

Community Protection Notices Course

COURSE INFORMATION:

The Community Protection Notice (CPN) was introduced as part of the Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014. The Act aims to fill gaps left in earlier legislation, strengthen enforcement powers and make the tools available to counter anti-social behaviour simpler for officers to use.

The CPN is used to prevent unreasonable behaviour, by an individual or body, that is having a negative and unacceptable impact on the quality of life of those in the local community.

This half-day CPD accredited course will provide an understanding of the legislation surrounding Community Protection Notices and how they can be used in practical terms. The course will also look at understanding the evidential requirements and enforcement action that can be taken when a Community Protection Notice is breached.

The course can be delivered both virtually and in person.

AUDIENCE

This course is suitable for any individual who may use the CPN as part of their investigative toolkit to tackle anti-social behaviour. This includes investigators, team leaders and managers from the police, local authority and housing providers with delegated powers.

Virtual course sizes are normally limited to a maximum of 10 people to enable good facilitation of the course, and a chance for all participants to get involved.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Understand what a Community Protection Notice is.
- Understand the legislation surrounding the Community Protection Notice.
- To consider scenarios when a Community Protection Notice could be used.
- To understand the process surrounding the service of a Community Protection Notice.
- To understand the evidential requirements when considering service or breaches of a Community Protection Notice.