

Cooperative Driving for Company Drivers

[Formerly Defensive Driving]

For many years, workplace fatalities from transportation-related accidents has steadily increased. As more and more people are required to spend time behind the wheel, the likelihood of being involved in a work-related accident increases dramatically.

Topics Include: developing a proactive approach to driving for company drivers - one that is cooperative, rather than reactive or merely defensive. Participants will be introduced to the Five Steps to Cooperative Driving: Preparing as a Driver, Vehicle Inspections, Creating & Maintaining Safety Zones, Effective Communication Strategies, and Proactive Driving Techniques. Included are discussions about preparing to drive, how to assess risks, maintaining safety zones and proactive driving techniques.

Course Length: 4 Hours

- Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will:

1. Understand the principals of cooperative driving
2. Know how to properly prepare for driving, including performing a vehicle inspection
3. Be able to recognize perceived versus real risk and assess threat levels

Cooperative Driving for Company Drivers

[Formerly Defensive Driving]

Who Should / Must Attend This Course:

- All workers who must drive a vehicle to perform all or part of their job
- Supervisors of workers who must drive a vehicle on behalf of the company

Additional Information about this Course:

- Companies that require their personnel to spend time on the road should carefully consider whether a one-time, "regular" driver's license course is enough training to reduce the risk of injuries or fatalities, or to be considered as due diligence.
- HASCO also provides optional in-cab or in-car Driver Assessments, evaluating the actual performance of company drivers.
- In-vehicle Driver Assessments can be arranged as an additional option to augment this training. These assessments are not covered in the cost of the Cooperative Driver training program.

HASCO Customers of this course were even MORE impressed when they purchased:
