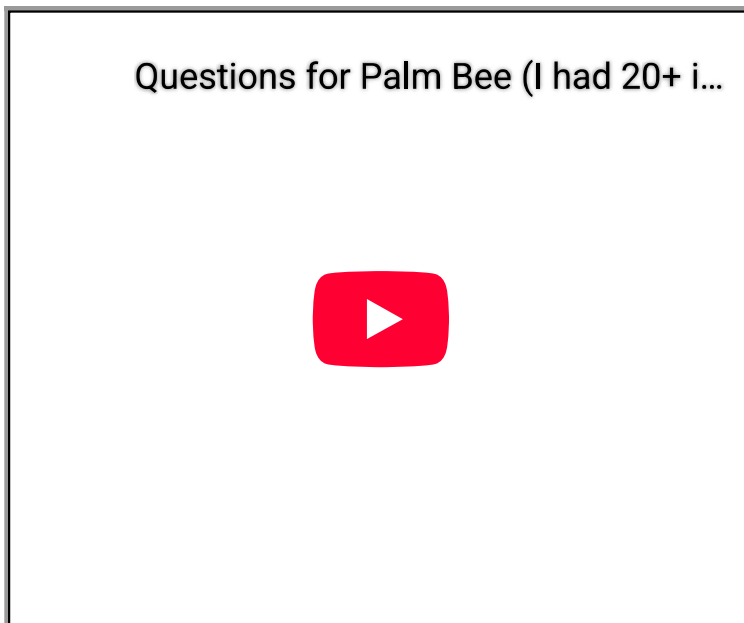

<https://youtu.be/hgcFCLIGwE4>

Here is an example of what I did to prove that it was really her coming to me:

Now to focus on making money, finally, as I believe that I have finally found my "refrigerator" . . .

As someone that has synchronized as Raistlin, she would be the fictional character Crysania! Follow our story...

<https://youtu.be/bXaX-1rOH6A?si=YnKzS0HitpAjNnBW>

If I were to be Finn because of my claim (letter f) that I have a child or wife that I met in my dreams (best letters for this would be nn because it means "fed" "drank" or "loved" in the way that has children) than Palm Bee would be Princess Bubblegum while Forkgirl Cosplay that was the "flower girl" in my dreams that would be Marceline! Makes sense because of my plan to bring a letter Q or line-up for others. What a lovely dream come true that is happening for these cosplayers! Something the people working on making amends deserve to have.

It sure makes sense that Princess Bubblegum would sync with Palm Bee as I have a claim to make as Finn! The black fuzzy hat that I wear, most noticeable in a video about the letter 'A' that I made for kids, looks a lot like the one that this character wears but it is white, reminding me not to wear the black robes, and stick to monogamy.

If you would like something like this to happen for you or your partner, don't miss any booth that I setup at a Comiccon as there will be various "trips" for sale... not exactly "live action roleplaying" but something your partner may have the best experience with? Basically, if your man is into Batman or another hero? You could surprise him with a very special gift he will never forget with our simple use of addition! Don't forgot to join our Coven Of Logic! There are SO MANY COMICS found out there, surely enough to go around... for Dragonlance, we may not be doing this for others so that the demonstrations work done maybe at a book signing? What kind of demonstration am I talking about? Something similar to what Magic The Gathering did for Enemy Charlie.

2025 01 31 16 54 15 This is Enemy ...

There are many card games out there! Let me know if your kid would like to be a Pokemon character? Where I put my attention with a song will absolutely make a difference and the experience very special! They are also good objects to use for the Day Of Air celebration!
