WHAT WE HAVE LEARN THIS WEEK!

BY MISS ESMA

Our unit is coming to an end which lead us to an End of the Unit Project! For the past four weeks, we have learn what identity is, and constantly answering the question, "Who am I?". They have learn that names are a big part of identity as well as language, cultures, family and so on. We also have learned the differences between label, assumption, and stereotypes. Everything we have learned for the past four weeks will be put into their project. Their project will be based on your child's identity and how they perceived themselves. This will be a fun and creative project that will truly put together all they have learn in the past four weeks. Guidelines about the project has been sent out to your child via teams! Make sure your child check teams for daily updates!

Ramadan Mubarak!
