

Christ the King

Introduction to the Mass

The head that once was crowned with thorns is crowned with glory now. As we celebrate the kingship of Christ may we be given grace to acknowledge afresh his rule in our lives and to serve him with deeper commitment and greater enthusiasm, thereby hastening by our life and work the time when he will be universally recognised as Lord and Saviour.

First Reading (Dan :13-14)

Later writers saw here a picture of the Messiah who would come from heaven to inaugurate the Kingdom of God.

Second Reading (Rev 1:5-8)

Christ the faithful witness has not only surrendered his life, but is also the first to be born from the dead.

Gospel Jn (18:33-37)

Jesus does not deny his kingship, but shows that it is not of earthly origin or political in character.

Thought for Every Day – St Peter Julian Eymard

21st November 2021

(Presentation of Mary). Mary gave herself entirely, promptly and forever. [PS 98,1]

22nd November 2021

We are getting older and we still have a long way to go. We should take the shortest way, the way of love which gives everything without self-seeking. [CO 2011]

23rd November 2021

St. Francis de Sales wants us to go like a man who has a road to travel, he takes a first step, then a second, then a third, so he advances and arrives at the end of his journey. [PG 143,5]

24th November 2021

Accepting death is martyrdom, whether an executioner takes away my life by blood or I accept it. It's the same thing, the last act of love is that which crowns our life, or rather is crowned by Our Lord. [PR48,3]

25th November 2021

Always trust. It is by rowing that we reach the port [CO 430]

26th November 2021

Oh! If we didn't have the adorable Eucharist here below, Jesus the Emmanuel with us, this earth would be too sad, life too difficult, time too long. We must thank the goodness of God for leaving us a Paradise of love, Jesus veiled, a column of smoke and fire in the desert.

27th November 2021

Heaven is for the Angels and the crowned Saints; the Eucharist is for me. [PD19,22]
