

Hey friend

Last night Erin and I were able to listen and share life with Eric and Anangelie over wings. They have been dating for over a year and Erin has been mentoring her weekly.

We were able to laugh and share deeply since they don't have that anywhere else. Many are feeling isolated in relationships and the first step of being known is normalizing hardships. I love doing this type of relational ministry WITH Erin.

Encouragement Central

Be encouraged by my boy Brian below that picks up our garbage We have been friends for a year and he surprised me this week by letting me know of the power that our simple interactions have had on his life.

Over spring break last week we got out on a pontoon boat with our kids and their friends. It is the simplicity of being together intentionally outside that has been so good for us. This family time is going to fly by so we are creating adventures through adversity and challenges!

Love ya,

Brian and Erin Clark

Would you please pray for us in this way:

1. That we would listen to God and follow through with actions of love.
2. That we would be available and present in mentoring.
3. That our American and Kenyan financial appeals will be met and that God would use them to deeply impact life change in Jesus' name.

Giving to People Bridge

People Bridge has a mission to encourage people by purposefully entering their story.

My purpose is to inspire leaders to fulfill their God-given dreams for good in the world.

We don't have it all together, yet we boldly try new ideas, and trust God through it all!
