Learning Props®

Preparing your incoming Kindergarten students for what the new school year will bring for both them and their families is key to a successful school year. We are proud to re-release our updated:

Getting Ready for Kindergarten

Our On My Way to Kindergarten Game (English and Bilingual-English/Spanish) is a fun and playful way to help your new students and their families prepare and focus on the adventure that lies before them. Children and their families practice their Kindergarten Readiness Skills on a fun-filled journey that ends with them being ready to meet their new Kindergarten teacher and the wonderful year that lies ahead. In addition to our learning path game for the children, we have also included many helpful resources and tools to help parents prepare as well. Such as:

- ✓ The teacher along with the child's family will be a team working together to support their child's learning and growth.
- ✓ Teaching parents to be prepared to partner with the school and participate.
- ✓ Teaching parents that the everyday things they do with their child matter so much. Good nutrition, getting a full night's sleep, understanding the new routine, and encouraging their child to embrace toileting, dressing, eating, etc. are all key to their child's development.
- ✓ In addition, we have included more "Fun Things to Do Together" to extend those learning opportunities. So, at the end of the path:

Mastery Based Learning Instructional Model

Learners create customized learning pathways and track progress toward their goals. Students are assigned skill badges where each badge provides the instruction and assessment activities to capture evidence of academic, technical, social-emotional skill mastery. Teachers may create a unique combination of badges and customized learning journey for each student. Students earn badges when they produce the requisite evidence of mastery.

To earn a badge, learners work through playlists of micro-lessons and assignments selected from our CTE library of digital resources curated from Open Educational Resources (OER), commercial providers and teachers.

Formative Assessment & Evidence of Learning

Built into the playlists are formative assessments. The district can use Core-LX authoring tools to create original formative assessments. In addition to automated assessments, teachers can develop alternate modalities of formative assessment including performance tasks, projects, writing assignments, and more. Included is a standards-aligned item bank from our partner, Centerpoint Education.

Student Self-Assessment

Student self-assessment helps learners stay involved in their learning experiences and encourages self-reflection and responsibility for learning. Core-LX has embedded within its system a tool for students to evaluate their own work and growth. Through self-assessment, the learner can identify their own skill gaps, see where to focus their attention in learning and track their own progress.

Comprehensive Learner Record

The Core-LX platform includes a 21st Century, student-centered digital record of each learner's experiences through the use of a Comprehensive Learning Record (CLR). The CLR captures and communicates a learner's journey in a verifiable, digital format. Because the CLR is holistic, it showcases both learning experiences and achievements through the accurate reflection of a student's range of knowledge, skills and abilities. This tool enables students to express their qualifications in a more detailed and complete way for districts, prospective employers, community colleges and higher education institutions.
