President's Corner:

If Quilters Wrote Spam

The first definition of email spam that I recall showed up online in the 1980's, naming spam as a Stupid, Pointless, Annoying Message.

I look in my spam email files regularly. I need to, as the filters seem to be a bit erratic in their ability to sort my mail. Just this morning, emails from my favorite quilt stores had migrated to the spam file, and offers for meds and online schools crept into my regular mail box.

And just who do these spammers think I am? I have no interest in hot chicks on the web, unless they mean poultry recipes for the grill. I am not wanting to meet random unknown singles, be they lonely, of a particular faith, or 'in my neighborhood.' I can find government grants on my own. And I certainly do not need any part of my body enlarged!

If spam-creating writers had a clue of how to get our attention, they would change their topics and subject lines. What self-respecting fabric addict and quilter would not be tempted to open emails with senders and subject lines like these?

from: DirectSupplier: We will qualify you for free fabric, or pay for it ourselves from: HelpAQuilter: My family kicked me out because of my addiction from: Freebies4U: Sign up today, get free fabric for life from: CartoonMailer: Get quilt cartoons delivered daily from: ImaQuiltgod: Patterns, templates and more, never over $1 and my favorite:

from: InYourDreams: Lose inches sitting at your sewing machine. I would never leave my machine.

Remember, check your email spam files often for some laughs.

Sew Sincerely,

Sharon Johnsonbaugh

Program News - Linda Watkins, VP Facilitator

A huge thanks to Joe Cunningham for sharing his wit, wisdom and music with us last month. I think he was one of the most entertaining speakers I've heard. We had a wonderful turnout for both is lecture and his workshop. I can't wait to see everybody's quilt. Each one should be very different.

Finishing out our CAMEO lecture and workshop year is Suzi Parron on May 19th. She will discuss "Barn Quilts and the American Quilt Trail Movement." Suzi has promised she will bring her books to sell at our meeting. We can look forward to seeing many examples of barn quilts in her slide show. Then on Saturday May 21st we will learn to paint our own 24" by 24" barn quilt block. How great, no sewing machines or fabric required. Depending on the block you select to paint, you should go home with a completed block. Right now, I am taking names for a waiting list for this workshop. If you want to see more barn quilts, there are several Barn Quilts Trails in Michigan that are easy day trips. Looking forward to seeing everyone at the May meeting.

Reminder!

Challenge Quilts are due at the May meeting!
We can't wait to see them!

Committee Manuals Due at May Meeting

If your Committee has completed their undertaking, please fill out the report form, in the manual, and return the manual either to your Liaison or myself at the May CAMEO General Meeting. I understand that some manuals can not be returned yet (Audit, Nominations and Elections, etc.).

Attention CAMEO Quilters! Help Publicize Our May Program!

Wow! Our Joe Cunningham program brought in a whopping 28 guests! How exciting to share such a great program with so many! We are hoping that our May program will also draw lots of interest and bring in many guests. Please help publicize Suzi Parron's program by sharing the flyer included in this newsletter with your quilting friends, local quilt shops, other guilds, Facebook, etc. Thanks - you're the best!

May flowers is our signal to prepare for what comes next and that's our June Pot Luck. The clipboard will go around our group again in May, so if you didn't sign up in April be sure to look for the clipboard at the membership table or when it's in circulation in May. Not to worry for those who can't make the regular meetings. As usual, I will email or call you just to make sure you didn't forget and many of you are so grateful to be reminded.

The following people will be bringing hospitality treats in May, and we are very thankful to all who bring them. So, even if your birthday isn't in May and you would like to bring something, please do, the treat table is the best.

Fabulous Finds Table

Lucy Lesperance & Janet Nelson

What a great response we've had to the Fabulous Finds table, for all who gave and all who took away. Thank you.

Would be great to see some of the fabric come back incorporated into your quilting creations at Show and Tell.

May will be our last Fabulous Finds table for this season. Good time to clean out your stashes and those extra notions you do not need anymore.

Charity Quilt Pattern

Willie Pfeiffer has generously shared a Charity quilt pattern, "Betsy's Beauty", included in this newsletter. Willie says, "This is an easy Jelly Roll friendly little quilt. Great for leftover stash strips 2 1/2 inches." What a great summer project! Have fun making it and we'll look forward to seeing lots of these quilts at our September Show & Tell! Thanks, Willie!

What can a CAMEO member do,...?

By CAMEOCarol

You can..., bring in an item for the Fabulous Finds Table, something you were sure would have time to make/use but then changed your mind. It is waiting for a good home and the Fabulous Finds Table may be just the place for it to go home with someone else.

You can..., visit the Fabulous Finds table looking for just the thing you need/ have been waiting for. Take it home with you, it's free!

You can..., bring in a charity project you just didn't have time to start or complete and turn it in at the Charity Table. It will be reissued to someone else next year. The Charity Committee will be busy preparing their annual report to let the State of Michigan know that we are fulfilling our requirements to be a non-taxed entity. If you have any completed Charity items be sure to get them in so that they can be included in the report.

You can..., buy tickets at the Door Prize Table, you could win a prize.

You can..., attend the May Meeting featuring Suzi Parron. Her topic is Barn quilts. Her workshop on Saturday, May 21 will have each attendee actually painting a 24" X 24" quilt block on wood. If you have reserved your spot, be sure to wear old clothes. As of this writing, the workshop is full, but you can check with Linda Watkins, Facilitator VP, to see if anyone dropped out.

You can..., still send in your officer nominations to the Nominations & Elections Committee. Contact Sandy Peiss. The N&E Committee will present the slate of candidates at the May meeting as well as take nominations from the floor prior to the President closing the nominations. Voting will take place at the members only June Business Meeting.

You can..., re-up your guild membership for next year when the member enrollment forms are available. Your Programmer CoVPs, the Fluscos, have completed the program plans for the next guild year and promise an exciting array of speakers and workshops.

You can..., sign up at the May meeting to bring in a dish to pass to our June Annual Business/ Dinner Meeting. If you can't attend the May Meeting, you can contact Hospitality's Betty Carpenter or Kaye Schepke to sign up for a dish. You CAN do a lot for CAMEO!

Items to bring to the May meeting:

1. Yourself and your smile!
2. Your Name Tag
3. A guest and possible new member.
4. Money for Door Prize Table
5. Show & Tell Items
6. Charity Items
7. Items for Fabulous Finds Table
8. Charity Quilt Kits - Finished or Unfinished (Please. These are needed for the Charity report.)

Research & Information

Considerations for selecting a longarm quilter

by Ann Bonelli

Once you have finished piecing a quilt, the decision has to be made, do you quilt it or have it quilted. If you are not quilting it yourself how do you select a quilter? Very few of us will be looking for hand quilters (too expensive) most of us will turn to the longarm quilter. We are fortunate to live in an area where there are many longarm quilters so it comes down to how much you like their work, how much they charge, how long it will take and how well the two of you communicate.

To begin your selection processes ask your friends, your fellow guild members, local quilt shops for their suggestions, recommendations and experiences with local longarm quilters. Look at as many examples of the quilter's work as you can, both from friends she has quilted for and the samples she will show you. Visit Quilt shows and see if she has quilted any of those exhibits.

Hopefully this previewing will give you a feel for the style of quilting you like and are looking for in your quilt. It helps to have seen how a densely quilted piece can give a firm hard flat quilt, somewhat heavy while a piece quilted with more open spaced will give a softer, fluffier look. Are you looking for the same pattern from edge to edge, a pantograph? Do you want different quilt patterns in different blocks or shapes within the block, custom quilting? Obviously this is more expensive. Your quilter will help you with all of this but it is helpful for you to have put some thought in to your expectations. Do not be timid about asking your prospective quilter about her experience. Did she buy her machine a month ago! Has she been quilting for customers for ten years, taken classes, been to conferences, won prizes? The decision who to use is yours, just be informed.

Facts you need to know before you leave your quilt top.

- 1) How do you price? What is included?
- 2) Is batting included, what kinds do you use?
- 3) May I provide the batting? How much larger should the batting be than the pieced top.
- 4) What thread do you use, is the cost included?
- 5) How long will it take?
- 6) What will this project cost?
- 7) How should I prepare the quilt top for you?

Usually you will be asked to present the quilt top well pressed, the backing at least 6-8" larger than the quilt top and kept separate from the top, the batting same size as backing.

Communication is extremely important, do not say to the quilter, "whatever you suggest will be fine" She may think a dense, heavy design will make a manly quilt when you were envisioning something light and airy because you had seen others she had done that way. If you want to defer to her experience at least listen to her describe the pattern/style/thread color she is proposing.

Retreat Kudos and Thanks

This year's retreat was the best ever! Lots of time to sew and hang out with friends - both old and new. There was plenty of food and snacks and smiles. Really, can we ask for anything more? While in Alcatraz, Al Capone was inmate #85. I wanted to thank the retreat committee for all the time and thought that went into planning, preparations, and helpfulness during the weekend.
