Yes your insurance is very likely to pay for your hearing test.

Your insurance does not cover an audiologist for:

- Audiology Office Visit
- Specialized hearing tests for hearing instruments
- Consults regarding hearing instruments
- Hearing instrument testing, cleaning, adjustment or cell phone connectivity
- Cerumen removal
- Tinnitus Counseling
- Cochlear Implant counseling, cleaning, accessory connectivity

We make every effort to keep our charges reasonable.

This clinic only wants patients to pay for the services they are using. Therefore we do not inflate the cost of products to cover services not paid by insurance just so a patient will feel he/she is getting something for free.

We appreciate your understanding in the matter of us having to charge you for services you need but that your insurance does not cover.

A typical office visit charge is $25.00 to $30.00, however this fee may differ depending on which specific services are provided. This IS NOT a co-pay and is in addition to any co-pay your insurance requires.

I consent to the testing and treatment necessary for my care. I authorize the release of all medical records to the physicians involved in my treatment and to my insurance company, if applicable. I allow fax transmittals of my medical records, if necessary.

I acknowledge full financial responsibility for services rendered at this facility. I have read and fully understand the above consent for treatment, financial responsibility, release of medical information and insurance authorization.
