Genesis Medical Associates Joins Bridges Health Partners

Pittsburgh – September 23, 2020 – Genesis Medical Associates, the largest still independent physician–owned primary care practice serving the Greater North Hills, has joined the Bridges Health Partners (Bridges) Clinically Integrated Network (CIN).

Genesis has nearly 60 providers in a dozen offices stretching north from the city of Pittsburgh to Cranberry Township in Butler County. All of Genesis practice sites are recognized by NCQA for achieving Patient-Centered Medical Home status.

While Genesis & Bridges both have vast experience in value-based contracts, this agreement will allow the two entities to share data, knowledge, experience & resources to augment efforts in improving healthcare outcomes for their patients.

“The addition of Genesis brings together like-minded physicians and clinicians with demonstrated success providing affordable, high quality patient care to continue meeting our community’s needs. Additionally, our strategic partnership with Genesis will expand and enhance Bridges geographic footprint for patients, employers and health plans in the region desiring better value,” said Tom Boggs, President of Bridges.

“Both of Genesis and Bridges have shown great success in achieving cost savings with their individual Medicare Shared Savings Agreements, while showing great strides in care quality”, stated Dr. Tad Scheri, President of Genesis. “Our combined population-health and technology resources will continue to show great outcomes to the Pittsburgh patient community.”

With the addition of Genesis, Bridges now has approximately 1,100 physicians participating across 13 counties throughout western Pennsylvania and is partnering with multiple health plans to improve value – better quality at lower cost - for patients and employers.
