Classroom Newsletter

Dear parents,

We had a great learning week together, We learn a bunch of new vocabulary words in each subject such as science, social studies, and literature. We are working busy bees in class. Now that I got to know each and every one of my student's learning and intellectual abilities, differentiating instructions support activities for students in need. For students with higher student's achievements, I will be given them extra homework or classwork for them to keep up with their great efforts.

A spelling test will be given every Friday,

Graded worksheets and activity worksheets are given for social studies and science.

Literature Exam: will be this Friday on after the teacher gives out a study guide for the students to follow at home and review the story.

Literature exam will be given orally every time during reading in class.

The written exam will be given to students every time we finish the story and all its worksheets in class.
