

Baltimore POWER Group is about building a network of resources. Baltimore POWER Group's primary mission is to respect, nurture and grow positive business and personal relationships. Any negativity towards a member has the potential to damage a member's reputation and reflect poorly on the Baltimore POWER Group as a whole.

The purpose of this Code of Ethics is to affirm and, in a comprehensive statement, establish mandatory standards of conduct and practice for all members to avoid negativity of any kind, towards the group and its members. This applies to comments being disseminated outside of the group as well about any of its group members.

Our network affords a large amount of knowledge that can and should be shared with the group. All information shall be handled with privacy, confidentiality, and professionalism, as it pertains to the membership of the group.

Any reported disrespectful behavior towards any member within the group either directly or indirectly will result in the following repercussion to the originating member.

First offense:           Warning

Second Offence:     Permanent removal from membership

Bottom line is that you don't have to like your fellow members but you must respect each one.
