NATIONAL SINGLE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Two-time world senior champion Debra Tisinger of Simi, California earned her first women's 35+ national title at the Ektelon AARA 28th U.S. National Singles Racquetball Championships at the Downtown YMCA in Houston on Memorial Day. In one of the largest and most competitive divisions, Tisinger advanced through five rounds to reach the final, then defeat top-seeded Linda Moore of Madison, Nebraska in a tiebreaker, 6-15, 15-9, 11-7 for the gold medal.

Tisinger holds back-to-back world senior titles in Women's 35+, won in 1994 and 1993 in Albuquerque, New Mexico. She competes over Labor Day weekend for a possible third title in a row.

Foster City's Terry Ann Rogers earned her first women's 45+ national title. In a very competitive division Rogers advanced through four rounds to reach the final and defeat Shelly Ogden of Cincinnati, Ohio in a tiebreaker, 11-15, 15-9, 11-1 for the gold medal.

Three-time world champion Chip Parmelly of Diamond Bar earned his eighth wheelchair open national title. Chip advanced through a preliminary round robin format flight to reach the medal round, defeating Rick Slaughter of Nashville, Tennessee in straight games of 15-14, 15-4 for the gold medal.

The C.A.R.A. salutes all participants in this national event, especially those who earned their medals!

NEWS FROM THE BOARD

Two new Associate Board members were added at the recent board of directors meeting held at the Stockton Pro-Am. They are Peggine Callahan of Costa Mesa and Cynthia Lavelle of Fountain Valley. Both Peggine and Cynthia are familiar smiling faces at tournaments and we welcome them to the board!

OUTDOOR NATIONALS

Brian Hawkes captured the open division at the U.S. Outdoor National Racquetball Championship for the 14th time in the last 15 years, defeating Tony Jelso, 15-9, 15-12, 11-4, at Golden West College.

Hawkes, 31, a Huntington Beach native, and Jelso faced each other in last year's final, which Hawkes also won.

> "I hadn't gone to a tiebreaker in probably about eight years," Hawkes said. "This was rough."

"This tournament was kind of interesting," Hawkes said. "I fazed out in the second game. I'm not really fine-tuned right now, so it's hard to find a groove."

That was apparent in the first game as Jelso went up 7-0. But Hawkes came back with four straight points. Jelso scored again, but Hawkes tied, then went ahead with three more points, 11-8. Jelso came up with one more point before Hawkes took the game with an ace and three unreturnable shots. The two tied 8-8 again in the second game, before Jelso prevailed, forcing the tiebreaker.

Jelso, a former U.S. national team member who is ranked 18th on the pro indoor circuit, has played outdoor racquetball twice -- once last year at the tournament and again this year.

In the tiebreaker, Jelso scored the first point and went ahead 2-1, but it was never close after that as Hawkes scored seven straight points, then won on a questionable call. Hawkes' serve looked wide, but referee Greg Freeze, whom Hawkes had beaten earlier in the day with a semifinal tiebreaker, called the serve good.

"Even though the last call was unfortunate, he still played a tremendous game," Jelso said.

> "He did very well at the beginning of the tiebreaker. That was the difference," Jelso said. "But next year I'm going to take him."

"Two" Serve or Not "Two" Serve?

One of the proposed rule changes discussed at the recent AARA Board meeting held in Houston was whether or not to adopt the one-serve rule for open divisions as is being played on the pro tour.

Most believe that allowing only one serve has several advantages. It greatly speeds up the game. Something happens on almost every serve--unless there's a hinder, either a point is scored or the other player gets to serve. Because it's less likely that the one serve being an "ace" is greatly reduced (few persons will risk faulting and losing the serve), it's more likely that the serve will be returned and a rally will result. Most observers agree that rallies are the most exciting and entertaining part of the game. The more rallies there are, the better.

Another reason using only one serve in the Open division is to ensure that our very best "one serve" athletes qualify for international competition (where one serve is already the rule). Incidentally, the Men's Professional Tour uses only one serve and the players and spectators seem pleased with the results--longer, more entertaining rallies.

After much discussion and thought it was decided to test this rule for one more 12-month period before formally making any changes.

COURTESY SPORTS' Grand Prix 95-96 PRO KENNEX Racquetball Series

RACQUETBALL REPORT

FALL 1995 | A COURTESY SPORTS' PUBLICATION | VOLUME 2 / NUMBER 1

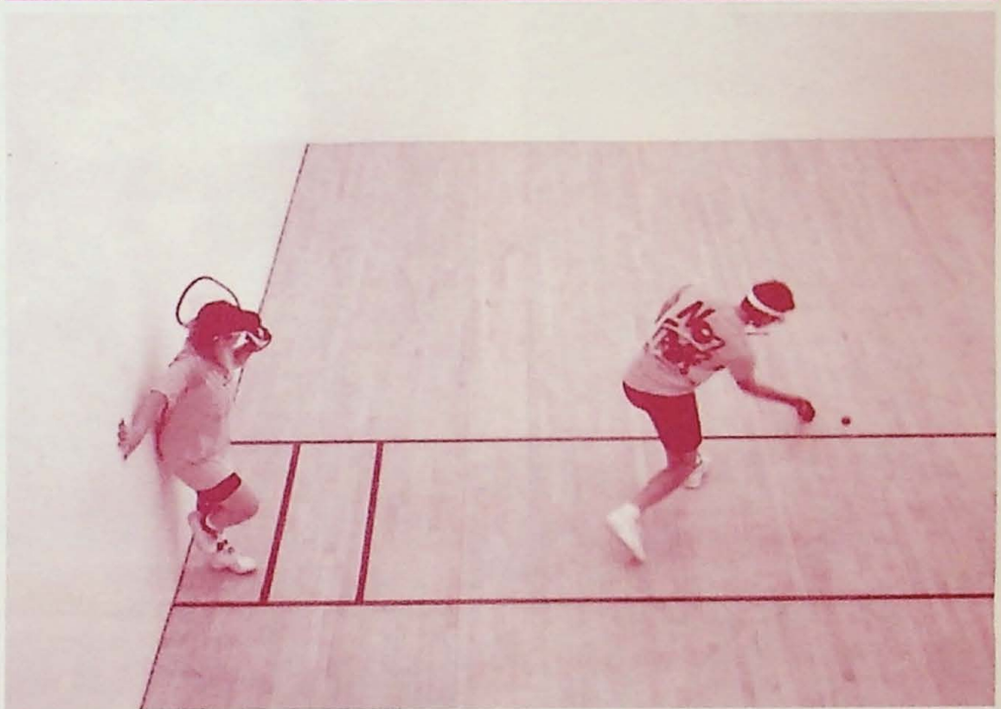
Mark Spangenberg displays his selling skills, as he tries to sell Pat Chesterman on the newest style in Racquetball Gear.

Tournament Director Wins!

Mark Spangenberg not only ran another successful tournament but had enough energy left to upset the states number one ranked Open player Jeff Mayorga, whom he defeated 15-10, 15-7, to win Men's Open Division. Spangenberg was ranked #45th going into the match, having never beaten Mayorga in singles, was pumped to win this match and stop the bleeding (even his bother Hal had beaten Jeff at the last Series event).

Jeff, unmotivated as ever because of the lack of prize money, didn't seem to have the drive or energy to fight this one out. Mark came out like a man possessed with his new drive serve and slow game (compliments of Joe Paraiso). His serves kept Jeff off balance giving Mark many set-ups which he put away consistently to win in two short games. Mayorga said after the match, "It would have been a lot different if I had something to play for". Jeff was probably referring to cash since he will remain the number one player in the state, even after this loss.

NO FRILLS FORMAT WORKS...AGAIN!



Suanne Shumaker watches on as her partner Owen Richter serves up an ace in their Mixed C Doubles match. PHOTOS: Brian Minich

The Pro Kennex Grand Prix Series opening event kicked off in No Frills style at Schoeber's Athletic Club in Fremont. Almost 200 amateurs showed up to kick off the very popular Grand Prix series where participants earn points towards merchandise. Although there was only beer and pretzels for hospitality there were many great battles throughout the weekend.

Mark and Hal Spangenberg almost were upset by unseeded Rick Ramirez and Jim Curry in the first round of Open Doubles. Jim and Rick forced the kids into a tie-breaker and almost a loss until older brother Mark Spangenberg switched to the backhand side late in the tie-breaker to squeak out an 11-10 win in the final match on Saturday.

Garyn Scott and Rich Synder had the battle of all battles on Friday night when they battled to a 10-10 tie in the third until Garyn managed to get one by Rich for the match. Scott was pumped after the win as he had just started playing A's and has rapidly moved up from the D division only a year ago. Great job Garyn!

Stan Wright and Gil Cepeda in the "Wise" division argued and scratched for every point until Stan pulled out another 11-10 thriller. Wright was up 8-0 in the tie-breaker until Cepeda came back only to choke on match point.

Overall, this tournament was a great way to bring people back in the tournament mentality. Many great matches were played. Thanks to all those who showed up to play despite no prize money and very little hospitality. You are true racquetball junkies!

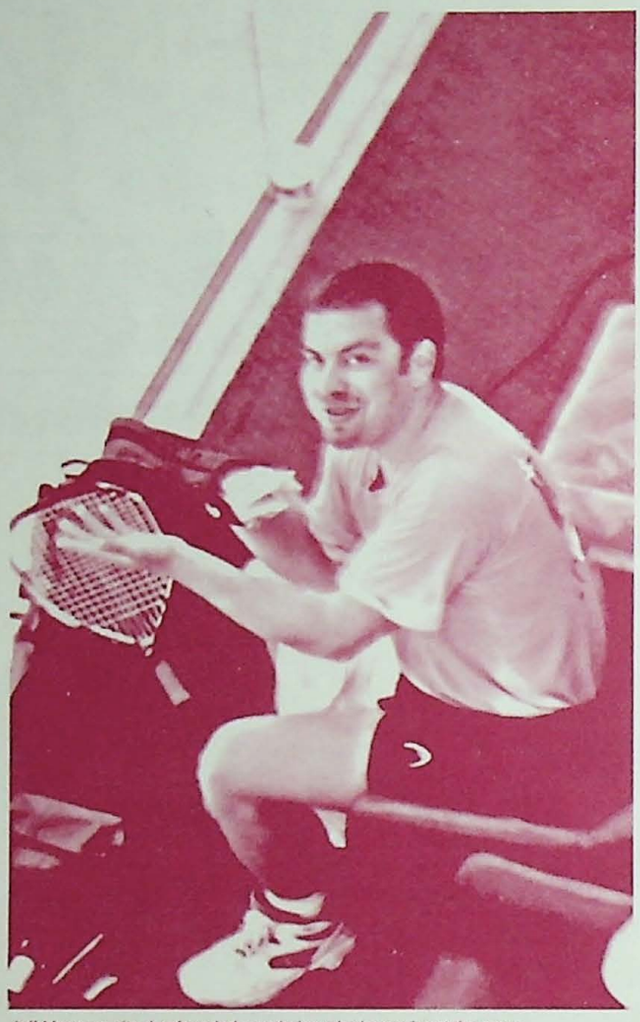
Biggest Upset of The Tournament!



Jeff Mayorga sits dumfounded wondering why he can't get the name Spangenberg out of his head.

Jinx! Yes we jinxed Jeff Mayorga the states #1 ranked player in California by saying in the last newsletter how Mark Spangenberg had never beaten him. Well, how things change in such a short period of time. Jeff bowed to Mark in the Open Singles final 15-10, 15-8.
Jeff requested his photo be published so everyone could have a good laugh at his expense (seriously)! We should all thank Jeff for his good attitude on the court and in the newsletter!

$1000 CHARITY BATTLE

Every year Marty Hogan & John Ellis play an exhibition match at the Pro Kennex Series tournament held at the South San Jose Schoeber's Athletic Club.

Now that John is making the big bucks and Marty has made the big bucks, their annual grudge match means more than just pride. Each player has agreed to put up $1000 of their own cash to prove they are the best.

With the exhibition series tied at two matches, each of the players wanted to add some incentive for themselves and some excitement for the fans. The loser, in the best two out of three games to 11, will donate $1000 to the winners' favorite charity.

As always, this event is free of charge and is part of the Grand Prix Tournament #2 at Schoeber's in San Jose. Look for entry forms at your club or call 1-800-729-1771.

PLAYERS OF THE TOURNAMENT

Junior

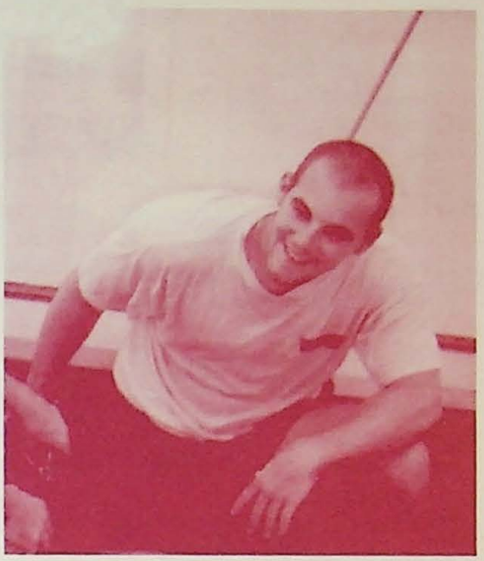
Trinity Garcia

Trinity won her second consecutive junior crown in the Grand Prix Series. At only 11 years old, Trinity beat her competition that was as much as four years older. Look for Trinity in the National rankings in her division.

Women

Ramie Rolland

Ramie who hasn't played many events in the past year, came out of hiding to win the Women's Open title after being down 9-2 in the first game against Lisa McLaws. We hope to see you again Ramie in November to defend your title.



Men

Mark Spangenberg

Without favoritism, Mark definitely earned the honor by upsetting number #1 seeded Jeff Mayorga to win his first Open Singles title in quite sometime. He also captured a 2nd place trophy in doubles with his brother Hal Jr.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Ektelon Introduces New Glove Line

For a racquetball aficionado, choosing a glove is one of those important life decisions. If your gloves aren't giving you the proper grip, you may miss a shot, which might cause you to lose a game. If you lose too many games, it defeats the purpose of playing racquetball--to reduce stress and have fun!

But Ektelon is working its hardest to make the sport as fun and stress-free as possible. They have just added yet another option to their expanding lien of gloves: the new Cougar leather glove. This glove's Pittards leather has a unique dimple pattern that absorbs perspiration quickly, yet keeps the hand cool and comfortable. Players will retain the sensitive racquet feel without tack, allowing quick grip changes. The glove also has a new terry wristband and tab closure design that allows for maximum wrist flexibility with minimum resistance. The Cougar comes in sizes XS-XL and retails for $16.95.

Wilson Racquetball Introduces New Racquet Line With Power Braid

There's a new series of high performance racquets from Wilson Racquetball that doesn't look like or play like any other racquets. Radius racquets with Power Braid combine two Wilson technologies in a revolutionary series of three championship frames.

Patented Radius technology creates a unique circular cross-section that virtually eliminates racquet torque at impact, and reduces drag across all swing orientations. Power Braid is a Wilson proprietary technology that helically interweaves tows of high modulus graphite throughout the Radius frame to significantly stiffen it. This results in maximum power, uniform responsiveness across the entire racquet face, and unmatched durability.

The Mastery of Racquetball "Instructor's Album" includes five instructional video modules (each is 30-to-50 minutes viewing time), a 135--page student workbook, laminated Practice & Progress Cards™ and erasable marker, 20-unit lesson plans with specific teaching objectives, instructor's answer key, and mid-term and final exams. In the last issue I wondered where some of the old-time players were. I ran into Linda Mower at the Stockton ProAm and she told me she doesn't play tournaments much anymore because, "if they won't hit it to me, I don't want to play"(!)
