Flatnöse Blended Malt Scotch Whisky

Flatnöse Blended Malt Scotch Whisky is an all-malt Scotch whisky, with a good share of Islay single malts, giving a gentle peaty touch. The smokiness is balanced by hints of honey and candied citrus fruit, and it is bottled at a higher strength of 46% vol. Like the very best Scotch whiskies, it is unchill-filtered for much greater mouthfeel and persistence.

Bottled in small batches, in a high-quality and unusual bottle with a cork enclosure, it is aimed at a more discerning customer.

Colour: light gold

Nose: initial peat smoke, over a honied background

Taste: smooth yet persistent light peat, overlapping delicate sweet notes, which in turn are complemented by touches of citrus fruit. The finish is long and delicately smoky, and ends in a gentle peated sweetness

Lords Of The Isles

Flatnose was the familiar name given to Ketill Bjornsson, one of the first 'Lords of the Isles'. These seafaring men ruled the vast, rugged and wild western seaboard of Scotland from around the 9th to the 15th century, from their base at Finlaggan on Islay.

Fiercely independent, lovers of life and community, we raise a glass to the Lords of the Isles and remind ourselves to live our lives like they did – born of adventure!

Boys Of The Isles

The 'Islay Boys Ltd' are Donald MacKenzie and Mackay Smith, from the villages of Port Charlotte and Portnahaven respectively, both situated on the Rhinns peninsula on the west of Islay, the mythical whisky island. They grew up amongst the 8 distilleries on Islay, and in their veins flows not blood, but Islay whisky!
