Complete Tesla Leaks Timeline 2009-2022

<https://teslaleaks.com/f/teslaleakscom-facebook-youtube-blogspot-rise-of-the-jedi>

The Magical Inventions Of Nikola Tesla is a new e-book by Chris Edwards, editor and chief since 2009 of Tesla Leaks, the Wikileaks of Nikola Tesla. This e-book will solve the mystery and explain the magic of his creations; without breaking any laws-of-nature. Looking back from the future, in hindsight, we will show the importance of his quite "Let the future tell the truth, and evaluate each one according to his work and accomplishments. The present is theirs; the future, for which I have really worked, is mine." In this book, I will explain in simple and complex terms how and why radio is not electro-magnetic, wireless power and is magic. How wireless power is instantaneous and faster-than-light. How and why the A/C induction motor power rating goes towards Infinity. To Infinity and beyond! How the Tesla valveduer conduit accelerates fluid through valve. How a Tesla Coil extracts fuels and gasses from the atmosphere. And, how Nikola Tesla used the magic in nature, like streams, fish, beetles, fire-flies, cats, snowballs, lightning... in order to discover natural phenomena and put it to human use. This list of Nikola Tesla's quotes pending to verify his contentions. See: Harnessing the Wheelwork of Nature Tesla's Science of Energy by T. Valone. "It was built by a wizard, a man who actually do the things a magician pretends to do... This has no trick – it's real" - The Prestige. In 1962, in his book "Profiles of the Future: An Inquiry into the Limits of the Possible", science fiction writer Arthur C. Clarke formulated his famous Three Laws, of which the third law is the best-known and most widely cited: "Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magic". - Arthur C. Clarke. CERN: Ten secret inventions of Nikola Tesla which have changed the world forever. ... control the movements of any object by remote control was considered magic. - CERN

Some of the missing and not well understood inventions that are truly magic will include instantaneous wireless power transmission, weather control with HAARP, the earthquake machine, A/C induction motor power to infinity, remote control, logic gates and the computer, self-charging electrolytic electrostatic and solid state batteries, fluid propulsion and the Tesla valve and Tesla Turbine, manufacturing synthetic diamonds, sintering, nitrogen fixation and extracting fuels from the air, atomic energy, thermo-nuclear fusion, cold electricity, cryogenics, perpetual motion machines, the deep-water Tesla Tube, Teleforce and projected kinetics, the death-peace ray and much much more. Bill Gates calls synthetic "Nitrogen Fixation", Magic! Are Hybrid Systems Truly The Future Of The Grid? NREL's Magic 8-Ball Says: "Concentrate And Ask Again." Elon Musk chimes in with "Engineering is the closest thing to Magic that exists".

This being the issue at hand, the magic, Chris Edwards discovered this phenomena as early as 2009. The issue was revealed in a History Channel special of the same year entitled Nikola Tesla "Mad Electricity". The issue came to a head when the History Channel only aired the special one time, removed it from air-play and even removed the original copies from YouTube. In that special presentation, I realized that the History Channel was right, and wrong; because they didn't understand the Magic. It was then that I decided to find out, independently, what were the concepts, phenomena and inventions that were a still a mystery; un-solved; and mis-understood. Since I scored the highest grade in Physics at Cal Poly and even debunked Einstein's "Event Horizon" question in Relativity; I felt that I was the only one in the world capable of discerning the difference between Einstein and Nikola Tesla. In there lay the answers to the Magic. In essence, you cannot teach both Einstein and Tesla in school; as their concepts are contradictory; if not completely the opposite view. <https://nurembergtrials.net/nuremberg-trials-2-0/f/teslaleakscom---nikola-teslas-1000-patents-and-inventions>

Introduction:

It was March 13th 1895, the same day the Tesla Leaks 1.0 Facebook admin and group was removed, without warning; and the same day as the first Covid-19 lockdowns declared by President Trump, March 13th 2020. Lets call it, "coincidence theory". "Edison's Men"; JP Morgan and hired saboteurs burnt Tesla's 5 story lab to the ground. It was the first demolition of a building in the U.S.; and everything was lost. Tesla did not have insurance for complete destruction of his labs. As the story goes, Tesla went to meet JP Morgan's daughter, Ann Morgan, at Delmonico's. It was late in the evening. Tesla gets a message from his assistant Coleman Czitio, that the lab was on fire. "Explosion after explosion rocked downtown NY, as one floor collapsed onto the other". Tesla went missing for days; as some allege; was kidnapped and castrated. It was a trap. Mr. Tesla's Great Loss: All of the Electrician's Valuable Instruments Burned. WORK OF HALF A LIFETIME GONE. Firemen Unable to Save His Laboratory in South Fifth Avenue — He Loses \$50,000; Gillis & Geoghegan \$80,000. By a fire which occurred at 33 and 35 South Fifth Avenue, New York City, on the morning of March 13, Nikola Tesla, the inventor and scientist, sustained a severe loss in the total destruction of his laboratory, in which were several nearly completed inventions which, it is said, were intended to revolutionize electric lighting. The loss cannot unfortunately be reckoned in dollars, and it is feared may seriously affect Mr. Tesla Inventor Tesla's Loss | Tesla Universe April 2017 Proceedings of the IEEE | A Contrarian History of Early Electric Power Distribution. An epidemic of books with details about the "battle of the currents" began in 1996 [2]–[6]. There is obviously a sizeable market for books about a "battle" that involved Edison, Tesla, and Westinghouse. The "battle of the currents" tumbled down the rabbit hole in 2016 with the publication of a "historical" novel in which there are accusations that Edison may have attempted to have Nikola Tesla assassinated and allegations that arson engineered by Edison or by Westinghouse burned down Tesla's laboratory [7]. The cover-up of The Current War continues today. For example, The Weinstein Conspiracy is being used to shelve the Tesla, Edison movie "The Current War" INDEFINITELY, which was slated for the Box Office and a potential Oscar. At the time before, The Current War had 2.1 Million views on Facebook and 1.6 Million on YouTube.

What was lost in the lab fire? The Magic of Roentgen "xray" shadowgraphs, "wireless motors", "wireless lights", "electric rays" of induction ala "cold electricity", the "Tesla Coil"; the "mechanical oscillator"; "special transformers" he calls "translation devices" ala the "ozone generator"; the first AM/FM "Radio" ala "The True Wireless"; "thermo-nuclear fusion" ala "Project Tesla" - Fusion of 1983; high-frequency electrical energy turned into therapeutic heat ala "diathermy", and "tuned lightning" or "electric lightning"; as even Mark Twain witnessed these inventions at his lab in the day. The Magic of Nikola Tesla's inventions is what led to the lab fire. No one could understand it. And later, his nemesis would be proven wrong. All of Tesla's inventions up until his Autobiography in 1919; he states "worked 100% as prescribed". "I spent 30 years of my work in the design of machinery of all kinds, and have never yet designed a machine which did not do as I expected, and I cannot imagine why it should not because when one calculates the things out on the basis of experimental data, the machine has to work as intended. This is engineering." He also states in his autobiography that his enemies have purchased all the media, news papers, radio stations and television and that "this will be the last communication from him in the mainstream media". So, the conspiracy against Tesla, began on that day in 1919. More recently, on Jan 9th 2018, the Huffington Post covers the issue of disappearing Tesla, and his resurrection called "Troubling the Future: the Remaking of Nikola Tesla"... It should have crippled his reputation. But it didn't. What we see in Tesla is a man made, unmade, and made again in our present era. It's a resurrection, and that's the most interesting story of all. And, because of this conspiracy, this quote exemplifies the situation we're all in: "For the last 100 years, there have come such discoveries..., that we have been made to live 1000 years behind what is now known" Ray of Discovery by the Publisher of Borderland Books. So, we're going to reveal the magic, the conspiracy, missing inventions, the cover up of the missing personal effects, what's been censored, removed, cancelled etc... The conspiracies are encapsulated in a post on Facebook entitled "Nikola Tesla's Timeline Chronography of Conspiracies That Can't Be Debunked".

Tesla's 4 phase polyphase AC system apparatus he says existed PRIOR TO THE DESTRUCTION OF MY LABORATORY OF 1895 "I employed already in the 35 South Fifth Avenue laboratory, because I remember that I gave entertainments to several scientific societies and it was then present there. I know on one occasion there was the Society of Architects, and another, the Electrotherapeutic Society, and then I had distinguished men like Mark Twain and Joseph Jefferson -- I gave them a demonstration which was published in Martin's article in the Century Magazine of April 1895, and I know that on these occasions I used a two-phase arrangement. Later on I made it four phase.

Within months of Tesla's lab burning to the ground GE's Steinmetz patents a "system of distribution by alternating current" (A/C power), on January 29, 1895. This was the world's first three phase alternating current generator. Between January 1895 and March 1895, Tesla allegedly meets with JP Morgan and announces he has abandoned A/C power for wireless power and his "Electric Ray". By the St Louis World Fair in 1903, Tesla's systems had been replaced with General Electric. Also in early 1895, the Thompson-Houston company patented an AC system and AC Transformers that would compete directly with Nikola Tesla's AC system and AC Transformers.

Why did this happen? The Magic! It was reported in the press that Edison, "knew nothing about electricity"; was filing almost no patents; while Tesla was filing a hundred patents per year. Edison, nor anyone else of the day, could understand Tesla's concepts and inventions. He was a "discoverer". Edison's operation was run by his employees. It's doubtful that Edison invented anything himself. It took Edison 1000 employees, and 10,000 experiments just to create a very inefficient light bulb, that lasted for only 13 hours and cost $850,000 each. A complete failure. Tesla spoke of Edison as an inventor in this way “If Edison had a needle to find in a haystack,” Tesla once wrote, “he would proceed at once with the diligence of the bee to examine straw after straw until he found the object of his search. I was a sorry witness of such doing that a little theory and calculation would have saved him ninety percent of his labor.”. In comparison, Tesla describes his "lucid dreaming" approach to invention this way: “The motors I built there,” Tesla said, “were exactly as I imagined them. I made no attempt to improve the design, but merely reproduced the pictures as they appeared to my vision, and the operation was always as I expected.”. The Nikola Tesla vs Thomas Edison battle will be covered in a later chapter of this book entitled “The Great Light Bulb Conspiracy”.

The comparison between how Tesla creates his inventions and others that have won the Nobel Prize for “accidentally” stumbling upon a discovery is exemplified here: Tesla sent his images to Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen shortly after Roentgen published his discovery on November 8, 1895. Although Tesla gave Roentgen full credit for the finding, Roentgen congratulated Tesla on his sophisticated images, wondering how he had achieved such impressive results. Moreover, Tesla described some clinical benefits of x-rays — for example, determination of foreign body position and detection of lung diseases (8) — noting that denser bodies were more opaque to the rays. — May 5, 1897 Letter: Tesla On Hurtful Actions Of Lennard And Roentgen Tubes. And Marie Curie, who was given credit by Nobel for discovering radioactivity; who died of aplastic anemia as a result of her radium and polonium exposure, many early researchers—and the patients they worked on—were sickened by their would-be cure. And Thomas Edison, "Don't talk to me about X-rays," Edison said after an assistant on one of his X-ray projects started showing signs of illness. "I am afraid of them. In the 1890's, JP Morgan didn't believe you could send signals through the air stating "Pictures, voices, moving through the air without wires. You expect me to swallow that"? On Heinrich Hertz, Nikola Tesla constantly wrote about what he called non-Hertzian waves and experimentally proved that Hertz waves do not exist! He writes a full treatise on this issue in an article entitled “Dissipation of Electrical Energy on the Hertz Resonator”. In his article entitled “Tesla's World System” he states that his waves are di-ametrically opposed to Hertz. Tesla says electricity from his system is "fully recoverable" and Faster than Light using earth currents, with surface and standing waves VS the unrecoverable Electromagnetic, Hertzian waves “Whether this current passing through the center of the earth to the opposite side is real, or whether it is merely an effect of these surface currents, makes absolutely no difference. To understand the concept, one must imagine that the current from the transmitter flows straight to the opposite point of the globe.”

No one of the day could understand the magic. For example, Tesla sent his images to Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen shortly after Roentgen published his discovery on November 8, 1895. Although Tesla gave Roentgen full credit for the finding, Roentgen congratulated Tesla on his sophisticated images, wondering how he had achieved such impressive results. Moreover, Tesla described some clinical benefits of x-rays — for example, determination of foreign body position and detection of lung diseases (8) — noting that denser bodies were more opaque to the rays. — May 5, 1897 Letter: Tesla On Hurtful Actions Of Lennard And Roentgen Tubes. And Marie Curie, who was given credit by Nobel for discovering radioactivity; who died of aplastic anemia as a result of her radium and polonium exposure, many early researchers—and the patients they worked on—were sickened by their would-be cure. And Thomas Edison, "Don't talk to me about X-rays," "Thomas Edison gave up on X-

rays, fearing they were too dangerous. (Wikipedia) When an oculist informed him that his "eye was something over a foot out of focus," Edison said, he told Dally "that there was a danger in the continuous use of the tubes." Edison said after an assistant on one of his X-ray projects started showing signs of illness. "I am afraid of them". On Heinrich Hertz and Herzian waves, Tesla constantly wrote about what he called non-Hertzian waves and said he had experimentally proved that Hertz waves do not exist! Many mysteries in his famous quotes will be presented and solved "If you only knew the magnificence of the 3, 6 and 9, then you would have a key to the universe" " If you want to know the secrets of the Universe, think in terms of energy, frequency and vibration" "There is no energy in matter other than from it's environment" "When force and matter separate, man is no more". "Perhaps it is better in this present world of ours that a revolutionary idea or invention instead of being helped and patted, be hampered and ill-treated in its adolescence - by want of means, by selfish interest, pedantry, stupidity and ignorance; that it be attacked and stifled; that it pass through bitter trials and tribulations, through the heartless strife of commercial existence. So do we get our light. So all that was great in the past was ridiculed, condemned, combated, suppressed - only to emerge all the more powerfully, all the more triumphantly from the struggle." (Nikola Tesla)

In this book, I will clearly and completely explain, and demonstrate, the difference between the two inventors; the Infinte Speed of Tesla vs the Speed of Light Einstein, and how each of Tesla's inventions are "Magic" and what concepts and phenomena are responsible that make his inventions work according to the laws of nature. It will be proven here, how none of his inventions are contradictory, how they work together and why the Magic is now considered "conventional". I will connect the above described inventions, and others, to observable phenomena as such radioactivity, breaking radiation, blackbody radiation, phosphorescents in light and film, EMF recycling in motors, resonant rise, infinite gain, mechanical resonance, resonant cavities, negative resistance, zero resistance, free energy, radiant energy, reactive power in a/c systems, non radiative wireless power, standing or stationary waves, ionospheric heating, electrical resonance, amplitude and frequency modulation, radio being electrical induction, electrical translation devices, manufacturing gasses from the air and breeder reactors, special transformers for smelting and the manufacture of Diamonds, electrical self-regulation, electrical self-cooling, fusion by laser and ion bombardment, spot heating by microwave, 5G technologies, the death-ray by repulsion, the UV death-ray, Earth as a perpetual motion machine, curie temperature in magnetism, quantum glass phenomena in self-charging batteries, electro-hydro dynamics, the tri-metal generator, just to name a few. Nikola Tesla is also unknown as the inventor of 1) The Computer 2) Digital Computing 3) Continuous-Wave Radio & Radar 4) Remote Control 5) Secure Communications & GPS 6) RF & Electric Amplifiers 7) Megneto & Tesla Coil Speakers 8) Photovoltaic Cells 9) Long Distance Wireless Power Method/s 10) Featuring: Resonant Rise, Reluctance Engines, Surface Waves, Standing Waves, Skywave, Negative Resistance, Reactive Currents, Feedback Oscillators and much more...

Nikola Tesla's statement describing the Magical "Ether": "Most of the striking phenomena of mechanical displacement, sound, heat and light which have been observed, imply the presence of a medium of a gaseous structure that is one consisting of independent carriers capable of free motion." "I had maintained for many years before that such a medium as supposed could not exist, and that we must rather accept the view that all space is filled with a gaseous substance. On repeating the Hertz experiments, with much improved and very powerful apparatus, I satisfied myself that what he had observed was nothing else but effects of longitudinal waves in a gaseous medium, that is to say, waves, propagated by alternate compression and expansion. He had observed waves in the ether much of the nature of sound waves in the air." In short, there can be no energy flow, if there isn't a medium to flow-through.

What is meant by Magic? The magic is the idea that the phenomena involved is not apparent. It is convoluted by things like modern mathematics; "mathematical garb" Tesla calls it. Nikola Tesla said in 1934: "Today's scientists have substituted mathematics for experiments, and they wander off through equation after equation and eventually build a structure which has no relation to reality." That may be true, although mathematics and experiments are both fundamental to scientific progress. Does magical "Free Energy" exist? Is it also convoluted by mathematical garb? Is there a Free Energy Suppression Conspiracy? Modern science is rife with mis-information used to hide the true nature of the Magic. This will be exemplified in this book with a special section entitled "Debunking Einstein, Hertz, Maxwell, Ohm, the Scientific Community & The Patent Office."

Uncovered by Chris Edwards is several dozen Missing Inventions filed in the Google patent search under a different spelling of Nikola Tesla's name "NiCola Tesla": Each of the missing inventions will be covered in a later chapter; many being previously unknown and magical. Nikola Tesla's picture in 1890 at the Library of Congress is signed on the picture as "Nicola Tesla", not "Nikola Tesla". "Nicola Tesla" Missing or Lost Patents & Inventions such as: Stationary Waves, Reactive Currents, Compounding Twin Tesla Turbine, Fluid Numeric Device, Perpetual Motion Machine, Zero Point Radiation, Black Body Radiation, 100% Efficiency, Spark Plug, Pulse-Width Modulator for Medical Testing & Therapy, Negative Resistance, Weather Modification, Tesla's Fusion, Light to Electricity, Loops & Nodes, Wireless Power Transmission, Lightning Generator, Extracting Energy from Storms and Atmosphere, HAARP, Death-Ray, Tunguska. Also, later in the book will include other missing inventions from the one's developed after his death; including citing patents, the missing patents mis-spelled or mis-named at patent offices, international patents, patent applications, inventions he described in articles, but did not build, and the ones he said he did not file. Nikola or Nicola? With what feelings must you read a criticism as the enclosed! I wish I could turn all the forked lightning discharge in my laboratory on the fellow. After all the work I have myself done - including the Servian translations - my name is still spelled with a "C."

The conspiracy against Nikola Tesla begins with "the science". The person behind the censorship of Tesla and the one behind "sustainable development" a key-word for de-population is none other than John Holdren of Ecoscience. He's the U.S. National Science Tzar. In the last years he still thought natural gas is a bridge fuel for the next 10-20 years and that renewables are "unrealistic". He writes about sustainable development, but is against renewable energy. Go figure. In addition, your school books are owned by the water and video game company Vivendi, and the U.S. Department of Education is invested into by Dubai and Blackrock/Blackstone. Ted Cruz (R-TX), is the chairman of the U.S. Science Committee, but does want to shut down the Department of Education and Common Core. The states have local un-elected educational boards that review and approve the public and private school books. These three people lead to our current "woke" education system that doesn't include Nikola Tesla. <https://morningconsult.com/2016/07/11/obama-adviser-keep-ground->

Fro the artile: "I have hundreds of inventions that were to be patented but side-stepped. The expense was too great and I could not do it. This form of apparatus with two and four phases was used prior to the destruction of my laboratory in 1895, and it was installed on a large scale with four phases in my plant on Long Island with which I was to telephone around the world, but that is a long story. December 15th 2022 It is claimed that this prompted an emergency meeting of the US government that decided to ban Tesla's technology, after which his patents began to be withdrawn from libraries, and his name disappeared from the press. The bankers, it is claimed, prevented the development of the perpetuum mobile, and it is stated that the scientists who were involved in the development of "technology without fuel", including Henri Poincaré, died in strange circumstances. <https://seecheck.org/index.php/2022/12/15/a-video-containing-disinformation-about-nikola-teslas-inventions-is-spreading/>

What does John G Trump have to say about Nikola Tesla?

On John G Trump, Donald Trumps uncle; its important to understand the relationships between the two and Nikola Tesla. We'll be following the trail of John, the trail of Don, and the trail of Tesla's missing pictures, safe, boxes, trunks and paperwork that allegedly disappeared after his death. We will trace their whereabouts to the Tesla Museum in Serbia, Russia, U.S Military, MIT, Ford Foundation, to George Bush Sr, to Hillary Clinton; to Donald Trump and others to find their actual or most likely locations.

From Wikipedia, In early 1943, two days after the death of Nikola Tesla, the Federal Bureau of Investigation rdered the Office of Alien Property Custodian to seize Tesla's belongings. [8] Trump was called in to analyze the Tesla artifacts, which were being held in government custody.[8] After a three-day investigation, Trump's report concluded that there was nothing which would constitute a hazard in unfriendly hands. [9] I analyzed every page of the extended, but redacted Tesla FBI File for details on the conspiracy. A full analysis of the file will be covered later in the book.

In 2018, I saw a conspiracy in-action, drawing into the conspiracy further, Donald Trump! One that would further confirm that there was an actual conspiracy going on. In early months of that year, John G Trump and Nikola Tesla were added to Donald Trump's Wikipedia page. Quote "His uncle, details about John G. Trump, a professor at MIT from 1936 to 1973, was involved in radar research for the Allies in the Second World War, and helped design X-ray machines that prolonged the lives of cancer patients; in 1943, the Federal Bureau of Investigation requested John Trump examine Nikola Tesla's papers and equipment when Tesla died in his room at the New Yorker Hotel.[9]". However, just a few months later, these details were removed from Donald Trump's Wikipedia page. And, a video on YouTube about their relationship has also been removed. The information from the page has been re-created for you on this link from the Internet Archive at archive.org.

The Shanghai Museum and Belgrade Museum have cataloged "1000 Inventions" of Nikola Tesla's, not including inventions that appeared later based on his observed laws like the "Ionosphere" or Arts Of "Telegeodynamics" nor "patents I did not file" on new physics like "Teleforce". WHAT ABOUT TESLA MOTORS?

The conspiracy between Nikola Tesla and Tesla Motors is one fo the biggest, most relevant conspiracies in world history. We'll cover that here. It begins in 1887, with Nikola Tesla's patent for the A/C induction motor. The invention that he said in his 1919 Autobiography entitled "My Inventions" was his most important is the A/C motor. The motor was part of his system of alternating currents he patented in 1887-1888 he called the Polyphase System. By 1904, Tesla told JP Morgan in the JP Morgan Letters that he, Tesla, had already sold $6B of this system, $900B in today's dollars. In Tesla's Eulogy of 1943, spoken by Mayor Laguardia, said "Tesla would have been the richest man in the world, if he wished". By 1933, in the NY Herlad Tribune, an article entitled "Tesla Predicts New Soure Of Power In Year" he said that his motor's would "last for 500 years, unobstructed and indestructible". Since then, Rockefeller Oil, the Bankers, the Green Party's and many others have taken no quarter at trying to stop electric cars.

Tesla estimates the efficiency to be between 70-80% based on the average type of energy used in the United States and the use of A/C power and DC Chargers, not Wireless. Gas cars are less than 2% efficient, round-trip.

Tesla vs Gas Cars:

Tesla Motors is based on Nikola Tesla. The A/C induction motor is 60lbs & 503HP @ 98% efficiency that can last for 500 years, unobstructed and indestructible - Nikola Tesla.

The A/C induction motor can run at a nominal speed for 1 Million Hours (20-60 Million Miles), patented by Nikola Tesla in 1887. The longest running hydroelectric plant using these motor/generators (and Heat-Pump) has lasted for 127 years, running 24/7. Four of those independent in-wheel motors will be in the 2012HP Stainless Steel Cybertruck that will last for 1000 years. Gas powered cars are 2% efficient, round trip. Do Tesla's Run On Coal?

The states that burn coal for electricity ban Tesla's. California uses 1% of Coal for electricity. You've been watching too much Alex Jonestein. Mining? Lithium is laying on the ground in a Salt Flat. There is no "mine". In addition, there are many battery formula's that don't need Lithium or Cobalt, like Salt from Sea-Water and Sulfur. The Tesla Model S with the new Quantum Glass Battery can get 752 Miles on a single charge, 880 on a Dyno. You must be talking about the Prius or exploding Chevy Volt. BANNED!

The magic continues to be hidden. Nikola Tesla knew this. His inventions and their magic have been scuttled since the beginning. In 1912 and again in 1943 he reveals why. He said that government regulations and inhibitions would scuttle his inventions They include scuttling his Polyphase System, AM/FM Radio, Wireless power, Nuclear Energy, Solar Energy, Fluid Propulsion, to Washing Machines and Light Bulbs; involving Individuals, Corporations, the Oil Companies, the EPA, the Interior Department, the School System, the Government, the Banks, the Stock Markets, the Green Parties, and even the Indians... The full list of actual and potential conspirators is below in the section on "A Murder De-Classified". I will explain what happened as-they-happened, in chronological order. Tesla's are banned. Renewables are banned. Wireless is banned. Hydroelectric, Smelting, Fuel production, Food production, Lithium for Batteries, Financing, Patent Protections. Wireless power transmission has been banned until just recently. Wireless, radio-frequency and UV curing technologies have also been banned until just recently. Atomic batteries have been banned since their inception, like Radium or Thorium batteries. Nuclear power has been banned in the U.S.A. for 30 years.

The "Free Niagara Movement was one of the earliest manifestations of the environmental movement. Its goal was to restore the falls and environs to their natural aesthetic condition. The Free Niagara Movement had widespread popular appeal and in 1883 resulted in the creation of a state reservation around the falls, including Goat Island (see Figure 2). The only objection was from the owners of the water wheels and mills along the shore, whose property was appropriated by eminent domain, and who were compensated for their losses, though not to the extent that they claimed injury. It was the first acquisition by a state government of property for preservation of the natural environment. And with the emphasis on natural. The term "reservation" was significant. The property was intended as "a Reservation of natural beauty, not a formal park...the sole aim was to restore the landscape to its normal condition and preserve its beauty unadorned." (The first national park had been created at Yellowstone, in adjoining parts of Wyoming, Idaho, and Montana, in 1872, but the conditions of its creation were very different from those at Niagara, in that it did not involve evicting previous industrial tenants. The second national park was created at Yosemite, California, in 1890.)

Then, Trump to later approve offshore oil platforms, pipelines to shore, and fracking the ocean.

Why is Hydroelectric, Geothermal etc. Banned?

By 1936, it required a Presidential Directive to build any new hydroelectric system in the United States such as the Hoover Dam. More recently, to build any large renewable energy system in the U.S., it now also requires the approval of the U.S. Interior Secretary. Both the first large wind and solar grids from Tehachapi to Ivanpah needed a Presidential Directive. It's also well known in public filings that government regulation and environmentalists are responsible for the delays in implementing Solyndra. Delays in renewable-energy deployment will prove costly to Arctic communities. This requirement is on top of the sabotage, unnecessary regulations, no renewable energy credits, defunding by banks, staged protests, Indian spirits, rock carvings, dinosaur rock "teeth", goat trails, flying turtles, Alien bacteria, Covid bats, common switchgrass, butterfly corridors ... to "it hurts my eyes" and "save the cows"; and their "environmentalist" cult will stop at nothing to stop all forms renewable energy. Have you ever seen the Sierra Club or Greenpeace protest a Gas Station? They went so far as in New Zealand and on the Colorado River, governments have given their rivers "personhood"; which now allows the river, to sue the hydroelectric plant for disrupting "Mr./Ms. River".

Why was CNN reporting that "Microwaves" were coming from the Volcano? August 26th 2016 Obama bans Geothermal operations offshore by ceasing prime volcanic property located in the reefs. Seizing the Oceans and Coral Reefs:

John Kerry, Obama and the "Save the Oceans" project want to seize 1/3 of the Earth's Oceans; while putting out propaganda that there is no fish in the Ocean, there's no Oxygen in the Ocean, your hair dryer is heating up the whole Ocean, and you can't use the Geothermal, Energy from Ocean Mass, Wave Energy, nor anything else that is free. There is no water in the Ocean, you can't get Uranium nor Lithium from the Oceans, it's impossible to drink it ... The Oceans no longer exist; just Trash. And by the way, were sending all the Morons that believe this shit, straight to Mars, ... and with a waiver to pass Trump's wall, the body scanning and Real ID requirements are all waived! <https://youtube.com/watch?v=j-6LwqgoXGw>

Hawaii banned Geothermal 100 years ago. The only thing destroyed in the "Eruption" was the geothermal operation. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Puna_Geothermal_Venture

The Great Colorado Flood of May 30-31, 1935

In Steven King's book, IT, the book starts out in Chapter 1 "The Time Before"! The Time Before What?? The time before they had a hydroelectric dam on the river, that would have prevented the flood that happened in the book, that killed everyone, and led to the character PENNYWISE. In fact, the cost of the hydroelectric power is just, 1 penny per Kw/hr, and very wise. In history, prior to dams built on Niagara Falls or on the Colorado River, every 50 years, or so, a massive flood would travel down the rivers and kill everyone on the river. Thus, leading to the "Indian Spirits" dwelling about the river idea, that the "Indians" use as an excuse to attempt to ban the hydroelectric system at Niagara Falls beginning in 1893. A ban, that would get them all killed, and send the spirits right back down the river...

Forever Chemicals Hoax:

This may be the most important of all ideas that the conspirators want to stop. It's in the title. "Forever". That's the last thing the PTB want to allow. In their system "you pay". How can you keep going to Walmart, if you only had to buy something one time, that lasts "forever"? And, will last long beyond a lifetime, if not millenia. All of the now known revelations of each of these will be covered in their appropriate section in this book.

You've heard of the Egyptian Pyramids? They are allegedly 5,000 years old. So, it's not that hard of an idea to understand. It something lasts forever, and there are many things in nature or manufactured that last forever, by definition. Earth, the Ocean, the Sun, the Wind, Niagara .. All of the now known revelations of each of these will be covered in their appropriate section in this book. Falls, Super-Fluids, Chemicals like "Forever Chemicals", Perpetual Wicks, Gyrotrons, Perpetual Motion Machines, A/C induction motors, Batteries. What if there are things already available today, just like these, but don't know it or were never told about it. That's the conspiracy. This is the last thing they want you to know.

WHO IS JOHN GALT?

Who was John Galt? A particularly interesting idea is that Ayn Rand's fictional character from Atlas Shrugged was at least partially patterned after Nikola Tesla. After all, Galt had studied physics and became an engineer, then designed a "revolutionary new motor powered by ambient static electricity." Galt became frustrated when the company he worked at embraced collectivism and he walked out, leaving his new motor behind.

This story plays well with Nikola Tesla's actual history, at least when it is infused with some speculation that perhaps extends well beyond actual fact. Tesla obviously studied physics and became an electrical engineer. He designed a revolutionary new motor powered by alternating current and experimented with electrostatic electricity. And like Galt, Tesla became frustrated with the corporatism of working for Edison.

Rand even alludes to Tesla coils—"It was the coil that I noticed first... Those men, long ago, tried to invent a motor that would draw static electricity from the atmosphere, convert it and create its own power as it went along." While there are clear departures from Tesla in the Galt character, these changes are certainly within the normal realm of creative writing. Atlas Shrugged is, after all, a novel.

The key to the thread is that John Galt, like Nikola Tesla, was interested in the production of what effectively would be "free energy." Virtually all costs associated with electrical power generation, transmission, and use would be eliminated. Tesla had discovered what he called "terrestrial stationary waves" in his laboratory in Colorado Springs. The Earth could transmit power—acting as a conductor that would be as responsive, and controllable, as a tuning fork. With this knowledge Tesla was able to light two hundred lamps without the use of wires.

Returning to New York, Tesla planned to develop not only wireless communication in his new facility at Wardenclyffe, but wireless power freely distributed to all through the Earth's surface. With this as a base, the John Galt connection—creating free energy from static electricity—is sometimes extended to include Wilhelm Reich. Reich claimed to have discovered what he called "orgone," which was a physical energy contained in all living matter as well as in the atmosphere. He believed that this orgone could generate "free, useable energy." Galt, Reich, and Tesla all discovered "free energy." So where is it? Why do we have to pay the electrical utility for our power and wait for them to get power back on after a storm? Well, according to the conspiracy theorist, it is because the few people with political and corporate power do not want the rest of us to take away their profits by having access to energy that is "free."

THE RUSSIAN CONSPIRACY

The "Russian Conspiracy" is referenced in Tesla's FBI File claims that experiments now under way at Hill AFB convinced them that the Soviet's had primary access to Tesla's "entire collection". As opposed to John G Trump claiming that Tesla's work had "no military significance" and therefore should not be held under national security.

Westinghouse & Tesla vs JP Morgan for Niagara Falls

Tesla once said: "If you only knew the magnificence of the 3, 6, and 9, then you would have a key to the universe.". Explained below, this quote will lead to the idea that Nikola Tesla's conspirators will use government regulation to stop his inventions. Also explained in patents you can read at the patent office, is that some are filed by the government and the government does not have to pay anyone for their use by the government. And in addition, during wartime or emergencies the government can sized your property and anything else they want, and use them at their will.

The secret of 3 6 9 on Nikola Tesla is this: It's Supreme Court Case 369, June 21 1943 MARCONI WIRELESS T. CO. OF AMERICA v. US <https://caselaw.findlaw.com/us-supreme-court/320/1.html>

" The invention described herein may be manufactured and used by or for the Government of the United States of America for governmental purposes without payment of any royalties thereon or therefor. ""

The secret is 1) Nikola Tesla invented Radio 2) Radio is Electric Induction and not hertzian waves 3) The Government owns your patents, and they don't have to pay you. That's the "secret of the Universe". Furthermore, Tesla told JP Morgan in 1903 in the JP Morgan Letters "I sold $6B in my inventions since 1888" in 1900 dollars. But, the patents expired after 15 years, and GE and Steinmetz went ahead and filed their own patents for A/C and were approved by the patent office. By 1907, the stock market crash between Anaconda Copper (Morgan, Rothchilds, Hearst) vs United Copper/Heinze (Westinghouse/Tesla) was staged to bankrupt Westinghouse. Whilst, 50% of Westinghouse's revenue went to protecting the Tesla patents. Westinghouse and Tesla went bankrupt. Tesla had to allegedly "tear up" his A/C contract with Westinghouse to save the company. Then, JP Morgan bailed out the U.S. government with $500M of his own money - http://www.tfcbooks.com/tesla/nt_on_ac_appendix_2.htm

Niagara Falls system was approved on May Day 1888, when Nikola Tesla's 40+ patents for his system of A/C power generation, distribution and the motors which was bought by Westinghouse for a "kings ransom". This system was used in 13 patents for Niagara Falls. Thomas Edison did not steal Nikola Tesla's inventions relating to the 40+ Alternating Current A/C Motors, Mono-Polar DC Dynamo's and Generators, nor his methods of A/C power transmission. However, Westinghouse and JP Morgan's General Electric (GE) and Thomas Edison did have a "patent sharing" agreement for such systems. <https://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/niagara-falls-power-project-1888/>

6 years later Westinghouse would purchase Tesla's patent for a lump sum payment of $216,000 as part of a patent sharing agreement signed with General Electric (a company created from the 1892 merger of Edison, and Thompson-Houston)

George Westinghouse didn't invent anything A/C. The 40 Tesla Polyphase patents were already filed by 1887 for commercial use, and were purchased by Westinghouse for a "Kings Ransom". The patents were used by Tesla in 1889 (Wardenclyffe foreclosure appeal) and 1899 in Colorado Springs. Westinghouse then used the Tesla patents and Tesla's assistance to build the AMES Hydro-electric plant at Telluride in 1891 and Niagara Falls in 1895. Nine of the 13 patents for Niagara Falls are stamped in metal placards at the falls with the name 'Nikola Tesla' with the patent numbers. The search for Hydro-electric locations in the US was called "The Columbian Exposition"; named after The Columbian Exposition of 1893. After the Tesla A/C patents expired, in 1904, Tesla reports to JP Morgan that he, Tesla, had sold $6B in his inventions since then. Westinghouse was merely a customer of Tesla. If Bugs Bunny buys the Tesla patents, makes no improvement or patents; does Bugs get credit for inventing it? -- Mr. AB Barron on the Tesla Transformers & Wardenclyffe Tower (The Electrical World and Engineer 1902) and 1889 [<https://books.google.com/books?id=z7VQAAAAYAAJ&pg=PA499&lpg=PA499&dq=barron+nikola+tesla>

The Niagara Falls project was planned much earlier than its completion in 1895, involved experience building the AMES Hydro Plant in Ames, CO completed in 1891. A year earlier in 1894, the first Hydro Plant using Tesla's AC Power System was the Jaruga Hydroelectric Power Plant built near Nikola Tesla's hometown in Serbia in Croatia. See the Niagara Falls Power Project \(1888\) A letter from Nikola Tesla to JP Morgan on 12/19/1904 reveals that Tesla tells Morgan that "if he had built Wardenclyffe at Niagara Falls, as was Rankine's suggestion (a partner in the Tesla Electric Company and head of the Niagara Power Company) it would be operable by now." The final psychological blow for Tesla occurred in 1906 after the deaths of Rankine (of a heart attack) and Stanford White (who was murdered in an infamous love scandal with model Evelyn Nesbitt). Tesla was all but alone now. He could not face his friends such as the Johnsons, nor could he face his failure any longer, and suffered a nervous breakdown. Due to my work in graphology, I have discovered a complete disintegration in his handwriting in that year from his secretary George Herbert Walker Scherff Sr confirms the hypothesis. The official nature of Tesla's Wardenclyffe tower is described in his Wardenclyffe Foreclosure Hearings in 1923.

WAR OF THE CURRENTS

NIKOLA TESLA ON HIS WORK WITH ALTERNATING CURRENTS and Their Application to Wireless Telegraphy, Telephony and Transmission of Power : An Extended Interview ISBN: 1-893817-01-6 http://www.tfcbooks.com/tesla/nt_on_ac.htm

<http://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/niagara-falls-power-project-1888/> In 1887 The War of the Currents, which had begun as a spirited but more or less conventional exchange of business propaganda claims and counterclaims, heated up in 1888 with the publication of Edison's "A Warning" on the mortal danger of AC. What drove Edison to this extreme measure must have been in part a genuine belief that AC was more dangerous than DC, but also a vague sense that something was catching up on him. Edison still had more installations than Westinghouse, but the Westinghouse and other AC companies were growing faster than Edison's companies. No doubt, a sharp rise in the price of copper in 1887 contributed to Edison's mood. A French syndicate had cornered the copper market and driven the price up. DC systems, because of the low voltages, used thick copper conductors to lessen resistance, whereas AC could be sent on thin wires at high voltages. So the copper problem hurt Edison more than it hurt the AC systems. <http://library.buffalo.edu/projects/cases/niagara.htm> Niagara Falls 13 Patents as of 1899.

Next, we'll look at what was built or patented by others in 1895 to today from General Electric/General Motors (JP Morgan, GE, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford) in 1895-1900, Rudolph Diesel in 1895-6, Benz in 1896, Anhurser Bush 1900-1906, the 1906 San Francisco Earthquake and Trolley Conspiracy and today the Ford Motor Company's "Reluctance Motor" appearing as the motor used in Tesla Motors Co., Tesla Model S. In 1894-1895, JP Morgan merged Thomas Edison, Thomson-Houston, Charles Steinmetz and others into General Electric and later General Motors in 1908, after Westinghouse and Tesla went bankrupt in 1907. Previous to Tesla's lab burning to the ground, there were no gas engines that used Tesla's concepts in reciprocation, moment and dead center etc. The Ford Quadricycle 1896 was merely a bicycle. Ford then began to work for Westinghouse Engine Company, setting up and repairing steam traction engines used by the farmers. This is the connection between Nikola Tesla, Ford Motor Company & Tesla Motors. It was reported widely that Nikola Tesla visited Henry Ford at his factory, which was having some kind of difficulty. Ford asked Tesla if he could help identify the problem area. Tesla walked up to a wall of boilerplate and made a small X in chalk on one of the plates. Ford was thrilled, and told him to send an invoice. The bill arrived, for $10,000. Ford asked for a breakdown. Tesla sent another invoice, indicating a $1 charge for marking the wall with an X, and $9,999 for knowing where to put it. Even though Ford did work for Westinghouse, General Electric touts that Thomas Edison and Henry Ford were not only collaborators, but also the best of friends. How Henry Ford And Thomas Edison Killed The Electric Car by 1914. Many Ford enthusiasts also know that, at the time Ford first drove his Quadricycle on the streets of Detroit in 1896, he was working for Edison at the Detroit Edison Illuminating Company. They also know that a couple months later, when Ford was introduced to Edison and showed Edison his plans for a gasoline automobile, Edison encouraged him to pursue those plans. <http://jalopnik.com/5564999/the-failed-electric-car-of-henry-ford-and-thomas-edison>

Rumors of Friends, Families and Forays that Edison built a battery-powered front-wheel-drive electric in 1895, and he's noted as owning a few of the very expensive electric cars then in production, but no pictures or evidence exists. By December 1895, Randolph Diesel Patents a gas engine w/ flywheel, but does not explain the concept of reciprocation. The Flat Engine, and Benz Boxer with Balance Shaft or "contra engine" was the first after Tesla to recognize reciprocation in 1896. The Paris "city to city" races in 1896 included 6 cars, 4 gas cars much like bicycles and 2 steam engine cars, none used an electrical igniter for gas engines, spark plugs reciprocation and the fastest gas car was 22 mph. The Peugeot Type 15 was the first to use transversely mounted 198X. Henry Ford created the first Hybrid in 1899 w/ flywheel? Anheuser Bush funding Car Races & Beer in 190X and later donates $100K to San Francisco survivors of the 1906 earthquake that ended up bankrupting the privately owned electric Trolley systems in the United States. Much like how JP Morgan supposedly "invests" $150,000K into Tesla's Wardenclyffe Tower, when it's more likely it was a payoff for the burning down of Tesla's lab in 1895. John Astor was the primary investor up until about 1899 into Nikola Tesla's wireless works in Colorado Springs leading up to the Wardenclyffe Tower System. JP MORGAN / GE The development of mass produced electricity dates back to the 1890's when Thomas Edison, backed by JP Morgan, was promoting DC current as the dominant form of electricity distribution while Nicola Tesla backed by George Westinghouse was promoting AC current. The battle for electricity dominance culminated with the awarding of the contract to build a power station at Niagara Falls. The winner would establish the standard for the nation. JP Morgan and Rockefeller had merged to form General Electric. GE and then put pressure on Westinghouse's financing to force a take-over of Westinghouse: Morgan then spread false rumors on Wall Street about the solvency of Westinghouse, resulting in a collapse of Westinghouse stock price. It was then that Tesla signed over all his patents to Westinghouse to allow the company to obtain additional financing and proceed with Tesla's invention — AC current. <http://www.dailycensored.com/jp-morgan-and-electric-power-100-years-of-misconduct/>

Didn't Thomas Edison electrocute elephant's and animals to claim A/C (5G, Radio or Wireless Power) was dangerous? He was lying. While at the same time, Edison's D/C trolleys were killing people. Thus the name "Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers". Later, the Trolley system of Edison's was replaced with the safer Westinghouse, Tesla system. Then the Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers could be renamed to the LA Dodgers. https://youtube.com/watch?v=VD0Q5FeF_wU He's not just a murder of animals, but also people. And a pathological liar... To discourage A/C use, Edison declared high-voltage ac systems unsafe and lobbied the U.S. government to ban the technology. https://books.google.com/books?id=0kShVp04_oQC&pg=PA11&lpg=PA11&dq=thomas+edison+government+ban+AC

In the summer of 1907, the American economy was showing signs of weakness as a number of business and Wall Street brokerages went bankrupt. In October, the respected Knickerbocker Trust in New York City and the ¹Westinghouse Electric Company both failed, touching off a series of events known as the Panic of 1907. See other Theodore Roosevelt domestic activity. 1: Westinghouse Electric was the victim of foul business practices by J.P. Morgan. Morgan controlled General Electric and Thomas Edison's Direct Current, (DC) electrical patents. He contended with Westinghouse Electric, who controlled Nicola Tesla's Alternating Current, (AC) electrical patents. Morgan and Edison strove for control of all electrical power in America. Edison used deceptive demonstrations of the supposed increased dangers of AC and Morgan had spread rumors in Wall Street that Westinghouse was insolvent, causing Westinghouse stock to collapse, along with the stock of the Westinghouse backers. Panic of 1907: J.P. Morgan Saves the Day \(u-s-history.com\)

While Charles Steinmetz & GE was busy trying to figure out and copy Nikola Tesla's AC system, by 1895 Tesla abandoned AC for The Wireless Power Art. Nikola Tesla was right—you can transfer electrical power wirelessly. He demonstrated it in several ways in the late 19th century. Yet, as usual, he was ahead of his time. Up until recently, that work was generally lost, ignored, or dismissed. Now researchers and developers are finally finding ways to make wireless power transfer happen in a practical manner.

Hydro-electric power has been banned on the Colorado River because of the Dinosaur National Monument, (a rock tooth), since 1915. If you believe in Dinosaurs, you believe in BANNING low-cost HydroElectric power, cheap back-up power, 24/7 power, free water, irrigation, flood control, boating, fishing etc. -- Echo Park Dam Controversy -- U.S. Bureau of Reclamation plans for a ten-dam, billion dollar Colorado River Storage Project began to arouse opposition in the early 1950s when it was announced that one of the proposed dams would be at Echo Park, in the middle of Dinosaur National Monument. The controversy assumed major proportions, dominating conservation politics for years. David Brower, executive director of the Sierra Club, and Howard Zahniser of The Wilderness Society led an unprecedented nationwide campaign to preserve the free-flowing rivers and scenic canyons of the Green and Yampa Rivers. They argued that, if a national monument was not safe from development, how could any wildland be kept intact?[citation needed] On the other side of the argument were powerful members of Congress from western states, who were committed to the project in order to secure water rights, obtain cheap hydroelectric power and develop reservoirs as tourist destinations. After much debate, Congress settled on a compromise that eliminated Echo Park Dam and authorized the rest of the project. The Colorado River Storage Project Act became law on April 11, 1956. It stated, ""that no dam or reservoir constructed under the authorization of the Act shall be within any National Park or Monument.""[citation needed] Historians view the Echo Park Dam controversy as signaling the start of an era that includes major conservationist political successes such as the Wilderness Act and the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.[citation needed]

WIRELESS POWER AT NIAGARA FALLS

From the story on March 5, 1904 The Electrical World and Engineer "The Transmission of Electric Energy Without Wires" by Nikola Tesla <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/publications/scientific-american-supplement> -- Toward the close of 1898, systematic research led me to recognize 3 important necessities; First, to develop a transmitter of great power; second, to perfect means for individualizing and isolating the energy transmitted; and, third, to ascertain the laws of propagation of currents ((through the earth and the atmosphere.)) In the middle of June, I arranged one of my receiving transformers with the view of determining in a (novel) manner, experimentally, the electric potential of the globe and studying its periodic and casual fluctuations... I raised steam, to a dangerous pressure, in barrels filled with Concentrated Salt solution (Lithium)... It was on the third of July when I obtained the first decisive experimental evidence of a truth of overwhelming importance for the advancement of humanity... No doubt whatever remained — I was observing ((Stationary Waves))... This is, essentially, a circuit of very high self-induction and small resistance which, in its arrangement, mode of excitation, and action, may be said to be the ((diametrical opposite)) of a transmitting circuit typical ((of telegraphy by Hertzian or electromagnetic radiations.)) Quite different conditions exist in my system in which the ((electromagnetic waves or radiations are designedly minimized,)) the connection of one of the terminals of the transmitting circuit to the ground having, itself, the effect of reducing the energy of these radiations to about one-half. The ((electromagnetic radiations being reduced to an insignificant quantity,)) and proper conditions of resonance maintained, the circuit acts like an immense pendulum, storing indefinitely the energy of the primary exciting impulses and impressing upon the earth and its conducting atmosphere uniform harmonic oscillations of intensities which, as actual tests have shown, may be pushed so far as to surpass those attained in the natural displays of static electricity... The best design of which I knew has been adopted, and the transmitter will emit a wave complex of a total maximum activity of 10 Million horse-power, one per cent of which is amply sufficient to "girdle the globe": This enormous rate of energy delivery, approximately twice that of the combined falls of Niagara, is ((obtainable only by the use of certain artifices,)) which I shall make known in due course. The Canadian Niagara Power Company have offered me a splendid inducement, I propose to distribute 10,000 horse-power under a tension of 100 Million volts, which I am now able to produce and handle with safety. December 18th, 1904 The State, Columbia, SC "A Talk with Nikola Tesla" by Frank G. Carpenter <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/talk-with-nikola-tesla> -- The first talk I had in his laboratory on east Houston street nine years ago last September. The second was at the Waldorf tonight... Said he: "I have proved that power can be thus transmitted. Let us suppose I have my plant at Niagara and you are running a sugar factory in Australia; by my discoveries it will be possible to send you a hundred, five hundred or a thousand horsepower for your factory, and to supply the same regularly by the force furnished from Niagara Falls. Suppose you are traveling in the wilds of the Andes and make your camp on the shores of Lake Titicaca. By the outcome of this principle you may have telegraphed to you there ((instantaneous)) reports of the news of the world as it happens from time to time. You may cook your dinner over an electric fire thus transmitted, and you may have the same at will on any part of the globe. We shall be able to send power from place to place at will, and that at such a ((small cost)) that it will be industrially profitable."... "I have for years been working on the transmission on of electrical energy, and in 1898 established a laboratory on the edge of the Rocky mountains near Colorado Springs. My laboratory there was over 6,000 feet high, higher than the top of Mount Washington, and I had extraordinary conditions for my experiments. Colorado is famous for its natural displays of electrical force. The earth at times is alive with electrical vibrations and the air is full of electricity. I have seen 12,000 lightning discharges within two hours and all within a radius of 30 miles of my laboratory. These discharges were of great violence, some of them looking like trees of fire on the heavens. It was among such discharges that I had my electrical instruments and studied the principles of ((electrical transmission through the earth and air.)) One day while watching the lightning I noticed that discharges afar often affected instruments in my laboratory more than those near by. Upon examination I found that this could -not- be caused by the difference of intensity in the individual discharges... "Through instruments made for the purpose I tested the matter from time to time and finally came to the conclusion that the vibrations caused by the lightning moved around the world and that there were ((Stationary Waves.)) I could gauge the discharges near the laboratory and see them fade away and after a certain fixed period find them returning with ((almost no loss of power.)) In short, this planet, as big as it is, was acting as a conductor, and I became convinced that upon it not only telegraphic messages, but also the modulations of the human voice and electrical power in ((unlimited amounts,)) could be carried around the entire globe and sent to any part of it with hardly any perceptible loss. ((With my transmitter I actually sent electrical vibrations around the world and received them again, and I then went on to develop my machinery.)) I had, as I have told you, been studying and inventing along the lines of electrical transmission and was ready to take advantage of my discovery. I have since so improved the means or ((individualization and isolation)) that such ((energy may be sent in any amount to any fixed place without danger of its going elsewhere or affecting others, and I believe the individualization can be carried out to almost any degree.)) ...

NIAGARA FOR THE WORLD. "Will this enable the power of Niagara to be sent anywhere over the world?" "Yes. I have been experimenting at my laboratory on Long Island. ((I have machinery and buildings there)) which have cost in the neighborhood of $350,000, and the results show me that a plant could be erected at Niagara which can transmit its force to any place desired. ((I am designing such a plant now at my laboratory,)) and would have had it completed had it not been for un foreseen delays, which have nothing to do with its technical features. The design which I have adopted will have a ((transmitter which will emit a wave complex of a total maximum activity of 10,000,000 horse power, 1 percent, of which is enough to girdle the globe.)) This enormous rate of energy delivery — it is twice as much as the force at Niagara Falls — ((is obtainable only by the use of certain artifices which I shall make known some time in the future))... “We have been offered 10,000 horsepower from the Canadian Power company. What I want to do is to build machinery there and transmit this power to different parts of the globe. The value of that amount of horse power would be about $200,000 per year, and a plant erected to take advantage of it will pay large dividends.” “How much would the plant cost?” “It might cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, but its value would be enormous, and its success would revolutionize the working forces of the globe. It would result in other plants being erected otherwheres and in the utilization of all the great water falls for the work of man.” http://1.bp.blogspot.com/-_ZtA-sJlfMc/Th5zkOrojFI/AAAAAAAAAGnE/f1OxErqKVJQ/s1600/161152446-blogged.jpg ((Tesla's estimate of Hydro-Electric potential of 150GW up to 1 Billion Horsepower in the U.S. would eliminate 3 Billion slaves) <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/transmission-electrical-energy-without-wires-means-furthering-peace> The very foundations of science have been shaken. ((We can no longer believe in the Maxwellian hypothesis of transversal ether-undulations and the literal truth of its corollaries...)) The brilliant discovery of the exceptionally “radio-active” substances, radium and polonium, by Mrs. Sklodowska Curie, has likewise afforded me much personal gratification, being an eclatant ((confirmation of my early experimental demonstrations,)) of electrified radian streams of primary matter or corpuscular emanations (Electrical Review, New York, 1896-1897), which were then received with incredulity. They have awakened us from the poetical dream of an intangible conveyor of energy, weightless, structureless ether, to the plain, palpable reality of a ponderous medium of coarse particles, or bodily carriers of force. They have led us to a radically new interpretation of the changes and transformations we perceive. Enlightened by this recognition, we cannot say the sun is hot, the moon is cold, the star is bright, for all these might be purely electrical phenomena. If this be the case, then even our conceptions of time and space may have to be modified... In view of this difficulty a measure suggested by Carnegie might be adopted by a few strong countries to scare all the weaker ones into peace... The new art of controlling electrically the movements and operations of individualized automata at a distance without wires, will soon enable any country to render its coasts impregnable against all naval attacks... At that time I had already announced in the Century Magazine of June, 1900, my successful “girdling” of the globe with electrical impulses (Stationary Waves), and my “telautomata” had been publicly exhibited. But that was not the fault of the naval officials, for then these inventions of mine were decried as bald, visionary schemes, loudest indeed by those who have since become Cræsus of Promise — in “light” storage batteries, “Ocean” telephony and “transatlantic” wireless telegraphy, yet remained to this day — Sisyphuses of Attainment... One of these devil-telautomata will soon be constructed, and I shall bring it to the attention of governments. The development of this art must unavoidably arrest the construction of expensive battleships as well as land fortifications, and revolutionize the means and methods of warfare. The distance at which it can strike, and the destructive power of such a quasi-intelligent machine being for all practical purposes unlimited, the gun, the armor of the battleship and the wall of the fortress, lose their import and significance... The deficiencies of Hertzian telegraphy have created in the public mind the impression that exclusive or private messages without the use of artificial channels are impracticable. As a matter of fact, nothing could be more erroneous. Ever since its first appearance in 1891, I have denied the commercial possibilities of the system of signaling by Hertzian or electromagnetic waves, and my forecasts have been fully confirmed. It lends itself little to tuning, still less to the higher artifices of "individualization," and transmission to considerable distances is wholly out of the question. Portentous claims for this method of communication were made three years ago, but they have been unable to stand the hard, cruel test of time. Moreover, I have recently learned through the leading British electrical journal (Electrician, London, February 27, 1903), that some experimenters have abandoned all their own and have been "converted" to my methods and appliances, without my approval and officiation... In this later improvement the exclusiveness and non-interferability of impulses transmitted through a common channel result from cooperative association of a number of distinctive elements, and can be pushed as far as desired. In actual practice it is found that by combining only two vibrations or tones, a degree of privacy sufficient for most purposes is attained. When three vibrations are combined, it is extremely difficult, even for a skilled expert, to read or to disturb signals not intended for him, with four it is a vain undertaking. The probability of his getting the secret combinations at the right moments and in proper order, is much smaller than that of drawing an ambo, terno or quaterno, respectively, in a lottery... It is important to observe that but one "world" telegraphy plant, such as I am now completing, will have a greater working capacity than all the ocean cables combined. Once these facts are recognized this new art, which I am inaugurating, will sweep the world with the force of a uragan... In transportation a great change is now going on. The trolley lines are being extended, the steam locomotive is making place for the electric motor. The ocean liners are adopting the turbine. Land travel is being improved by the automobile. The waterfalls are being harnessed and the energy used in the propulsion of cars. The advantages of first generating electricity by a prime mover, and then applying the current to produce mechanical motion, are being more and more appreciated... In many of these new developments, the artificial insulation of the high-tension mains by refrigeration will be very useful. However paradoxical, it is true, that by the use of this invention, power for all industrial purposes can be transmitted to distances of many hundreds of miles, not only without any loss, but with appreciable gain of energy. This is due to the fact that the conductor is much colder than the surrounding medium. The operativeness of this method is restricted to the use of a gaseous refrigerant, no known liquid permitting the attainment of a sufficiently low temperature of the transmission line. Hydrogen is by far the best cooling agent to employ. By its use electric railways can be extended to any desired distance. Owing to the smallness of ohmic loss, the objections to the multiphase system disappear and induction motors with closed coil armatures can be adopted. I find that even transmission through a submarine cable, as from Sweden to England, of great amounts of power is perfectly practicable... That electrical energy can be economically transmitted without wires to any terrestrial distance, I have unmistakably established in numerous observations, experiments and measurements, qualitative and quantitative. These have demonstrated that is practicable to distribute power from a central plant in unlimited amounts, with a loss not exceeding a small fraction of one per cent. in the transmission, even to the greatest distance, twelve thousand miles — to the opposite end of the globe... This seemingly impossible feat can now be readily performed by any electrician familiar with the design and construction of my "high-potential magnifying transmitter," the most marvelous electrical apparatus of which I have knowledge, enabling the production of effects of unlimited intensities in the earth and its ambient atmosphere. It is, essentially, a freely vibrating secondary circuit of definite length, very high self-induction and small resistance, which has one of its terminals in intimate direct or inductive connection with the ground and the other with an elevated conductor, and upon which the electrical oscillations of a primary or exciting circuit are impressed under conditions of resonance. To give an idea of the capabilities of this wonderful appliance, I may state that I have obtained, by its means, spark discharges extending through more than one hundred feet and carrying currents of one thousand amperes, electromotive forces approximating twenty million volts, chemically active streamers covering areas of several thousand square feet, and electrical disturbances in the natural media surpassing those caused by lightning, in intensity... So far only about three million horse-power have been harnessed by my system of alternating-current transmission. This is little, but corresponds, nevertheless, to the adding of sixty million indefatigable laborers, working virtually without food and pay, to the world's population. The projects which have come to my own attention, however, contemplate the exploitation of water-powers aggregating something like one hundred and fifty million horse-power. Should they be carried out in a quarter of a century, as seems probable from present indications, there will be, on the average two such untiring laborers for every individual. Long before this consummation, coal and oil must cease to be important factors in the sustenance of human life on this planet. It should be borne in mind that electrical energy obtained by harnessing a waterfall is probably fifty times more effective than fuel energy. Since this is the most perfect way of rendering the sun's energy available, the direction of the future material development of man is clearly indicated. He will live on "white coal." Like a babe to the mother's breast will he cling to his waterfall. "Give us our daily waterfall," will be the prayer of the coming generations. Deus futurus est deus aquae deiectus... But the fact that stationary waves are producible in the earth is of special and, in many ways, still greater significance in the intellectual development of humanity. Popularly explained, such a wave is a phenomenon generically akin to an echo — a result of reflection. It affords a positive and uncontrovertible experimental evidence that the electric current, after passing into the earth travels to the diametrically opposite region of the same and rebounding from there, returns to its point of departure with virtually undiminished force. ((The outgoing and returning currents clash and form nodes and loops similar to those observable on a vibrating cord.)) To traverse the entire distance of about twenty-five thousand miles, equal to the circumference of the globe, the current requires a certain time interval, which I have approximately ascertained... Just this one oscillator would advance the world a century... Millions of instruments of all kinds, for all imaginable purposes, could be operated from that one machine. Universal time could be distributed by simple inexpensive clocks requiring no attention and running with nearly mathematical precision. Stock-tickers, synchronous movements and innumerable devices of this character could be worked in unison all over the earth. Instruments might be provided for indicating the course of a vessel at sea, the distance traversed, the speed, the hour at any particular place, the latitude and longitude. Incalculable commercial advantages could be thus secured and countless accidents and disasters avoided. Here and there a house might be lighted or some other work requiring a few horse-power performed. What is far more important than this, flying machines might be driven in any part of the world... Over five years have elapsed since that providential lightning storm on the 3d of July, 1899, of which I told in the article before mentioned, and through which I discovered the terrestrial (Stationary Waves;) nearly five years since I performed the great experiment which on that unforgettable day, the dark God of Thunder mercifully showed me in his vast, awe-sounding laboratory. I thought then that it would take a year to establish commercially my wireless girdle around the world. Alas! my first "world telegraphy" plant is not yet completed, its construction has progressed but slowly during the past two years. And this machine I am building is but a plaything, an oscillator of a maximum activity of only ten million horse-power, just enough to throw this planet into feeble tremors, by sign and word — to telegraph and to telephone...

When shall I see completed that first power plant, that big oscillator which I am designing! From which a current stronger than that of a welding machine, under a tension of one hundred million volts, is to rush through the earth! Which will deliver energy at the rate of one thousand million horse-power — one hundred Falls of Niagara combined in one, striking the universe with blows — blows that will wake from their slumber the sleepest electricians, if there be any, on Venus or Mars! . . . It is not a dream, it is a simple feat of scientific electrical engineering, only expensive — blind, faint-hearted, doubting world! Humanity is not yet sufficiently advanced to be willingly led by the discoverer's keen searching sense. But who knows? Perhaps it is better in this present world of ours that a revolutionary idea or invention instead of being helped and patted, be hampered and ill-treated in its adolescence — by want of means, by selfish interest, pedantry, stupidity and ignorance; that it be attacked and stifled; that it pass through bitter trials and tribulations, through the heartless strife of commercial existence. So do we get our light. So all that was great in the past was ridiculed, condemned, combated, suppressed — only to emerge all the more powerfully, all the more triumphantly from the struggle.

November, 1928 Popular Science Monthly - A Famous Prophet of Science Looks Into the Future by Alden P. Armagnac. Within three years, he told me, his "World-system" for transmission of wireless power through the earth should be in commercial operation. Other wonders, too, he described — a "flivver airplane," his latest invention; and a powerful new turbine motor which, he said, has but one twentieth the weight of an engine as now designed. It was a staggering word picture of the future that Tesla gave me... But thirty-five years ago people decried as impossible Tesla's prophecy before scientific societies that ships in distress at sea would call for help by wireless apparatus. It was characterized as "inventive lunacy."... Thirty years ago people thought Tesla was indulging in a wild fancy when he built a model for a crewless vessel. Yet today the British Navy is experimenting with H.M.S. Centurion, a full-size warship without a crew, controlled entirely by wireless. Germany is doing the same with the former battleship Zachringen. Twenty years ago, when Tesla designed an automobile to be propelled on water, land, or through the air by explosive jets from rockets, men who otherwise respected his genius thought he had gone crazy. Today, in Germany, rocket cars have sped 156 miles an hour in trials; and the principle is to be applied to air machines... Houses will be lighted and powered by wireless, as will be airplanes and other vehicles on land and sea. You will be able to go anywhere, desert or mountain-top, valley or farm, and set up a compact equipment, small enough to be carried in a suitcase, that will give you heat to cook with and light to read by. Flivver airplanes will buzz directly upward and dart across country at many miles a minute. Jet-driven airships will cross oceans, but Tesla draws the line at moon rockets...With it, he turned ordinary electricity into crackling lightning of millions of volts. Noises of thunderous discharges smote the ears of visitors to his Colorado Springs, Colo., wireless plant erected early in 1899; they could even be heard in Cripple Creek, Colo., thirteen miles away! ... It was there that Dr. Tesla carried out his scheme of sending power by wireless through the earth. No "wireless" such as we know today as radio, was this. He transmitted, not radio waves through the air, mostly wasted, but electric currents through the ground. By this method, he told me, he transmitted enough power around the earth to light several hundred incandescent lamps, and proved that power in industrial amounts could be transmitted to any distance with an efficiency as high as ninety-nine and a half percent... In reality the tower was Dr. Tesla's "Magnifying Transmitter," intended to feed electric power into the earth. At its top, a globular dome was to store momentarily, before hurling into the earth, tremendous currents produced by a "Tesla oscillation transformer" in the tower's center... In reality the tower was Dr. Tesla's "Magnifying Transmitter," intended to feed electric power into the earth. At its top, a globular dome was to store momentarily, before hurling into the earth, tremendous currents produced by a "Tesla oscillation transformer" in the tower's center. Nearly completed was the odd structure, when a dynamite blast of unknown origin turned it into a twisted mass of ruins... Today he is ready to build a new and larger plant. And he is confident that by 1931 it will be in commercial operation. This plant was also to broadcast speech, and pictures by a system of daylight television without moving devices outlined by him in 1893. "Contrary to popular opinion, which has identified my 'Magnifying Transmitter' with thunder and lightning," Dr. Tesla said, "it operates in silence. There is no halo of escaping electric flames, or other visible evidence of activity — except that a person within a hundred feet of the tower will notice small sparks, prickling of the skin, and bristling of the hair." ... Besides his world power scheme, Dr. Tesla says he is devoting his time chiefly to his vertically rising flying machine. This aerial flivver is to weigh less than 200 pounds, and to occupy no more space than a seven-foot cube. It is to rise to a great height at a rate of from one to two miles a minute, and may attain a horizontal speed as high as 400 miles an hour, power being supplied by an exceedingly light oil-burning motor, a modification of a steam turbine Tesla invented. An all-metal framework and the absence of gasoline guard against fire hazard. Additional safety is to be attained by a parachute of new construction.... Equally spectacular was his demonstration of a wireless lamp, at his Grand Street laboratory in New York City. At three o'clock one morning, when he and his workmen were ready to quit for the night, Tesla decided that a certain high-frequency generator he had been constructing was ready for the test of a new lamp that would light without wires. He sent his workmen outside while he made ready the apparatus. All that remained was to close a switch. When the workmen returned, Tesla strode to the middle of the laboratory. In each hand he held a long glass tube, exhausted of air. "If my theory is correct," he told his assistants, "when the switch is thrown in, these tubes will become swords of fire. Darken the room and close the switch."... He even delved into the super-speed "sound" vibrations, recently produced in the laboratory of Alfred L. Loomis, at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., which kill small animals. He once built an apparatus, intended to sterilize water, which produced vibrations powerful enough to paralyze the hand, plunged in a tank of liquid.

NIKOLA TESLA'S 9 of 13 PATENTS FOR NIAGARA FALLS

The Niagara Falls project was planned much earlier than its completion in 1895, involved experience building the AMES Hydro Plant in Ames, CO completed in 1891. A year earlier in 1894, the first Hydro Plant using Tesla's AC Power System was the Jaruga Hydroelectric Power Plant built near Nikola Tesla's hometown in Serbia in Croatia. See the Niagara Falls Power Project (1888). A letter from Nikola Tesla to JP Morgan on 12/19/1904 reveals that Tesla tells Morgan that "if he had built Wardencllyffe at Niagara Falls, as was Rankine's suggestion (a partner in the Tesla Electric Company and head of the Niagara Power Company) it would be operable by now." The final psychological blow for Tesla occurred in 1906 after the deaths of Rankine (of a heart attack) and Stanford White (who was murdered in an infamous love scandal with model Evelyn Nesbitt). Tesla was all but alone now. He could not face his friends such as the Johnsons, nor could he face his failure any longer, and suffered a nervous breakdown. Due to my work in graphology, I have discovered a complete disintegration in his handwriting in that year from his secretary George Herbert Walker Scherff Sr confirms the hypothesis. The official nature of Tesla's Wardencllyffe tower is described in his Wardencllyffe Foreclosure Hearings in 1923. <https://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/niagara-falls-power-project-1888/>

This section is about Nikola Tesla's Niagara Falls. Although its well know that the system was build with his Polyphase System, Wikipedia gives credit to Westinghouse and others for the A/C system built there, Despite a plaque at the falls showing Tesla's 9 patents for the falls. Prior to Niagra Falls, Nikola Tesla experimented and prefected Radio and Alternating Currents used in wireless telegraphy telephony and the transmission of power for use at Niagara Falls. Here is a synopsis and article on the subject. When Nikola Tesla invented the two and four phase system of alternating current power transmission, distant transfer of electricity became possible, as Westinghouse and Tesla had built the AC-power Ames Hydroelectric Generating Plant in Telluride in 1890 and proved it effective transmitting electricity to 2.6 miles (4.2 km) by using a motor-driven stamp mill at the Gold King Mine (it began operation in 1891). By 1891, Tesla had sold his 40 patent system to Westinghouse for what was described at the time as "a king's ransom". As early as 1892, Tesla states "one of the simplest devices I used in my experiments between my laboratory on South Fifth Avenue and the Gerlach Hotel" was several devices as described in his article "Apparatus for Transformation by Condenser Discharges; Damped Waves" he correctly uses Multi-Plexing, for RF Relays. I used machines of this character from 1892, but this specific instrument in my laboratory on Houston Street, referring to his Nov 3rd 1891 patent for "Method and Apparatus for Electrical Conversion and Distribution". http://www.tfcbooks.com/tesla/nt_on_ac.htm#Section_4 This work [Fig. 31] was begun already in 1889. This type of apparatus is identified with my name as certain as the law of gravitation is with that of Newton. I know that some have claimed that Professor Thomson also invented the so-called Tesla coil, but those feeble chirps ne'er went beyond Swampscott. Professor Thomson is an odd sort of man; very ingenious, but he never was a wireless expert; he never could be. Moreover, it is important to realize that this principle is universally employed everywhere. The greatest men of science have told me that this was my best achievement and, in connection with this apparatus [referring to schematics of Fig. 31], I may say that a lot of liberties have been taken. For instance, a man fills this space [break D] with hydrogen; he employs all my instrumentalities, everything that is necessary, but calls it a new wireless system—the Poulsen arc. I cannot stop it. Another man puts in here [referring to space between self-inductive lines L L] a kind of gap—he gets a Nobel prize for doing it. My name is not mentioned. Still another man inserts here [conductor B] a mercury[-arc] rectifier. That is my friend Cooper Hewitt. But, as a matter of fact, those devices have nothing to do with the performance. <http://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/books-1/nikola-tesla-on-his-work-with-alternating-currents-and-their-application-to-wireless-telegraphy-telephony-and-transmission-of-power-an-extended-interview-leland-i-anderson-editor/>

Prior to the initial planning of Niagara Falls in 1887-1888, Westinghouse employee and Tesla partner in 9 of Niagara Falls's 13 patents, Schmid files a patent on May 2nd 1887, for a Gas "Pumping" Engine using a secondary compressed air reservoir, but does not describe the Tesla described concepts and need for reciprocation. Researching the Tesla/Schmid Niagara Falls Patents, Schmid has a patent for a "Field Magnet for Electric Machines" which then refers to a 1996 patent for a "Low torque ripple switched reluctance motor" for a Dana Corp. and a "Stator" for Electric Motors by Toyota approved in 2014
<https://www.google.com/patents/US519097>

Later in 1902, Schmid patents a "Driving mechanism of motor-cars." which is one of the first hybrid cars using an internal combustion engine to charge and power and electric dynamo motor. <https://www.google.com/patents/US716113>

Also located in the 13 Niagara Falls Patents is the William Stanley Electrolytic "Storage

Battery" of March 1st 1892 which is a new method for "Preventing the negative plates from losing their capacity" using "spongy lead" and "carbon", commonly known as Graphene/Graphite. Also noted in the article is a lawsuit by Westinghouse protecting the Stanley patent which is described its function as a "Self-Regulating Transformer". The article also describes Stanley's work as the potential inventor of the "Kinetoscope" and not Thomas Edison. The last suspicious patent of the 13 Niagara Falls patents is by Arthur Kennelly, who prior to 1895, worked for Thomas Edison working with Tesla's AC Power in order to electrocute animals. <https://books.google.com/books?id=D8o9AQAAMAAJ&pg=PA262&lpg=PA262&dq=Stanley+patent+No.+469809%2C+granted+March+1st%2C+1892> http://ethw.org/William_Stanley <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kinetoscope>

<https://archive.org/details/transmissionpow00teslgoog/page/n7/mode/2up> Multi-phase generator with mechanical break. Experiments in the laboratory at 35 South Fifth Avenue and subsequently. I gave them a demonstration which was published in Martin's article in the Century Magazine of April 1895, and I know that on these occasions I used a two-phase arrangement. Later on I made it four phase. That apparatus existed, therefore, prior to the destruction of my laboratory in 1895. (photo) This [Fig. 38] illustrates another development in a different direction. In order to increase the number of breaks, I employed currents of different phase. I had in my laboratory, permanently, a two-phase dynamo and could get phases between; that is, from two phases, 90 apart, I could obtain four phases, 45 apart. Here is an arrangement shown as I had it, working with three phases [60 apart, and could obtain six phases, 30 apart], and later on I had one with four phases [45 apart, and could obtain eight phases 22 1/2 apart]. You see, as I multiplied the number of the phases, I increased the number of the fundamental discharges. I made no publication, and I vividly remember that when I installed my apparatus on Long Island I had an arrangement with four transformers and four phases 45 apart. After I had been using this apparatus there, several years afterwards, I ran across a patent, I believe held by the General Electric Company, describing precisely the same arrangement.[*] It was a similar experience as with that patent of Fessenden on the compressed air condenser. Any time I want to use these improvements all I need to do is to produce my records and that will settle the patents. No. I have hundreds of inventions that were to be patented but side-stepped. The expense was too great and I could not do it. This form of apparatus with two and four phases was used prior to the destruction of my laboratory in 1895, and it was installed on a large scale with four phases in my plant on Long Island with which I was to telephone around the world, but that is a long story. http://www.tfcbooks.com/tesla/nt_on_ac.htm

Unable to challenge AC electricity on technical merits, Edison turned to using scare tactics instead and carried out a campaign to discourage the use of alternating current, including spreading disinformation on fatal AC accidents, publicly killing animals, and lobbying against the use of AC in state legislatures. "Just as certain as death (AC power) will kill a customer within six months," he declared. Leaflets about the dangers of AC current were printed and distributed. Lobbying efforts were made in New York State to limit legal levels of electricity to 800 volts, making AC distribution impractical "as a matter of public safety". Perhaps most horrifying, though, were Edison's weekend demonstrations of the dangers of Tesla's work. Taking one of the frightened pets stolen from the streets of West Orange, Edison would place it on a sheet of metal, bring forth two wires attached to an AC generator, and announce to spectators: "Ladies and gentlemen, I shall now demonstrate the effects of AC current on this dog." Edison directed his technicians, primarily Arthur Kennelly and Harold P. Brown, to preside over several AC-driven killings of animals, primarily stray cats and dogs but also unwanted cattle and horses. Acting on these directives, they were to demonstrate to the press that alternating current was more dangerous than Edison's system of direct current. He also tried to popularize the term for being electrocuted as being "Westinghoused". Years after DC had lost the "war of the currents," in 1903, his film crew made a movie of the electrocution with high voltage AC, supervised by Edison employees, of Topsy, a Coney Island circus elephant which had recently killed three men. The Edison's intention to disparage the system of alternating current led to the invention of the electric chair. Harold P. Brown, who was being secretly paid by Edison, built the first electric chair for the state of New York to promote the idea that alternating current was deadlier than DC. When the chair was first used, on August 6, 1890, the technicians on hand misjudged the voltage needed to kill the condemned prisoner, William Kemmler. The first jolt of electricity was not enough to kill Kemmler, and only left him badly injured. The procedure had to be repeated and a reporter on hand described it as "an awful spectacle, far worse than hanging." George Westinghouse commented: "They would have done better using an axe." Mikhail Dolivo-Dobrowolsky (Russian, naturalized Swiss), chief electrician at the AEG (AEG Live) in Berlin used the basic ideas of Tesla and constructed the first three-phase cage induction motor. In the beginning of 1889, his first motor is running properly. His system was displayed for first time in Europe at the International Electro-Technical Exhibition of 1891, where Dolivo-Dobrovolsky used this system to transmit electric power at the distance of 176 km with 75% efficiency. (AEG was to build Project Atlantropa 1920-1950 to Dam the Mediterranean Sea in order to provide renewable energy for all of Europe and Africa)

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT MCKINLEY

William McKinley: President McKinley's Last Public Utterance at Niagara Falls to the People in Buffalo, New York. President Mckinley was shot on September 6th 1091, after returning from a speech at Niagara Falls, presumably about a "new power system" of Hydro Electricity and Wireless Power Transmission. Mckinley was headed to the Pan-American Exposition at the Temple of Music in Buffalo in an electric trolley running off the power from Niagara Falls. Upon his arrival, Mckinley was shot by an alleged "anarchist" Leon Czolgosz within 45 seconds of shanking Nikola Tesla's hand. Mckinley was transported to the hospital in an electric ambulance. Tesla stayed with Mckinley at his bedside; allegedly using electrical cures on Mckinkley; up until he died on September 13th 1901.

What happened to Nikola Tesla's "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy"? It was filed on Mar 21st, 1901, prior to the assassination of President William McKinley on September 6th-13th 1901, and was approved by the U.S. patent office on Nov 5th, 1901. <http://www.google.com/patents/US685957> and <http://www.google.com/patents/US685958>. Tesla's radiant energy and wireless works culminated from his Colorado Experiments in 1899-1900. At the time McKinley's assassination, most transportation was electric, in many cases using Nikola Tesla's patents for AC Induction Motors, Steam-Engine and Turbine Trains, Monorail and AC Trolly's (including the electric ambulance that carried President McKinley to the hospital) were all running off of power generated at Niagara Falls. President William McKinley's last public speech at Buffalo after visiting Niagara Falls. His Niagara Falls speech is unavailable. Tesla's "Radiant Energy Receiver" was designed to be a method of wireless power reception, cohered with his "Apparatus for the Transmission of Electrical Energy" to be located at Niagara Falls. Both the receiver and transmitter included their associated working devices from lighting to motors to be used in his proposed system of non-radiative wireless transmission of electricity and power, television signals and photography, audio and radio communications for which Tesla said could vary depending on the effect desired.

Tesla simultaneously patented receiving devices for his transmission system on November 5th 1901 including: US Patent 685,955 Apparatus for Utilizing Effects Transmitted From a Distance to a Receiving Device Through Natural Media - US Patent 585,954 Method of Utilizing Effects Transmitted Through Natural Media - US Patent 685,953 Method of Intensifying and Utilizing Effects Transmitted Through Natural Media. Previously Tesla had already patented a Means for Increasing the Intensity of Electrical Oscillations (superconductivity) on October 22nd 1901, US Patent 685,012, using cold temperature and a superconducting liquid, preferably Krypton used at CERN, for use in his system for magnifying transmission of radio waves.

Unfortunately, as of November 5th 2014, Wikipedia suspiciously leaves out Nikola Tesla's patents and inventions out of it's "History of Solar". http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Timeline_of_solar_cells Further, several recent book publications on the subject of solar, including "Let it Shine", the 6000 year history of solar energy, also leaves out Nikola Tesla's patent. Even further, Nikola Tesla overall, is suspiciously left of the news, out of school books and out of the minds of engineers worldwide. A recent visit by me to the SPI Solar Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada and conversations with the show producers, exhibitors and engineers from 3M to SunEdison, reveal that few have even heard of Tesla's patent. Furthermore, the Discovery Channel newest Ancient Aliens presentation on Nikola Tesla, "The Tesla Experiment", which referred to Tesla's contribution to Solar, has been remove from the Internet. After that, Discovery Channel removed all copies of "Niagara Falls - Nikola Tesla Documentary", from YouTube, except the one on their own YouTube channel. In the documentary, Diane Sawyer admits that Wardencllyffe Towers were to be installed next to Hydro Projects starting with Niagara Falls. The Towers would send Negative Ions generated by the Tower to the Ionosphere, then to be received, wirelessly, instantaneously, and at any distance with a specially designed receiver, like Tesla's "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy". On other inventions like radio, Wikipedia suspiciously leaves out Nikola Tesla in the History of Radio Transmitters. Yet many of the patents, inventions and concepts in Solar Energy and Wireless originate or are represented in Tesla's patents for Manufacture of Electrical Condensers & Coils on November 5th 1896, Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy November 5th 1901, and Tesla's Apparatus for the Transmission of Electrical Energy, filed on or about May Day 1907.

New analysis of Nikola Tesla's works are of the greatest importance to the future of wireless and non-radiative wireless power transmission, solar cells, energy storage, energy harvesting and other renewable energy technologies. A recent, new revival in the science of photovoltaic, materials, emission and permittivity of matter, inductance and capacitance, magnetic fields, surface layers, insulators, resonance and the like have accounted for a 7 year jump in solar efficiencies and will eventually seal the fate of non-renewable energy sources. Nikola Tesla's patents going back to the 1880's describe many new concepts and improvements in the art of radiant energy transfer, solar cells, condensers or capacitors, wireless non radiative, electromagnetic and/or harmonic power transfer, resonant transformers and meta and nano materials. Debunking Einstein's theory on how matter get's it's energy, $E=MC^2$, where the Energy is self-contained within the Matter itself, like the theoretical "nuclear furnace" in the center of the Sun... In contrary to Einstein, this quote by Tesla confirms his later statements about how energy is transferred through matter "all energy in matter is received from it's environment". By extension, and admitted last year by ORNL and the U.S. DOE, that all radioactive matter ceases to be radioactive when it no longer is in the presence of Cosmic Rays or Sunlight. In the presence of Cosmic Rays, all radioactive matter can break down at over 100X it's natural rate, in the theoretical "atomic chain". The type of matter or material used for Tesla's Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy would or could have been considered radioactive, like metal halides, or the use of Radon and Radon Clay or even the types of gasses he could use that are self-illuminating, or superconducting, such as Xenon and Krypton.

"A simple explanation of Tesla's Radiant Energy Receiver by George Trinkaus: "For starters, think of this as a solar-electric panel. Tesla's invention is very different, but the closest thing to it in conventional technology is in photo-voltaics. One radical difference is that conventional solar-electric panels consist of a substrate coated with crystalline silicon; the latest use amorphous silicon. Conventional solar panels are expensive, and, whatever the coating, they are manufactured by esoteric processes. But Tesla's "solar panel" is just a shiny metal plate with a transparent coating of some insulating material which today could be a spray plastic. Stick one of these antenna-like panels up in the air, the higher the better, and wire it to one side of a capacitor, the other going to a good earth ground. Now the energy from the sun is charging that capacitor. Connect across the capacitor some sort of switching device so that it can be discharged at rhythmic intervals, and you have an electric output. Tesla's patent is telling us that it is that simple to get electric energy. The bigger the area of the insulated plate, the more energy you get. But this is more than a 'solar panel' because it does not necessarily need sunshine to operate. It also produces power at night." See another good presentation on Free-Energy Aerial Systems.

From Tesla's Radiant Energy Receiver patent he states what the common thinking at the time is about the behavior of electricity and matter, "Minute particles of matter from secondary cosmic rays or the rays render the air and matter as conductive. These radiations are generally considered to be ether vibrations of extremely small wave lengths, and in explanation of the phenomena noted it has been assumed by some authorities that they ionize or render conducting the atmosphere through which they are propagated."

Continuing from the patent, Tesla states his theory: "My own experiments and observations, however, lead me to conclusions more in accord with the theory heretofore advanced by me that sources of such radiant energy throw off with great velocity minute particles of matter which are strongly electrified, and therefore capable of charging an electrical conductor, even if not so, may at any rate discharge an electrified conductor either by carrying off bodily its charge or otherwise." "In applying my discovery I provide a condenser, preferably of considerable electrostatic capacity, and connect one of its terminals to an insulated metal plate or other conducting body exposed to the rays or streams of radiant matter." In Nikola Tesla's 1899 Colorado Springs Notes, Tesla used highly polished, large surface area, insulated plates "the plates act as a condenser", elevated tin foiled, copper and brass sphere's, for reasons presumably to absorb and emit or send and receive UV, even at night. THOMAS EDISON BELL & GOODYEAR PATENT TROLLS

There was a patent war for the Gramophone / Phonograph by Thomas Edison: Since 1878, these devices officially were and used to record telephone conversations at the phone company. <https://uspto.gov/about-us/news-updates/patent-phonograph-issued-february-19-1878-one-edisons-first-greatinventions> ((He figured out that the human voice, and other sounds, could cause a light material plate to vibrate. TRUMP SPEECH TEXT -- "On our 100th anniversary, in 1876, citizens from across our Nation came to Philadelphia to celebrate America's centennial. At that celebration, the country's builders and artists and inventors showed off their creations. Alexander Graham Bell displayed HIS telephone for the first time. (You mean the patent rights he bought from someone else) ... Remington unveiled the first typewriter... An early attempt was made at electric light. (What?) Thomas Edison showed an automatic telegraph and an electric pen." While at the same time Trump purposely disregards or is ignorant of the inventions of Nikola Tesla starting the next year, 1887 with his Alternation Current and Induction Motor patents. In 1888, Niagara Falls was proposed using the 13 Westinghouse/Tesla A/C patents for electrical generation, distribution, battery, motors and arc-lamps. Tesla sold his 40 A/C patents for a "King's Ransom" in 1888, approximately $10 Million today, plus royalties of $2.50 per Horsepower. By the 1893 World's Fair, Tesla demonstrated his A/C power, neon lights,

Nikola Tesla On Motors Or Engines:

First, lets look at the pre-1895 status of the gasoline automobile. Then we'll look at what Tesla patented prior to 1895 including the 40 patents for his A/C system, the 13 patents for Niagara Falls and his 17 patents that went into modern Radio that may also apply to engines of all types. Next, we'll see what happened when his 6 story lab burnt to the ground in 1895, who benefited after 1895, what Tesla did not patent or was lost or was stolen in 1895 due to the lab burning down. A question might be asked if the real meeting of the "New World Order" was actually in 1894 between JP Morgan, General Electric, Steinmetz, Thomas Edison, Ford and other infiltrators vs Nikola Tesla. Were they to replace Tesla, lay the ground work the next 100 years, which becomes the basis for George Orwell's book "1984", written in 1939? In 1893, a year earlier, Tesla had successfully demonstrated many of these technologies at the Chicago World's Fair. Prior to the fair, JP Morgan staged a banking panic that shut down the railways to the fair, 15,000 businesses closed their doors, 500 banks went under. Protesters were beaten up and put in jail by local police and the pre-National Guard forces. To find the answer, we'll look at what was built or patented by others in 1895 to today from General Electric/General Motors (JP Morgan, GE, Steinmetz, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford), Rudolph Diesel in 1895-6, Benz in 1896, Anheuser Bush 1900-1906, the 1906 San Francisco Earthquake and Trolley Conspiracy, to today's Tesla Motors Co. & BMW. Tesla Motors appears to be a Ford Motor Company operation dating back to 1895 and later in 1970. After his lab burns to the ground, Tesla goes missing for two days. After returning, later statements by him reveal that he will not re-file all the lost patents and instead intends to use analogies in the patents which will apply to all natural phenomena. You will see the evidence that all modern engines by today's companies were copies of, or stolen, or in any case, eventually used Tesla's concepts and patents; whether they give him credit, or not.

In 2015, I came across the Dieselgate Scandal. On the same day, I decided to write a report on the subject. Since, in 2010, I had already seen the "Clean Diesel" commercials on the Superbowl and knew it was a fraud. Over the weekend I wrote a 20 page treatise on the scandal, where the crux of the scandal lay, and also covered other engines invented by Nikola Tesla. Below is the section on engines, covering both issues. Nikola Tesla's Engines? Nikola Tesla patented the "reciprocating engine" in 1893 that basis for all internal combustion engines, the starter in his patent for an "electrical igniter for gas engines" and even the spark plugs. (Early patents for spark plugs included those by Nikola Tesla (in U.S. Patent 609,250 for an ignition timing system)). And the A/C induction motor. And the unipolar DC dynamo in the Prius. And the Tesla Turbine. And the Tesla Twin-Turbine, And the electric Hybrids on ships. And the Pyro-Magneto electric engine, Heat Pump engine, Improvement in the Rotary Engines, the electric Steam Engine, hybrid electric Turbo-Trains, Mag-Lev, And the Ramjet. - Smithsonian. Pick what motor you want. It's all Nikola Tesla's. How do they all work? How and where are they "magic"? You'll find out in this book. April 2018 May 1888: Tesla Files His Patents for the AC Electric Motor and his system of electrical transmission and distribution. A year later Westinghouse Co. began selling the world's first small electrical appliance, a fan powered by a 125-watt AC motor. Tesla's first patent was for a two-phase motor; modern households now rely on many small, single-phase electric motors. Today, some 12 billion small, nonindustrial motors are sold every year, including some 2 billion tiny motors. <https://spectrum.ieee.org/at-work/innovation/may-1888-tesla-files-his-patents-for-electric-motor>

In 1933 Nikola Tesla announces a new source of power; opposed to Einstein's physics, would lead to cheap energy for all. He declares his A/C motors would last for 500 years, are indestructible, like Niagara Falls 30M HP, and, in a Tesla Model S would last for 500 years. After 60 years, the Niagara Falls generators are replaced and 95% recycled for more efficient or larger generators. They do not replace them because they are broken.

I asked Tesla what part of his life work lay closest to his heart. It was not the induction motor, today the basis of industries in which billions of dollars are invested all over the world. Instead, it was the discovery of the principle that preceded the induction motor? the? rotating magnetic field.? ?It was not only a valuable discovery, capable of extensive practical applications. It was a revelation of new forces and new phenomena unknown to science before. ?No,? Dr. Tesla said with some feeling, ?I would not give my rotating field discovery for a thousand inventions, however valuable, designed merely as mechanical contraptions to deceive the eye and the ear. A thousand years hence, the telephone and the motion picture camera may be obsolete, but the principle of the rotating magnetic field will remain a vital, living thing for all time to come.? <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/famous->

A/C INDUCTION MOTORS

Early AC systems had a major disadvantage that there was no commercially available AC motor. This shortcoming was solved in fairly short order when the word of the extraordinary Tesla patents reached the academic world, when he was issued his first set of patents for a comprehensive system of AC generators, transformers, synchronous motors and induction motors for the transmission and utilization of two or more alternating currents, what came to be known as the polyphase system. And so it came to pass that the inventor was invited to lecture before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. George Westinghouse became aware of Tesla in May 1, 1888 due to his remarkable speech in Pittsburgh when Tesla introduced his motors and electrical systems in a classic paper, "A New System of Alternate Current Motors and Transformers" which he delivered before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Nikola Tesla's earliest patent legal fight involved him being the first to properly describe the back-EMF reciprocation within his Alternating Current Induction Electric Engine's filed on October 12th 1887. Applied on July 7 1893 Nikola Tesla patent for the "Tesla Coil" or "Bifilar Coil" for Electromagnets" describe balancing the reciprocation of self-induction with the capacity of the circuit. From the patent: "The effects of self-induction, above referred to, are known to be neutralized by proportioning to a proper degree the capacity of the circuit with relation to the self-induction and frequency of the currents.

<http://www.teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/patents/us-patent-512340-coil-electro-magnets> This has been accomplished heretofore by the use of condensers constructed and applied as separate instruments."

The A/C motor and Impulse DC motor is also used to 1) Smelt Steel at Niagara Falls since 1899 2) Sintering of all materials 3) Manufacturing Synthetic Diamonds 4) Heat Pump 5) Regenerative Breaking and even the 6) Timing used to regulate the motors speed... Edison and Einstein have nothing to do with any of this. Nikola Tesla's generator called the "Ozone Generator" of 1897 uses the Spark Gap from the motor with air or input gasses used to 1) Manufacturer Ozone, Nitrous, Nitrates aka Nitrogen Fixation for Fertilizer, Krypton gas (and other gasses) - NT, and is used by Chevron, EXXON (Energy, Frequency, Vibration, Oxygen, Nitrogen (EXXON)) and others to Manufacture pure Gasoline (and other fuels) called the "Cherry Method" using electricity from the Generator + Tesla Coil with a natural -feeder- gas 3) Also see "Manufacturing unlimited gasses from Steel Plants" - From the Ozone Generator Patent "uses very little energy, unlimited quantity, little or no maintenance and very low cost". <https://www.allaboutcircuits.com/textbook/alternating-current/chpt-13/introduction-ac-motors/> h Nikola Tesla's most important discovery's of the Rotating Magnetic Field ((The phenomena reported in the earliest court cases on A/C motors was called "EMF recycling". Today the Unipolar Dynamo called a "Reluctance Engine"; has the phenomena of Resistance turns to #Reluctance. In his writing on his Poly phase system he calls it "perfectly efficient". He calls the component devices, energy "translation devices". His A/C motor goes towards infinite power as the internal resistance of the motor (aka Grid Wall) balances with the input of the battery, until the motor becomes aka "floating piston" or levitation and the motor burns out from the rush of energy from the Ether into the "zero point".)

Reluctant reciprocation is the most efficient, with-nature concept, first described, applied and patented in Tesla's system of "Alternating Reciprocation" A/C ELECTRIC MOTORS & AC POWER TRANSMISSION of 1887-8. In his 1888 A/C electric motor patents he was the first to properly describe electro-magnetic "Reluctant Reciprocation" with EMF RECYCLING in both Synchronous magnetic induction motors and Asynchronous induction motors. The Reluctance Engine was described by Tesla and is generally described as (Rotary, Mono-polar, Self-Grounded, Reluctantly Induced, Asynchronous, Reciprocation with EMF recycling). These concept are similarly applied in his most important patents. Both TESLA MOTORS & BMW ENGINES have tested or use variations of this engine today.

<http://www.greencarcongress.com/2013/08/bmw-20130812.html>

Tesla's correct description of the EMF recycling and true electro-magnetic reciprocation were the reasons for his legal wins for his 2&4 PHASE A/C electric induction motor patent of 1887. Properly described by him and applied becomes the modern RELUCTANCE MOTOR, which is also a/the STEPPING MOTOR, (Tesla's stepping motor and reciprocating engine also used a coil spring to provide additional "potential energy" to the system and it's stiffness to provide oscillation for timing); he describes for use in his November 5th 1901 patent for an "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy/"

The Voltage or "Resonant Rise" rises to #Infinity as the A/C system or A/C induction motor. The rise in Voltage occurs as positive electric charge from the surroundings or from the battery is introduced into the motor/generator's "grid wall" or resistance; the electrons generally thought of as the resistance. This phenomena allows A/C induction motors to reach 500%+ of their rated power for the first .5-1 second of spinning-up.

April 21st 2020 Apple US Patent #10,630,127 decides to use Nikola Tesla's AC Induction Motor/(Heat Pump vs Sintering) because of it's unique features 1) Power increases towards Infinity in both directions, or 500% rated power for the first .5-1 second of spin-up 2) It can generate a high starting torque when the voltage/frequency is controlled 3) It's cheaper, and is also useful over rugged terrain. 4) Longer life 5) less maintenance, than, for instance, a permanent magnet drive. 6) When properly controlled, a three-phase AC induction motor can be made to be 90-98% efficient. "Perfectly Efficient" - Nikola Tesla

Instead, Apple's patent concentrates on the motor technology paired with a method for dissipating heat from the engine. "[A] cooling structure [is] disposed in a thermally conductive relationship with at least one of the upper exterior ring surface or the lower exterior ring surface for receiving heat from the end turn ring," it says.

RELUCTANCE ENGINE

Reluctance Engine in 2017 pointed out that EMF is lost, unless you can manage the Thrust on the stator. And, Nikola Tesla points this out in the actual Patent! The Voltage or #Resonant #Rise rises to #Infinity as the A/C system or A/C induction motor. The rise in Voltage occurs as positive electric charge from the surroundings or from the battery is introduced into the motor/generator's "grid wall" or resistance; the electrons generally thought of as the resistance. This phenomena allows A/C induction motors to reach 500%+ of their rated power for the first .5-1 second of spinning-up. <https://allaboutcircuits.com/textbook/alternating-current/chpt-13/tesla-polyphase-induction-motors/>

Resonant Rise was first mentioned in Colorado Springs 1899; 1980's documentary. Also see: Energy, Frequency and Vibration. The only video on YouTube covering just "Resonant Rise". October 30 2006 <https://youtube.com/watch?v=UN0YI0mxyRk&t=03m45s>

This phenomena would inject the negative resistance into the system; aka runaway electrical superconductivity or cold electricity. <https://patents.google.com/patent/US685012A/en>

This would be considered the opposite function used as a Spark Gap Sintering used to create heat and no spark by interjecting resistance. Or an Impulse DC motor connected to a Tesla Arc-Lamp used to smelt steel. <https://facebook.com/groups/750861428384951?view=permalink&id=1624726517665100>

UNIPOLAR DYNAMO

Tesla's "Dynamo Electric Machine" patent/s describes an arrangement of two parallel discs with separate, parallel shafts, joined like pulleys by a metallic belt. Each disc had a field that was the opposite of the other, so that the flow of current was from the one shaft to the disc edge, across the belt to the other disc edge and to the second shaft. This would have greatly reduced the frictional losses caused by sliding contacts by allowing both electrical pickups to interface with the shafts of the two disks rather than at the shaft and a high-speed rim. Later, patents were awarded to C. P. Steinmetz and E. Thomson for their work with homopolar generators. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Homopolar_generator

The "Missing" Tesla Twin Turbine Patent was uncovered by the Chief Justice on September

A new type of engine module is described based on the Tesla turbine. Our Tesla Twin Turbines (Compounding) Combustion Engine Module comprises of two Tesla turbines welded together, forming a combustion chamber in between. The combustion chamber includes an air-fuel mixture inlet and an ignition inlet. Fuel-air mixture is injected through the air-fuel inlet into the combustion chamber which is ignited by an ignition device. The high temperature combustion gas flow in opposite directions across 2 stacks of evenly spaced smooth parallel discs, transferring energy into rotating the discs via the mechanism of boundary layer laminar flow interaction. The pair of rotating stacks of discs rotates a pair of rods. The gas exits through exhaust holes or openings adjacent to the pair of rods. The rotating rods can be used to drive generators or do useful works.

RECIPROCATING ENGINE

History of Gas Engine: What is the evidence that Nikola Tesla properly described, or discovered the concepts necessary to maximize efficiency and in working with-nature regarding all modern Engines including the Internal Combustion Engine?

First, let's look at the pre-1895 status of the gasoline automobile. Nikola Tesla, at the 1893 World's Colombian Exposition,[1] demonstrated a device he constructed known as the "Egg of Columbus" It was used to demonstrate and explain the principles of the rotating magnetic field model and the induction motor. On August 25 1893, Elisha Gray introduced Tesla for a delivery of a lecture on mechanical and electrical oscillators. Tesla explained his work for efficiently increasing the work at high frequency of reciprocation.

http://peswiki.com/index.php/PowerPedia:Nikola_Tesla On March 21st 1901, Nikola Tesla applies for his day-night time solar patent "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy" which uses electro-static reciprocation and also demonstrates the "potential energy of a spring" by introducing in the patent a spring driven stepping motor.

<http://www.google.com/patents/US685957> Later in 1894, Tesla accurately describes the same concept of electrical reciprocation alternations and retardations causing rotation in his 1894 AC "Electrical Transmission of Power" of Jan 2, 1894.

<http://www.google.com/patents/US511915> In Tesla's early childhood he was reported to have developed a Rotary Engine that was powered by a Bug.

By 1894, prior the destruction of his lab in 1895, prior to the development of the modern reciprocating gasoline engine in 1896, Tesla patented his "Coil For Electro-Magnets", which demonstrated reciprocation using a electro-magnetic self-induction bifilar coils. Tesla patented his "Electrical Igniter for Gas Engines" in 1897 <http://www.google.com/patents/US609250>.

Tesla's Reciprocating Engine is an analogy of all reciprocation's, and leads to the definition of "Dead Center" https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dead_centre and "Moment" https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Moment_%28physics%29 in physics and in piston gas engines and an analogy of all balancing of gasses, fluids or plasma, fluid dynamics pressure in the container of a piston with the exhaust system. The modern "Turboexpander"s are defined as 100% efficient + Heat (isentropic, constant) makes the system potentially over-unity. The modern "Compandor" Patent, non-linear radio-frequency compression and reciprocation used to minimize Feedback and prevent Overload (RCA 1940 Oscillatory Circuits, Raytheon) is analogous to reciprocation with retardation. This nonlinear redistribution is called "companding" which is a verbal contraction of the terms "compression" and "expansion."

Telegeodynamics

Tesla's art of TELEGEODYNAMICS is only an analogy of the internal workings of the INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINE. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Telegeodynamics>

Also, Nikola Tesla's patent of 1893, for a electric "Compounding Steam Engine" <http://www.teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/patents/us-patent-517900-steam-engine>, also to be used with his "Reciprocating Engine" of 1893, describes the concept of reciprocation, but uses the rigidity of a spring to provide the speed and uniformity of oscillation. Tesla's steam engine patent also provides for rotary action. "The reciprocating movement of the piston may be converted, by the ordinary mechanisms into rotary motion or it may be utilized and applied in any other manner desired, either directly or indirectly.". Tesla's patent precedes the use of the Vaucrain compounding steam engine in about the year 1900, but not the patent of 1889

More information exists about "How Edison & Ford killed the electric car") More recently in 2013, the patent office approves a "Reciprocating internal combustion engine". By reading the text one can discern that patent holder describes exactly what Tesla describes in his 1893 patent for a "Reciprocating Engine" <http://www.google.com/patents/US20130255641>

"The RICE is a subset of IC engines, the operation of which, conceptually, can be greatly simplified. The surrounding cylinder wall of the RICE (with closed intake and exhaust valves), together with its reciprocating piston, form a thermodynamic system that transforms: i. mechanical work W done by a moving piston into internal energy E of the working fluid during a compression process, ii. heat energy Q converted from fuel chemical energy into increased working fluid internal energy E and total volume V during a combustion process, and iii. a portion of the working fluid internal energy E into mechanical work W during an expansion process. The remaining portion of the working fluid internal energy E is rejected out of the cylinder at the end of the expansion process. The transformation of energy in each of the three thermodynamic processes is governed by the First Law of Thermodynamics, i.e., that energy is neither created nor destroyed."

RAMJET ENGINE

On Nikola Tesla's Disc Turbine: Smithsonian magazine's story correctly describes Nikola Tesla as the originator of the technology for RamJet Engines. <http://www.smithsonianmag.com/travel/nikola-tesla-museum-belgrade-inventor-electricity-smithsonian-journeys-travel-quarterly-180958881/> Nikola Tesla's patents for his Disc Turbine in 1909 <http://www.google.com/patents/US1061206>, Tesla Turbine Pump, Valvular Conduit <http://www.google.com/patents/US1329559>, Fluid Dynamics <http://www.google.com/patents/US1329559> and his properly described concepts of the adhesion, viscosity, skin-effect, boundary layers and the co-efficient of friction, pre-date all other patents at the patent office for many modern RamJets, Turbochargers, Steam-Engines, Pumps & Generators and much much more.

One of the most recent patents references to Tesla's Turbine and Fluid Dynamics patents are:

Jul 7, 2011 "Centrifugal reverse flow disk turbine and method to obtain rotational power thereby" <http://www.google.com/patents/US20110164958> used for turbo generators, air flow to work, stationary and subsonic Ramjet engines, gas flow and heat exchangers, radial turbines, air compressors, micro steam-turbines and even a "Solar-powered totally-enclosed internal circulation refrigerator".

One of the most recent patent on Apr 14, 2011 for a "Subsonic and Stationary Ramjet Engines " <http://www.google.com/patents/US20110083420> refers to the above "Centrifugal reverse flow disc turbine". The "Subsonic and Stationary Ramjet Engines" patent applies to referring patents for "Ramjet engine for power generation, Rotary ramjet engine, Centrifugal-pumps, Supersonic compressors, Jet pipe for jet-propelled aircraft, Torque-jet engine, Low velocity gas turbine with exhaust gas recycling, Turbine engine, Refrigeration process using two-phase turbine, Gas compressor for jet engine, Internal combustion engine, Convection fan assembly for a cooking appliance, Rotary heat engine, Two-stage hypersonic vehicle featuring advanced swirl combustion.

Another important patent reference to the Tesla Turbine and Tesla Reciprocation Engine / Westinghouse is a November 25th 2015 patent approval for a "Disc turbine using heat pipes". This new patent has over 100+ patent citations and references from a Missile propulsion system, aerospace inventions, turbine pumps and generators, a bladeless turbocharger, micromachines, fluid movers, wind turbine generators, desalination, energy conversions, rotary engines, and many other hybrids. (All of these inventions and much more all refer back to Nikola Tesla's Turbine and Fluid Dynamics patents.)

By 1922 Nikola Tesla had sold one version of his Tesla Turbine to Germany, prior to WW2, used in their U-boats. Prior to war breaking out, Tesla had to concede the royalties for his turbine because of the U.S. trading with the enemy act. The Tesla Turbine II is also referred to in the Tesla FBI File as a type of turbine that was not currently in use by other countries and also John G Trump wrote about the turbine in the file. Also See: Scientific American September 30th, 1911 "The Tesla Steam Turbine". By 1909 Tesla had patented and built his Tesla Disc Turbine, two run against each other reached a recorded 97% efficiency https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tesla_turbine

Also used in Jet Engines is Nikola Tesla's patents for his Disc Turbine in 1909 <http://www.google.com/patents/US1061206>, Tesla Turbine Pump, Valvular Conduit <http://www.google.com/patents/US1329559>, Fluid Dynamics <http://www.google.com/patents/US1329559> and his properly described concepts of the adhesion, viscosity, skin-effect, boundary layers and the co-efficient of friction, pre-date all other patents at the patent office for many modern RamJets, Turbochargers, Steam-Engines, Pumps & Generators and much much more.

DIESEL-GATE? To understand the situation, you must understand the history of the Internal Combustion Engine, Electric Motors, Steam Engines and later Turbines. NIKOLA TESLA was the first to properly and fully describe and patent the concept of "RELUCTANCE MOTORS", "RECIPROCATING ENGINES", as applied to ALL INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINES & later ALL TURBINES (and all other analogies). It was concluded by Ford Motor Company, when developing the 1986 Formula 1 Reciprocating Engine, that SOFTWARE would be the only way to regulate all engines at high frequency, so that the engines would not blow up, vibrate to pieces or melt instantaneously. The Diesel engine begins in August 1892, where Rudolph Diesel claims the invention of the first diesel fuel based internal combustion engine using by filing a patent for a pressure based igniter for the ignition of gasses to turn gas into work. By July 1895, three months after Tesla's 6 story lab burned down, the Diesel patent was approved. However, it still provided NO MODEL. Further, the first replication of the Diesel engine wasn't made until 1897-1898 and wasn't displayed to the public by 1900. In 1900, 2/3 of all cars were steam or electric powered. More recently, the modern problems with gasoline engines appeared in the Ford Formula 1 Turbo Engine of 1986. After watching the documentary you can conclude that the technologies described to tune the engine use the concepts and patents of Nikola Tesla's in regard to his 1888 patent for the first A/C induction motor with electro-magnetic (EMF) recycling of 1887-8, his reluctance engine, homopolar, dynamo electric generator of 1889, his reciprocating engine of 1893, his electrical igniter for gas engines of 1897. It is revealed in the Ford produced F1 documentary below (though not noted at Wikipedia for the F1), that it's Turbo compound-engine is using the concept of running two turbines, as in the Tesla Turbine of 1909-1911, running them against each-other, using the concept of compounding gasses. Tesla was able to achieve 10 horsepower per pound with an alleged efficiency of 97% with his compounding Turbines - In the below Ford documentary on the development of the F1 includes the previously Tesla described phenomena of compounding two engine's against each other, reciprocation, emf recycling, pulse width modulation, spark-plug wires acting as radio frequency emitters, reluctance, vibration, quiver and rouge signals, synchronicity, ground effect using fluid dynamics and the need for SOFTWARE!

Volkswagen tricked us. Now they should treat us. The VW emissions scandal revealed just how dirty our cars really are. They poison our air and warm our climate. But this nasty trick could be a turning point, a chance for companies to move away from a reliance on fossil fuels and invest in greener alternatives. The technology for electric and hybrid cars is developing so fast that zero fumes on the road and greener cars could soon be the norm. But they need to be made more accessible. If a company like Volkswagen commits to making electric cars more accessible it could be the spark that sets off a wholesale revolution of the car industry. But we also need the government to improve car testing systems so that dangerous, polluting cars are kept off the road.

March 5, 1904 The Electrical World and Engineer "The Transmission of Electric Energy Without Wires" by Nikola Tesla <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/publications/scientific-american-supplement> -- Toward the close of 1898, systematic research led me to recognize 3 important necessities; First, to develop a transmitter of great power; second, to perfect means for individualizing and isolating the energy transmitted; and, third, to ascertain the laws of propagation of currents ((through the earth and the atmosphere) ... I raised steam, to a dangerous pressure, in barrels filled with Concentrated Salt solution (Lithium).

Lithium-Ion Salt Electrolyte Batteries: "The electrolyte is typically a mixture of organic carbonates such as ethylene carbonate or diethyl carbonate containing complexes of lithium ions.[62] These non-aqueous electrolytes generally use non-coordinating anion salts such as lithium hexafluorophosphate (LiPF₆), lithium hexafluoroarsenate monohydrate (LiAsF₆), lithium perchlorate (LiClO₄), lithium tetrafluoroborate (LiBF₄) and lithium triflate (LiCF₃SO₃)."

In 1932, Lithium 7, using only 700,000 Volts, was transmuted to Helium and was afterwards called splitting atoms. Nuclear transmutation is the conversion of one chemical element or an isotope into another chemical element. ... Lithium metal has the highest specific heat capacity. Lithium 7 is manufactured in Nuclear Breeder Reactors. Uranium specific heat capacity, the ability to is even higher. Both also have the most affinity for negative electrons. In Nuclear power plants, the Depleted Uranium has a weak outer shell of electrons. Beaming the Uranium with a Particle Accelerator or other High Luminosity incandescent or phosphorescent light can cause the electrons, or resistance to drop, making it more superconductive to positive charges.

<https://patents.google.com/patent/US2867757A/en>It has heretofore been proposed to use a pair of relatively adjustable condenser plates as a motion detector. In some instances, some type of oil has been placed between the condenser plates in order to enhance the output electrical change for a certain input motion. When oil has been used, the condenser plates are generally placed in a sealed container so that oil will not escape from the unit. When a motion is to be fed into such a device, the motion must be transmitted through a mechanical seal which seal will introduce frictional and loading losses on the device producing the input motion. In controls where high accuracy is important, such frictional losses and loading cannot be tolerated. If the mechanical seal is eliminated in the conventional manner, the oil in the enclosure will be free to escape by migration, capillary action, and spilling which will result in the destruction of the electrical characteristics of the detector as well as produce an undesirable oily condition in the vicinity of the detector.

Nikola Tesla patents for metallic MAGNETO-HYDRODYNAMIC condensers:
<http://nikolateslasolar.blogspot.com/2014/11/nikola-tesla-apparatus-for-utilization.html>

The phenomena he is using is called "Magneto-hydrodynamics", plasmas, liquid metals, salt water, and electrolytes, an electrostatic feature of di-electric induction, occurring between the elevated condenser and the motor. The fundamental concept behind MHD is that magnetic fields can induce currents in a moving conductive fluid, which in turn polarizes the fluid and reciprocally changes the magnetic field itself. – the study of the behaviour of conducting fluids, such as liquid metals or plasmas, in magnetic fields – the generation of electricity by subjecting a plasma to a magnetic field and collecting the deflected free electrons The connection between magnetic field lines and fluid in ideal MHD fixes the topology of the magnetic field in the fluid?for example, if a set of magnetic field lines are tied into a knot, then they will remain so as long as the fluid/plasma has negligible resistivity. This difficulty in reconnecting magnetic field lines makes it possible to store energy by moving the fluid or the source of the magnetic field. The energy can then become available if the conditions for ideal

MHD break down, allowing magnetic reconnection that releases the stored energy from the magnetic field. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Magnetohydrodynamics>

In 1891, Nikola Tesla describes the phenomena necessary in Electrical Condensers he says are "in well-understood ways". "The current of high frequency, therefore, that is necessary to the successful working of my invention I produce by the disruptive discharge of the accumulated energy of a condenser maintained by charging said condenser from a suitable source and discharging it into or through a circuit under proper relations of self-induction, capacity, resistance, and period in well-understood ways." ... "Then by the current development in this secondary I charge a condenser C, and this condenser I discharge through or into a circuit A, having an air-gap a, or, in general, means for maintaining a disruptive discharge." "For this last-named purpose the body is in electrical contact with a metallic sheet in the interior of the neck of the globe, and on the outside of said neck is a second sheet which is to be connected with the source of current. These two sheets form the armatures of a condenser, and by them the currents or potentials are developed in the light-giving body." <http://www.tfcbooks.com/patents/0454622.htm>

The phenomena when magnets cease to be magnetic is called the "Curie Temperature; In this context, the order parameter is the electric polarization that goes from a finite value to zero when the temperature is increased above the Curie temperature. Nikola Tesla given credit for $T=W/M^2$ because his machines allow for the manufacture of Magnets? Maxwell Supercapacitors for Regenerative Breaking & Turboials such as alnico and ferrite that are subjected to special processing in a strong magnetic field during manufacture to align their internal microcrystalline structure, making them very hard to demagnetize. To demagnetize a saturated magnet, a certain magnetic field must be applied, and this threshold depends on coercivity of the respective material. "Hard" materials have high coercivity, whereas "soft" materials have low coercivity. The overall strength of a magnet is measured by its magnetic moment or, alternatively, the total magnetic flux it produces. The local strength of magnetism in a material is measured by its magnetization. Net magnetization results from the response of a material to an external magnetic field, together with any unbalanced magnetic moment that may be present even in the absence of the external magnetic field; for example, in sufficiently cold iron. We call the latter spontaneous magnetization. Other materials that share this property with iron, like Nickel and magnetite, are called ferromagnets. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Curie_temperature

February 11 2020 New method offers more stable, efficient electrocatalytic reactions. The technique, which fluidizes catalyst particles in electrolyte instead of gluing them to electrodes, avoids a rapid decline in reaction performance? a phenomenon researchers call fatigue. The approach could improve production processes for electrolysis and electrochemical energy conversion and storage. Huang tested his ideas using a well-known, commercially available catalyst called Pt/C, which is made of carbon black powders decorated by platinum nanoparticles to catalyze oxygen evolution, hydrogen evolution, and methanol oxidation reactions. These three electrochemical reactions, when catalyzed by Pt/C, normally suffer from severe performance decay, but all showed higher efficiency and stability when the particles were fluidized. <http://dx.doi.org/10.31635/ccschem.019.201900065>

The list of materials with specific Curie temperature's is listed here:

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ferromagnetism> In this experiment the electric field was used to modify the coercive field at which magnetization reversal occurs. As a result of the dependence of the magnetic hysteresis on the gate bias the electric field could be used to assist magnetization reversal or even demagnetize the ferromagnetic material. The combining of magnetic and electronic functionality demonstrated by this experiment is one of the goals of spintronics and may be expected to have a great technological impact. This is again of potential technological interest as it shows the possibility that the spin states in non-magnetic semiconductors can be manipulated without the application of a magnetic field. Many properties of domain walls are still not fully understood and one particularly outstanding issue is of the magnitude and size of the resistance associated with current passing through domain walls. Both positive[31] and negative[32] values of domain wall resistance have been reported, leaving this an open area for future research.

Spintronics (a portmanteau meaning spin transport electronics[1][2][3]), also known as spin electronics, is the study of the intrinsic spin of the electron and its associated magnetic moment, in addition to its fundamental electronic charge, in solid-state devices.[4] The field of spintronics concerns spin-charge coupling in metallic systems; the analogous effects in insulators fall into the field of multiferroics. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Spintronics>

Free electrons repel each-other. Artificial repulsion. Nikola Tesla also referred to his “Death Ray” working off the phenomena of repulsion. Protons push the electrons or the resistance off of the orbit of the matter, creating an “electron hole” creating the “lowest energy state” but superconductive to positrons. In Nikola Tesla’s AURE, his X-ray, UV generator creates the high tension radiant beam provides the positrons + charge to quickly accumulate on the elevated conductor at a specific flash rate of charge. He demonstrates this effect in the AURE patent with a high tension, high frequency generator, powering his positron monopolar, half sphere X-ray tubes. This creates a self-regulating system between the elevated condenser, ground, motor and elevated X-ray light.

February 12 2020 #tellurium – For Leslie Schoop’s lab, one recent such investigation has uncovered a layered compound with a trio of properties not previously known to exist in one material. An international interdisciplinary team published a paper last week in Science Advances reporting that the van der Waals material gadolinium tritelluride (GdTe₃) displays the highest electronic mobility among all known layered magnetic materials. In addition, it has magnetic order, and can easily be exfoliated. The lab has already shipped a number of samples to researchers eager to explore how the compound fits into a category previously occupied only by black phosphorous and graphite. High mobility is rare in layered materials. <https://advances.sciencemag.org/content/6/6/eaay6407>

Prior to World War II and the attack on Pearl Harbor, in 1935 Nikola Tesla sent an elaborate technical paper, including diagrams, to a number of allied nations including the US, Canada, England, France, Soviet Union & Yugoslavia, titled "New Art of Projecting Concentrated Non-Dispersive Energy Through Natural Media." The paper provided the first technical description of what is today called a charged particle beam weapon. Tesla was directly communicating with the U.S. government and Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain in an effort to promote his particle beam for defense against enemy aerial attacks.

"[In] eight years I developed a new title using 50 of my patents of which one third are not applied. In the system there are no electrons. Energy goes into the same direction without any distribution [dissipation] and the same on all sides of distance. It contains neutrons. [In] the air [its size] is equal to a diameter of hydrogen. It can destroy the largest ships afloat. There is unlimited distance of travel. The same is for airplanes... The contents of one bomb can be exploded in the air. I add that in the station one must have a small generator or battery of 30 volts for activation..."

"Same construction like at Wardencllyffe and only 20 meters high - a ball five meters in diameter - the station would be using diesel oil for energy with mechanical action - my air turbines, steam powered, electrically or other manners of transforming into alternating electrical current with sixty billion volts pressure without danger... There will not be any light, electrical energy will deliver particles through space with the speed of 118,837,370,000 centimeters per second. This is 394,579 the speed of light. As I said about airplanes it can be used for tanks, trucks, automobiles and various machines in factories, with hydro-electrical wheels and unlimited other machines. The particles can be larger than that of the diameter of an Hydrogen atom with metals of all kinds of materials and sent to all distances and good results in war and bring about peace. Particles are practical with neutrons, because, they are 3,723 times lighter than electricity or electrons that cannot penetrate space for great distances. In my attempts with an effective 20 million volts, electrons carried 40 times more electricity than normally and penetrated two meters in depth and terrible damage in a moment each.” –Nikola Tesla (Western Union Telegram from Nikola Tesla to his nephew Sava Kosanovic. New York, N.Y. March 1 and March 4, 1941.) Even earlier, Tesla warned that a few squadrons of drone aircraft with remote control or autonomous torpedo's could destroy an entire naval fleet. He was proven right in 1941.

PROJECTED KINETICS

This Patent for an "Energy Conversion System" was approved 4 months before September 11th 2001. It describes the method to turn something "Mass Free" into "Kinetic Energy".
<https://patents.google.com/patent/US20060082334A1/en>

... It refers to Nikola Tesla's 1897 Patent for a "System of Transmission of Electrical Energy". Energy conversion systems invention relates to apparatus for the conversion of massfree energy into electrical or kinetic energy, which uses in its preferred form a transmitter and a receiver both incorporating Tesla coils, the distal ends of whose secondary windings are co-resonant and connected to plates of a chamber, preferably evacuated or filled with water, such that energy radiated by the transmitter may be picked up by the receiver, the receiver preferably further including a pulsed plasma reactor driven by the receiver coil and a split phase motor driven by the reactor. Preferably the reactor operates in pulsed abnormal gas discharge mode, and the motor is an inertially damped drag motor. The invention also extends to apparatus in which an otherwise driven plasma reactor operating in pulsed abnormal gas discharge mode in turn used to drive an inertially damped drag motor. TELEFORCE Principles and concepts of Tesla's "death ray", "peace ray" called "Teleforce". In Tesla's mind, it was time to reveal his greatest invention: a perfect and impossible idea, a weapon to prevent WWII. New York Herald Tribune - July 11, 1934: "First and most important is a mechanism for producing rays and other energy manifestations in free air. Hitherto vacuum tubes have always been necessary. Second is an apparatus for producing unheard-of quantities of electrical current and for controlling it when produced. The current is necessary as power for the first mechanism. Without this, no rays of sufficient strength could be produced. The third is a method of intensifying and amplifying the second process, and the fourth is a method of producing "tremendous electrical repellent force".

<http://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/death-ray/>

On July 23, 1934 Time Magazine wrote an article about Tesla's Ray: "Last week Dr. Tesla announced a combination of four inventions which would make war unthinkable. Nucleus of the idea is a death ray – a concentrated beam of sub-microscopic particles flying at velocities approaching that of light. The beam, according to Tesla, would drop an army in its tracks, bring down squadrons of airplanes 250 miles away. Inventor Tesla would discharge the ray by means of 1) a device to nullify the impeding effect of the atmosphere on the particles, 2) a method for setting up high potential, 3) a process for amplifying that potential to 50.000.000 volts, 4) creation of "a tremendous electrical repelling force." -- According to Wikipedia, the NY Times, and in the Tesla FBI File, by 1935, Teleforce was demonstrated for the U.S. Government <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Teleforce>

NUCLEAR POWER & ATOMIC ENERGY

Tesla writes about the usefulness of Atomic Power and paraphrasing "The world was expecting great things from Atomic Energy, but you will not get any more energy from the radioactive matter, that is contained within the matter itself. Further, he states that the energy available to the radioactive matter is not contained within-the-matter, but the energy is "received from it's environment". https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nikola_Tesla

Tesla exhibited a pre-atomic understanding of physics in his writings;[182] he disagreed with the theory of atoms being composed of smaller subatomic particles, stating there was no such thing as an electron creating an electric charge (he believed that if electrons existed at all, they were some fourth state of matter or "sub-atom" that could only exist in an experimental vacuum and that they had nothing to do with electricity).[16]:249[183] Tesla believed that atoms are immutable (this is incorrect), (Tesla performed transmutation to create Ozone, O3 from, O2, with his Ozone Generator of 1896. The same can be done with Hydrogen, H2, Heavy Water or Tritium) —they could not change state or be split in any way. He was a believer in the 19th century concept of an all pervasive "ether" that transmitted electrical energy.[184]

Tesla was generally antagonistic towards theories about the conversion of matter into energy. [16]:247 He was also critical of Einstein's theory of relativity, saying:

I hold that space cannot be curved, for the simple reason that it can have no properties. It might as well be said that God has properties. He has not, but only attributes and these are of our own making. Of properties we can only speak when dealing with matter filling the space. To say that in the presence of large bodies space becomes curved is equivalent to stating that something can act upon nothing. I, for one, refuse to subscribe to such a view.[185]

Tesla claimed to have developed his own physical principle regarding matter and energy that he started working on in 1892,[16] and in 1937, at age 81, claimed in a letter to have completed a "dynamic theory of gravity" that "[would] put an end to idle speculations and false conceptions, as that of curved space." He stated that the theory was "worked out in all details" and that he hoped to soon give it to the world.[186] Further elucidation of his theory was never found in his writings.[10]:309

The "Splitting Atoms" hoax busted by Tesla Leaks, Nikola Tesla & by Definition: Nuclear "Transmutation" of Elements is not splitting atoms. In 1932, Lithium 7, using only 700,000 Volts, was transmuted to Helium and was afterwards called splitting atoms. "No atoms were ever split" - Nikola Tesla -- Smashing Atoms? Tesla also differed with Einstein and the quantum physicists in his view of the structure of the elementary particles and the possible consequences caused by the smashing of atoms. "I have disintegrated atoms in my experiments with a high potential vacuum tube... operat[ing] it with pressures ranging from 4,000,000 to 18,000,000 million volts.... But as to atomic energy, my experimental observations have shown that the process of disintegration is not accompanied by a liberation of such energy as might be expected from present theories."14

PROJECT INDEPENDENCE: Just as Richard Nixon announced publically, Project Independence on November 7th 1973, the Oil companies launch his Impeachment on October 30th 1973. Nixon declared that American science, technology and industry could free America from its dependence on imported oil, and establish its energy independence. He called for the construction of 1,000 nuclear power plants by the year 2000. Despite these initiatives, Project Independence failed to prevent the increase in American oil consumption after the 1973-74 embargo; its dependence on foreign suppliers rose from 36% to almost 50% in 1979,[5] https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Project_Independence

Moscow Eye, also known as the "Russian Woodpecker," an enormous metal structure silhouetted against the sky like a vertical Stonehenge. Using over-the-horizon radar, the Moscow Eye was the receiver for a powerful radio broadcast sent from elsewhere in Ukraine. Some said that the signal's short, repetitive tapping noise sounded like a bird — thus the woodpecker moniker. Others say it sounded more like a machine gun. From 1976, until it went off the air in 1989, the unexplained radio signal interfered with many broadcasts. Listeners speculated that it was a method of Soviet mind control. Only in the past three years have tourists discovered its sublime metal architecture rising from the forest floor near Chernobyl, an anachronistic remnant from a not-so-distant era.

Duga Radar was a Soviet over-the-horizon (OTH) radar system used as part of the Soviet anti-ballistic missile early-warning network. The system operated from July 1976 to December 1989. Two operational Duga radars were deployed, one near and powered by Chernobyl and Chernihiv in the Ukrainian SSR (present-day Ukraine), the other in eastern Siberia.

Tesla to produce radium in unlimited quantity for $1 a pound were announced by Dr. Nikola Tesla yesterday at a luncheon on his eighty-first birthday at which he was honored with high orders from the Yugoslav and Czechoslovak Governments. Dr. Tesla, whose discoveries in electrical science have won for him recognition as the father of modern methods of generating and distributing electrical energy, asserted his "absolute" belief that he would win the Pierre Guzman prize of the Institute of France for his discovery relating to the interstellar transmission of energy. Following his annual custom, Dr. Tesla played host to a group of newspaper men at his birthday luncheon at the Hotel New Yorker and issued the announcement of his discoveries of the last year. No apparatus or sketches were shown, but Dr. Tesla said in announcing perfection of the principle of a new tube, which he said would make it possible to smash the atom and produce cheap radium, that he would be able to give a demonstration in 'only a little time. http://tfcbooks.com/teslaFAQ/q&a_011.htm

Tesla vs. Einstein: Ether & Birth of the New Physics

I have yet to find a direct quote by Tesla of Mach's Principle, but in an article Tesla wrote in 1915, clearly based upon his writings of 1893, he states exactly this position.

There is no thing endowed with life – from man, who is enslaving the elements, to the nimblest creature – in all this world that does not sway in turn. Whenever action is born from force, though it be infinitesimal, the cosmic balance is upset and universal motion results.¹⁰ It seems to me that the interconnectedness between all of the stars in the universe (related to Einstein's curved space/time) is the ether.¹¹ Similarly, Tesla's view of the ether aligned itself with that of the Theosophists:

Long ago [I] recognised that all perceptible matter comes from a primary substance, of a tenuity beyond conception and filling all space – the Akasa or luminiferous ether – which is acted upon by the life-giving Prana or creative force, calling into existence, in never ending cycles, all things and phenomena.

The primary substance, thrown into infinitesimal whirls of prodigious velocity, becomes gross matter; the force subsiding, the motion ceases and matter disappears, reverting to the primary substance.¹²

Smashing Atoms? Tesla also differed with Einstein and the quantum physicists in his view of the structure of the elementary particles and the possible consequences caused by the smashing of atoms. "I have disintegrated atoms in my experiments with a high potential vacuum tube... operat[ing] it with pressures ranging from 4,000,000 to 18,000,000 million volts... But as to atomic energy, my experimental observations have shown that the process of disintegration is not accompanied by a liberation of such energy as might be expected from present theories."¹⁴

To Tesla, the Theory of Relativity was just "a mass of error and deceptive ideas violently opposed to the teachings of great men of science of the past and even to common sense. The theory wraps all these errors and fallacies and clothes them in magnificent mathematical garb which fascinates, dazzles and makes people blind to the underlying error. The theory is like a beggar clothed in purple whom ignorant people take for a king. Its exponents are very brilliant men, but they are metaphysicists rather than scientists." Writing a decade before the explosion of the atom bomb, and ignoring the space curvature data from the 1919 eclipse which supported Einstein's idea that space was curved around large bodies such as stars, Tesla suggested that the existence of a force field would account for the same mathematical results. Thus, Tesla brazenly concluded, "Not a single one of the relativity propositions has been proved."¹⁵

What did Nikola Tesla conclude about "atomic" energy"? A New Source of Energy and Photographing Thoughts by Nikola Tesla, The Charleston Daily Mail, Charleston, West Virginia, Page 40. September 10, 1933. Tesla was asked "WILL the smashing of the atom lead to this new power energy? Let Mr. Tesla answer: "The public is naturally led to expect a great revolution through the harnessing of atomic power, but that is an illusion. Atomic energy is not available for work. I operated many years ago apparatus of a capacity of 2000 horsepower and tension of 18,000,000 volts with which trillions of atoms were smashed in a fraction of a second. I generated all sorts of intense and destructive rays, but found no trace of any energy which should have been liberated through the shattering of atomic structures, according to theory. For the last thirty years I have warned my fellow scientists that there is nothing to be expected in this field except some specific effects due to changes in the atomic structure which may have more or less value."

The Generation V Thorium Salt Nuclear Reactors and the dream of clean nuclear power in 1973 was considered "too cheap to meter". Nikola Tesla's "Oscillating Neutrino's" in Transmutation. But if thorium is bombarded with neutrons from a small amount of fissile nuclear fuel acting as a starter, either uranium-235 or plutonium-239, it is converted to uranium-233 - a form of uranium that is a first-rate nuclear fuel. Once started in a reactor, the process is self-sustaining, with subsequent fissions of uranium-233 in turn converting more thorium to nuclear fuel. In the kind of molten-salt cooled reactor favored by many thorium proponents, the uranium-233 fuel would be dissolved in a coolant of liquid fluoride salts contain.

How do these concepts apply to the alleged Nikola Tesla's Cosmic Ray Motor of 1931-34 using a clay matrix of low level atomic material? In 1903 nuclear propulsion was hypothesized (by the likes of Nikola Tesla) that radioactive material, radium, might be a suitable fuel for engines to propel cars, boats, and planes. H G Wells picked up this idea in his 1914 fiction work The World Set Free. In 1975, nuclear power was considered "too cheap to meter". The Origin of Nuclear Power's "Too Cheap To Meter" Phrase: U.S. AEC civilian nuclear program included the new 1954 "Atomic Energy Act", President Eisenhower's "Atoms for Peace" and medical uses of reactor-produced isotopes. Coincidentally, In 1954, John G Trump and government officials visit Tesla's storage unit in New York and go through his 40 trunks, safe, a multi-resistant box and paperwork. Atomic Energy Chairman stated "he expected his children and grandchildren would have power "too cheap to be metered", "as low as the price for Hydro-Electric Power". Although this never technically happened, most Nuclear Power Plants are paid-off and generate power at less than 1 cent per KW/hr. The wholesale and retail prices of this energy are higher for a variety of reasons such as insurance, regulation and distribution. But in California, the cheapest energy comes from

February 11 2020 New method offers more stable, efficient electrocatalytic reactions. The technique, which fluidizes catalyst particles in electrolyte instead of gluing them to electrodes, avoids a rapid decline in reaction performance—a phenomenon researchers call fatigue. The approach could improve production processes for electrolysis and electrochemical energy conversion and storage. Huang tested his ideas using a well-known, commercially available catalyst called Pt/C, which is made of carbon black powders decorated by platinum nanoparticles to catalyze oxygen evolution, hydrogen evolution, and methanol oxidation reactions. These three electrochemical reactions, when catalyzed by Pt/C, normally suffer from severe performance decay, but all showed higher efficiency and stability when the particles were fluidized. <http://dx.doi.org/10.31635/ccschem.019.201900065>

February 10 2020 #Power to Gas without Hydrogen: Chemists develop safer hydrogenation processes. Safe and environmentally-friendly hydrogen gas on demand could be on the horizon following a new "hydrogenation" chemical process in development at The City College of New York. Led by Mahesh K. Lakshman, the research uniquely bypasses the need for an external source of hydrogen gas to accomplish a wide range of hydrogenations. Lakshman explained hydrogenation as the addition of hydrogen atoms. For instance, a very common application is for the production of fats from vegetable oils. In industry, production of paraffin is an example. "What we have found is that we can mix two stable materials together in the presence of palladium on charcoal and this produces a mixture capable of "hydrogenation," without requiring an external source of compressed hydrogen gas," It would allow labs to dispense with compressed hydrogen gas cylinders.

February 10 2020 #desalination - Harnessing the sun to bring fresh water to remote or disaster-struck communities. A device that takes a novel approach to removing salt from water has been developed in Bath, paving the way for small, solar-powered desalination units. Developed by the university's Water Innovation and Research Centre in partnership with Indonesia's Bogor Agricultural University and the University of Johannesburg, the prototype desalination unit is a 3-D-printed system with two internal chambers designed to extract and/or accumulate salt. When power is applied, salt cations (positively charged ions) and salt anions (negatively charged ions) flow between chambers through arrays of micro-holes in a thin synthetic membrane. The flow can only happen in one direction thanks to a mechanism that has parallels in mobile-phone technology. As a result of this one-way flow, salt is pumped out of seawater. This contrasts with the classical desalination process, where water rather than salt is pumped through a membrane. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.desal.2020.114351>

The True Wireless Electrical Experimenter, May 1919 - In this remarkable and complete story of his discovery of the "True Wireless" and the principles upon which transmission and reception, even in the present day systems, are based, Dr. Nikola Tesla shows us that he is indeed the "Father of the Wireless." To him the Hertz wave theory is a delusion; it looks sound from certain angles, but the facts tend to prove that it is hollow and empty. He convinces us that the real Hertz waves are blotted out after they have traveled but a short distance from the sender. It follows, therefore, that the measured antenna current is no indication of the effect, because only a small part of it is effective at a distance. The limited activity of pure Hertz wave transmission and reception is here clearly explained, besides showing definitely that in spite of themselves, the radio engineers of today are employing the original Tesla tuned oscillatory system. He shows by examples with different forms of aerials that the signals picked up by the instruments must actually be induced by earth currents—not etheric space waves. Tesla also disproves the "Heaviside layer" theory from his personal observations and tests. EDITOR. "For more than eighteen years I have been reading treatises, reports of scientific transactions, and articles on Hertz-wave telegraphy, to keep myself informed, but they have always impress me like WORKS OF FICTION." IEEE has Nikola Tesla's Wardencllyffe Tower in Long Island as the original "Radio City" in 1901. After Tesla dies in 1943, the U.N. (founders of the New World Order) for several years had their offices at Sperry-Rand Corp in 1945-6 with Ford Corp at Lake Success LI & their conspirators at RCA/GE Radio Central at Rocky Point, Shoreham, LI within eyesight of Wardencllyffe. Tesla states in his 1919 Autobiography that Wardencllyffe at Shoreham LI was demolished on July 4th 1917, along with the Tesla/Marconi Station "Telefunken" in Sayville, LI in 1917 and ... In Margaret Cheney's book "Man out of Time", the not well known Tesla "Tuckerton" Radio Station was ceased by the U.S. government in 1917, all later to be replaced with RCA/GE by 1921. But Tesla states in 1919, "they are building more of them", referring to Tesla Towers!. After Tesla's autobiography, GE merged with Marconi in 1920, RCA was formed. By November 5th 1921, the first radio broadcast was sent from the President of the United States from the White House, using the new RCA system at Rocky Point, near Sayville. By 1943, after Tesla dies, in 1945-46, the Sperry Gyroscopic Company takes over office space with the Ford Company at Lake Success, LI and RCA at Rocky Point, LI. According to the Tesla FBI File, Henry Ford is alleged to be involved with Tesla's missing inventions, which were to be turned into "idea factories". In 1946, the United Nations had their headquarters at the Sperry Company. By 1973, Sperry merges with Remington Rand to create the Sperry-Rand Corporation. --

Nikola Tesla (900 patents and inventions) & close confidant John Hays Hammond's (800 patents), is a close friend and graduated at West Point with General Robert E Lee Jr &

Franklin Pierce (of Pierce-Arrow); in the book "The Life and Times of Nikola Tesla" ... Mr Tesla in 1892 showed that true Hertzian effect was not a means to communicate with a receiving station at any great distance. He demonstrated that waves propagated at a transmitting station traveled along the ground as a conductor. Today in 1912 it is acknowledged that these views are correct... Having studied Tesla's method of selective tuning, Jack came to call it the "1903 prophetic genius patent" Tesla's system resembled a combination lock; devices could be made to respond not only to one frequency but two, three or more. The combined arrangement, analogous today's TV and telephone scramblers, would not only ensure privacy, it would also allow for a system with a virtually unlimited number of separate channels.

Radio waves by definition are non-ionising. Long distance AM/FM is electrostatic induction, not electromagnetic nor "radiation". Nikola Tesla. -- The radio wave band - used for mobile phone networks - is non-ionising, "which means it lacks sufficient energy to break apart DNA and cause cellular damage,". As reported by Tesla Leaks many years previously, only 2.89 THZ waves at high electrical pressure can break DNA. More like the THZ scanners at airports. The sun's ultra-violet A&B rays fall within this harmful category, and can lead to skin cancers. UV-C is safe for the skin and retina. "It's crucial to note that radio waves are far less energetic than even the visible light we experience every day," says Dr Grimes. "There is no reputable evidence," he says "that mobile phones or wireless networks have caused us health problems." because there are more transmitters, 5G can run at (lower power) levels than previous 4G. The UK government guidelines on mobile phone base stations says radio frequency fields at places normally accessible to the public are (many times below guideline levels). 5G Microwave (Beamforming) "heating effects are not harmful, says Prof Rodney Croft, an adviser to the International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection (ICNIRP)." "The maximum radio frequency level that someone in the community could be exposed to from 5G (or any other signals in general community areas) is so small that (no temperature rise has been observed to date.)" -- For this study, rats' whole bodies were exposed to radiation from mobile phones for 9 hours a day 365 days for two years, starting before they were born. *No cancer link was found for the female rats or the mice studied . It was also found that rats exposed to the radiation ((lived longer)) than those in the control group. <https://bbc.com/news/world-europe-48616174>

NATO BOMBING OF SERBIA

Bill Clinton, Hillary Clinton and cheerleader Biden and Wesley Clarke of NATO are responsible for dropping 1000 tons of Depleted Uranium on Serbia, Nikola Tesla's Hometown in 1999. This is a War Crime and they all should be held for a War Crime Tribunal. When asked about this War Crime, Wesley Clark said he would put his critics or "disloyal" or "radicals" in internment camps. Joe Biden: 'bomb Belgrade' and "blow up all the bridges on the Drina". August 16th 2016 Biden offers condolences for 1999 NATO bombing of Serbia. The Clinton administration, which had been happy to overlook the Rwandan genocide, was eager to become involved when reports of genocide and ethnic cleansing cropped up. Hillary Clinton emphatically "urged" her husband to "bomb" Belgrade in hopes of resolving a conflict that goes back five centuries, involves credible allegations of mass murder on both sides, and had not even a trace of interest for U.S. foreign policy. In Biden, the Clintons found a champion to spearhead the Senate bill authorizing the bombing. Serbia is launching a lawsuit against NATO over the 1999 bombing. According to the Serbian legal team, it used depleted uranium munitions <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WSUKEWSbzu4>

When the US State Department listed the KLA as a terrorist organization in 1998, it noted its links to the heroin trade. By the beginning of March these terror and counter-terror operations led to the inhabitants of numerous villages fleeing, or being dispersed to either other villages, cities or the hills to seek refuge... The situation was clearly that KLA provocations, as personally witnessed in ambushes of security patrols which inflicted fatal and other casualties, were clear violations of the previous October's agreement [and United Nations Security Council Resolution 1199]. population." https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kosovo_Liberation_Army

THE GREAT LIGHT BULB CONSPIRACY

February 11th 2021 When do you have "the most powerful powerful person in the world", Joe Biden, claim "some black guy", invented the light bulb?

<https://www.statesman.com/story/news/politics/elections/2020/09/08/fact-check-whoreally-invented-light-bulb/113860016/>

See why Edison did not invent the light bulb either; his October 14th 1878 patent is titled "Improvement in electric lights", IS NOT "THE" LIGHT BULB. His light bulb took 1000 employees and 10000 experiments to produce a $845,000 light bulb that only lasted 13 hours. The first million dollar light bulbs were installed at JP Morgan's home; running off of coal generators; that also failed every 6 months. On the other hand, Nikola Tesla invented many types of lights from Arc Lamps, Flash Lamps, LED, Xray lights, UV lights, Neon lights, Thermo-nuclear Incandescent lights, Laser lights, Wireless lights,... Aura camera, Blackbody radiation, Shadow graphs, Timing and Metering lights, so much-so, in his Wardenclyffe Appeal court case in 1922, Tesla says in court, under oath "I had a separate room where there was 1000 lights; each describing a scientific phenomena". Those 1000 lights are still missing. By 1892, Nikola Tesla had already patented his "Carbon Button, Incandescent, wireless light" that was 10X more efficient than Edison's. (Cntrl+F search below for previous posts on Thomas Edison and Nikola Tesla's contributions to lighting) at www.teslaleaks.com. Repost: In 1879, Thomas Edison crowns 14 months of testing with an incandescent electric light bulb that lasts 13 hours †. Inside a near-vacuum bulb, it stayed alight for more than half a day. Soon, the lab got a carbon-filament bulb to last 40 hours. It had cost $40,000 (about $850,000 in today's money) and taken 1,200 experiments, but was ready at last for a public debut. <https://www.wired.com/2009/10/1021edison-light-bulb/>

TESLA IN MEDICINE

November 2016 NIKOLA TESLA AND MEDICINE: 160TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BIRTH OF THE GENIUS WHO GAVE LIGHT TO THE WORLD - PART II

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/29693867/>

Tesla Currents in Medicine. Tesla's greatest impact on medicine is his invention of a transformer (Tesla coil) for producing high frequency and high voltage currents (Tesla currents). Tesla currents are used in diathermy, as they, while passing through the body, transform electrical energy into a therapeutic heat. In 1891, Tesla passed currents through his own body and was the first to experience their beneficial effects. He kept correspondence on electrotherapy with J. Dugan and S. H. Monell. In 1896, he used high frequency currents and designed an ozone generator for producing ozone, with powerful antiseptic and antibacterial properties. Tesla is famous for his extensive experiments with mechanical vibrations and resonance, examining their effects on the organism and pioneering their use for medical purposes. Tesla also designed an oscillator to relieve fatigue of the leg muscles. It is less known that Tesla's inventions (Tesla coil and wireless remote control) are widely used in modern medical equipment. Apart from this, wireless technology is nowadays widely applied in numerous diagnostic and therapeutic procedures.

Nikola Tesla “Electricity, Greatest of all Doctors” 1999 IEEE <https://ieeexplore.ieee.org/stamp/stamp.jsp?arnumber=771078>

The Electrical Engineer, November 17th, 1898 High Frequency Oscillators for Electrotherapeutic and Other Purposes by Nikola Tesla. One of the early observed and remarkable features of the high frequency currents, and one which was chiefly of interest to the physician, was their apparent harmlessness which made it possible to pass relatively great amounts of electrical energy through the body of a person without causing pain or serious discomfort. When a person is placed within such a loop, any pieces of metal, though of small bulk, are perceptibly warmed. Without doubt they would be also heated — particularly if they were of iron — when embedded in living tissue, and this suggests the possibility of surgical treatment by this method. It might be possible to sterilize wounds, or to locate, or even to extract metallic objects, or to perform other operations of this kind within the sphere of the surgeon's duties in this novel manner. The continuous improvement of the instruments and the study of the phenomenon may shortly lead to the establishment of a novel mode of hygienic treatment which would permit an instantaneous cleaning of the skin of a person, simply by connecting the same to, or possibly, by merely placing the person in the vicinity of a source of intense electrical oscillations, this having the effect of throwing off, in a twinkle of the eye, dust or particles of any extraneous matter adhering to the body. Such a result brought about in a practicable manner would, without doubt, be of incalculable value in hygiene and would be an efficient and time-saving substitute for a water bath, and particularly appreciated by those whose contentment consists in undertaking more than they can accomplish.-- <https://teslauniverse.com/nikolatesla/articles/high-frequency-oscillators-electro-therapeutic-and-other-purposes>

As before stated, when the oscillations in the primary and secondary circuits are in SYNCHRONISM, the points of highest potential are on some portion of the terminal T. The synchronism being perfect and the length of the secondary coil just equal to one-quarter of the wave length, these points will be exactly on the free end of terminal T, that is, the one situated farthest from the end of the wire attached to the terminal. If this be so and if now the period of the oscillations in the primary be shortened, the points of highest potential will recede towards the secondary coil, since the wave-length is reduced and since the attachment of one end of the secondary coil to the ground determines the position of the nodal points, that is, the points of least potential. Thus, by varying the period of vibration of the primary circuit in any manner, the points of highest potential may be shifted accordingly along the terminal T, which has been shown, designedly, long to illustrate this feature.

My enemies have been so successful in representing me as a poet and visionary that it is absolutely imperative for me to put out something commercial without delay; forming the Tesla Ozone Company with devices designed to to destroy virulent pathogens ... to obtain needed investments Tesla also issued "The World System" vision as a handsome manifesto prepared on vellum which also announced his intention of entering into the field of consulting engineership. He wrote to assistant George Scherff, I swear! If I ever get out of this hole nobody will catch me without cash

May 29th 2020 Thanks Plasma Channel for covering the Nikola Tesla "Violet Ray" for creating UV, Ozone & Electro-static heating or curing. These devices were the reason for the moniker "quackery" came from; banned by the AMA in the 1920's, from the sound of clack, clack, clack coming from the spark gaps transformers. This device also has an insertion tube to interject UV light inside the body; as referred to by President Donald Trump. — 100 Year Old Healing Tesla Coil (Violet Ray) The Violet Ray device, originally invented by Nikola Tesla, quickly found use during the 1920's as the Violet Wand. They produced 50,000 volts of brilliant plasma that warmed your skin on contact. Due to both their exotic and warming nature, they were marketed as medical healing devices. But how these work, and what is inside of them, is just as amazing as their claims. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=iafoQ4b5cjo>

June 29th 2015 Sorting cells through levitation. Breast cancer cells, levitating between magnets in a fluid chamber, die and sink when exposed to acid. To get around that problem, Demirci's group fiddled not with the magnetic properties of the cells themselves, but with the medium around them. The researchers created a narrow, fluid-filled channel between two long, thin magnets roughly the size of toothpicks. They laced the fluid with particles of gadolinium, a rare-earth metal that is highly magnetic and sometimes given to patients to increase contrast in an MRI. The magnetic field is shaped to pull the gadolinium downward so metal particles push the cells upward, creating a buoyant force just like the one that floats a boat. <http://news.sciencemag.org/biology/2015/06/sorting-cells-through-levitation>

October 20th 2015 The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) is recommending sweeping changes in its breast cancer screening guidelines. (Early X-Ray testing did not reduce overall detection rates, while at the same time increasing your radiation exposure risk after each test by mutating "virus's" in your body. The study also revealed that nearly 20-25% were diagnosed as false-positives and many underwent unneeded chemo-therapy and/or surgery.) The USPSTF, which is a group of independent health experts convened by the Department of Health and Human Services, reviewed and commissioned research to develop computer-simulated models comparing the expected outcomes under different screening scenarios. Here are the USPSTF's recommendations, based on all that work:

Routine screening of average-risk women should begin at age 50, instead of age 40.

Routine screening should end at age 74.

Women should get screening mammograms every two years instead of every year.

Breast self-exams have little value, based on findings from several large studies.

Was the Wardencllyffe Tower Binary/Digital? Did Nikola Tesla invent Logic Gates (0/1), Quantum Mechanics (0/1), ElectroMagnetism (0/1) System for his Remote Control Boat & Radiant Energy Receiver & Wardencllyffe Tower? Magnetic Nano-particles Enhance Performance of Solar Cells "It has been shown, for example, that gold nano-particles absorb additional sunlight, which in turn produces additional electrical charge carriers when the energy is released again by the gold particles." "This strategy makes use of a quantum physical principle which states that electrons have a kind of internal rotation, known as spin. According to the laws of quantum physics, this spin has a value of 1/2. The positively charged hole also has a spin of 1/2. The two spins can either add up, if they are in the same direction, or cancel each other out if they are in opposite directions. The electron-hole pair can therefore have an overall spin of 0 or 1. Pairs with a spin of 1 exist for longer than those with an overall spin of 0. The researchers set out to find a material that was able to convert the spin 0 state into a spin 1 state. This required nano-particles of heavy elements, which flip the spin of the electron or the hole so that the spins of the two particles are aligned in the same direction. The iron oxide magnetite (Fe₃O₄) is in fact able to do just this. "In our experiment, adding magnetite nano-particles to the substrate increased the efficiency of the solar cells by up to 11 per cent," reports Mosegu Gonz lez. The lifetime of the electron-hole pair is significantly prolonged." Building a Quantum Computer One Logic Gate At A Time. TYPES OF WIRELESS POWER

Nikola Tesla's Top 13 Methods, Apparatus and Systems of wireless power and communications include: 1) Create "Cloudborn Wavelets", receive it with specially designed antenna 2) Artificial Ionization & De-ionization of the atmosphere with Ion/Negative Ion Generators (Plasma Fields) 3) Low Frequency Radio Waves, creates Concentric, Longitudinal Standing Waves along the surface of the Earth (Whale communication) 4) Earth-Vibration as a Resonant Cavity (Cyclotron's/Magnetron's) (Earth Audio Signals by "Granite/Quartz Vibration Sounds") 5) Earth Currents between tuned coils/capacity, with amplified Electrical Impulses using Cold Temperature. Sensitive receiving devices like the (Audion) 6) Tethered Balloons as Energy Receivers 7) Radiant Energy/Solar/Static/UV reception, even at night time with a Radiant Energy Receiver made of Hybrid Perovskite's of Salt/Lithium and Tin 8) A "Sun Tap" with HAARP 9) Induced Lightning with Elevated Super-Conductors (High Altitude Voltage Access) (Elevated Batteries) 10) Electro-Static Generators 11) Sending TV signals through water or the Ocean 12) HF Generators and Inductive Superconductive Receivers 13) Inductive (Charged) Beams of particles from Accelerators (Acting like an Artificial Wire or Tether) 14) Superconductive Lasers or LiFi.

This patent of a "Wireless Energy Transfer System" in 2011 refers to 4 Nikola Tesla patents and this patent represents our modern system of radio communications and long distance power transfer by companies such as Sony, Xerox, Matsushita, LG, . -- "Such known system are built to support hundreds and in a few cases up to 2000 miles of distance. The loss factor in most of these systems, which are known as long-haul systems, is 7-10%, and they cost hundreds of millions of dollars to produce." -- While some attempts to use other forms of transmission in wireless forms have been tried, there is no system that has been proven to scale or cover great distances or that supports millions of users and billions of devices which could be connected. <https://google.com/patents/US20110156494> -- The newest referring Patent is #US9393878, Jul 19, 2016 "Energy transfer with vehicles" <https://www.google.com/patents/US9393878>

There are multiple known methods of wireless energy transfer. One such technique is known as "radiative" energy transfer, which entails generating an electromagnetic field. Here, a special receiver acquires electromagnetic radiation that has not naturally dissipated in the air and converts the acquired electromagnetic radiation into electricity. The energy associated with the electromagnetic radiation can travel nearly three meters (approximately ten feet) to thereby keep a small battery charged. However, most of the energy associated with the electromagnetic radiation is lost before reaching the receiver and the power that does reach the receiver is extremely low. Nevertheless, such a technology, which has been pioneered by Powercast in Philadelphia, Pa., was deployed for the first time in 2008 by Philips in a small power application, such as lights on Christmas decorations. [0008]

On non-radiative standing waves; An analogy of the propagation of electromagnetic waves may be drawn between the motions of a ripple on the surface of a pool filled with water. In the case of such a water-filled pool, it takes very little energy to move the water on the surface of the pool and, at the right frequency, the energy will create very high waves and lots of power at the edge of the pool where the "standing wave" will hit against a solid surface. Bearing this in mind, in the system of the disclosed invention, the receiving tower is "hit" by standing waves, and unless the receiving tower absorbs the electrostatic energy of the standing waves, very little loss or power is needed at the transmitting tower to maintain the motion of the wave. Due to the elliptical surface of the Earth, it is possible to convert 97% of the energy of a standing wave while transmitting power to every point on the surface of the Earth. <https://google.com/patents/US20110156494>

Another known technique also relies on magnetic fields. However, this technique is still in the experimental stage, and operates based on principles of resonance. When two objects resonate at the same frequency, they transfer energy efficiently in much the same manner as a child that easily maintains momentum on a swing when he or she uses his or her legs to move in synchronization with the rhythm of the swing while it is in motion. The use of magnetic resonance allows the transfer of energy in useful quantities and almost entirely to the receiving device. However, as in the radiative method, the energy can travel only a distance of a few meters. Nevertheless, ever since its inventor, Marin Soljacic of MIT, presented his work at a conference in the autumn of 2008, he has continually but unsuccessfully tried to increase the effective distance beyond several feet. The technology pioneered by Martin loses more than 60% of the transmitted power at a distance greater than 6 feet. [0009]

"Inductive coupling" is another way of transferring energy. Here, power or energy transfer in inductive coupling is not so much wireless as it is plugless or socketless. That is, power is sent on almost direct contact, for example, with a mat upon which gadgets can be placed to recharge. The method avoids the need for cables and connectors to charge gadgets, and can be built into many surfaces, such as car dashboards or office furniture. This system, with a few variations, is employed by start-ups such as Splashpower in Britain, WildCharge and Fulton Innovation in America. [0010]

Instead of transferring power wirelessly, it may be worthwhile to transport fuel, such as coal, oil or hydrogen, in a conventional manner. It is clear that the cost of transporting fuel has increased drastically in recent years and, as such, it has become much more expensive to produce electricity with all variety of traditional transmission means. There are significant drawbacks to this method of energy supply. First of all, it requires an enormous amount of energy, transportation vehicles, and human labor. These requirements drive up the cost of the portable energy source. In addition, these energy sources often are hazardous; hydrogen, for example, ignites with ease. Also, the burning of many types of fuels pollutes the environment. [0011]

Another option is to utilize a local power source, such as solar or wind power. However, the number of locations that are suitable for solar or wind power stations is limited. A particular climate is required, such as that of the Sahara desert for solar power and Texas, United States for wind power. There are many additional drawbacks to these power sources. The current technology for converting solar power into electrical power, photovoltaic cells, is extremely inefficient. Solar power is at this time unable to quench the world's demand for energy due to its inefficiency. One method of utilizing wind power is the installation of huge turbines in a consistently windy region. However, these installations demand open lands prone to consistent, strong wind currents; in other words, they are not generally placed in communities. Thus, the wind power must be transported; this is usually performed by power lines. [0012]

There are many methods of voice and data communication, including the Internet, the phone lines, the radio broadcast system and mobile cell phones. These systems either utilize transmission lines of some sort, or they use electromagnetic radiation. Transmission lines have a high initial cost and an upkeep cost. Electromagnetic radiation is an inefficient method of transfer since its power loss is proportional to the square of the distance from the emitting source. In addition, electromagnetic radiation has a potentially harmful effect on humans and other life forms. [0013] It is therefore apparent there is a need for a wireless transmission system for voice, data and power.

Disclosed is a system for transmitting power, voice and data without wires or with no more than one connection. The system is configured to provide communication between unlimited numbers of electronic devices, or to connect these devices to an unlimited number of outside networks that are located externally to the disclosed system to thereby enable high-speed voice and data communications over a single resonant connection. The disclosed system utilizes at least one transmitter and one receiver, which may have the same or different configurations, such that an induced oscillating electric current, which occurs at the resonant frequency of a transmitter connected to Earth or a physical body, such as a lake or plane or other body with defined parameters, can resonate with one or multiple devices tuned to the same frequency. -- Newest referring Patent #US9393878 Sep 23, 2014 Jul 19, 2016 "Energy transfer with vehicles" <https://www.google.com/patents/US9393878>

An analogy of the propagation of electromagnetic waves may be drawn between the motions of a ripple on the surface of a pool filled with water. In the case of such a water-filled pool, it takes very little energy to move the water on the surface of the pool and, at the right frequency, the energy will create very high waves and lots of power at the edge of the pool where the "standing wave" will hit against a solid surface. Bearing this in mind, in the system of the disclosed invention, the receiving tower is "hit" by standing waves, and unless the receiving tower absorbs the electrostatic energy of the standing waves, very little loss or power is needed at the transmitting tower to maintain the motion of the wave. Due to the elliptical surface of the Earth, it is possible to convert 97% of the energy of a standing wave while transmitting power to every point on the surface of the Earth. <https://google.com/patents/US20110156494>

The loss factor in most of these systems, known as longhaul systems, is 7-10%, and they cost hundreds of millions of dollars to produce." -- While some attempts to use other forms of transmission in wired and wireless forms have been tried, there is no system that has been proven to scale or cover great distances or that supports millions of users and billions of devices which could be connected to such architecture. WORLDWIDE WIRELESS POWER

Dr. Tesla, therefore, suggested that his other scheme, of stratosphere transmission of electricity, would be a far more feasible means of marine propulsion. The principles of the two plans are entirely distinct. The force beam is a thin barrage of tiny particles discharged at tremendous velocities from a kind of electrical gun. The other invention, which he has not hitherto discussed publicly, is of transmitting high tension currents through the upper air, and receiving them by means of a vertical ionizing beam which would be a sort of invisible electrode... "There is a method of conveying great power to ships at sea which would be able to propel them across oceans at high speed. This method I conceived between 1897 and 1899, and in Colorado Springs in 1899. I made experiments along this line on a large scale.

<http://www.tfcbooks.com/tesla/1935-06-05.htm>

"The principle is this: A ray of great ionizing power is used to give to the atmosphere great powers of conduction. A high tension current of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 volts is then passed along this ray to the upper strata of the air, which strata can be broken down very readily and will conduct electricity very well. "A ship would have to have equipment for producing a similar ionizing ray. The current which has passed through the stratosphere will strike this ray, travel down it and pass into the engines which propel the ship. Pet Scheme to Light Ocean "I will confess that I was disappointed when I first made tests along this line on a large scale. They did not yield practical results. At the time I used about 8,000,000 to 12,000,000 volts of electricity. As a source of ionizing rays I employed a powerful arc reflected up into the sky. At the time I was trying only to connect a high tension current and the upper strata of the air, because my pet scheme for years has been to light the ocean at night. "However, since 1902 I have made many improvements in my method which I know now will assure success. A power plant upon the Azores, for instance, could send a current up into the stratosphere and illuminate the sky sufficiently for pilots to discern objects upon the ocean at a safe distance." Skimming the Surface, the return of Nikola Tesla's Surface Waves: The World Wireless System was a turn of the 20th century proposed telecommunications and electrical power delivery system designed by inventor Nikola Tesla based on his theories of using Earth and its atmosphere as electrical conductors.

Skywave In radio communication, skywave or skip refers to the propagation of radio waves reflected or refracted back toward Earth from the ionosphere, an electrically charged layer of the upper atmosphere.

Nikola Tesla gives credit to "John Hettinger" for realizing WIRELESS POWER. In Tesla's last article on wireless Power, Electrical Experimenter, March 1920 "Wireless Transmission of Power Now Possible", Tesla refers to "John Hettinger" patents that "opened up the way for it's realization. Tesla Leaks published the Hettinger Patent on Wireless Power 4 years ago. The Hettinger Patent confirms the concept of NEGATIVE RESISTANCE in A/C Impulse systems with Mercury/Gas bulbs at a distance using HIGH TENSION RADIANT BEAMS.

June 1917 Patent for Aerial Signaling by John Hettinger

WIRELESS TRANSMISSION OF POWER NOW POSSIBLE by Thomas W. Benson for Electrical Experimenter, March 1920 Recent developments tend to fulfill the old, old dream of power transmission without wires. For years men have labored in vain to transmit power without wires and thus solve a myriad of transportation problems, such as propelling vehicles, ships, trains, aircraft, etc., without having to include a source of power in their construction. It makes one's head almost reel to think of the possibilities in such an achievement and now the dream promises to come true. By one bold stroke an English genius, Mr. John Hettinger, has unthinkingly opened up the way for its realization. Like numerous other inventions, the way lay before our very eyes, but we were all too blind to see it. While working on a means for transmitting radio waves without material aerials, MR. Hettinger hit upon the idea of using ionized light beams as elevated conductors. Obviously simple when one thinks of it. It is a well-known fact that an ionized gas is a conductor; in fact, the conductivity of a gas is a measure of its ionization. Furthermore, it is possible to ionize a gas by means of a stream of ultra violet rays. Working with these facts, Mr. Hettinger devised means to utilize them for radio transmission in the following manner. As shown in Fig. 1, a source of ultra violet rays, an arc or mercury vapor lamp. A. is arranged to throw a beam of ionizing rays vertically. These rays result in an ionized stream of air that acts as a conductor, the surrounding un-ionized air being practically a perfect insulator. By making connection to this conducting beam with a metallic screen or mesh at B, it can be utilized as an aerial for radio communication. We are perfectly aware that this ionized beam rapidly loses its conducting power as the distance from the source increases, therefore the effective height of such an arrangement is determined by the intensity of the ray generator. So much for the idea as applied to radio communication. But let us consider further. In studying the spectrum we find that the sunlight on reaching the earth contains few ultra violet rays of shorter wavelengths than 3.000 Angstrom units, yet we are able to generate much shorter rays with an arc light. It is unreasonable to assume that shorter waves do not leave the sun, and in view of the fact that it has been determined that the upper stratum of our atmosphere is ionized, it is accepted that the shorter rays are absorbed to cause this ionization. It will now be apparent that a very good condition exists for the transmission of energy without wires. As shown in Fig. 2, we have the earth, a good conductor, surrounded with a blanket of insulating air about ten miles thick, beyond which, up to about a hundred miles, the air is highly rarefied and kept in a state of ionization by light from the sun and stars. Hence, we have two good conductors separated by several miles of atmosphere, practically a perfect insulator, an ideal arrangement for our purposes. We have but to connect a source of current to the earth and to the ionized strata of air and energy can be transmitted entirely around the earth without wires. The energy could be utilized in any part of the earth by merely connecting to the pair of conductors. This condition has been recognized for some time, but the difficulty lies in making connections to the upper layer of conducting atmosphere. It is hardly practical to construct towers six or seven miles high for the purpose, then again the energy could not be utilized without using a similar structure at the point of reception, which makes this scheme hardly feasible for aircraft or moving vehicles. Return then to the ionized stream for radio aeri-als. We can easily construct arcs that will throw a beam ten or twenty miles. Then why not make connection to that upper stratum with an ionized stream of air? Wonderful in its simplicity. In Fig. 2 the writer attempts to portray a generating station embodying these principles. In the main building will be housed the generating units for supplying the current to the arc and the primary of the high voltage apparatus for transmission of energy. Supported on the roof of this structure will be a monstrous arc lamp capable of throwing a stream of ultra violet rays for at least ten miles. In this beam is supported a conducting screen to make connection to the conducting stream of ionized air. The insulation of these parts present no great difficulties to modern engineering. The building will also house a huge step-up transformer, a set of high voltage condensers, a spark gap either of the rotary or quenched type and a huge oscillation transformer or Tesla coil. These instruments are connected in the usual manner and tuned so that the inductance in the circuit and the capacity formed by the earth and ionized upper strata will have a well defined oscillation period. By these means the whole earth will become an electrified body, energy to be drawn at any point by simply making metallic connection to the earth and pointing a beam of light vertically, a screen being used to take the energy that will flow down the beam. An inductance coil being necessary in the circuit to insure resonance with the transmitter at the receiving set. After once started, the receiving energy can be used to keep the arc going. Ships will have an arc and reflector mounted on the masts, airplanes have two arcs, one on top, the other below, and so on. This scheme will not interfere with present short range transmission, it being hardly practical for each home to have an arc on the roof when one arc would serve for a town and several for a large city. Rather its benefit will lie in the utilization of water falls far from civilization, now unused on account of difficulties in transmitting the power hundreds or thousands of miles. Aside from the transmission of power other advantages may accrue. Will such a stress between the earth and upper air strata reduce the presence of dust particles in the atmosphere? Or, again, cause the immediate condensation of fogs and moisture in the air to give us perfectly cloudless days? Perhaps it will become simply a matter of changing the frequency or voltage of the current to cause rain or to prevent it. Then the question of effect on radio communication: will it make our present sets obsolete, a transmitter of the future being connected directly to the power set and acting by superimposing different frequencies on the power frequency? Or will radiotelephony work hand in hand with the power system, the voice currents being impressed on the power circuit and filtered out at the receiver? There are thousand and one things such an arrangement might effect. Will trees and vegetation increase in growth as experiments in electrical culture would indicate? What effect would such stresses have on germs and bacilli? Their numbers will be decreased by the destructive effects of the ultra-violet light. Will man grow to an unsuspected height and become uniformly healthier due to the electrical treatment he would be constantly undergoing? And so on – conjuncture in without bounds, but the scheme is practical to all appearances; it requires but some financial genius to give it a trial. And to think it all was within reach such a short time ago! Had Tesla but put a gigantic arc on top of the tower of his experimental station in Long Island accurate data would be at hand now – were it but even a promise it would mean another step towards the final mastery of all matter by man.

Atmospheric Conduction Method by by Henry Bradford and Gary Peterson TESLA ON GLOBAL WIRELESS ENERGY TRANSMISSION FOR TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND OTHER PURPOSES <http://teslaradio.com/pages/tesla.htm>

According to Tesla, Instantaneous electrical disturbances can be manifested, at any speed, with a method he describes as "spanking the ball" for long distance wireless electricity transmission. Instantaneous, at any speed, sound waves or vibrations can set in motion "concentric waves" to create actions at a distance, commonly known as "destructive" and "constructive" interference and "loops and nodes". Resonant Cavities, or devices like the Cyclotron, or Earth, have a cyclotron resonance frequency, Schumann Resonance, that allows for electron's to flow in a situation that is "faster than light" or $V = \text{Pie}/2 \times C$ or $1.57C$. This blog highlights over 13 methods of wireless transmissions of energy:

WIRELESS PLANES TRAINS AND AUTOMOBILES

Repost on Wireless Powered, Remote Controlled, Phone Tapping "Ioncraft" Patent, 1959 - Such Ionocraft may serve as platforms which would be stationed above the earth for long periods of time and serve other purposes as will be explained below. The output power from microwave generators, such as magnetrons, coupled with high power capacity amplifier tubes may be beamed to the Ionocraft while airborne or the craft may carry its own power supply. Horizontal movement of the craft may be effected by the principles set forth in Serial No. 760,390 of Glenn E. I-lagen filed September 11, 1958, by tilting the craft downwardly in the forward direction whereby the ionic propulsion force provides a horizontal force component to cause the craft to move in a horizontal direction. Tilting of the craft may easily be effected through variation of the voltage between emitting electrodes 12 and collecting grid electrode 14. For example, by electrically separating the craft into four sections of substantially equal size as illustrated in FIGURE 15 (Sheet 6), the voltage applied to two of the adjacent sections can be reduced by adding resistance in series with the current path and this will cause the lift produced by these two sections to decrease relative to the lift produced by the two other sections. Thus, horizontal movement of the craft may easily be controlled from the ground station. The position of the craft in air may be remotely controlled from a ground station through wireless control systems which may be of any suitable known type. The horizontal position of the craft may also be controlled automatically. For example, the position of the craft of the present invention may be automatically controlled in space through means of suitable centering or tracking apparatus operating on well known principles, such for example as are disclosed in US. Patent Nos. 2,513,367 to Scott or 2,604,601 to Menzel. In such tracking apparatus, one form of which is diagrammatically illustrated in FIG- URE 15 (Sheet 6), a beam of electromagnetic energy, such as light or infrared, is centered on a suitable photocell 128 which generates control signals that are used to control variable impedances to reduce the voltage applied to various sections of the craft to thereby control the position of the craft in accordance with the position of the beam source at the ground station. It is also contemplated that this craft may be supplied with electrical power transmitted to the Ionocraft while in flight by microwaves. It has been demonstrated 80% of the energy emitted from a ground station microwave antenna array can be collected in the form of heat by airborne vehicles. In this case, such heat may be readily converted into high voltage by conventional means such as turbines operating high voltage generators, suitable thermocouples and vibrator-transformer convertors or the like. The use of high power microwave amplifiers, such as Amplitrons (Raytheon Co.), for power transmission via microwaves can provide the requisite power for a craft of this type. Therefore, it may be not essential that a self contained power unit be carried by the craft for special uses. <https://google.com/patents/US3130945>

Feb 15th 2015 -- Wireless power rail is on track as China seeks to develop world-first power system. Sun said his system could "beam" more than 13,000 horsepower, or 9.7MW, to a train using resonant magnetic induction, enough to easily propel a fully loaded subway train or a high-speed train at 350km/h or more. From the story "Wireless energy transfer was an early dream in the field of electrical research, as demonstrated by the legendary inventor Nikola Tesla as early as 1891. But technical issues and safety concerns have limited its applications to small devices such as mobile phone chargers and medical implants."

A technique (Magnetic Induction) has been devised that allows (A/C) electricity to flow directly from solar panels to electrified train tracks to the trains (A/C Induction Motors) themselves making solar powered trains more feasible than ever before

Wireless Charging of Electric Vehicles - The successful convergence of new technologies will require electric vehicles (EVs) that are low cost and fully autonomous. These attributes can be realized through wireless charging. While the concept of medium-range wireless power transfer (WPT), achieved using near-field (nonradiative) electromagnetic coupling, has existed since the pioneering work of Nikola Tesla (1891) more than a century ago, the technology to enable effective dynamic WPT for EVs is still in its nascent stage. Numerous challenges related to performance, cost, and safety need to be overcome before the vision of wirelessly powered EVs can be realized. But achieving high efficiencies at high switching frequencies is very challenging. And the fringing fields of WPT systems must be within safe levels (as defined by the International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection; ICNIRP 1998) in areas occupied by people and animals (e.g., the vehicle cabin and outside the perimeter of the chassis). These requirements for capacitive WPT systems can be met through circuit stages that provide appropriate voltage and current gain (to reduce displacement currents) as well as reactive compensation (Fig. 1). An active area of research is the design of these circuit stages (Lu et al. 2015; Theodoridis 2012). While high power wireless energy is banned, oil pipelines are approved! Oil and Coal trains are approved! Gas stations with warning signs of Cancer and Birth Defects, are approved. The burning the gas, coal and trees are perfectly approved! Whatever waste is left, they will dump it in your river. Approved! Tesla cars are not equipped with in car wireless phone charging, mat wireless car charging, nor in-road inductive charging. If you call Tesla Inc about this fact or mention Nikola Tesla, they will laugh at you and hang up the phone. (2012)

WIRELESS GRID

Jan. 4th 2018 Internet of Energy can cut power transmission losses: Nobel laureate. The Japanese scientist describes it as 'energy, anytime and anywhere', feature of this is wireless power transmission. Amano says that transmission losses can be reduced to zero using laser light. The technology, when implemented could be a major boon for India that suffers from massive transmission losses — as high as 20-50 per cent in some states. Amano says Japanese scientists have achieved about 40 per cent efficiency in wireless transmission of power through a microwave band. However, power can be transmitted only up to a distance of 100 metres, and the scientists are working on increasing the efficiency levels to 80 per cent. Since microwave bands are not suitable for long-distance transmission, scientists are now experimenting with laser technology, where power is beamed from one point to another. Amano says that transmission losses can be reduced to zero using this method. However, a lot of work remains to be done as the current efficiency on the receiving side is just 20 per cent. <http://www.newindianexpress.com/cities/hyderabad/2018/jan/04/internet-of-energy-can-cut-power-transmission-losses-nobellaureate-1744142.html>

"You can burn all the coal, gas and trees in the world, but Niagara Falls will last Forever"! - Nikola Tesla, April 1896

The earliest and newest documentary describing Nikola Tesla's Colorado Springs Experiment in 1899, where his Lab did not need an external power supply: The energy provided to his "wireless light bulbs on the ground" was by artificial atmospheric induction, artificial lightning. Thunderclaps were heard over 25 miles away. <https://youtube.com/watch?v=S3qhTM2AxcA>

This hard to find pre-internet PBS documentary re-posted this week by Tesla researches John Hutchison, confirms earliest details in Colorado Springs, but believed that it needed an external power supply. https://youtube.com/watch?v=67b_CZr1668

At the Wardenclyffe Tower on Long Island: June 15, 1903 the "New York Sun" wrote:"people living near Tesla's laboratory at Long Island were the witnesses of multicolored lightning made by Tesla himself, the inflammation of the atmospheric layers at different altitudes and along NY, Night suddenly turned to day. Air was full of luminescence, people radiated a mysterious shine or glow. They seemed to be (as) ghosts. Thunder heard 25 miles away" (The Life and Times of Nikola Tesla) <https://youtube.com/watch?v=1No0QP3rDRs>

New York Times, October 22, 1907, p. 8, col. 6. "Nikola Tesla Says Distance Forms No Obstacle to Transmission of Energy." There is a vast difference between primitive Hertzwave signalling, practicable to but a few miles, and the great art of wireless transmission of energy, which enables an expert to transmit, to any distance, not only signals, but power in unlimited amounts, and of which the experiments across the Atlantic are a crude application. The plants are quite inefficient, unsuitable for finer work, and totally doomed to an effect less than 1% of that I attained in my test in 1899. Edison thinks that Sir Hiram Maxim is blowing hot air. The fact is my Long Island plant will transmit almost its entire energy to the antipodes, if desired. As to [Martian communications] I can only say, that I shall be able to attain a wave activity of 800,000,000 horse power and a simple calculation will show, that the inhabitants of that planet, if there be any, need not have a Lord Raleigh to detect the disturbance.

The seizure and demolition of Nikola Tesla's Radio, TV and Wireless Energy tower called "Wardenclyffe" in Sayville, Long Island. This is also the 114th anniversary of the elimination of secure Radio and communications. In Tesla's letters to JP Morgan in 1904, Tesla's states that "his system can have Trillions of 100% secure communications ("the only practical way to do it") and has secured Worldwide patents for the entire System. The idea of privacy and data security ended and was replaced by RCA's system (Who's first property was across the street from Wardenclyffe and who's first office was co-located at the UN's office. Tesla's systems of radio and radar were later used in Wartime. But, Tesla was denied royalties because the US Government owns all US Patents. <https://youtube.com/watch?v=ZwdaHpeOOWI#t=02m20s>

July 4th 2018 is the 101st year anniversary of Nikola Tesla's Wardenclyffe Tower being ceased by the Secret Service and demolished by the Army for reasons of "Wartime Security" on July 4th 1917; but the Tower was allegedly not working since 1908.

Nikola Tesla invented special boring machines to dig the Wardencllyffe Tunnels. The descriptions (some from Tesla's 1923 testimony in foreclosure proceedings on the property) include that the facility had a ten by twelve foot wood and steel lined shaft sunk into the ground 120 feet (37 m) beneath the tower with a stairway inside it. Tesla stated that at the bottom of the shaft he "had special machines rigged up which would push the iron pipe, one length after another, and I pushed these iron pipes, I think sixteen of them, 300 feet, and then the current through these pipes takes hold of the earth." [19] In Tesla's words the function of this was "to have a grip on the earth so the whole of this globe can quiver." [20][21] There is also contemporaneous and later descriptions of four 100 foot long tunnels, possibly brick lined and waterproofed, radiating from the bottom of the shaft north, south, east, and west terminating back at ground level in little brick igloos. [22] Speculation on the tunnels ranges from them being for drainage, acting as access ways, or having the function of enhancing ground connection or resonance by interacting with the (Long Island Aquifer/Long Island Sound/Atlantic Ocean) water table below the tower, maybe via being filled with salt water or liquid nitrogen (for a Battery, Power-Gas, sending signals through Water, or for Magnifying Transmission using cold temperature) -- <http://teslascience.org/pages/twp/tunnels.htm>

SEISMOLOGY IS WIRELESS POWER

Along the same train of thought, Tesla came up with a brilliant wireless transmission idea. It was to use the earth as the conductor for transmitting currents. As described in a lecture from Tesla in 1893, the device would connect a generator between the ground and a spherical conductor raised into the air. The electromagnetic frequencies resulting from the generator in this setup would ensure that the alternating current was of opposite sign from the earth. Tesla consequentially believed that the ground—the earth—could be set into a state of oscillations with little dissipation of energy. -- In essence, this technology was the first way that geologists were able to see into the Earth without digging holes or taking bore samples. In fact, the principle <https://interestingengineering.com/nikola-teslas-wireless-transmitter-technology>

Tesla imagined using the waves generated by his invention for peaceful applications. One device would transform electricity into vibrations. Tesla then would use the rocks in the underground to send the vibrations to a second device. This receiving device would pick up the vibrations and transform the oscillations into electricity, to be used locally. In fact, so Tesla, the device, consisting of a piston vibrating in a cylinder, was already powerful enough to vibrate an entire building. Just one precaution was necessary. If powerful enough, so Tesla, his machine could match Earth's frequency, causing even earthquakes. Still, in the 1930s, Tesla imagined using smaller devices to relieve energy from Earth, in this case, to prevent earthquakes. However, the "telegeodynamics" system by Tesla never managed to get beyond the prototype. The device was in reality not powerful enough to send energy far enough. Dampening of the oscillations by structures and the underground was far too strong. Another idea of Tesla was more successful. He imagined using the oscillations generated by his device to prospect the underground. Waves sent into the underground would be reflected by obstacles or different rocks. Observing the returning waves, a geologist may be able to see the underground. It's just this basic idea that modern seismologists use. Pulses of energy, generated by electromagnetic devices, controlled explosions or mechanical pistons, send deep into the underground are reflected or deflected by geological structures. The reflected signals can then be used to reconstruct a model of the underground.

In Figure 3, Tesla writes of a grounded high frequency emitter with a highly elevated ball electrode which was in resonant connection with a symmetrical, grounded resonant circuit (receiver) to enable the energy transmission through the (upper atmosphere (chemtrails)), which in great heights becomes more and more conductive for electrical currents. Here TESLA stated that the air will have a sufficient conductivity for his experiments, if the ball electrodes are placed in a height of four miles (~6.5 km). This could probably be done by (balloons), TESLA suggested. Trained with many experiments TESLA left New York on May 11 th 1899 to the highlands of Colorado Springs (2000 m about sea level) where he experimented [27] with several systems for the transmission for electrical energy until the turn of the century on January 11 th 1900. On the first glance to the series of figure 2 to 4 one supposes that the energy transmission finally occurs through the air by the means of an increasing electric conductivity of the (upper atmosphere). This electrical excitement of the Earth TESLA [27]-S.61, [36] has discovered in a stormy night from July 3rd to 4th 1899 in Colorado Springs. To his great surprise he detected standing waves on the Earth surface after heavy lightning. With his highly sensitive equipment he was able to record that the signals first diminished when the storm passes away but then again increased and later on diminished again and so fourth. TUNED LIGHTNING & STOCK MARKET CRASH OF 1907 regulation, control, and economic utilisation of "tuned lightning" have been patented by me, and that I have long since undertaken, and am sparing no effort to render these advances instrumental in insuring the welfare, comfort, and convenience, primarily, of my fellow citizens. Like the movie Trading Places, but the bad guys win. By late 1907, JP Morgan buys the bankrupt U.S. Government with $500M of his own cash.

Nikola Tesla, 'Tuned Lightening', 1907 -- Nikola Tesla's most profound discovery -the existence of 'stationary terrestrial waves' by which he resonantly powered his wireless devices- went unpublished and unknown to the world for 35 years after his death. The Tesla Museum published his discovery in the Colorado Springs Notes in 1978, and in that same year a boy named Alex was born on a small Caribbean island, who would later spontaneously complete Tesla's unfinished theory. By the age of 26, Alex Putney had intuitively applied four-dimensional mathematics to produce spherical maps of Earth's standing wave infrasound patterns, and presents an astonishing perspective on the unfolding. While physicists now struggle to find a real-world application for quantum theory, Putney holistically applies quantum iterated functions to specific places and events, penetrating the great mysteries of the human spirit and informing a new understanding of DNA and phenomena of consciousness such as autism, savant syndrome, reincarnation, psychoacoustics, energy healing and crop circles. Alex's experience of synesthesia inspired the development of quantum maps that reestablish the ancient Sanskrit knowledge of Akasha - the invisible creative force of the cosmos. Fascinating past life continuities reveal the hidden thread of knowledge that binds consciousness through the karmic process of reincarnation, linking the inventive ability of Tesla with the life's work of an inventive mind of the Renaissance, Leonardo da Vinci. https://archive.org/stream/AlexanderPutneyLightwater/Alexander%20Putney/Alexander%20Putney%20-%20Tesla%27s%20Rebirth_djvu.txt

The Origin of Nuclear Power's "Too Cheap To Meter" Phrase: U.S. AEC civilian nuclear program included the new 1954 "Atomic Energy Act", President Eisenhower's "Atoms for Peace" and medical uses of reactor-produced isotopes. Coincidentally, In 1954, John G Trump and government officials visit Tesla's storage unit in New York and go through its trunks, safe, multi-resistant box and paperwork. Atomic Energy Chairman stated "he expected his children and grandchildren would have power "too cheap to be metered", "as low as the price for Hydro-Electric Power". Although this never technically happened, most Nuclear Power Plants are paid-off and generate power at less than 1 cent per KW/hr. DOUBLE RESONANT SPIRAL COILS Spiral coils generate very powerful electromagnetic fields by operating with two different but simultaneous resonant behaviors. Quarter-wave resonance is established by adjusting the frequency (and wavelength) of a radiofrequency (RF) voltage source until the length of the spiral conductor is equal to of the wavelength of the alternating voltage. This generates an electromagnetic standing wave with at least one peak node and at least one null node. Inductive-capacitive (L/C) resonance is established by optimizing the thickness and width of the wire ribbon used to make the spiral coil. When inductance and capacitance are balanced, the current response will synchronize with the voltage input, creating in-phase behavior, minimal total impedance, and maximal power output. If two such coils are placed near each other, they will create an extremely powerful electromagnetic field between them, which can promote chemical and plasma reactions involving charged particles such as ions or plasma particles, possibly including nuclear fusion reactions. The device used a 50,000 volt Westinghouse transformer to charge a capacitor that consisted of a galvanized tub full of salt water as an "Electrolyte", into which he placed large glass bottles, themselves containing salt water. The salt water in the tub was one plate of this capacitor, the salt water inside the bottles the other plate, and the bottle glass the dielectric. Various capacities were tried, incremental changes being made by connecting more or fewer bottles."

From the Patent: One method of achieving this goal is to use a modification of an invention by the American inventor, ((Nicola Tesla)) (U.S. Pat. No. 493,776, Incandescent Electric Light, 1892). In this invention Tesla showed how a small button of refractory material such as diamond could be heated to incandescent temperatures by allowing the material to be bombarded by ions as caused by the application of a high voltage, high frequency excitation to the refractory material. One embodiment of the present invention makes use of Tesla's Incandescent Electric Light by adding a few thousands of an inch diameter hole through the refractory material button. The added hole allows the passage of the input gases as required for the fusion reaction. As the gases are passing though the hole in the center of the button, they are heated to a high temperature that can be in the range of 5,000 F. ♦ as they make contact with the inner walls of the refractory material (diamond, for example). Upon leaving the hole exit, the already thermally excited molecules of gas are then totally ionized by the high intensity, RF field in combination with the concentrated ion bombardment created by the RF field. The net result is a highly concentrated ion source insuring that the ion concentration at the magnetic focused point of the present invention will be sufficient for a high probability of fusion reactions occurring. <https://patents.google.com/patent/US5162094A/en>

RECREATING THE POWER OF THE SUN WITH FUSION

The New York Times, January 1982 – In the fission process, very substantial amounts of radioactive material are also produced. Fusion plants, on the other hand, which will probably be fired in large part by hydrogen obtained from the plentiful water of the sea. The real problem has been to keep the extremely hot electrically charged gases confined long enough so that their atomic nuclei can collide. The main high-temperature fusion device now operating at Princeton – the Poloidal Divertor Experiment, or P.D.X. toroidal plasma furnace. They are occurring, Furth says, as a cold mixture of deuterium and hydrogen is injected, and the heating process begins. Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor, or T.F.T.R. by Sakharov and Tamm had set forth the basic concept of the tokamak. Sakharov, in a part of the 1950 paper, proposed that researchers make use of the fact that a heated plasma is an excellent conductor of electricity. At a temperature of 100 million degrees centigrade, it has a conductivity, in fact, about 30 times greater than copper. Princeton astrophysicist, Lyman Spitzer Jr., was grappling with the same problems and came up with a device known as the Model-A Stellarator, built at Princeton in 1952. He produced the poloidal magnetic field externally by wrapping wires outside the doughnut, and passing an electric current through the wires. In the tokamak, the plasma itself functions as the "wire." Once the cold mixture of hydrogen and deuterium has been injected into the Princeton P.D.X., a bolt of lightning is shot through it – a current with a power level roughly equivalent to the electricity being used at that moment by the entire town of Princeton. As lightning rapidly heats the atmosphere in a storm, the pulse quickly heats the gas in the tokamak, propelling its electrons around this incredibly fast nuclear racetrack. The gas hits 10 million degrees in less than one-tenth of a second. Dr. Kees Bol and the P.D.X. group he heads spent much of last winter playing the tokamak almost the way one plays a church organ. "How you control the heat and density of the plasma is an art," Bol says. "We added two large injectors of deuterium atoms and induced more current in the plasma. Programming the current the right way turns out to make a big difference. It seems impossible at first, but that doesn't mean it can't be done." First, a working fusion reactor will produce material very much less radioactive than, say, a fission breeder reactor. Second, one can choose the type of material it produces. When nuclear fusions can be made to occur in a sufficiently dense plasma for long enough periods of time at high enough temperatures, they will supply enough energy to maintain those temperatures without requiring additional heating from any outside source. At that point, what is called "ignition" occurs. (The plasma ignites the way a log, for example, burns of its own accord once it is sufficiently heated; the ignited log produces much more energy than was required to heat it to ignition.) And while the plasma stays hot, fusions will keep occurring as long as small amounts of deuterium or a tritiumdeuterium mixture are added. Fusion reactions in a mixture of deuterium and tritium occur 10 times faster than with pure deuterium and at a much lower temperature – about 60 million degrees is good enough for ignition. But there are several drawbacks to deuterium-tritium. Tritium is radioactive; it decays in about 12 years. Because natural tritium has all decayed since it was first created millions of years ago, virtually none now exists. Thus, tritium must be manufactured. According to a plan developed by the Department of Energy, there would have been a national center by 1984 using the Tokamak design. The total cost of all of this was estimated by the Energy Department at about $12 billion. Neutron shielding is not a difficult engineering problem, since many common substances, such as boron, absorb neutrons like a sponge. Tritium, while radioactive, has a low activity. The electron emitted when tritium decays is a low-energy electron that cannot even penetrate the skin. And only small amounts will be used – perhaps 20 pounds yearly per billion watts of electricity produced. The blanket, however, will become radioactive, and it is estimated that, in a billion-watt fusion reactor, something like 150 cubic yards of radioactive material will have to be disposed of or recycled each year. The volume is comparable to the high-level radioactive wastes from a fission plant. But the advantage is that the shielding material can be selected to make the radioactivity weaker and more short-lived. In a fission reactor one has no choice. Nature has chosen the fission products, such as krypton or strontium, and some of these must be safely buried for thousands of years. But Uranium can be stretched in the future only by using breeder reactors to make new fuel. The blanket will contain lithium. When a neutron hits a lithium nucleus, it can react to become helium and tritium. Hence tritium fuel can be manufactured in the blanket as the reactor works. The machine produces its own fuel as it goes along. The blanket must be kept "cool" – perhaps at a temperature of 400 to 500 degrees – so a coolant will be circulated through it. In the process, the coolant itself will be heated and it is this heat that will be used to make steam – which in turn will run the generators that will produce electricity. Essentially all of the expense of fusion reactors will be in the construction of the machine. Less than 10 percent is expected to go into fuel and operations. Work on controlled fusion in China goes back as far as 1955, when Chairman Mao himself identified it as potentially profitable research. Experimentation began on magnetic-mirror machines and, eventually, tokamaks with the endorsement of Zhou Enlai. Wind power sounds nice, too – until one looks at the numbers. Assuming an average wind speed of 20 miles an hour – a hefty wind – it would take some 50,000 large windmills (Today, just 200 10MW Turbines) to equal the output of a one-billion-watt power station -one prospective fusion plant. Hydroelectric power might be expanded somewhat by damming every stream in sight. But is this something environmentally sensitive people really want to do? But the notion that solar electricity is "low technology" or a relatively simple "cottage industry" is really nonsense. Most responsible people believe that in the year 2000 solar electricity will account for only about 2 percent (1%) of the total consumed. Still, as Harold Furth points out, there is a parallel between the transition from traditional solar power to fusion and the transition from food gathering to agriculture. At first, mankind was satisfied to collect roots and berries; then we gradually learned to grow them at will. If, despite the obstacles, fusion power can be made practical, we will no longer be out trying to collect power when and where we can find it. We will have learned, in effect, to grow it at will. We will be capable of making limitless amounts of electricity from the waters of the earth's oceans. And it is surely possible that this will be every bit as significant to the cultures of the world as farming and industrialization has been. <https://nytimes.com/1982/01/03/magazine/recreating-the-power-of-thesun.html>

Nikola Tesla Popular Science Monthly: November 1928 “A famous prophet of science looks into the future” — (WIRELESS POWER) By 1931 he told me, his “World-system” for transmission of wireless power through the earth should be in commercial operation. Today he is ready to build a new and larger plant. (TELEVISION) This plant was also to broadcast speech, and pictures by a system of daylight television without moving devices outlined by him in 1893. “Contrary to popular opinion, which has identified my “Magnifying Transmitter” with thunder and lightning,” Dr. Tesla said, “it operates in silence. There is no halo of escaping electric flames, or other visible evidence of activity” except that a person within a hundred feet of the tower will notice small sparks, prickling of the skin, and bristling of the hair.” (RADIO) But thirty-five years ago people decried as impossible Tesla’s prophecy before scientific societies that ships in distress at sea would call for help by wireless apparatus. It was characterized as “inventive lunacy.” Many of these unbelievers lived to see wireless summon rescuers to lost explorers stranded on an Arctic ice cake. <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/famousprophet-science-looks-future>

Nikola Tesla gave the first public demonstration of (continuous wave) radio in St. Louis on March 1, 1893, although he had presented his work prior to this behind closed doors. Tesla first demonstrated wireless transmissions during a lecture in 1891. <https://edn.com/electronics-blogs/ednmoments/4408090/Tesla-gives-1st-public-demonstration-of-radio-March-1-1893>

(DRONES) Thirty years ago people thought Tesla was indulging in a wild fancy when he built a model for a crewless vessel. Yet today the British Navy is experimenting with H.M.S. Centurion, a full-size warship without a crew, controlled entirely by wireless. Germany is doing the same with the former battleship Zachringen. The Robot Battleship (1930) <https://youtube.com/watch?v=C3ujaOWdD9A>

(ROCKET ENGINE) (FLUID DYNAMICS) (OZONE/HYDROGEN/JET FUEL GENERATOR) Twenty years ago, in 1909, when Tesla designed an automobile to be propelled on water, land, or through the air by explosive jets from rockets, men who otherwise respected his genius thought he had gone crazy. Today, in Germany, rocket cars have sped 156 miles an hour in trials; and the principle is to be applied to air machines. (TELSA TURBINE) [New York Herald, February 25, 1917 ELECTRIC DRIVE FOR BATTLE SHIPS by Nikola Tesla <http://tfcbooks.com/tesla/1917-02-25.htm>] Houses will be lighted and powered by wireless, as will be airplanes and other vehicles on land and sea. You will be able to go anywhere, desert or mountain-top, valley or farm, and set up a compact equipment, small enough to be carried in a suitcase, that will give you heat to cook with and light to read by. Flivver airplanes will buzz directly upward and dart across country at many miles a minute. Jet-driven airships will cross oceans, but Tesla draws the line at MOON (hoax) rockets. He invented the "Tesla coil" or "Tesla oscillation transformer." Today every wireless transmitter and receiver embodies this great principle, which has also been put to innumerable other uses in science and industry. With it, he turned ordinary electricity into crackling lightning of millions of volts. Noises of thunderous discharges smote the ears of visitors to his Colorado Springs, Colo., wireless plant erected early in 1899; they could even be heard in Cripple Creek, Colo., thirteen miles away! It was there that Dr. Tesla carried out his scheme of sending power by wireless through the earth. No "wireless" such as we know today as radio, was this. He transmitted, not radio waves through the air, mostly wasted, but electric currents through the ground. By this method, he told me, he transmitted enough power around the earth to light several hundred incandescent lamps, and proved that power in industrial amounts could be transmitted to any distance with an efficiency as high as ninety-nine and a half percent. (VTOL) Besides his world power scheme, Dr. Tesla says he is devoting his time chiefly to his vertically rising flying machine. This aerial flivver is to weigh less than 200 pounds, and to occupy no more space than a seven-foot cube. It is to rise to a great height at a rate of from one to two miles a minute, and may attain a horizontal speed as high as 400 miles an hour, power being supplied by an exceedingly light oil-burning motor, a modification of a steam turbine Tesla invented. An all-metal framework and the absence of gasoline guard against fire hazard. Additional safety is to be attained by a parachute of new construction. (WIRELESS LIGHTS) Equally spectacular was his demonstration of a wireless lamp, at his Grand Street laboratory in New York City. At three o'clock one morning, when he and his workmen were ready to quit for the night, Tesla decided that a certain high-frequency generator he had been constructing was ready for the test of a new lamp that would light without wires. He sent his workmen outside while he made ready the apparatus. All that remained was to close a switch. (ORDER OF THE FLAMING SWORD) (LIGHT SABER) When the workmen returned, Tesla strode to the middle of the laboratory. In each hand he held a long glass tube, exhausted of air. "If my theory is correct," he told his assistants, "when the switch is thrown in, these tubes will become swords of fire. Darken the room and close the switch." (SPEEDOMETER) Tesla's inventions cover many fields, including even an automobile speedometer based on a unique principle, in use today on high-priced cars, and a new pocket-size revolution counter soon to be seen. (PSCYOTRONICS) (ULTRASOUND) He even delved into the super-speed "sound" vibrations, recently produced in the laboratory of Alfred L. Loomis, at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., which kill small animals. (WATER PURIFICATION) He once built an apparatus, intended to sterilize water, which produced vibrations powerful enough to paralyze the hand, plunged in a tank of liquid. This discussion of tremendous power suggested the possibility of harnessing atomic energy. (ATOMIC ENERGY) "The scheme is worse than that of a perpetual motion machine for the latter will almost work!" he exclaimed. "A motor driven by atomic power is unrational because it would take far more energy to break up an atom's structure than can be recovered in more useful work." On the whole subject of matter, in fact, Dr. Tesla holds views that are startlingly original. He disagrees with the accepted atomic theory of matter, and does not believe in the existence of an ? electron? as pictured by science ? or, he maintains, if it can exist at all, it does so only in perfect vacuum. ?To account for its apparently small mass, science conceives the electron as a hollow sphere, a sort of bubble,? Tesla says. ?Now, a bubble can exist in such a medium as a gas or liquid because its internal pressure is not altered by deformation. But if, as supposed, the internal pressure of an electron is due to the repulsion of electric masses, the slightest conceivable deformation must result in the destruction of the bubble! (ELECTRON DEBUNKED) ?Just to mention another improbability, the force tending to tear an electron apart is, in pounds per square inch, represented by the staggering figure of 256,899 followed by twenty-one zeros ? and this is 513,798,000,000,000,000,000 times greater than the tension that tungsten wire can withstand! And yet it does not burst! Not even when it is hurled against an obstacle with a speed hundreds of thousands times greater than that of a bullet! And ? more widely interesting in this day of radio ? this strange, many-sided man clings to the opinion he expressed in his scientific investigations published from 1896-1898, that the source of all rays we know is always a stream of tangible particles or ?corpuscles,? (LIGHT PARTICLES) rather than waves or vibrations. Even before the discovery of radium, Tesla expressed his belief that radioactive rays were of this sort, a view ridiculed at that time. When radium was discovered it was found actually to emit particles of matter ? flying nuclei of helium atoms, called ?alpha? rays. (RADIUM) Tesla has maintained ever since that radium is not a generator but a transformer of energy, the emanations being caused by cosmic rays of immense power (TESLA PULSE VACUUM TUBE LIGHT) capable of penetrating all obstacles however thick. The existence of this radiation ? which, he says, should not be confounded with the comparatively very feeble ?cosmic rays? (IONOSPHERE) observed more recently ? he has proved by mathematical theory agreeing closely with experiment. These conclusions Tesla has drawn from experiments with a remarkable vacuum tube of his own invention, with a single electrode, operated at millions of volts. I asked Tesla what part of his life work lay closest to his heart. It was not the induction motor, today the basis of industries in which billions of dollars are invested all over the world. Instead, it was the discovery of the principle that preceded the induction motor ? the ? rotating magnetic field. ? ?It was not only a valuable discovery, capable of extensive practical applications. It was a revelation of new forces and new phenomena unknown to science before. ?No,? Dr. Tesla said with some feeling, ?I would not give my rotating field discovery for a thousand inventions, however valuable, designed merely as mechanical contraptions to deceive the eye and the ear. A thousand years hence, the telephone and the motion picture camera may be obsolete, but the principle of the rotating magnetic field will remain a vital, living thing for all time to come.?

Fractional distillation of Krypton: Why the new Superman movie is named “Krypton” and not the fictitious element “Kryptonite”: Scientific American Feb. 2nd, 1901 Tesla’s Wireless Light by Nikola Tesla <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/teslas-wireless-light>

Nikola Tesla states that new illuminants, specifically Krypton gas extracted in 1898, has the best economy, hygienic properties and is the closest to pure white daylight, like Krypton, that has ever been reached. Krypton is the best, self illuminating, superconductive gas. His wireless light accomplishes the most efficient method to separate the de-electric currents from his high frequency, high tension generators, creating high tension radiant streams using Uranium glass, today they produce Tritiated glass as a cheap alternative to contain the negative charges along a virtual path. The Krypton, or Radon are most conducive to “electrostatically induced rays” (1) or positive charges. The natural inductance between these two elements allows for a Krypton bulb to light up with just 1 Volt. The bulb in his hand would have a Krypton, Hydrogen spark-gap transformer, to transform the 1 Volt coming from the atmosphere or ground, in a one wire return system, to 10 Volts and light up the Krypton gas, wirelessly. <https://facebook.com/groups/750861428384951/permalink/1057545607716530/>

Krypton was discovered in 1898 and “is obtained by the fractional distillation of liquid air”, the same method to produce liquid nitrogen or liquid oxygen, and is manufactured in Nuclear Power Plants. ... In the Century article Tesla compares extracting energy from the environment to the work of other scientists who were, at that time, learning to condense atmospheric gases into liquids. In particular he cited the work of a Dr. Karl Linde who had discovered what Tesla described as a “self-cooling” method for liquefying air.

Nikola Tesla's Future Predictions Were Wrong and Right, but Uniformly Fascinating. Tesla's "Nitrogen Fixation" Patent of 1900 to Feed The World: <https://inverse.com/article/12445-nikolatesla-s-future-predictions-were-wrong-and-right-but-uniformly-fascinating>

Mass Production of Nitrogen Fertilizer: "There will be enough wheat and wheat products to feed the entire world, including the teeming millions of China and India, now chronically on the verge of starvation. The earth is bountiful, and where her bounty fails, nitrogen drawn from the air will refertilize her womb. I developed a process for this purpose in 1900. It was perfected fourteen years later under the stress of war by German chemists." The Haber process (the process perfected by the German chemists) produces almost 450 million tons of fertilizer per year, which according to some estimates has quadrupled the productivity of agricultural land around the world. Subsequently, the access to high yield crops is partially responsible for population growth in China and India. At the end of his life, history's greatest inventor was called upon to predict what life would look like in 100 years. Chemists shed new light on global energy, food supply challenge -- ScienceDaily

All living things require nitrogen for survival, but the world depends on only two known processes to break nitrogen's ultra-strong bonds to allow conversion to a form humans, animals and plants can consume. One is a natural, bacterial process on which farmers have relied since the dawn of agriculture. The other is the century-old Haber-Bösch process, which revolutionized fertilizer production and spurred unprecedented growth of the global food supply. Voted the most Awesome, Epic Retort in Internet history:

Jan 17th 2018 Voted the most Awesome, Epic Retort in Internet history about Nikola Tesla with a call to shutdown the rest of the Internet! Response to those who claim "They know everything about "Nikola Tesla"", then claim they can "debunk" Tesla. To begin with, it's unlikely they know how to spell his name or where he is from, since the town he was born in doesn't exist anymore. Tesla Leaks has found the admission by Tesla, the Library of Congress in 1891 and prior to 1897, his name is spelt with a (C) "Nicola Tesla". Tesla Leaks – Missing Patents & Inventions found under the name spelt "Nicola Tesla" <http://www.teslaleaks.com> — <https://nikolateslasolar.blogspot.com/?/tesla-leaks-nicola-?> — Some think that everything online about Tesla, is made up! Much of it is! But, how could you know "everything"? Have you read all the top secret documents in every country on Earth? You must work for the CIA! In fact, you must have written the entire un-redacted FBI File and the other 3 files referred to in the FBI File. Do you have the Alien skeletons too? And the real pictures of Space, not the 100% fake Photoshop pictures NASA puts out. Only "Space Raven" knows for sure. To his credit, Tesla invented Photoshop in 1899 with his composite picture of him sitting there inside his Colorado Springs Lab. Either way, the Tyrannasaur bone, rock, fossil fuel tooth looking thing you have might catch $10M on eBay. The 800,000 documents, newspapers, articles, Library of Congress and 900 patents and Inventions at the Tesla Museum; much available online to find in 5 seconds is "made up"? You must have also worked for the 13 companies Doctor Tesla owned, have his 600 missing patents and Inventions (900 FBI File) and read the 400,000 documents locked up at the Tesla Museum. You also must have worked at the Tesla society in 1915 during WW1, worked at his Museum that was bombed in WW2 and worked at the one that Bill Clinton bombed in 1999. It must have been a miracle that you survived the 10,000 tons of depleted Uranium NATO dropped on Serbia. Was it you that compiled the Colorado Springs Experiments Notes in 1955, published in 1978, from events that took place in 1899, or is it 1889 according Tesla at his Wardenclyffe appeal case. You must be sure "he had it all in his head". Of course it also helps to have the other 400,000 documents, 40

trunk's, 30 bundles, a safe and a multi-decade resistance box you were able to impossibly crack. Instead it was people who called themselves "government officials" and John G Trump who admitted reviewing the information in Tesla's NY storage unit. While you were there, you must have seen the two pictures of everything the FBI said they took. Sava Kosanovich told the FBI under oath that the 200 page notebook Tesla was writing before his death (hoax), was also missing. You must have snatched that too! Even beyond that, you must have gotten access to Einstein's brain held in (according to Tesla, non destructive) cryogenic freezing at CERN. And of course you are aware that Tesla has the earliest patent for superconductivity "Means for increasing electrical intensity using cold temperature" in 1900. As you know, CERN gets it's superconductive gasses like Krypton using a Westinghouse Nuclear Power Plant or Tesla's Electrical method using his 1897 Patent and Apparatus for producing Ozone and other gasses. The point being, with Einstein's brain you can figure out Nuclear Power and the Nuclear Bomb Hoax, since, according to UN and US law, Nuclear is considered "classified on birth". It's a benefit if you can speak and write 13 languages, because his Serbian handwriting is terrible. They should have brought you in to analyze the Tesla papers, instead of the FBI bringing in Deforest. If you we're right there like his Assistants Marconi, Hammond, Kolman Tzito Father and Son, Lowenstein, Scherff, Hettinger or agents Spanel & Fitzgerald, you might have seen it all. Were you the get away driver in the movie "Fragments from Olympus" that tells the story of real-life FBI agents P. E Foxworth and Dennis Haberfeld, who died on January 15, 1943 during the posthumus investigation of Nikola Tesla's property? The mission described by FBI documents as being part of "a secret mission of critical importance"; the two were killed on their way to General Eisenhower when their military transport mysteriously crashed. The cause of the crash was never ascertained. It must have been the faulty Autonomous driving technology that crashed the 2 truck loads of Tesla's effects. Like other great minds study scientists before them, it's also great that you have the 1000 points of lights and tubes that Tesla said he had in a separate room on the Wardenclyffe property up until 1907, under oath in his 1922 Supreme Court foreclosure appeals case. Each light he said "described a unique scientific discovery". We're all glad you have that, because, it's been missing since mentioned in the Wardenclyffe appeal. Since Fitzgerald told the FBI director in 1945 that because the Russians had access to the "Entire Tesla Collection" behind the Iron Curtain, and because of experiments going on at Hill AFB, that he was soliciting Army Intelligence and "Wealthy Backers" like the Ford Foundation, to accumulate all they can on Tesla's effects and turn them into "Idea Factories". You being a double-agent for the Army and the Air Force, and a Russian agent would be the coup de gras; you might even get to work for Alex Jones at Infowars. If you could return those audio recordings of Tesla's real voice and videos of the real person, since they are also ALL missing, that would be great. If you could just fallaciously go back in time like Einstein said, then you could have asked Tesla's financier in Radio, Peck, his financiers John Astor & JP Morgan, his last co-designer in Wardenclyffe, the famous Stanford White, friend witness and politician Mark Twain, or even President William McKinley who was shot immediately after touring the Westinghouse, Tesla Hydro-electric plant at Niagara Falls; what they knew about Wireless Power and the Death Ray, because they were all assassinated. Within the same year, Nikola Tesla told JP Morgan that the Niagara electric company already approved Tesla using 10,000 horsepower from the Niagara Falls generators for wireless power. Tesla even offered the electric company stock in his company. Tesla told Morgan that he, Tesla, had secured all woldwide rights to his and the only practical method to generate, "Trillions" of simultaneous, secure, pulse-width and pulse-position modulated (Terrestrial GPS) radio signals. By March 8th 1907, prior to the 1907 stock market crash that bankrupt Westinghouse & Tesla, Tesla secured "all" patents on what he calls "Tuned Lightning", the processes, appliances, generation, transmission, transformation, distribution, direction, storage, regulation, control and economic utilization. Two months later after the stock market crash in 1907, the patent office accepted his refilling of his patent for the Wardenclyffe Tower Structure, but did not approve the patent until 1914. This delay gave time for the Federal Reserve Act to be passed to create a Fiat money system, and when WW1 started. Then, in WW1, the supposed entire world attacked Tesla's hometown, Serbia. But, you knew all that! Granted, a few years earlier, Tesla did tell JP Morgan that if he did not provide the next $250,000 or more to finish Wardenclyffe that you, JP Morgan would "Never see that machinery" (the final pieces that included the high tension UV generator to be placed in the Wardenclyffe Tower Cupola and Spark-Gap controls within the Tower structure). Since Tesla mentioned to Morgan that he, Tesla, was responsible for more than $6 Trillion in sales to industry based on his inventions, that this venture would work as sure as "my name is Tesla". But later in Tesla's 1919 Autobiography in Electrical Experimenter, he wanted to dispell a rumor in the press about the destruction of his tower, Wardenclyffe, he said "They were building more of them". In the same Autobiography he states "every one of my Inventions prior to 1919 worked 100% as he prescribed". Fortunately, in Tesla's last publication in the 1920 Electrical Experimenter, Tesla gives credit to John Hays Hammond for his June 22nd 1917 patent which he says "makes wireleses power possible". Days after Tesla dies, in a letter to the FBI director, Tesla tells Fitzgerald that his experiments in conjunction to the transmission of electrical power had been "completed and perfected" wireless power transmission and that the main goal of Tesla's latest works was to provide electricity to the world absolutely for free. Is Tesla lying? If you think so, prove it up! (Now you're looking for the secret, but you won't find it, because of course, you're not really looking, you don't want to work it out, ... You want to be Fooled! — Ending sequence in The Prestige)

Steve Bannon compares Trump to "William Jennings Bryan", who was presidential opponent to President "William Mckinley" a close ally of Nikola Tesla, and Westinghouse; promoting A/C power and wireless power. W. Bourke Cochran who debated Mckinley, is the "Bannon" of Trump's Cabinet. Cochran was also behind JP Morgan/Edison/GE's efforts to demonize Tesla's A/C power in favor of Edison's D/C power, which could only light light bulbs. By 1899, the power Niagara Falls had shut down the need for 3000 Edison Coal Plants; spread every mile throughout every city. <http://time.com/4681697/stevebannon-donald-trump-william-jennings-bryan/>

MY PLAN FOR PRESIDENT

Posted 4 days before Covid on December 23rd 2019: THE GREAT RESET my Offer & Plan for President! (THE GREAT RESET = TRASH COMPACTOR & SMELTER). I hereby offer all gas, coal, tree burner people all their "stranded assets" for $1.00. Everyone gets a FREE bullet proof Tesla Cyber-Truck and a real Whoopee Cushion. Treatise to Inventions of Edison by Tesla Leaks: To demonstrate "Genius"; I will then use your Hero, Thomas Edison, his patent for a "Trash Compactor" and put it all in a "Hugh pile of scrap" --Nikola Tesla because of your "costly historical error" NT. I will then transport it using the millions of miles of gas, coal and tree rail-lines (that were never intended for People to travel on) and scrap the rails along the way. Along the way still; 3,000 Thomas Edison DC generators for those coal plant rails were already scrapped when Niagara Falls went online in 1896 (a job well done). Next, I will dump it using another Thomas Edison patent in 1903 for a "Dumping Mechanism" at the newly formed site called the "Niagara Falls Dinosaur Dump" where jobs will be available riding "Dinosaur's" and picking up "rubble" or rocks. There, I will dump it again into the first in the world in 1899 the Nikola Tesla Electric Furnace at Niagara Falls. The steel Smelter will turn it all into one big slag of superluminescent Krypton, superconductive, diamond encrusted (Alien) Dinosaur Dung. The up to 30 carat synthetic diamonds come free as a waste product of an electric furnace. So, the carbon dust diamonds is an automatic; sprinkling on the dung to make it 1000X brighter or more luminescent than your LED. (China has a patent for lights using this diamond dust, 1000X more efficient than LED.) These special Tesla Dynamos and "translation device" (a Tesla light bulb) are also used to hydro-crack the superconductive Krypton gas from Air like they do in Westinghouse Nuclear Reactors. Any remaining plastic waste will be turned into real rubber "Whoopie Cushions" for everyone's new Tesla Model Y. Not the fake sound ones the have in their cars now. Real Ones! The Whoopie Cushions will be manufactured using the various and famous patents by Edison for Plastic Mold's. So, the cost of the Super-Slab of Dung, including the power, as described would be FREE. Lastly, I'm going to present it to the public for worship, pledges and allegiance called the "Thomas Edison" patent for a "Milking Machine". The Milking Machine will have an attachment; another Thomas Edison invention for the world's 1st "Cash Register"; so that the money changers can "calculate" what your "money" is worth; and keeps the rest anyhow. The "Milking Machine" will be available for pledges at the famous National Plastic Museum where the other statue of Edison resides for pledges (and allegiance) for his great work on "Plastic Moldings" for sex toys. I will then use those pledges to build a system where we don't need your crap. Ok?

SUPERCONDUCTIVITY

Nikola Tesla's use of Superconductivity and (on-site, Liquid) Hydrogen production by, at and for the Wardenclyffe Tower Station System. Present limitations in the transmission of power to distance will be overcome in two ways through the adoption of underground conductors insulated by power, and through the introduction of the wireless art. The first plan I have advanced years ago. Principle is to convey through a tubular conductor hydrogen at a very low temperature, freeze the surrounding material and thus secure a perfect insulation by indirect use of electric energy. In this manner the power derived from falls can be transmitted to distances of hundreds of miles with the highest economy and at a small cost.

The 3-D effect that scientists observed in the LCLS experiment, which occurs in a superconducting material known as YBCO (yttrium barium copper oxide), is a newly discovered type of 'charge density wave.' This wave does not have the oscillating motion of a light wave or a sound wave; it describes a static, ordered arrangement of clumps of electrons in a superconducting material. Its coexistence with superconductivity is perplexing to researchers because it seems to conflict with the freely moving electron pairs that define superconductivity. <http://phys.org/news/2015-11-dimension-high-temperature-superconductivity.html>

NEGATIVE RESISTANCE

The term negative resistance means negative differential resistance (NDR). In general, a negative differential resistance is a two-terminal component which can amplify, converting DC power applied to its terminals to AC output power to amplify an AC signal applied to the same terminals. The most common example of a negative resistance device is the commonplace fluorescent lamp, in reactive currents, spark-gap transformers and tesla coils.

OVER UNITY

Questions on Over-Unity & Perpetual Motion Machines in regards to Open Systems vs Closed Systems and modern Scientific Laws: Most laws only apply to "closed systems" and don't take into account the Earth and Matter are "open systems". Concepts to consider are: constructive interference, light wave upconversion, molecular upconversion, cyclotron's (resonant cavities), potential energy (rigidity of a spring), swelling magnets, "gravity" motors, "flux" capacitors, Tachyonized materials, Halogen Perovskite Super-Ion's, Self-Illuminating gasses, Density engine's, Reciprocating engines, Tesla effects, Back EMF (Feedback), Nuclear power and in the manufacture of gasses. Nikola Tesla's "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy" would be considered a daytime/nighttime Perpetual Motion Machine set in a superconductive condition. Efficiency is generally the measure of percentage of input energy or heat vs output. They don't point out the power and energy sources of wind, sun, wave etc. are infinite.

February 12 2020 #topological #insulators #superconductivity "Powering a topological superconductor using a time crystal gives you more than the sum of its parts," says Jason Alicea, a researcher at California Institute of Technology (Caltech). In crossing this boundary, the wave function has to undergo a change that can lead to conducting edge or surface states at the boundary that are symmetry-protected by particle number conservation and time-reversal symmetry, making them particularly robust to perturbations. 3-D topological states have come to light in which intrinsic spin-orbit coupling takes the place of the magnetic field, as well as topological superconductors and photonic and magnetic analogues. Alicea explains that the study led them to the discovery that it is possible to enrich topological superconductors by coupling them to controllable magnetic degrees of freedom. "Then we realized that by turning those magnetic degrees of freedom into a time crystal, topological superconductivity responds in remarkable ways," says Alicea.

PERPETUAL MOTION MACHINES

March 6th 2022 Nikola Tesla on Gravity, Fluid Dynamics, Perpetual Motion Machine <https://teslaleaks.com/f/nikola-tesla-on-gravity-fluid-dynamics-perpetual-motion-machine>

NIKOLA TESLA U.S. PATENT 428,057 PYROMAGNETO-ELECTRIC GENERATOR, May 26th 1887 SNIP:

Then apply to the iron between the coil and the steel bar a flame or other source of heat which will be capable of raising that portion of the iron to an orange-red, or a temperature of about 600° centigrade. When this condition is reached, the iron somewhat suddenly loses its magnetic properties, if it be very thin, and the same effects produced as though the iron had been moved away from the magnet or the heated section had been removed. This change of condition, however, is accompanied by a shifting of the magnetic lines, or, in other words, by a variation in the magnetic influence to which the coil is exposed, and a current in the coil is the result. Then remove the flame or in any other way reduce the temperature of the iron. The lowering of its temperature is accompanied by a return of its magnetic properties, and another change of magnetic conditions occurs, accompanied by a current in an opposite direction in the coil. The same operation may be repeated indefinitely, the effect upon the coil being similar to that which would follow from moving the magnetized bar to and from the end of the iron bar or plate. - Nikola Tesla

Nikola Tesla states in The Washington Herald March 17th, 1912 "The most important is electric transmission lines from HydroElectric central plants. Although the specter of GOVERNMENT RESTRICTION has had a deterrent effect on the development of this important industry, it has not inflicted a permanent injury... "A perfect means for this purpose has been afforded through the discovery of the STATIONARY WAVES, but unfortunately there is no plant as yet in operation with these waves, which, as I have shown, pass from one to the other end of the globe without diminution of intensity, producing stationary loops and nodes, the danger of collisions at sea will be greatly reduced." <https://teslauniverse.com/nikola-tesla/articles/what-future-electricity> --

MISINFORMATION

Top 20 details on Nikola Tesla, prior to the last 40 years of mis-information; August, 1981 High Times. <https://hightimes.com/culture/nikola-tesla/>

0) Wardenclyffe was to shoot all power for Paris Exposition of 1903—all the way across the Atlantic

1) [#Magnifying] (https://www.facebook.com/hashtag/magnifying?hc_location=ufi)
#transformer to step the current down, after you siphon it off the main [#Neutral]
(https://www.facebook.com/hashtag/neutral?hc_location=ufi) feeder cable

2) Thomas Edison: Terrible dangerous idea, Old Tom called it. All that electricity all over, #trillions of volts maybe, terrible, terrible dangerous. Think of the children! Enough of 'em fried themselves dead every year on low-test, oldfashioned Edison DC. And now some crazy Serb wants to have trillions of volts sizzling all up and down the whole blame country? Unthinkable. Irresponsible. Obscene!

3) Westinghouse gave him $1 million cash for the title to all his patents so far, and guaranteed him a $1 royalty—U.S. and foreign—for every unit of horsepower his system might generate.

4) Edison, of course, was desperately filling the #Hearst papers with scientific-sounding jeremiads about the certain and horrible consequences of this alternating-current #witchcraft. Goddammit, it just produced too much juice, Old Tom wailed, the world wasn't ready for it. "Just as certain as death," he guaranteed the papers, "Westinghouse will kill a customer within six months after he puts in a system of any size." To prove it, Edison got a lot of people physically killed, dead forever, with this newfangled Tesla-Westinghouse AC

5) Edison showed the Hearst papers how you could fry live dogs, calves, and ultimately a horse. But it never got him anywhere. Inside ten years, Edison was renting AC from Westinghouse by the megawatt.

7) This is where he would #galvanize and #disintegrate metal plates with his bare fingers, strobing and flaring magnificently in his tux and cummerbund, before awed thousands at the Academy of Music and Carnegie Hall.

8) He even showed the foremen at Alcoa how most efficiently to use Niagara Falls #electric #arc #furnace to extract aluminum out of bauxite ore.

9) He would free humanity of those stupid copper wires, if it was the last thing he did. "I must first ascertain exactly how many vibrations to the second are caused by disturbing the mass of electricity which the earth contains..." #Schumann #Resonance

10) Tesla bouncing signal impulses up through the magnetosphere, from a land-based transmitter to a land-based receiver, was only prelude to some immensely grander notion about driving signals down into the earth itself and having them burst out elsewhere, immeasurably #amplified

11) Lab Fire; Typical of Tesla's life, the lab somehow caught fire just then: all his equipment, models, notes, and a big bundle of hard cash up in smoke, with no insurance. #Insurance?! Nikola Tesla had more important things to do with his money than haggle with insurance agents, those troglodytic slaves to Mammon.

12) Earthquake Machine: By and by they were getting 5, 10, 15 times more energy back out of the ground than it took to run the hammer's air compressor. Eureka! This was something better than [#perpetual] (https://www.facebook.com/hashtag/perpetual?hc_location=ufi) #motion!

13) Colorado Springs: It had to do with a 200-foot metal mast surmounted by a four-foot copper ball, dominating the lonesome Colorado prairie under Pike's Peak. Below this pylon, in a shed, sat Tesla's "magnifying transformer," extruding a primary coil that wound about a 75-foot-diameter fence and stretched up aloft to make contact with the giant copper ball, or "electrode."

14) The visual display would be a challenge to George Lucas. Tesla was casting lightning bolts as high as the Empire State Building, and that was just the stray skim-off from the 12 million volts he was able to pump through this baby continuously. When visitors wanted impressing, Nikola would put up in the night sky whole extended ballets of many-colored "globe lightning"

15) Resonance: Nikola was jamming megafixes of pure juice into Mother Earth, to see how much lightning he could call down out of God's sky to restabilize the local electromagnetic setup. At least this was one part of what he was doing, as frantically as possible, while the money held out. His broader project had something to do with precisely measuring the exact wattage of potential resonance between the electricity within the earth and the electricity in the sky above it.

16) Tesla's Wardencllyffe Tower was designed to shoot all the electric power for the grand Paris Exposition of 1903—all the way across the almighty Atlantic, no hands, no wires, nothing up his sleeve.

RADIANT ENERGY

Jan 9th 1901 "Electricity: A Popular Electrical Journal ..., Volume 20" - Page 86 (Nikola Tesla claims to have discovered a new law in electrical science which will necessitate the re-writing of most of the text books now in use. "The capacity of an electrical conductor ... varies under different conditions ... it is not fixed and unalterable at all ... it is susceptible to great changes ... I observed that the capacity varied with the elevation of the conduction surface above the ground (THE IONOSPHERE).

Nikola Tesla's November 5th 1901 Anniversary (The only Day-Night Perpetual Motion Machine approved at the U.S. Patent Office) an "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy" part of his Worldwide Wireless Power System where the receiver "antenna" is the "meter".

Two months after the assassination of U.S. President McKinley on Oct 6th 1901; on November 11th, Tesla sends JP Morgan legal documents including international patents with improvements on various crucial aspects of his wireless machinery. He promises once again to beat Marconi in the race for the wireless. Morgan acknowledges receipt of the patents in a letter from his secretary to Tesla. However, in December, Marconi successfully transmits the letter S (dot/dot/dot) from England to Canada. <https://www.facebook.com/photo.php?fbid=1631103050535852&set=p.1631103050535852%2F>

Tesla's latest patent up to November 11th, 1901 is his November 5th 1901, "Apparatus for the Utilization of Radiant Energy", a receiving device. <https://google.com/patents/US685957> -- The first referring patent to the "Apparatus" is LIDAR used in Autonomous vehicles like for Tesla Motors. <https://google.com/patents/US3455243> -- Some international patents for improvements in the transmission of electrical energy are here: <http://tfcbooks.com/patents/patents.htm>

100+ Nikola Tesla Letters to JP Morgan <https://youtube.com/watch?v=ZwdaHpeOOWI> -- More on JP Morgan & Tesla <http://teslatech.info/ttmagazine/v4n1/seifer.htm>

Tesla simultaneously patented receiving devices for his transmission system on November 5th 1901 including: US Patent 685,955 Apparatus for Utilizing Effects Transmitted From a Distance to a Receiving Device Through Natural Media - US Patent 585,954 Method of Utilizing Effects Transmitted Through Natural Media - US Patent 685,953 Method of Intensifying and Utilizing Effects Transmitted Through Natural Media. Previously Tesla had already patented a Means for Increasing the Intensity of Electrical Oscillations (superconductivity) on October 22nd 1901, US Patent 685,012, using cold temperature and a superconducting liquid.

"A simple explanation of Tesla's Radiant Energy Receiver by George Trinkaus: "For starters, think of this as a solar-electric panel. Tesla's invention is very different, but the closest thing to it in conventional technology is in photo-voltaics. One radical difference is that conventional solar-electric panels consist of a substrate coated with crystalline silicon; the latest use amorphous silicon. Conventional solar panels are expensive, and, whatever the coating, they are manufactured by esoteric processes. But Tesla's "solar panel" is just a shiny metal plate with a transparent coating of some insulating material which today could be a spray plastic. Stick one of these antenna-like panels up in the air, the higher the better, and wire it to one side of a capacitor, the other going to a good earth ground. Now the energy from the sun is charging that capacitor. Connect across the capacitor some sort of switching device so that it can be discharged at rhythmic intervals, and you have an electric output. Tesla's patent is telling us that it is that simple to get electric energy. The bigger the area of the insulated plate, the more energy you get. But this is more than a 'solar panel' because it does not necessarily need sunshine to operate. It also produces power at night." See another good presentation on Free-Energy Aerial Systems. From Tesla's Radiant Energy Receiver patent he states what the common thinking at the time is about the behavior of electricity and matter, "Minute particles of matter from secondary cosmic rays or the rays render the air and matter as conductive. These radiations are generally considered to be ether vibrations of extremely small wave lengths, and in explanation of the phenomena noted it has been assumed by some authorities that they ionize or render conducting the atmosphere through which they are propagated." Continuing from the patent, Tesla states his theory: "My own experiments and observations, however, lead me to conclusions more in accord with the theory heretofore advanced by me that sources of such radiant energy throw off with great velocity minute particles of matter which are strongly electrified, and therefore capable of charging an electrical conductor, even if not so, may at any rate discharge an electrified conductor either by carrying off bodily its charge or otherwise." "In applying my discovery I provide a condenser, preferably of considerable electrostatic capacity, and connect one of its terminals to an insulated metal plate or other conducting body exposed to the rays or streams of radiant matter." In Nikola Tesla's 1899 Colorado Springs Notes, Tesla used highly polished, large surface area, insulated plates "the plates act as a condenser", elevated tin foiled, copper and brass sphere's, for reasons presumably to absorb and emit or send and receive UV, even at night.

Tesla recommends using his U.S. Patent #611719 for an Electrical Circuit Controller to convert the condenser discharges or his U.S. Patent #609246 for high frequency Electrical Circuit Controller using a conducting liquid. See the 1905 Electrical Chemical Society meetings on Aluminum & Tin Foil Condensers. June 2nd 2015 Physicists make first observation of the pushing pressure of light. COSMIC RAY MOTOR

Brooklyn Eagle 1931 "I have harnessed the cosmic rays caused them to operate a motive device" "25 years ago I began my efforts to harness the cosmic rays and I have succeeded" 1933 New York American, Device to Harness Cosmic Energy "power derived of the universe, cosmic energy, the sun present everywhere in unlimited quantities". The Tesla electric "Back to the Future" car anecdote refers to a supposed Tesla invention described by a Peter Savo (nephew of Tesla), to one Derek Ahers on 9/16/1967. Savo said that Tesla took him to Buffalo, NY in 1931 and showed him a modified Pierce-Arrow car. Tesla had the stock gasoline engine replaced with a brushless AC motor run by a 'cosmic energy receiver" and was driven 50 miles at speeds of up to 88 mph during an 8-day period. Other U.S. patents have been filed: (#3,811,058, #3,879,622, and #4,151,4310), for example, for motors that run exclusively on permanent energy, seemingly tapping into energy circulating through the earth's magnetic field. The first two require a feedback network in order to be self-running. Years later, in 1933, he was more pointed in his remarks about the introduction of his fuel-less generator. In the Philadelphia Public Ledger of November 2, is an interview with Tesla under the headline: Tesla 'Harnesses' Cosmic Energy. In it he was asked whether the sudden introduction of his principle would upset the present economic system, Dr. Tesla replied, "It is badly upset already." He added: "Now as never before was the time ripe for the development of new resources." At a press conference to celebrate his 76th birthday, Tesla announced that he had invented a cosmic-ray motor. In 1931, under the financing of Tesla Pierce-Arrow and George Westinghouse, a 1931 Pierce-Arrow was selected to be tested at the factory grounds in Buffalo, N.Y. The standard internal combustion engine was removed and an 80-H.P. 1800 r.p.m electric motor installed to the clutch and transmission. The A.C. motor measured 40 inches long and 30 inches in diameter and the power leads were left standing in the air - no external power source. At the appointed time, Nikola Tesla arrived from New York City and inspected the Pierce-Arrow automobile. He then went to a local radio store and purchased a handful of tubes, wires and assorted resistors. A box measuring 24 inches long, 12 inches wide and 6 inches high was assembled housing the circuit. The box was then placed on the front seat and had its wires connected to the air cooled, brushless motor. Two rods 1/4" in diameter stuck out of the box about 3" in length. Mr. Tesla got into the driver's seat, pushed the two rods in and stated, "We now have power." He put the car into gear and it moved forward. This vehicle, powered by an A.C. motor, was driven to speeds of 90 m.p.h. and performed better than any internal combustion engine of its day. One week was spent testing the vehicle. Several newspapers in Buffalo reported this test. When asked where the power came from, Tesla replied, "From the ethers all around us."... In the 1970's, an inventor used an Ev-Gray generator, which intensified battery current, the voltage being induced to the field coils by a very simple programmer (sequencer). By allowing the motor to charge separate batteries as the device ran, phenomenally tiny currents were needed. The device was tested at the Crosby Research Institute of Beverly Hills, Ca., a 10- horsepower EMA motor ran for over a week (9 days) on four standard automobile batteries. The inventors estimated that a 50-horsepower electric motor could traverse 300 miles at 50 m.p.h. before needing a re-charge. <http://peswiki.com/directory:teslas-pierce-arrow>

WIRELESS POWER & ACTION AT A DISTANCE

Nikola Tesla describes, builds, patents and executes "Action at a Distance" in his Colorado Springs Experiments from 1899-1900. In 1900, Tesla publicly states "If I can send energy 22 miles away, why can't I send matter"? Emanating matter from the Ether. Nikola Tesla, "The True Wireless" 1919. Tesla further describes his system as unlimited number of secure, instantaneous, uninterrupted, to any distance, no limits to the power with less than a 5% loss, channels. FASTER THAN LIGHT

Nikola Tesla denied that Einstein's theory was true, not just because he rejected the idea that matter is convertible into energy, and energy into matter, or the existence of space-time, but because he himself had measured speeds traveling faster than light in numerous experiments... In 1899 he conducted experiments at Colorado Springs where he sent currents from his transmitter around earth and back to his receiver traveling at a mean velocity of 292,815 miles per second. On April of 1900 he published a patent on this transmitter titled the Art of Transmitting Electrical Energy Through the Natural Medium, which was just a play thing compared to his Magnifying Transmitter patented in 1914. Not only this, but as far back as 1896 he conducted experiments on cosmic rays where he measured cosmic ray velocities from the star, Antares, which he measured to be fifty times greater than the speed of light, thus demolishing one of the basic pillar of the structure of relativity.

Passages from Tesla's patent 787,412 were included verbatim in the introduction for special attention: -- The most essential requirement is that irrespective of frequency the wave or wave-train should continue for a certain period of time, which I have estimated to be not less than one-twelfth or probably 0.08484 of a second and which is taken in passing to and returning from the region diametrically opposite the pole over the earth's surface with a mean velocity of about 471,240 kilometers per second [292,822 miles per second, a velocity equal to one and a half times the "official" speed of light].

Dr Bell and Dr Ramachers re-investigated ideas about the photoelectric effect dating back to Nikola Tesla and Albert Einstein when they considered whether these ideas could be used for modern solar power -- leading to the development of this new process.

- 100% zero-emission vehicle acquisitions by 2035, including 100% zero-emission light-duty vehicle acquisitions by 2027

- Net-zero emissions from federal procurement no later than 2050, including a Buy Clean policy to promote use of construction materials with lower embodied emissions
- A net-zero emissions building portfolio by 2045, including a 50%emissions reduction by 2032
- Net-zero emissions from overall federal operations by 2050, including a 65% emissions reduction by 2030.

Heat Pump

Nikola Tesla purposes a #heat #pump method of generating energy from the temperature difference between the upper and lower Ocean. December 24 2019 Makai has been heavily involved in ocean energy research since the 1970s, especially on ocean thermal energy conversion (OTEC) and seawater air conditioning (SWAC) systems. Since 1978, Makai has been involved in over 50 contracts related to ocean energy, including the design of the world's first commercial SWAC system, and the design, build, and operation of the world's largest operational OTEC plant. <https://www.makai.com/about>

Their new invention is capable of drawing energy from thermal differences in ambient air. Their earlier wireless patents are capable of drawing excess heat generated by a resonant energy transfer induction coil receiver or generator and recycling that energy. <https://patents.google.com/patent/US9748039>

Deep Geothermal

Geothermal could provide 500 Gigawatts, or 1/2 the current electrical power needs if the U.S. <https://ww2.kqed.org/science/2018/02/05/the-forgotten-renewable-geothermal-energy-production-heats-up-in-the-mojave/>

Hydroelectric power, just the high spots, according to Nikola Tesla in 1904 could provide another 150GW, today 300GW and "would displace the need for Billions of slaves" Williams says scientists and engineers are still working on the technology for enhanced geothermal systems, but if they are able to make it a reality, that could potentially open up thousands of megawatts of energy potential from new reservoirs. And that could someday take from the country's current 3,000 megawatts of geothermal energy production to almost 500,000 MW.

The energy of the raised water can propel a ship or pump water or the energy can be converted by turbines and alternators into electricity. The electricity in turn can be used to produce combustible gas or artificial gasoline to propel vehicles and aircraft. <http://google.ch/patents/WO2012150483A1>

Nix said that "they understand behavioural microtargeting in the context of elections" but that they were "failing to make the connection between voters and their consumers". The work, he said, would be "shared with the CEO of the business", a former Soviet oil minister and associate of Putin, Vagit Alekperov. "It didn't make any sense to me," says Wylie. ELECTRICAL SELF COOLING

Krypton was discovered in 1898 "is obtained by the fractional distillation of liquid air", the same method to produce liquid (N) or liquid (O₂); can be made in Nuclear Power Plants. Nikola Tesla's June 1900 article "Problem of Increasing Human Energy", he compares extracting energy from the environment to the work of others who were learning to condense atmospheric gases into liquids. He cited Dr. Karl Linde who discovered what Tesla described as a "self-cooling" method for liquefying air.

Ruby Laser & LIFI

Nikola Tesla invented the laser light, ruby laser <https://books.google.com/books?id=rwekkS3oD0EC&pg=PA118&lpg=PA118&dq=nikola+tesla+ruby+laser>

Tesla Ruby Laser lamp was so constructed so as to place a piece of matter such as carbon, or a diamond or a ruby, in the center, and bombard this "button" with electrical energy that would bounce off the button onto the inside of the globe and bounce back onto the button. If this were a ruby, and Tesla specifically worked with rubies, then is exactly how a ruby laser is created. Tesla refers in INVENTIONS to a "pencil-thin" line of light that was created with this device. It is my belief that Tesla not only invented the ruby laser in 1893, but he also demonstrated it and published it's results. The problem with the device was that it was set up so as to "vaporize," or destroy, the button, so that the laser effects were probably short-lived.

IEEE: Simulation of Nikola Tesla's Atmospheric (Maser) Discharges. In this paper, an attempt is made in the laboratory to simulate Nikola Tesla atmospheric maser discharges. The ground lightning bolt, commonly observed, takes the form of filamentary lightning channels called the leader and the return strokes. It is taken that Nikola Tesla atmospheric discharges are obtained when a powerful high-frequency source triggers the atmospheric discharge and enables the energy stored in the cumulonimbus clouds to be released in the form of maser radiations, which are accompanied by a diffuse glow-like discharge covering a large area, as in the case of the aurora borealis. The main point in the current investigation is the generation of the powerful hydrogen atom (maser) line at 1.420 GHz recorded under the condition of high humidity present in air. This suggests that the driving frequency of high power at a frequency close to 1 GHz is capable of electrolysis of the water vapor present in air, dissociation of the hydrogen molecule into atoms, excitation of atomic hydrogen, and consequent emission from the hydrogen atoms in the manner found in the hydrogen atomic clock.

MANUFACTURING DIAMONDS

In 1891-1892, and by the 1893 Worlds Fair, before inventing his own monopolar Incandescent "Carbon Button" lamp <https://teslauniverse.com/nikolatesla/patents/us-patent-514170-incandescent-electric-light>

Nikola Tesla had reportedly planned on using the Edison "Carbon Filament" lamp in his A/C demonstrations at the Worlds Fair. Edison reportedly denied Tesla the use of the Edison lamp. <http://www.instructables.com/community/Carbon-Button-Lamp-1/>

Tesla then proceeded to invent his own Incandescent Lamp in just a few months. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Carbon_button_lamp -- It's a "Carbon Button", lamp that was manufactured in the same concurrent fashion as his machines that manufacture Diamonds as a by-product, but using a Tesla "Electric Furnace". <https://books.google.com/books?id=jKNIAQAAMAAJ&pg=PA271&lpg=PA271&dq=nikola+tesla+electrical+furnace+diamonds>

The Carbon Button lamp was described by Tesla as a long lasting carbon crystal light, that also could substitute Ruby's, (the Ruby Laser) and other crystals. Between 1893-1895, it was reported that Nikola Tesla had perfected the methods used to manufacture artificial diamonds. <https://books.google.com/books?id=GR4iAQAIAAJ&pg=PA79&lpg=PA79&dq=electrical+furnace+tesla>

With Tesla's inventions we can manufacture Crystals, Metals & Gasses. In this case, by July of 1894, (Before Tesla's NY Lab Burns to the Ground) the "Queens Quarterly" predicted these Tesla methods would be "perfected" as to the method to use Coal Ash, Charcoal to manufacture Diamonds in Electrical Furnaces. GROWING CRYSTALS

The mainstream media responds to the Nikola Tesla methods of manufacturing diamonds with a propaganda story about the "Pink Star" Steinmetz diamond valued at $71M
<http://smithsonianmag.com/smart-news/712-million-diamond-just-set-new-world-record-180962789/>

What's the connection? https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pink_Star_\(diamond\)) Charles Steinmetz was a contemporary and competitor to Nikola Tesla, hired by Thomas Edison to work for JP Morgan's (GE). <https://teslaresearch.jimdo.com/niagara-falls-power-project-1888/charles-proteussteinmetz-1865-1923/>

Steinmetz was familiar with Tesla's work on "Electric Furnaces" used to manufacture crystals at high temperature. Enough so as to file his own patent for an Electric Furnace in 1900, using what he calls "pyro-electrolytes" <https://google.com/patents/US773821>

Steinmetz describes the process from the patent "Most precious stones-as topaz, sapphire, emerald, and ruby are alumina or aluminum silicate more or less colored by foreign material. Others are oxide and silicate of beryllia and zirconia. I have thus found by experiment that by heating aluminum silicate by this means it fuses to a transparent mass, colored yellowish in the present instance by impurities and of the nature, hardness, and composition of topaz, and I have also succeeded by small traces of chromic oxid and cobaltic oxid in getting green and blue transparent masses of the nature of emerald and sapphire, while in other cases I have produced a red color." Although Steinmetz has over 100 patents, most have little or no referring patents.

DEBUNKING NIKOLA TESLA

Response to commenters who claim "They know everything about "Nikola Tesla"", then go on to claim they can "debunk" Tesla. Even though it's unlikely they know how to spell his name. Tesla Leaks has sourced the documents and admission by Tesla and the Library of Congress in 1891, his name is spelt with a (C) "Nicola Tesla". <http://www.teslaleaks.com/> -- Some think that everything online about Tesla, is made up! How do you know "everything"? You've read all the top secret documents in every country on Earth, you must work for the CIA. In fact, you must have written the entire un-redacted FBI File and the other 3 files referred to in the FBI File. Do you have the Alien skeletons too? And the real pictures of Space, not the 100% fake Photoshop pictures NASA puts out. To his credit, Tesla invented Photoshop in 1899 with his composite picture of him sitting there inside his Colorado Springs Lab. Either way, the Tyrannasaur bone, rock, fossil fuel tooth looking thing you have might catch $10M on eBay. The 800,000 documents, newspapers, articles and 900 patents and Inventions at the Tesla Museum much available online to find in 5 seconds is "made up"? You must have also worked for the 13 companies Doctor Tesla owned, have his 600 missing patents and Inventions (900 FBI File) and read the 400,000 documents at the Tesla Museum. You also must have worked at the Tesla society in 1915, worked at his Museum that was bombed in WW2 and the one that Bill Clinton bombed in 1999. You must be sure "he had it all in his head". Of course it also helps to have the other 400,000 documents, 40 trunk's, 30 bundles, a safe and a multi-decade resistance box you were able to crack, which John G Trump admitting reviewed in Tesla's NY storage unit and also have seen the two pictures of everything the FBI said they took. Sava Kosanovich told the FBI under oath that the 200 page notebook Tesla was writing, was also missing. You must have snatched that too! Even beyond that, you must have gotten access to Einstein's brain held in (according to Tesla, non destructive) cryogenic freezing at CERN. And of course you are aware that Tesla has the earliest patent for superconductivity "Means for increasing electrical intensity oscillations using cold temperature" in 1900. As you know, CERN gets it's superconductive gasses like Krypton using a Westinghouse Nuclear Power Plant or Tesla's Electrical method using his 1897 Patent and Apparatus for producing Ozone and other gasses. The point being, with Einstein's brain you can figure out Nuclear Power and Nuclear Bomb Hoax, since, according to UN and US law, Nuclear is considered "classified on birth". It's a benefit if you can speak and write 13 languages, because his Serbian handwriting is terrible. They should have brought you in to analyze the Tesla papers, instead of the FBI bringing in Deforest. If you we're right there like his Assistants Kolman Tzito Father and Son, Lowenstein, Scherff or Fitzgerald, you might have seen it all. Like all other great minds study scientists before them, it's also great that you have the 1000 points of lights, tubes that Tesla said under oath of his 1922 Supreme Court foreclosure appeals case, that each light described a scientific secret. We're all glad you have that, because, it's been missing since 1943. Since Fitzgerald told the FBI director in 1945 that because the Russians had access to "the Entire Tesla Collection" behind the Iron Curtain, and because of experiments going on at Hill AFB, that he was soliciting Army Intelligence and "Wealthy Backers" like the Ford Foundation, to accumulate all they can on Tesla's effects and turn them into "Idea Factories". Being a double-agent for the Army and the Air Force, and a Russian agent would be the coup de gras; you might even get to work for Alex Jones at Infowars. If you could return those audio recordings of Tesla's real voice and videos of the real person, since they are also ALL missing, that would be great. If you could just fallaciously go back in time like Einstein said, then you could have asked Tesla's financier in Radio, Peck, his financiers John Astor & JP Morgan, his last co-designer in Wardencllyffe, the famous Stanford White or even President William McKinley what they knew about Wireless Power and the Death Ray, because they were all assassinated. Granted, Tesla did tell JP Morgan that if he did not provide the next $250,000 or more to finish Wardencllyffe that you, JP Morgan would "Never see that machinery". But, since Tesla stated in his 1919 Autobiography in Electrical Experimenter, he wanted to dispell a rumor in the press about the destruction of his tower, Wardencllyffe, he said "They were building more of them". In the same Autobiography he states "every one of my Inventions prior to 1919 worked 100% as he prescribed". Days after Tesla dies, Spanel tells the FBI that Fitzgerald told him that Tesla had "completed and perfected" wireless power transmission and that the main goal of Tesla's latest works was to provide electricity to the world absolutely for free. Is Tesla lying? If you think so, prove it!

Trump, a professor at MIT from 1936 to 1973, was involved in radar research for the Allies in the Second World War, and helped design X-ray machines and Electron Therapy that prolonged the lives of cancer patients; in 1943, the Federal Bureau of Investigation requested John Trump examine Nikola Tesla's papers and equipment when Tesla died in his room at the New Yorker Hotel.[9] Vignettes of early radiation workers with John G. Trump, DSc Professor of electrical engineering MIT. Moderated by Lauriston S. Taylor. In his video series "Vignettes of Early Radiation Workers" Taylor interviews pioneers on topics in "fields that have impinged on the applications of ionizing radiation to diagnostic and therapeutic radiology"; Trump has been involved in the "development of high-voltage radiation producing machines making them available for research applications such as medicine." TO THE MOON: TESLA SAYS NO

ROCKETS TO THE MOON? No, says Tesla!

At the time I talked to Dr. Tesla the newspapers were discussing the possibility of the flight of a rocket to the moon.

"No rocket," he insisted, "will reach the moon save by a miraculous discovery of an explosive far more energetic than any known. And even if the requisite fuel were produced, it would still have to be shown that the rocket machine would operate at four hundred and fifty-nine degrees below zero — the temperature of interplanetary space.

"The mean distance of the moon," he explained, "is 238,862 miles, and its mass 1/81.8 that of the earth's. Travel 215,085 miles away from the earth, and the gravitational attraction of earth and moon will be equal."

"To project a missile as far as that point will mean starting at an initial velocity of 6.8815 miles a second — not making additional allowance for the atmosphere's retarding action. And irrespective of this speed, which might be less in a rocket than a projectile from a gun, the actual work performed in lifting each pound of weight skyward would be 20,499,712

footpounds of energy, requiring 26,346 B. t. u., or heat units, produced by the burning of the fuel. Even if the rocket weighed only a pound for every pound of fuel it carried, just twice this amount, or 52,692 B. t. u., must be developed for every pound of fuel.

“Now when you consider that the thermal efficiency could hardly exceed forty percent, and the mean propulsive efficiency fifty percent, 263,460 B. t. u. must be evolved by every pound of fuel — an enormous quantity of energy, about sixty times greater than that of dynamite! Although diminishing fuel weight and weakening gravity would make the rocket's path easier as it progressed, it is evident that no known fuel could drive it clear to the moon.”

This discussion of tremendous power suggested the possibility of harnessing atomic energy.

“The scheme is worse than that of a perpetual motion machine — for the latter will almost work!” he exclaimed. “A motor driven by atomic power is unrational because it would take far more energy to break up an atom's structure than can be recovered in more useful work.”

On the whole subject of matter, in fact, Dr. Tesla holds views that are startlingly original. He disagrees with the accepted atomic theory of matter, and does not believe in the existence of an “electron” as pictured by science — or, he maintains, if it can exist at all, it does so only in perfect vacuum.

“To account for its apparently small mass, science conceives the electron as a hollow sphere, a sort of bubble,” Tesla says. “Now, a bubble can exist in such a medium as a gas or liquid because its internal pressure is not altered by deformation. But if, as supposed, the internal pressure of an electron is due to the repulsion of electric masses, the slightest conceivable deformation must result in the destruction of the bubble!

“Just to mention another improbability, the force tending to tear an electron apart is, in pounds per square inch, represented by the staggering figure of 256,899 followed by twenty-one zeros — and this is 513,798,000,000,000,000,000 times greater than the tension that tungsten wire can withstand! And yet it does not burst! Not even when it is hurled against an obstacle with a speed hundreds of thousands times greater than that of a bullet!

And — more widely interesting in this day of radio — this strange, many-sided man clings to the opinion he expressed in his scientific investigations published from 1896-1898, that the source of all rays we know is always a stream of tangible particles or “corpuscles,” rather than waves or vibrations. Even before the discovery of radium, Tesla expressed his belief that radioactive rays were of this sort, a view ridiculed at that time. When radium was discovered it was found actually to emit particles of matter — flying nuclei of helium atoms, called “alpha” rays. Tesla has maintained ever since that radium is not a generator but a transformer of energy, the emanations being caused by cosmic rays of immense power capable of penetrating all obstacles however thick. The existence of this radiation — which, he says, should not be confounded with the comparatively very feeble “cosmic rays” observed more recently — he has proved by mathematical theory agreeing closely with experiment.

These conclusions Tesla has drawn from experiments with a remarkable vacuum tube of his own invention, with a single electrode, operated at millions of volts.
