- Would like to see Clayton County tax dollars that are allotted for mental health benefit people in Clayton County instead of sending them to shelters nor the Crisis Center in Blackhawk County.
- This community needs something like this if it hopes to keep growing in a positive way rather than lose people.
- Lack of mental health care options is a large part of why I am searching for housing and living outside of this county and plan to move within the next few months.

Take aways

Lack of knowledge to make changes in own self-care

Lack of community resources beyond traditional clinic setting

Long wait times, travel, lack of therapists and affordability

Education around existing mental health services available

Education around mental health services covered by insurance
