Papermaking with Lori Goodman

Learn about Lori's papermaking and sculpture process. Lori will show us around her studio and share images of her work from over many years.

Bio: I began as a weaver about 53 years ago in Los Angeles. Upon moving to Humboldt County in 1973 I began spinning, dyeing, raising sheep and children (just 2). My friend, Terry Hill and I then opened the Woolmark, a fiber art supply store in Eureka, because we couldn't find the weaving and spinning supplies we wanted for our craft. For 15 years we taught weaving, spinning, knitting, sold looms, wheels, yarn and fleece. At some point I started making paper and giving workshops. I immediately loved paper. It was immediate and much easier to manipulate and work with than the weaving. Plus if a mistake is made paper can quickly be recycled and reused. The rest is history. I still love the process of making paper and creating sculptures out of it.

New Weaving Studio Opening Soon!

Library Space at the New Studio!

Our library has been relocated to the weaving studio at the Ink People. The guild purchased new shelves so we have ample space for adding new volumes. The studio is shaping up beautifully and having the library once again located in the space is perfect. We are hoping for public access by the first of the year. Brenda Yarnell

The Ink People Center for the Arts has moved to 627 3rd Street in Eureka (next to Buttons). The Weaving Studio has been given a large lovely space and we have been busy transforming it with paint, carpet, and a lot of work! Thanks to all the members who helped and thank you to HHSB for the donation to help with costs. In January we plan to start classes again and invite guild members to an Open House.

We have room for more looms and are looking for a couple Gilmores, 8 or 4 shaft, if you have one you care to donate or sell. Also the studio could use a couple things, does anyone have a boombox cd/radio or a printer they don't need? Contact Linda linda@lindahartshorn.com, 707-599-2729 if you can help.

Thanks! to Linda and Brenda (and others) for getting the studio and library ready!
