

Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport

Concourse E · Sushi spot One Flew South is Atlanta's first upscale airport restaurant, complete with a menu created by chefs Todd Richards and Duane Nutter of The Oakroom at the Seelbach Hilton in Kentucky.

Concourse A and Main Terminal Atrium · Atlanta institution Paschal's Restaurant, which even markets a local line of batter mixes for fried chicken, serves large portions of southern classics like fried catfish, country-fried steak and macaroni and cheese.

Photo © www.garnishphotography.com