PIERCING AFTERCARE GETTING STABBED ONCE IS BAD, LETS NOT DO IT AGAIN FOR NOTHING

Piercings are easy to take care of, please take good care of it.

Kindly note the following details regarding your aftercare

- The skin around a new piercing might be swollen, red and tender for a few days. It might bleed slightly. If the swelling, redness and bleeding last longer than a few days, contact your doctor. Prompt treatment can help prevent potentially serious complications.
- Clean oral piercings with mouthwash, rinse with an alcohol-free, antiseptic mouthwash after each meal and before you go to bed. After your piercing, use a new soft-bristled toothbrush to avoid introducing bacteria into your mouth. Once the area has healed, take the piercing out at night and brush it to remove plaque. Consider taking it out when eating or during strenuous activity, as well.
- 2. Clean skin piercings. If you've had your skin pierced, clean the site twice a day with soap and water. Be sure to wash your hands before cleaning your piercing site.
- 3. Avoid swimming. Stay out of pools, hot tubs, rivers, lakes and other bodies of water while your piercing is healing.
- 4. Don't fiddle with your piercings. Don't touch a new piercing or twist the jewellery unless you're cleaning it. Keep clothing away from the piercing, too. Excessive rubbing or friction can irritate your skin and delay healing.
- 5. Keep the jewellery in place. Most piercings heal within about six weeks, but some might take several months or longer to heal. To maintain the piercing, leave the jewellery in place during this time, even at night, to keep the hole from closing.
