This weekly program is for families looking to enrich their child's home learning journey with artistic activities plus a bit of movement and academics sprinkled in.

Each Monday, your child will enjoy an art-filled afternoon with other home learners (aged 6-12) that includes: stories, poetry, music, drama, games, visual arts, nature-based activities, and handwork with a variety of materials.

This is a small group program (max. 5-6) offered in a home setting and outings to beautiful, treed neighbourhood parks nearby.

About the teacher:

Hello! I've been offering these classes for five years (including at the Waldorf Independent School of Edmonton) and as a mom of four, have 25 years of Waldorf-enriched, home-schooling experience. I'm also a yoga teacher/group exercise leader, intermodal expressive arts facilitator, and childbirth educator. I hold a child development worker certificate as well as current Red Cross Standard First Aid and CPR-C certifications.

I'm so excited to provide these arts enrichment classes for your child(ren), both to share my love of learning and creative expression, as well as to help build a like-minded community of homeschooling families. Therefore, I am open to parents joining in for at least one or two classes per session, if you can, so we can share in this adventure!

Looking forward to meeting you and your child(ren),

Annemarie van Oploo, BScN
