AGED TO PERFECTION

by Linda Mojer

Florida players at the 1988 Ektelon US National Singles Championships in Houston used their holiday weekend to showcase first-rate athletic talents that have improved, rather than diminished, with age. Fifty-six "Team Florida" hopefuls traveled to compete in twenty-eight skill and age divisions, and each earned a share of the limelight in their own distinctive way.

Close to 1200 matches were entered by nearly 700 players in this year's Nationals, requiring "doubled" draw sheets in most of the divisions. The Men's Open alone packed 119 players into the first round, followed by 87 in the As and 73 in 19+. Participation by women was up by 30% over last year, with 56, 46 and 43 in the Open, As and 25+ respectively. In these much larger age divisions, "Team Florida" men and women reached the quarterfinals in twenty brackets, the semi-finals in sixteen, and the finals of ten.

In two of the toughest age divisions for both men and women (the 25s and 30s), Jacksonville players took the spotlight and made a beeline for the finals. Only recently eligible to compete in the 30s, Mark Morrison dazzled a dedicated following (and a long list of opponents) with a consistently flawless series of against-all-odds wins throughout the weekend. Those outstanding performances, in a total of 10 matches, placed him in the finals of both the men's 25+ and 30+ divisions.

Not one to delay celebrations, Morrison succumbed to a dinner invitation from Joe and Joanna Serabia on Sunday night at an out-of-the-way Mexican restaurant where he had to dodge a pie in the face for his trouble. The Serabias, Lori Basch and Mike Winslow shared the pleasure of the mock birthday prank, and snapped the photos reproduced below. Despite all the fun, Mark paid for the night's outing - before, during and after his early 30+ final on Monday - and was unable to strip #1 seeded Bobby Corcoran of Arizona of his 1987 title. Undaunted, the "animal" regained enough strength and conviction between matches to win the 25+ final against #3 seeded Dave Negrete of Illinois, in an 11-7 tiebreaker. Then, it was "on the road again," as he and Brent Huber headed straight for the highway and a long haul home, bearing silver and gold for the northeast corner of the state.

Not far behind (but by air) were two more medallion winners from the Jacksonville area. With national doubles titles as a team already to their credit, Susan Morgan and Mary Lyons each demonstrated individual talents in the Women's Open, 25+ and 30+ divisions. Florida spectators, already familiar with the quantum leap in Susan Morgan's abilities over the past year, watched her steadily advance through the Women's Open draw. It was no surprise to find her, after three quick victories, in the qualifying quarterfinal round of the Open division. There, a single tie-breaker against California's Lisa Anthony stood between her and a spot on the National Team. That tie-breaker became a heartbreaker when, after chipping away Anthony's 9-2 lead, the match ended at 11-10 with a roll-out backhand pinch by the California youngster.

Although clearly disappointed as well as fatigued, Susan promptly regained her composure and redirected her attention to the task of defending her 30+ title. Her Sunday match against Colleen Shields of Chicago commanded every bit of her concentration, and another tie-breaker, to successfully put her back on track. On Monday morning, in a repeat performance, Morgan concluded a half dozen rounds of play in the division by defeating her 1987 opponent, #2 seeded Gail Woods of Louisiana 15-8, 15-13.

Making a return appearance on the national tournament circuit, Mary Lyons also made a dent in two age divisions, including the newly-reached 30+ bracket. She moved along briskly there, too, until meeting up with Joann Slater of Tennessee in the round of sixteen. After playing three games revolving around point eleven, Mary was also forced to redirect her attention to remaining rounds in a second bracket. Boasting a remarkable five round "run" of two-game matches in Women's 25+, Mary took the court for her final against former National team member Malia Kamahoahoa-Bailey on Monday and wished for a third game. It wasn't to be, however, and Mary had to content herself with a silver medal at a National championship within a year of having her second child. Perhaps its the childbearing part that gives her that forehand. . .

Now, that's a theory that could hold water for the remaining Florida finalists in the women's divisions. All moms and all tough, Jo Kenyon, Judi Schmidt and Agatha Falso each brought home some precious metal from the Women's 55+, 50+, 45+ and 40+ divisions. Not content with a single award, Jo Kenyon earned one National title by winning the Women's 55+ round-robin, then followed up with a straight-game victory over #1 seeded Kathy Mueller of Minnesota 15-14, 15-13 in the 50s.

In an unfortunate turn of events, Judi Schmidt had to forfeit her 45+ final when her match (also against Mueller, seeded #6) was scheduled at the same time as the 50+ final. Mueller opted to play Kenyon first, despite a time conflict with Schmidt's early afternoon return flight. While Agatha Falso was lucky enough to actually play her match, she was equally disappointed by California's Meri Jean Kelley in the 40s. Nonetheless, a sum total of three gold medals and three silvers for Florida ladies in 1988 is an impressive record that any state is hard-pressed to equal.

A handsome example of a "racquetball marriage" at its best, Jay Schwartz and Babette Bell made a welcome reappearance at the Nationals, adding another medal to the Florida stack with a silver in the Men's 40+. Seeded #6, Schwartz left the starting gate of the 67-draw bracket by leaving Texans Dave Arnold, Robert Gloden and David Pearson in the dust of the first three rounds, then quickly advancing past #3 seeded Herb Grigg of Illinois and #7 James Peters of Indiana.

Despite losing the two-game final against defending champion Johnny Hennon of Tennessee, Jay was nonetheless pleased with his performance. After six matches in the 40s and two in the 35s, Jay commented that "everything else hurts BUT the hamstring" [which was taped all weekend], and began looking for a place to lie down. Babette, on the other hand, was itching to play. She'll have to wait, though, until after the two announce the birth of their second child in a few weeks. (What will that do to her forehand? Or his?)

Sonny Marcus also put in his share of court time in four matches (three requiring tie-breakers) before reaching the finals of the Men's 50+ division. After a bye in the first round, #1 seeded Marcus defeated John Powell of Texas, Sid Williams of Washington, Rex Lawler of Indiana and John Fay of Texas before meeting the formidable Bobby Sanders of Ohio. After the two-game final, Sonny was awarded the silver, bringing Florida's medallion total to 10.

Scott Reiff of Coral Springs (seeded #27) earned a bronze medal in Men's A by defeating #5 seeded David Kuhns of Montana, after a semi-final loss to Joel Bonnett of Michigan, who went on to win the division in the next round. Eighty-seven players entered Men's A, and much of Scott's advance through the sizable draw was captured on film by his father Ben - quite possibly for use as training footage for the upcoming Junior Nationals!

Scott Reiff receives his third place trophy in Men's A from AARA Executive Director Luke St. Onge.

Defending Women's Open champion Diane Green re-qualified for a spot on the US National Racquetball Team by reaching the semi-finals, but went no further in the draw after meeting the willful and determined Junior National champion Michelle Gilman of Ontario, Oregon. Tim Hansen's defense of his Men's 25+ title was also rudely interrupted at the semi-final stage after he was involved in an automobile accident late Saturday evening. Although he and his companions were not seriously injured after being bounced around by a drunk driver, their rental car was totalled and a required hospital check-up took the remainder of the night.

Although James Lorello played superbly in the Men's Open through the quarterfinals, it was a forfeit win in his third round match against Enson Inoue of Hawaii which drew the most attention. During the tie-breaker, a volatile combination of factors including intense rallies, overzealous spectators, poor judgement and uncontrolled frustration resulted in a gallery brawl. A verbal exchange between Jeff Leon (in the viewing stands) and Enson Inoue (on the court) was compounded by action on the part of Egan Inoue (from out of nowhere), all of which escalated into total chaos in a few short seconds. After the three were forcibly separated by over a dozen peacekeepers and one massive YMCA employee, the match was forfeited to James and the Inoue brothers were withdrawn from the tournament.

On a more positive note, two Florida women were honored at the 20th Anniversary AARA Awards Banquet on Saturday evening. Performing his presidential AARA duties with special pride, Van Dubolsky presented the AARA Female Athlete of the Year award to Diane Green, who accepted with "thanks to all the players in Florida, who are a constant reminder of what racquetball is all about." To a completely clueless Linda Mojer, Van presented the 1988 John Halverson Award for service to racquetball and the AARA. Unaccustomed to public speaking, Linda claimed instead to "give good phone," then babbled for a while before returning to her seat to face the uncontrolled hysterics of the entire "Team Florida" section.

In addition to those winners mentioned previously, several other Florida players made excellent showings in this year's Nationals. Other quarterfinalists included: Mitt Layton in Men's 35+, Jeff Leon (M45+), Ed Vlock (M50+), Mal Roberts (M55+), Kersten Hallander in Women's 19+, Barbara Simmons (W25+), Janis Smith (W35+), Mary McNutt (W45+) and Shirley Elgaway (W50+).

At a "Team Florida" dinner on Sunday, over forty of the players gathered to exchange travel horror stories and speculate on the finals. Gene Owen and Brian Rankin related the joy of an eight hour flight in a very small aircraft with Ed Vlock at the controls - during which sleeping became a creative effort at best. Mitt Layton and Glenn Warren were among the "car-poolers" along with Joe and Joanna Serabia. Facing the tail end of a long weekend with an even longer road trip did not appeal to most of the flyers, but then neither did cancelled flights, re-routing and late arrivals.

All in all, the 1988 Memorial Day Weekend lived up to its name - giving each and every one of the hundreds of players something to remember. Team Florida also gave players from every other state in the nation something to remember in the form of tough competition, good sportsmanship, and individual personalities that sparkle like the sun on the surf. . .

NATIONAL NEWS: An AARA Update

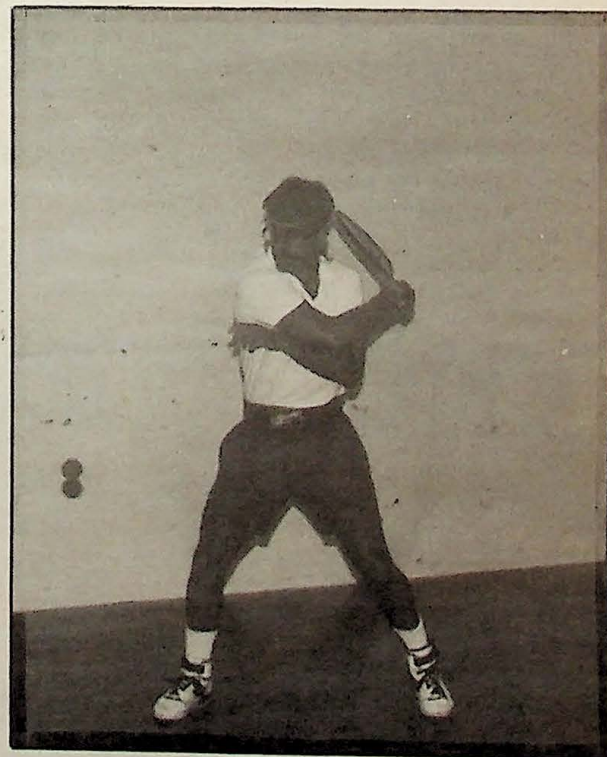

The annual AARA election took place at National Singles in Houston, and our Georgia neighbor Otto Dietrich was appointed to replace Jon Denley on the Board of Directors. Otto was also offered the position of National Rules Commissioner, which he accepted without hesitation. Election results named Keith Calkins, Paul Henrickson, and Carol Pellowski to the board as well.

Two rule changes were also approved at the Board of Directors meeting in Houston, and both will go into effect on September 1, 1988. The first is merely a name change, replacing the term "avoidable hinder" with "point hinder." Since the word "avoidable" implies "intentional," it is hoped that the change will make the call clearer. There are no changes in what constitutes a "point hinder" (interference with the point in play) and calls should be made in accordance with present rulebook guidelines.

The second rule change limits the number of appeals a player may make per game. In each game of any match, three LOSING appeals will be allowed per player. Each time a player makes an appeal, the result of that appeal will be noted. When a player LOSES an appeal, a deduction will be made from the allowable three. No further appeals will be permitted once a player has "lost" three appeals, EXCEPT on the final point of the game. Players will retain the right to a "game-ending" appeal regardless of the "count." Appeals WON will not count against the limit of three.

Basically, the player must now consider the outcome (their chance of overturning a referee's call) before making an appeal. It is hoped that this particular rule change will keep games at an even pace and eliminate manipulative appeals like the "service foot fault" on oneself after the side out has been called, etc.

The Olympic movement for racquetball received an important boost earlier this year when the USOC passed a landmark constitutional amendment making all Group C Sports (including racquetball) eligible to participate in future Olympic Festivals as demonstration sports. Olympic Festivals are held annually between regular Olympic Games, and feature all Olympic and Pan Am sports. The 1989 Festival will be held in Oklahoma City, then move to Minneapolis-St. Paul in 1990 and Los Angeles in 1991.

ADULT REGIONALS AT RACQUETPOWER/JACKSONVILLE

Evidently relieved at having completed their taxes just in time, close to 300 players took a long weekend off to compete in the 1988 Ektelon Region Four Championships in Jacksonville, April 14-17. Although the tournament was for singles play only, the expert doubles team of Mary Lyons and Susan Morgan paired up to run the tournament with the help of Curtis Winter, Charlie Krestul and Margaret Frost. Between the five, matches ran within fifteen minutes of their scheduled times throughout the weekend, problems were resolved with good humor and players were kept happy and well-fed to the bitter end.

Florida kept its share of regional titles at home by winning 24 of the 31 divisions of play, assuring good seeding positions at the National Championships in Houston. Georgia and South Carolina also enjoyed good showings in the semi-finals and up, while the long travel distance for North Carolina players clearly affected attendance from that state.

The men's open division seeded Sergio Gonzalez, Tim Hansen, Curtis Winter and Charlie Nichols in 1-4 order, while the women's open set Diane Green, Florida newcomer Trina Rasmussen, Susan Morgan and Martha McDonald in the top four positions. In each of the two open divisions, an unranked challenger upset the "seeding applecart" by reaching the semi-finals.

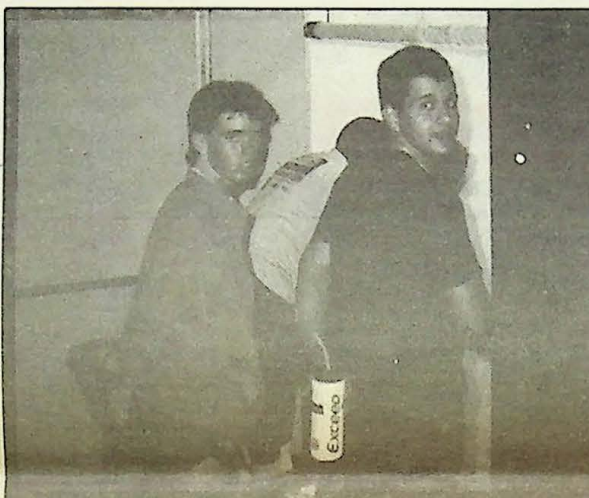

In men's open, it was Mark Morrison who advanced beyond the quarterfinal by defeating #3 seeded Curtis Winter in straight games of 15-6, 15-7. On the women's side, Mary Lyons sidestepped #2 Trina Rasmussen in a three-game win of 14-15, 15-7, 11-5 to reach the semis. Unfortunately, neither challenger continued on their winning streak, and the two open finals ended up becoming classic match-ups between Tim Hansen/Charlie Nichols and Susan Morgan/Martha McDonald. There it was Hansen and Morgan who were forced to make trunk space in their respective cars to accommodate towering first place trophies.

While Kevin Gallagher, Zack Craft and Marshall Weiner engage in some power spectating (above), Tim Hansen glances over his shoulder to survey the crowd at Regionals.

★All individuals marked with an asterisk within the skill divisions are no longer eligible to compete in that division, and must be placed in the next higher skill draw in Florida tournament play. This notation is made to help tournament directors eliminate sandbagging, and as an incentive to players to "move up" in ability by competing in the next skill level. The "cut-off" levels are: "A" = 230 & up, "B" = 180 & up, "C" = 130 & up, "D" = 80 & up. Once you have reached the maximum point designation in the listed skill divisions, you must play at the next higher level. For details on the "cut-off" list policy and procedures, please contact any Florida Racquetball Association Board Member.

"Juniors Play Out of Bounds"

Region Four juniors from Panama City and Atlanta played "out of zone" on May 14 in the 1988 Ektelon Junior Region Five Championships in nearby Montgomery, Alabama. At least for players in the Panhandle and Georgia, it was "nearby," taking only a 3-4 hour drive in both instances. The challenge of a Montgomery junior regional tournament was too good an opportunity to miss, and the Power Court Players defeated their share of rival "Montgomery Roll-Outs" before the weekend was over. Region Five results for Florida were:

Toby Jobson [1st/G12, 1st/G12 Dbls, 1st/MX12 Dbls.]
Mark Hurst [1st/B10, 2nd/B12, 2nd/B12 Dbls.]
Kimmi O'Connor [2nd/G12, 1st/G12 Dbls.]

JUNIOR REGIONALS AT OMEGA 40

On a somewhat smaller scale, yet no less exciting in its competition, the 1988 SE Junior Regionals at Omega 40 attracted fifty-seven entrants from Florida and Georgia to Ormond Beach over the weekend of May 6-8. With the expert guidance of tournament directors Tasso Kiriakes, Scott Nelson and Shun Lo, the youngsters were treated to their own unique brand of match play and entertainment throughout the weekend. "Beach Party Madness" on Saturday night featured a full evening's worth of fun and barbeque on the beachfront of local tournament sponsor, the Makai Inn.

The most surprising turn of events occurred in the largest draw of the tournament, the Boy's 16 and under singles. In that division semi-final, #1 seeded Robby Walden was defeated by Jacksonville's Aaron Metcalf, while Miami's Mike Altman was eliminated by Alan Engel. Earlier, Metcalf had also put an end to the hopes of up-and-coming Scott Reiff of Coral Springs, but was unable to rally in the final against Engel. After four rounds of play, Alan Engel won the B16- regional title, plus took home the corresponding championship trophy for the B14- bracket.

Another round of congratulations go to the Florida juniors:

THE BOOK: "Sham" the Man

by Mike Mojer & Mike Smith

A few years ago, Florida's answer to Ed Andrews arrived on the local racquetball scene. He was a big, hard-hitting right-hander from down south who seemed intent on knocking down the front wall with forehand kills, passes and splat shots. Although the forehand had the power of Thor's hammer, his backhand shots were, unfortunately, not visions of beauty.

The apparent weakness notwithstanding, he managed to earn an impressive string of victories in the first 18 months of his tournament career, and has consistently remained ranked among the state's top ten ever since.

Almost as soon as he began winning tournaments, his friends started calling him "Sham." Our question to readers is - Is the nickname a reference to the famous killer whale Shamu... or related to a patently deceptive court style which confuses his opponents? Correct answers will receive one crushed racquetball courtesy of the state's main crusher - the "Sham" TIM HANSEN.

Tim started playing racquetball with his father in 1979, and credits his dad with continuing to give him a routine "tour of the boards." Soon after learning the game, Tim began playing at Sabal Chase with some of the best players in the state: Sergio Gonzales, Bubba Gautier and Brenda Poe. He recalls that Brenda used to beat the pants off him.

In the following years, very few sets of players could claim to beat the (sweat) pants off the doubles team of Hansen and Bubba Gautier. Still, it's been Tim's singles record over the past four years that has meant the most to him. He earned a national 25+ title in 1987, and has been in the finals of the State Singles in each of the past three years, yielding first place only once.

Yet it was a local event in which Tim recalls playing his most memorable match - a tie-breaker final against Mark Morrison. With a comfortable lead of 10-0 over Morrison, Tim was playing great, but couldn't get that last point. He then watched Mark steadily regain control to win the match 11-10, and respectfully claims that playing Morrison continues to be the highlight of any tournament he enters.

An outstanding tennis and soccer player in high school and college, Tim quickly realized that a good education was an important part of his future. In 1986 he graduated from Florida Atlantic University with a degree in finance, and has been working as a stockbroker in West Palm Beach for the past year and a half.

Tim credits much of his recent success to the "Team Krunch" tournament training program run by Jeff Leon. Although it's rumored that Leon may be training prizefighters in the future, the current "Krunch" team format stresses weekly practice sessions and workouts designed to improve the skills of south Florida racquetball competitors. The three wishes Hansen would most like to have granted (either through "Krunch" work or by the racquetball genie) would be to: 1) have Bubba Gautier's backhand (he's not using it anyway...), 2) lose weight, and 3) gain Mark Morrison's intensity.

Overall, Tim Hansen represents an extremely positive force in racquetball, both on and off the court. He currently serves as a member of the Florida Racquetball Association board of directors, and his desire to win, love of the game and good sportsmanship are all very apparent.

FRA NEWSflash

"Up and Coming" Amy Simonetta. The Women's Sports Foundation recently named Amy Simonetta as one of ten recipients of the organization's "Up and Coming" awards for her progress and promise in racquetball. Since 1984, the WSF has annually recognized ten female athletes whose achievements demonstrate the potential for greatness. The FRA joins in congratulating Amy and coach Judi Schmidt.

The Fontainebleau Racquet & Fitness Club in Ocala met with an untimely end in April, when the entire rear portion of the facility was gutted by flames. Luckily the facility was unoccupied when the blaze started late Saturday night, and tournament players arriving at the club on Sunday morning for their finals were shocked to find only the charred remains of courts. Aside from being a great loss to the racquetball community, the entire incident added insult to injury by interrupting the special interest tournament in progress - the "Fireman's Olympics." No kidding.

In late April, Charlie Nichols traveled to Sacramento, California to represent Manatee Community College at the 1988 World Intercollegiate Racquetball Championships. After meeting a much-improved James Lorello (playing for Memphis State) in the semi-finals, Charlie had to settle for a shot at third place against Bobby Rodriguez. Raising an ugly blister on the famed left hand, Charlie succeeded in securing the world-class third place award, plus managed to attract the attention of coaches from both Memphis State University and Cal State/Sacramento. Currently considering his options, Charlie plans to closely research both institutions before making any decisions about either his education, or his racquetball future. Congratulations!

 Strengths: Develops a game plan for every opponent. Starts slow and continues to apply pressure. Forehand kills, splats and passes are the focus of his game. Has developed a power serve which rivals any seen on the pro tour.
 Weaknesses: Although he has perfected his overall game, the backhand is still a problem.
 Goals: Wants to win the National Open Singles, despite his admission that racquetball is not the single, most important thing in his life.
 Overview: An intimidating, strong competitor who has learned to control his emotions on the court. Has the potential to beat the top pros in any tournament.

Dive... Dive! It must be the urge to dive which makes Terry Fluharty such a character. When he's not diving to retrieve a racquetball, he's using his superior conditioning and powers of concentration to slide repeatedly into large bodies of chlorinated water. On May 16th, Fluharty successfully defended his "waterslide" title at Wet 'n Wild in Orlando - to the tune of $10,000. Last year he won a Suzuki jeep for 72 hours worth of soaking, but this year needed only 55 hours to eliminate all other "wrinkled" challengers for the cash prize. When questioned by a newscaster after the event, Terry said he hoped to use the prize money to "buy new feet."

Attention Juniors & Coaches! The junior-sized (small) "Team Florida" sweatshirts are still available (18 or so), and we're willing to make a deal to move them out. Call Linda Mojer at 407/647-4298 to discuss a reduced bulk rate for the lot.

Please NOTE: The 1988 Tournament Program (with the US National Team photograph on the cover) is incorrect regarding the number of points awarded for wins at all six levels of tournament play. The following point designations are currently being used to tally your wins:

Level =	1	2	3	4	5	6
1st place	30	50	150	250	300	600
2nd place	20	30	100	150	200	400
3rd place	15	20	75	100	150	300
4th place	10	15	50	75	100	200
5-8 place	5	10	25	50	75	100

Level 1 = Closed State Tournament
 Level 2 = Open Tournament
 Level 3 = State Championship
 Level 4 = Regional Championship
 Level 5 = National Invitational
 Level 6 = National Championship

DOUBLE-DUTY

by Linda Mojer

Concentration. How many times have you berated yourself on the court for not having any? How often have you experienced the frustration of not being to keep your "mind in the game?" Do you find yourself affected by the attitude of the gallery, for or against you? Now, hold that train of thought as we discuss tennis for a moment.

The "Grand Slam" series is well underway, and it should be fairly easy to tune into an Open tennis final in coming weeks. On an open-air center court you'll find competitors intent on each serve, rally and point. They don't serve the ball if spectators are moving in their line of sight, are rarely spoken to directly by opinionated onlookers, and are not asked to deal with added distraction of any sort from the gallery at large. Clearly, tennis "watchers" have, and are expected to display, the utmost respect for the concentration of the players on the court.

Back to racquetball. In half the court space, two to four players are boxed in an enclosed area where audible noise is amplified tenfold. (Admit it, you hear that ball noise in your sleep after a tournament...) Stage One: As the match progresses, excitement builds and the crowd becomes more and more involved in each rally. Appreciation of fine shot-making and retrieval takes the form of well-timed applause and cheering between points.

In response, players "pumped-up" by their supporters, will often perform at the peak of their abilities. Unfortunately, this is where the delicate balance between spectators and players can take a turn for the worse. Stage Two: In frustration, a player shows some temper and the mood of the crowd shifts. Losing his or her concentration, the same player skips a shot and the crowd applauds. In desperation, the unnerved player turns to the referee and the appeal process to try to recover some control of the match. The crowd goes in for the kill...

Certainly there is something to be said for the player who remains unaffected by these situations. On the other hand, it doesn't seem altogether fair to have the outcome of a match affected in any way by the actions of those not on the court. Instead, we should skip "stage two" and let the players "concentrate" on playing each other. If it catches on, sooner or later that courtesy will affect each and every one of us in tournament competition.
