The Preparation

Work For Life – Ke was officially launched in February 2022 following 3 intense months of pre-feasibility study and preparation in 2021. The preparation included training 10 instructors who from the intensity of the training, drive and work, of the 10, only 1 succeeded in completing the training hence qualifying him to be a trainer. The rest of our trainers are graduates from a previous class carried out virtually in the year 2020.

The logo consists of a black stylized shape resembling a crown or a bird's head with a red dot above it.

CHALLENGES
&
MOMENTS

CHALLENGES

	John Mbutia	Maureen Owande	Jacinta Njoki
Week 1	Time management was a great challenge as well as to meet set deadlines	Did not train	Did not train
Week 2	Training more than 100 people is not a joke. I had to train even local admins who were part of the group and it was hectic.	Availability of trainees, as some of them are unavailable during weekends.	Did not train
Week 3	Assembling the learners for continuing studies was hectic.	Time management.	The participants had problem in providing their age.
Week 4	Tracing learners, some of whom had left to their day to day chores.	Time	Some of my trainees are not eloquent in English.

What was your best inspiring moment?

John Mbuthiah

Maureen Owando

Jacinta Njoki

Daniel
Owino

Week 1

The smile from my student as I introduced the first lesson, it was like "waooh what do we got here."

Week 2

Having the local administrators give me part of their time and getting the hang of it.

The way the trainers expressed their interest in the business training.

Week 3

Helping the class to pull together and commit their time for success

Committed students

I was inspired at how keen they were in class

Week 4

Having two trainees from January classes seeking help on brainstorming their new business

More people getting interested with the trainings.

I used Swahili language which they are familiar with.

What was your lowest moment ?

John Mbutiah

Maureen Owendo

Jacinta Njoki

Daniel Owino

Week 1

I think some of my temperament and self controls were not at their best which was not cool and of which I am not proud of.

Week 2

Practically I didn't have low point this week

Not being able to hit my target.

Week 3

None

Going to class and finding no one.

Time managemet to them was a problem

Week 4

None

Not being able to get more people to train

Being rained on while in the field, cold and had to teach the group despite the shaking
