Praying Against Destiny Helpers Famine – Part 2

No matter how brilliant you are, no matter how gifted you are and no matter how anointed you are, you cannot succeed without helpers

We have been looking at the topic Praying Against the Famine of Destiny Helpers. Last edition we considered the meaning and importance of destiny, purpose and potential. We looked at the tragedy of unfulfilled destinies and the abuse of purpose. We then considered twenty things that could go wrong with destiny, eight major questions every human being must answer in the school of mysteries of life and the importance of destiny helpers. We would now continue from where we stopped.

One of the greatest statements about destiny in the Bible was uttered by the Lord Jesus Christ. We see in Matthew 26:24 one of the most important statements about destiny. It emphasizes for us the importance of destiny. It reads, “The Son of man goeth as it is written of him...” What an important statement. It is very pregnant with meaning. It means there is something written about you before you were even born. Something was written about the Son of man and the beauty about Him was that He was going according to what that write-up said. He was living His life according to what that write-up in heaven had said. This leads us to one of the greatest definitions of destiny, which is: Your destiny is what heaven has written down about you. That is your destiny.

Whether you are now going as it is written or you are going as it is not written is another issue. The greatest confusion in life is that many people are going as it is not written of them.

Many are studying what is not written of them. Many are marrying who is not written with them. Many are travelling to places it is not written that they would go. Many are befriending who it is not written that they should befriend. Many are doing businesses that are not written that they should do; and because it is not written they should do those businesses, when they begin to say, "O God arise and prosper this!" God will ask, "But who told you to do this?"

Therefore it is very important for a person to answer this question very early in life. What has heaven written about you? What is the program of the heaven concerning your life? What is that blueprint that heaven has put down? It is crucial and important that you find this out. If you do not find it out, you may go from the cradle to the grave doing the wrong things and not getting to your potential. This is why this world is gradually becoming a

You could have the capacity to solve a problem, but if you are never invited to solve it, you would remain where you are place where people are running other people's races. This is why the world is becoming a fertile graveyard. This is why the richest place on earth is the graveyard and cemetery because of undiscovered talent and undiscovered riches. If you die undiscovered and if you die without fulfilling God's purpose for your life, you have come to waste time on earth. If the world is not benefiting from what God has planted into your life, then you are just busy adding manure to the graveyard. If nobody is learning anything from you, the high chance is that you are not inside your divine destiny.

Millions of people are doing what the pressures of life have forced them to do, but note very carefully beloved, at the end of life you will only be rewarded for what you were created to do. You will only be rewarded for what you were called to do. It is what you were designed to do that determines what you were assigned to do. Make up your mind that you must make the graveyard poorer. Do not contribute to the wealth of the graveyard. For example, many composers of songs are flooding the market with unreasonable music when they are actually supposed to be doing something else or writing the songs for others. You should find out what God has asked you to do. That is destiny.

There is one interesting word called 'help'. Help allows you to go fast. Help brings you quick recovery. Help allows you to attempt great things for God. Therefore your divine helpers are those divinely programmed to move you to your next level. Your divine helpers are those who are catalysts for your destiny fulfilment. Your divine helpers are persons programmed by heaven to provide the help you need to achieve your goal in life. Many failures in life therefore are due to the absence of destiny helpers at a critical period. The gap created by the absence of destiny helpers can sink a destiny forever. So, wherever you are and whoever you are, somebody helped you. No man can succeed without the assistance of people. No matter how brilliant you are, no matter how gifted you are and no matter how anointed you are, you cannot succeed without helpers. No man can fulfil his destiny by himself.

Every life is dependent on the goods and services of others. God in His wisdom has structured the world in such a way as to make nobody an island. You cannot find anybody who can do everything. It is not possible. Even the biggest and strongest nations are beggars without the help of weaker nations whose resources service them. They take gold from one place, oil from somewhere else, cocoa from somewhere else and some scientific materials from somewhere else. The greatest rulers are totally helpless without people like drivers, soldiers, cooks, cleaners and so on. Helpless. The car you even drive was made by someone, sold by someone else and is being serviced by someone else. No matter how rich you are, you cannot eat your money. Your money is just a means of buying the help of others. So, God made nature to be interdependent. Look at human beings. If you cut off all the trees and removed all the plants, all the humans on the surface of the earth will die. Nature is interdependent. We breathe in the air exhaled by plants. The plants also breathe in the air we exhale.

There are different categories of destiny helpers:

- 1. The first category of destiny helpers are advisers. Look at Naaman in 2 Kings 5. Naaman wanted to be healed and he went to Elisha. He was like a prime minister in his country and he travelled down from his country to Elisha the prophet. He had thought that Elisha would just come out and say, "Your Excellency, you are welcome. We know that you have leprosy. Please sit down. Do you want water? Do you want orange juice?"

Do you want somebody to fan air on your body?" He was expecting such VIP treatment from Elisha, but to his own shock and amazement, Elisha did not even bother to come out of the house or even see what the man looked like. He just sent his servant to Naaman to tell him to dip himself seven times in the River Jordan and he shall be made whole. Elisha did not even bother to want to know him. This is a very serious matter. Elisha was a prophet of the most high God and it is very sad that prophets like Elisha have now practically disappeared.

The man was angry, "What! What kind of insult is this?! He couldn't even come out to say welcome. Even if I wanted to swim in a river, is it that dirty stinking Jordan River? Why couldn't he ask me to go to the river of Abana? Why couldn't he ask me to go to the river of Pharpar?" He forgot something. God had no appointment with Abana or Pharpar. The appointment was with the River Jordan and unto the River Jordan he must go if he must be healed. So he got angry and climbed his horse and angrily wanted to return back home with his leprosy. But he had destiny helpers who were good advisers around him. They said, "My father, your Excellency Sir, what if this man had said you should do something much more difficult? You would have done it. All he has said is for you to dip yourself in the river seven times and you shall be made whole. Do it and if it doesn't work you can go back and say, 'Prophet, I'm still here with no healing'" So they advised him and he listened to the advice. He went there and within minutes the problem that he had been going about with for years just vanished.

2. The second group of destiny helpers are counsellors. They give counsel that will move you forward. Counsel that will repair your life.
3. The third group is informants. They give you information that will change your life. Going back to the story of Naaman in 2 Kings 5. He never knew there was any prophet in Israel. They had captured a little girl from Israel who he had converted to a maid in his palace. It was that little girl that told Naaman. She said, "My father, if you will go to Israel, there is a prophet that can heal you." He was not aware that kind of thing could take place.

Somebody gave him that information and it changed his life forever. For every man, there is information you need to move you forward. There is information you need to change your life. To be informed is to move forward. Not to be informed is to be deformed. Information is very powerful. Some may not even know that there is an admission form for something they need somewhere, but somebody tells them, "Forms are available for this, go there..." Some may not be aware that scholarships are being offered somewhere, but someone would say, "That place is where they are offering it, go there..." They have given you information.

I was in South Africa for a crusade. As the crusade was going on, I was put in a room by the side of the altar from where I would climb up to the stage. There was a white lady who was driving around town and found a poster of our crusade on a vehicle. She saw my name, stopped the driver of the vehicle and said, "Excuse me, please wait. Do you mean Dr. D. K. Olukoya is in this town? This country?" The person said, "Yes. They are having a crusade. That is where I am going." She said, "Well, I am not doing any other thing today..."

She drove and followed that man to the crusade ground. This white woman practically knelt down (which was very unusual) and was begging the pastors and ushers saying, "Let me see him for just one minute. Let me see this man." Eventually one of them came to tell me saying, "There is a woman begging outside there. She is crying that she wants to see you. She is a white lady. She said she saw your poster and she wants to see you..." I said, "Please ask her what the problem is." She said somebody gave her the Prayer Rain book and from that day her life changed. She promised herself that she must see the man that wrote that book physically and tell him her testimony. So, they allowed her to come in.

When she saw me, the first thing she did was to jump on me and she started hugging me. It took our pastors some effort to drag her away. Then she broke down and cried. She said her life was upside down. Nothing was working. She had bought poison to drink and die. All her family members were laughing at her, that with the three university degrees she had, she could not even feed herself properly. Her husband had left her. She had lost her job. She had lost her house. They asked her what she was living for. It was then somebody gave her the book Prayer Rain and she started praying. To her amazement things began to change. She got a new job, got a new house and got everything back again. She put her hand in her bag and brought out the book. It was tattered. She said, "Now you can see why I followed the van." Somebody gave her that book. See what resulted.

4. Good Friends. Good friends are destiny helpers. An example is those friends who wanted to get in to see Jesus with their sick friend in Mark 2:3-12 and found out the way was blocked. The Bible says they went to tear the roof to bring their friend in. The influence of bad friends has destroyed so many lives. Particularly the young ones. The power of evil peer pressure and the power of evil friends have demolished so many lives, so everywhere you go, you must have good friends. Good friends are destiny helpers.
5. Mentors. Moses mentored Joshua. Elijah mentored Elisha. Paul mentored Timothy. Mentors are destiny helpers. A mentor is someone who has passed through a route before. Now you want to pass through the same route so he or she gives you guidance, help and sometimes correction. A mentor is somebody who you look up to.

6. Workers. People working with you or working for you could be destiny helpers.
7. Unsolicited Supporters. You do not know about them but God just brings them along. You did not solicit for their help but they come forth to you as destiny helpers.
8. Good Broadcasters. They broadcast you for good. This is just like what happened at the palace of King Saul in 1 Samuel 16:14-18. Saul was in trouble. He was sick and being troubled by bad spirits. The people in the palace were very worried so they began to look for solutions. They were suggesting solutions when someone said, "Let us look for somebody who can play anointed music, so that the music would calm the king down..." Then someone else, a good broadcaster, said, "I know one boy at the back of the desert. He plays musical instruments very well and he is an anointed musician. Let us go and fetch him.” A servant in the palace of Saul was the one who broadcasted David and that was how David got there. This kind of good broadcasters can be a voice for you where you have no voice. Saul had a problem that only David could solve, but there had to be a connection between that problem and the man who had the capacity to solve it. You could have the capacity to solve a problem, but if you are never invited to solve it, you would remain where you are.

9. Facilitators. They facilitate what you are doing so it can be better, quicker and smoother.
10. Compassionate Associations. You may not know them but they look into your case with compassion.
11. Prophetic Associations. Those you are connected to prophetically. This means you are moving with a group or someone who is close to God. So because they are close to God, and you are close to that person, you relate by prophetic association. This is why it is good to examine very well the kind of close associations you have. If your best friends are adulterers, polygamists and drunkards, then you are lost. If you claim to be a friend of God, but you do not have anybody that you can say you pray with, then you are lost. Be very careful.

12. A voice raised positively in your absence. Your case is being decided but you are not there, and God just ministers to one of those there and says, “You, raise a voice, speak to support him...”
13. A good husband or a good wife. If you are not married yet, may you not marry your enemy. If you have already married your enemy, may God help you. This is why we preach to the young ones that, apart from your salvation and surrendering your life to Jesus, the next important decision in your life is the choice of who you marry. Ninety percent of your success depends on this. If you marry a deficit, you become a deficit. A lot of women would have remained alive for a long time if they did not marry a deficit. So a good husband or a good wife is a destiny helper.
14. A prayer partner. A prayer partner is a destiny helper. Somebody that you come together with and lift up your voices in prayer. I expect every believer who is on fire for God to have at least one prayer partner. Somebody you pray together with. That prayer partner may be your wife, your husband or another child of God.

15. A lifter. Just like Samuel was to David. God used Samuel to lift David in 1 Samuel 16:5-13. Samuel did not go to Jesse's house to look for David. He went there to look for a king but could not find any among those that were displayed. David was so underrated that when Samuel asked Jesse for his children, Jesse did not even include David for display. But Samuel asked, "Is there any other person apart from these ones?" Jesse replied, "Well, there's that youngest one. He is looking after the sheep." Samuel said, "Bring him. We shall not sit down until he comes..." and the prophet remained standing, not taking a seat until David arrived. Samuel lifted David.

16. Teachers. Teachers in school are destiny helpers. That is why a curse from heaven operates on the life of any teacher who takes advantage of the fact that they are teaching children to abuse the children. If you know such teachers, tell them. There is an abiding, unshakeable curse on teachers who sleep with their students and who confuse the lives of children. This is a very serious matter. I know somebody in Nigeria who was supposed to be a teacher. He impregnated seven students, scattered them all over the place and truncated their education. He later built a big school. As we speak now, both himself and the school have become desolate. This is because there is a curse on teachers who do not teach what they are supposed to teach but teach something else that is satanic.

17. Pastors. Pastors are destiny helpers. They tell you things to help your life and move your destiny forward. They minister to you and pray for you. They are destiny helpers. For that reason, you should keep praying for your pastors. Long after many have gone to bed and slept, forces approach pastors saying, "Excuse me, who asked you to pray for this person? What is your problem? Is this person your family member? What is your problem? Mind your business..." They come to harass the pastors. You will do more good praying for pastors than criticizing them. This is a serious matter.

18. Godly Parents. The value of godly parents is completely inestimable. I congratulate you if you are fortunate enough to have godly parents. They must have done a lot of good to your destiny. When I was quite young I used to be the captain of the football team in our police barracks. They kept all the jerseys in our house. I was the one who gave the jerseys out to the team. I was on the football field one day and there was a match going on. I was one of those playing. All of a sudden, from the corner of my eye, I saw my dad's car parked at the back of the goalpost. He gestured to me and said calmly, "Come out." The match was still on. With my jersey I left the pitch and went to him. He ordered me into the car and drove off. "Daddy where are we going?" He replied, "Shut up." He drove me straight to church for choir practice, dropped me there and drove off. I was so angry. "How can he take me from where I was playing football and drop me among these women who are singing here?" I was so angry that time. Now, looking back, I thank him for doing so and for pushing me there at that time. It has helped my destiny in no small measure.

19. Angels of God. They are destiny helpers. There are a lot of angels amongst us. The reason we do not see them is:

- i. We still do not understand the mystery of open eyes.
- ii. Many of us do not live a consecrated sanctified life.
- iii. We lack discernment.
- iv. We have an image in our heads of what the angel should look like. We expect a white person with wings. No, an angel would not approach you in that format. To see them in that format is very fearful thing. They may actually be sitting beside you where you are, looking exactly like you. They are destiny helpers.

20. Recommenders. Those who recommend you for good things are destiny helpers. There was a man from this church who applied for an international job. A lot of people applied from all over the world and they needed just one person. A lot of people applied from Nigeria too. The position was such a top one that those who applied got references from heads of state, prime ministers and senate leaders. This brother from our church however did not know the head of state, any senator or anybody. All he did was to bring the application letter to our Power Must Change Hands program. When they said at the program, “Bring out your prayer request...” That was the only thing he held up. Then he put in his application. When his application got to the place, the man who was to select those they should pick looked through all the applications recommended by governors, presidents, prime ministers, senate leaders and so on. The man then put his hand on his head and said, “Oh!” He asked his secretary, “Of all these, is there anybody here that nobody recommended?” The secretary said, “There is one.” The man said, “That particular one that nobody recommended is the one I am going to recommend.” It was this brother that got the job.
