

The Earl Gordon Community Service Award is presented annually to an individual who has demonstrated outstanding service to the Brevard County community as a community leader. The 28th Summit of Seven Boys & Men Conference “Earl Gordon Community Service Award” was presented to Charles Jackson for leading the way.

The Going the Extra Mile Award is designed to recognize people who provide solutions to solve complex problems that our community faces and those who make a significant difference in the community through their desire to create social change and improve community development. The “Going the Extra Mile Award” was presented to Pastor Addison K. Mitchell of the Parker Memorial Missionary Baptist Church in Cocoa Florida.

The Top Man Award at The Summit of Seven conference was presented to Pastor Addison Mitchell and Deon Allen of the Parker Memorial Missionary Baptist Church of Cocoa, Florida who brought the most males to the Summit.

“Eastern Florida State College wholeheartedly supports the mission and vision of the Summit of Seven in cultivating interest in education for the young citizens of our district and providing tangible, hands-on experience during the summit for these young people in several of our applied programs, such as public safety and fire protection services,” said Dr. Randall P. Fletcher, Vice President of Academic & Student Affairs and Chief Learning Officer at EFSC.

“Children today need positive motivators and role models and The Summit of Seven provides a program where young people can interact directly for a day with these important influencers.”

Young potential firefighters see what it's like to be a first responder while enjoying the Summit of Seven Conference, June 10-11 at Eastern Florida State College. (EFSC image)