

IN HER OWN WORDS

A STUDENT'S EXPERIENCE WITH MLS-GIRL TRAINING

When someone with approximately 17 years of experience in the title industry describes my Transaction Coordinator training as detailed, comprehensive, and an outstanding investment, it means more than I can express.

This review reflects what I want every student to experience: clear instruction, practical systems, valuable resources, and continued support beyond the classroom.

Angela Lance, aka MLS-Girl

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'MLG-Girl'.

August 17, 2026

“I had the pleasure of taking Angela’s Transaction Coordinator training class in July, and I could not have been more impressed with the experience.

I am currently an Escrow Officer and have been in the title industry for approximately 17 years. I am interested in transitioning into a different role, particularly one that offers more remote flexibility.

A valued client recommended Angela, also known as MLS-Girl, and spoke very highly of her Transaction Coordinator training. I can confidently say that the class exceeded my expectations.

In all my years in the title industry, I have never received training as detailed and comprehensive as Angela’s. She was extremely thorough in her explanations and provided extensive supporting documentation to reinforce the material.

The checklists alone are an invaluable resource. When followed carefully, they provide an excellent system to help ensure that nothing is overlooked during the transaction coordination process. She also provided flashcards and additional resources that make it easy to review and retain the information.

HER SUPPORT DOES NOT END
WHEN THE CLASS DOES.

Angela’s attention to detail and the amount of knowledge she shares clearly demonstrates her experience and success as a Transaction Coordinator. She has taken the time to develop a truly comprehensive training program and genuinely wants her students to succeed.

What impressed me even more is that her support does not end when the class does. Angela continues to send weekly messages, stays in communication with her students, and remains available to answer questions.

She is also extremely organized and respectful of everyone's time. If she says an updated form or resource will be provided by a certain time, she delivers exactly as promised.

Angela was an excellent instructor. Her explanations were clear and thorough, and she asked plenty of questions throughout the class, which kept everyone engaged and involved in the learning process.

If you know someone who is considering becoming a Transaction Coordinator or looking to make a career change and needs quality TC training, I highly recommend Angela.

Her knowledge, organization, attention to detail, and continued support make her training an outstanding investment.”

— Escrow Officer

Approximately 17 Years in the Title Industry