Liturgy of the Word

- Isaiah 55:1–3 Come to the Lord.
- Psalm 145 “The hand of the Lord feeds us; he answers all our needs.”
- Romans 8:35, 37–39 Nothing can separate us from God’s love.
- Matthew 14:13–21 The people ate and were satisfied.

“The hand of the Lord feeds us,” we sing in the responsorial psalm, which serves as an appropriate bridge between the first reading and the Gospel. Through Isaiah, God invites everyone to come eat and drink their fill. In the Gospel, Jesus feeds thousands with but five loaves and two fish. In between, Saint Paul boasts that nothing can separate us from the love of our extravagantly generous God. Before we come to share in Christ’s body at the eucharistic table, let us feast on God’s word.

Pastor's Reflection

"And into the forest I go, to lose my mind and find my soul." I recently ran across this quote from John Muir the 19th century naturalist who is considered the Father of America's National Parks. These words capture why I love hiking in the woods. For me the forest is the place where distractions fall away and God is intensely present. We all need a place where we can be with God, alone in intimate communion. For some it might be in the forest or some other venue of nature. For others it might be in your own kitchen, early in the morning with that first cup of coffee. And, of course, there is also the beautiful opportunity of spending time in church with the Lord before the Blessed Sacrament. While I'm a big advocate for getting out in nature, it really doesn't matter where that special place might be; what's important is that you find a place where you really can "lose your mind and find your soul."

-Fr. Larry
