MEDICAL CENTER

Improve quality of life for people living with dementia by addressing their behavioral health and functional needs, coordinating their care for dementia and co-occurring conditions, and improving transitions between community, hospital, and post-acute settings.

Reduce burden and strain on unpaid caregivers of people living with dementia by providing caregiver skills training, referrals to community-based social services and supports, 24/7 access to a support line, and respite services.

Prevent or delay long-term nursing home care for as long as appropriate by supporting caregivers and enabling people living with dementia to remain safely in their homes for as long as possible.
