

Greetings

Dear Parents,

Last week we had a great week, full of adventures, like our lessons. I send worksheets at home when I find that some of my students don't understand a Math learning concept, I will give extra homework for them so parents will help them at home.

Because on our long-run learning journal this year, we will be taking everything back -to -back , and repeated, so the child will understand what they are doing. All math learning concepts will be repeated over and over, and the child must understand them better as we move into different skills and levels.

P.S.: Spelling test and Literature test will be given each Friday. During the week we will be reading , practicing our spelling word, writing and understanding our spelling words vocabulary words.
