

Liberated Problem Solvers

147 Prince Street
Brooklyn, New York

WHAT WE ARE DOING:

Liberated Problem Solvers prepares young adults ages 16 – 18 years old for entry level employment opportunities. Students have candid conversations with adults who share their career journey and expertise in leadership development sessions that give young adults insight and understanding about workplace culture, communication, and building social capital to launch their careers.

WHY WE DO IT:

Liberated Problem Solvers is part of the Liberated Success echo system that aims to disrupt the lack of opportunity, economic mobility, and social capital that so many students experience in transitioning from school to work. We are creating an intergenerational community that promotes wellness and growth in the workplace.

"I attended a speed networking thing for another program, I had my LinkedIn page complete and I was the only student with a picture. It was easy for me to connect with the person I was most interested in learning more from, they did not know I was getting my Liberated Success on!"

ABOUT OUR PROGRAM

Liberated Problem Solvers is a 12-week hybrid career leadership development program for high school students. We move students in cohorts into employment opportunities. Employers receive employment-ready students who have strong interpersonal skills and have an understanding of workplace culture. We support employers and our students in the interview, onboarding, and employee retention process, so that the employment opportunity is a successful process for all. Contact us for a strategic partnership meeting.
