YES, BUT IT WAS A DRY HEAT . . .

by Linda L. Mojer

The 1987 US National Doubles Championships in Tempe, Arizona were practically on the opposite coast from last year's site in Jacksonville, but Florida competitors still made an excellent showing against a national field of opponents. The desert air didn't seem to pose a problem, but a string of injuries for Florida dimmed the hopes of more than one home team over the course of the four-day event.

Reaching the finals of the Women's Open was no mean feat for Diane Green and Julie Pinnell, especially after Diane took too long a step and sustained an agonizing muscle injury in the semi-finals. In early rounds the #3 seeded pair had advanced quickly taking straight game wins against Susan Almandova/Susan Hendricks of Arizona (15-8, 15-0) and Lisa Hjelm/Kari McDonough of California (15-10, 15-7).

The third round was a different story as the two faced Tammy Hajjar of California and Dot Fischl of Pennsylvania. After losing the first game 15-10 and down by a substantial margin in the second, Green attempted to retrieve a pinch shot and was forced instead to leave the court when a right side groin muscle pull put her out of action for the full duration of a 15-minute injury timeout. Amazingly, she and Pinnell rallied to win the second game 15-10 and finish the tie-breaker 11-7, with Diane spending much of the remaining games hopping on one foot.

It was much the same the following day, as the two went into the finals against last year's defending champions Mona Mook and Trina Rasmussen of California. Somewhat smoother in her gait, Diane took a little longer to test the injury in the first game, with the win going to Mook/Rasmussen 15-11. Once more the Florida women rallied in the second, with Pinnell covering the entire court while Diane made relatively still, but amazingly accurate shots to close the 15-14 win. The tie-breaker was also a heart-breaker, as Green and Pinnell helplessly watched two crack shots roll-out at points 6 and 7, followed by a quick finish for a score of 11-5.

In the Men's Open division, the unseeded Florida teams of Sergio Gonzalez/Tim Hansen and Mark Morrison/Charlie Nichols both advanced through two rounds of play into the quarterfinals.

In the upper half of the draw, Gonzalez and Hansen advanced in the first round against the Indiana team of Revie Sorie and Glynn Williams in straight games of 15-7, 15-9, following up in the second against Arizona's Bob Corcoran and Paul Darnell, 15-5, 15-4.

Sergio and Tim played superbly together in these early rounds, and could, quite possibly, have reached the finals in the Open and 19+ (where they got to the semi-finals). It was not in the cards this year, though, after Tim ripped loose a piece of cartilage from his left knee during the quarterfinal match of the Open. Despite a commanding lead in the second game, the two had to forfeit to Tom Montalbano of New York and Todd O'Neil of Vermont.

There's good news on the home front as of printing, however. Tim underwent microsurgery in the first week of November, restoring the knee to its former good health. On the day of surgery Tim was made to walk on it immediately, and already is back on the courts.

On the other half of the draw the unlikely pairing of Morrison and Nichols resulted in the type of exciting, and controversial, play that Florida is known for. The two defeated John Bouchard and Randy Olson of Maine in the first round 15-7, 15-1, and Steve Moody and Bobby Rodriguez of California in the second. These wins placed them squarely opposite last year's silver medalists Tim Doyle of New York and Bill Sell of California. Despite a valiant effort and a near-win in the second game, Morrison and Nichols succumbed to the more experienced pair in two games of 15-7, 15-13. Finished for the weekend and still unscathed, Morrison took advantage of his wild-west free time by heading to Las Vegas.

In the age divisions, Florida women repeated their Singles trend by taking the gold in the 30s, 35s, 40s and 45s. Former Orlando player Gail Troxell (now living in Arlington, VA) joined forces with Eileen Tuckman to win the 30s without a single tie-breaker, defeating Chris Evon and Pat Tarzon of Illinois 15-8, 15-14. Eileen then teamed with Agatha Falso to take the 35+ win from northerners Jeanine Farrell-Ove and Marilyn Ross-Peckich, 15-11, 12-15, 11-0. Agatha, in turn, moved up to the 40+ division with Judi

Schmidt to win over Kathy Mueller and Marta Groess of Minnesota 15-3, 15-2. Judi Schmidt turned to 45+ partner Jo Kenyon for a final win over Rose Mooney of Colorado Springs and Kathy Mueller. In the 50s Kenyon again met Mooney and Mueller with new partner Millie Medina, and earned the silver medal.

Gainesville's Graig Shaak formed an interstate team with Roger Wehrle of Marietta, Georgia to win the Men's 45+ division. The #3 seeded pair disappointed the national office staff team of John Mooney and Luke St. Onge in the first round, following up with a tie-breaker win over Pete Talbot of New Jersey and Tom Waltz of Connecticut, 7-15, 15-5, 11-2 to place them in the semi-final. The two then defeated Bob Lindsey of Texas and Jim McPherson of Oklahoma 15-11, 15-12 and took the three-game final from Bob Sheldon of Iowa and Charles Wickham of North Carolina 7-15, 15-5, 11-2.

In the skill divisions, the Florida team of Walter Hesse and Jerry Travis brought the silver medal in Men's "A" home to Lake Worth, while Linda Mojer and Cheryl Lee earned the bronze in the Women's "A." Two other bronze medals came to Florida via Don Alt (who played with Otis Chapman of Ohio) in the Men's 55+ division, and with Diane Green and Charlie Nichols in the Mixed Open.

All in all, of the 29 players from the sunshine state who competed in the event, 23 of them reached the quarterfinals, or better, in this year's National Doubles. That's quite a showing by any standard, and an accurate reflection of the quality of Florida racquetball. Congratulations!

UF INTERCOLLEGIATE RACQUETBALL— IN FULL SWING

By Lori Basch

Racquetball has always been popular among the students of the University of Florida. Twenty-five outdoor courts on campus and three indoor facilities in Gainesville have made the sport easily accessible to students. In addition, for a fairly small city, Gainesville boasts a large group of excellent competitive players. With this kind of potential, the University of Florida was the ideal place to form the first organized intercollegiate program in the state.

Since its creation two months ago, the University of Florida Racquetball Club boasts over 25 members including a travelling team of 8 to 10 players. Leading the team are several top state and nationally ranked players including Claudia McCarthy, Linda Diamond, Glenn Warren, Robert McCarthy and the club's president, Scott Sobel. In 1988, the team will travel to the Southeastern Regional Intercollegiate March 12-13 and to Sacramento, California for the combined US National and World Intercollegiate Championships April 7-10.

The UF coach is James Walden, the self-acclaimed "world's oldest junior," formerly of the Bradenton PRP group. James is now at school in Gainesville and feels the group has enough depth to do "very well for a first year team." In addition, the club's advisor is Craig Shaak, a top-ranked state and national competitor in the Men's 40+ and 45+ divisions. As a member of the University of Florida staff, he will act as a liaison between the club and the institution and will advise the group on working within the university structure to achieve its goals.

Aside from the tremendous amount of practice time required to prepare for the season, the club must work hard to raise the $8,000 to $10,000 it will need to travel to the tournaments. Since the club is organized through the recreation department and is not a recognized varsity sport, it must be privately funded with no monetary support from the university. However, the group is optimistic about their chances of raising the necessary funds. As James Walden put it, "The money is out there, we just need to go get it." Several projects are already in the works. Two tournaments are planned as team fundraisers and the team is looking for potential sponsors to help with the group's equipment and cash needs.

The group hopes to motivate other state schools to compete. Programs at Embry-Riddle, Florida Atlantic University, the University of Central Florida and FSU are already in the works. This type of statewide potential could make the 1988 Regional Intercollegiate the biggest yet. In addition, there is the possibility of competition from other states in the ACRA's southeastern region, such as Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. With the large number of schools getting involved, the opportunity for meets between two or three individual teams also exists, thereby helping to encourage competition among newly developed teams.

The highly motivated group of players which make up the University of Florida Racquetball Club have little doubt about attaining their goals. With the assistance of an experienced coach and advisor the club displays great potential—even in its first year. A respectable finish at the nationals will make next year's ambitions all the more real, and hopefully start a trend toward more active intercollegiate programs in the Southeast.

THE BOOK on Bob Riley

by Mike Mojer & Mike Smith

If racquetball ever needs an example of self control, quiet determination and a generally calm demeanor, this month's Men's 40+ featured player would fit the bill to a "T" (or an "R"). Mr. Bob Riley (all seniors will be addressed with respect) has been playing since 1970, is basically self-taught, and can usually be found playing in the finals of any tournament in which he enters.

For the past three years he has reached the 40+ finals at National Singles, and currently holds the number two national ranking in that division. Although he is known for control and concentration, he admits that he somehow loses his focus at the Nationals and has managed to lose all three tiebreakers 11-10.

Without particular goals related to racquetball, Bob simply tries to play his best each and every time he takes the court—admitting that some of his most satisfying matches were ones in which he lost. His successful blend of control, power and an unflappable concentration has served him well in Florida as well, where he currently shares the number one ranking position in Men's 40+ with Mike Winslow.

Between the ages of 17-20 (before becoming addicted to racquetball) Riley was an outstanding baseball player for the Cardinal Organization. After pursuing his dream of playing in the major leagues he returned to school, earned a Master's Degree in Special Education and taught for four years.

Our first opportunity to watch this quiet gentleman in action was in March 1978, at a tournament held at the Racquetball in Orlando. He entered two divisions, the seniors and the open. When all the dust had settled he had won the seniors and reached the quarterfinals of the open.

Over the course of his racquetball career he has participated in at least two tournaments per month, but now concentrates more on major state and national championships. At these tournaments his reserved demeanor and clean-cut appearance tends to confuse spectators who naturally take him to be a tennis player. On the court, however, that confusion ends as he demonstrates the wisdom of another old racquetball pro (name withheld) . . . "He who hits

Mullet Melee—Oct. 9-11

by Bob Hurst

Eighty-one Panhandlers, Georgians and Alabama natives participated in the Mullet Festival Racquetball Classic held October 9-11th at the Bluewater Racquet and Fitness Center in Niceville's new resort community. Players and guests were even treated to a mullet fry at noon on Saturday.

Highlights of the tournament were the semi-finals and finals of the Men's Open. Florida saw its hopes dashed when Tim Edwards of Dunwoody, Georgia and 16-year old Will Epperson of Montgomery, Alabama eliminated their local opponents to advance into the Men's Open final. There Edwards defeated Epperson in a hard-fought tie-breaker which featured unsuccessful dives by Epperson as he attempted to retrieve a series of Edwards' winning drive passes.

The Northwest is fortunate to have at least one active tournament club at Bluewater. Keep up the good work!

WORLD JUNIOR RACQUETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS IN MIAMI

by Frank Rolfes, Junior Orange Bowl Racquetball Chairman

Pre-match registration opens December 27th for the World Junior Racquetball Championships, at the beautiful Miami Lakes Athletic Inn and Club in Miami, Florida. This Junior Championship is sanctioned by both the AARA and the International Amateur Racquetball Federation [IARF], and is sponsored by Head, Eastern Airlines, Penn, and the Miami Lakes Athletic Club.

The Junior Orange Bowl Festival, often referred to as the world's largest youth festival, organizes nineteen competitive events between November 8th and December 29th for more than 12,000 young people ages 1-18. The IARF has designated the racquetball portion of the Festival as the World Junior Racquetball Championships, to be played in a regular tournament format over December 28, 29, and 30.

The Miami Lakes Athletic Club is the new and permanent headquarters for the annual World Junior Racquetball Championships. The courts are adjacent to the hotel, making it a short stroll from rooms to the competition. Space is limited, however, and reservations should be made early by calling 305/821-1150 (outside Florida, call toll free 1-800)245-2537).

We are expecting a great turnout for this year's tournament and hope all Florida juniors will use their Christmas break to come play some world-class racquetball. Travel arrangements through Eastern Airlines are simple—in Florida, call 1-800-282-0244, from anywhere else, dial 1-800)468-7022. Refer to Eastern's easy access number EZ12P76 when calling to receive a 50% reduction off the regular coach fare. For additional details about the Junior Orange Bowl, write me at 81 Merrick Way, Coral Gables, FL 33165, or contact the Miami Lakes Athletic Club at 305/821-1150.

★All individuals marked with an asterisk within the skill divisions are no longer eligible to compete in that division, and must be placed in the next higher skill draw in Florida tournament play. This notation is made to help tournament directors eliminate sandbagging, and as an incentive to players to "move up" in ability by competing in the next skill level. The "cut-off" levels are: "A" 5 230 & up, "B" 5 180 & up, "C" 5 130 & up, "D" 5 80 & up. Once you have reached the maximum point designation in the listed skill divisions, you must play at the next higher level. For details on the "cut-off" list policy and procedures, please contact any Florida Racquetball Association Board Member.

NEWS FROM NATIONAL

by Van Dubolsky

In the first few months of the new calendar year most state organizations will be holding their singles championships. These tournaments will be followed by fifteen 1988 Ektelon Regional events at locations across the country. As you know, these regionals are qualifying events for the 1988 Ektelon US National Singles Championships to be held in Houston this May.

At the October national AARA board meeting, the directors redefined the eligibility requirements for participation in the Nationals. Since it always takes a little while for everyone to become familiar with new policies, procedures and rules, I wanted to review these changes in detail here.

Effective in 1988, to compete in the Nationals you must physically participate in a regional qualifying event. That is, you must actually attend and play in one of these tournaments) rather than simply send in your entry fee as has been done in the past. Exceptions to the rule must be approved by either a regional director or the executive director, only under the following circumstances: Emergencies such as a death in the family or disabling injuries which can be documented by a physician. A physician's statement describing the injury or diagnosing the ailment which prevented regional participation must accompany the national entry blank.

Also this year regional directors will offer all "championship" singles events for men and women up to and including the 75+ division. Any of these divisions with six or more entrants will be held in a match play format. If only five players enter a division it will be run in a round robin format. If a division has four or fewer players entered, it may be combined with another age group or cancelled. The regional director will be required to call and inform each player of a cancelled event, or give the player the option of competing in a combined division. In such an instance, if the player chooses not to enter the combined division, entry fees will be refunded and the player will retain eligibility for national competition.

I hope that everyone understands the new AARA eligibility ruling for the 1988 Ektelon US National Singles Championships, and will make the necessary arrangements to attend their regional qualifier. If you have any questions about the procedure, please call or drop me a line in care of the national office. Thanks!

FRA NEWSflash

Take Note! The details you've been waiting for have been finalized! The 1988 State Singles will be held at the Orlando Tennis and Racquet Club—where locker rooms have been re-done and the lounge has been leased by new chefs. ALSO, the tournament will be held on the last weekend of February (the 25th-28th), not as indicated on the October calendar.

What's Up? In case you're wondering what has happened to your "Racquetball in Review" newsletter from the national AARA office, it's missing but accounted for. Beginning in January, the tabloid will be incorporated into the pages of "National Racquetball" as a special section of the magazine. All new and renewal members will be able to subscribe to "National Racquetball" for a special, one-time-only $5.00 rate ($19.00 off newstand), and receive 12 issues of the much-improved magazine, with its new AARA in Review section.

A new Rep on the Block: Penn Athletic Products has just assigned a new southeastern regional sales representative to Florida. His name is Pete Clee and he will be in charge of both racquetball and tennis markets in the state. He's been with the company for ten years, but only recently been reassigned to the southeast. He's anxious to be a part of the Florida racquetball community, so be sure to welcome him if you have the opportunity. Penn is the official ball for the entire 1988 series of state championships in Florida (Singles, Intercollegiate and Doubles).

How many? At last count Florida had an official membership roster of 2403. That's up from roughly 1700 this time last year, and a good indication of the growth racquetball can expect to undergo in the coming year. We're still trailing California, though, which boasts 4582.

Ranking Reminder: For those of you who try to keep accurate tabs of your ranking points as you earn them, below is the set value of wins at certain tournament levels. Please remember that wins in non-sanctioned events will not add to your point standings. Find out if the tournament you enter is sanctioned before playing it through, so you won't be disappointed if your ranking position remains unchanged despite a big win.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND?

by Bob Hurst

The Montgomery Athletic Club "Rollouts" and Panama City's "Power Court Players" quite possibly staged a first-of-its-kind junior meet by arranging a mini-tournament between the two racquetball teams at the Montgomery Athletic Club on Saturday, October 3rd. The teams played the best three out of five games to eleven. Panama City's boys won the most matches, taking 9 out of a total 16, but MAC's James Littlejohn and Charlie Thompson overpowered PCPs best to win each of their head-to-head matches with their excellent shot making.

Nonetheless, PCP's team captain Cy Hurst, 16, Steve Poligala, 16, and Todd Jobson, 15, proved that they could give MAC's best juniors a good game. Newcomer Terry Southall, 16, awed everyone with his power hitting, while Mark Hurst, already a seasoned veteran at 10, demonstrated his skill against the best of his division. The only girl to attend, Toby Jobson, 11, went unchallenged by Montgomery's ladies, and displayed enough court skill to be a future national champion.

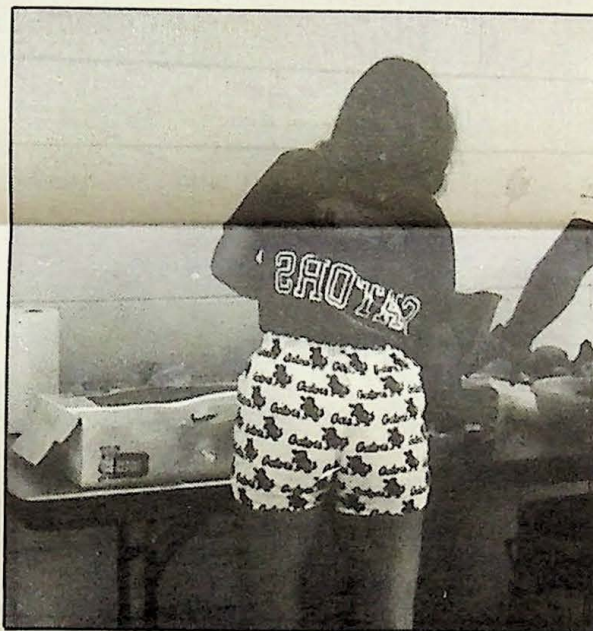

The Power Court Players team appreciated the opportunity for an excellent meet under the direction of the Montgomery Athletic Club coach Jack Sorenson. The team was fortunate in receiving an instructional clinic at the end of the meet from Sorenson. A return bout is scheduled in the near future and PCP invites other teams to participate by contacting me at 904/265-3378.

DIANE GREEN NOMINATED FOR USOC FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

Diane Green of Altamonte Springs, Florida and Jim Cascio of Lancaster, Pennsylvania were recently nominated as the 1987 United States Olympic Athletes of the Year by the AARA Board of Directors. Each year the USOC asks the governing organizations of its member sports to select male and female representatives to be honored in the February issue of Olympian magazine and enter the field of hopefuls seeking the annual USOC Sportsman & Sportswoman of the Year awards.

In honor of their National Singles wins in May of this year, Green and Cascio will join representatives from 30 other sports at the Annual House of Delegates Meeting in Washington DC in April. Chosen as outstanding examples of on and off-court racquetball sportsmanship by the AARA, Green and Cascio are also automatically in the running for the prestigious USOC Sportsman and Sportswoman of the Year awards, which will also be announced at the Washington ceremony.

The USOC Male and Female Athlete of the Year designation is separate from the AARA Male and Female Athletes of the Year selected by the Board of Directors at its annual May meeting.

FROM THE EDITOR

by Linda L. Mojer

I'd like to work less, and play more.

In fact, I remember (not so long ago) when I used to play racquetball regularly, and write about it only once in a while. Now it seems that being on the court is a pleasant surprise that happens all too seldom. So I could use your help.

You may have noticed that several of the holiday tournaments did not have their results included in this issue. I'd love to run all the winners each period, but someone needs to take the time to send me a brief write-up and a list of results after each event. With that in hand it's much easier for me to crank out the type of "good press" we all like to read.

Get your tournaments in print by sending me the full names of finalists in each division with the winners circled. Write down the total number of entries, anything special that happened at your tournament party, and/or any particularly interesting matches that were played. I'll take it from there and give you a by-line credit for submitting the info. Same goes for photographs—get an extra set made and tell me who they are. You'll get a photo credit and a contributor's thanks on the back page. It's easy for you and makes things much simpler for me!

In 1988, remember that the FRA News is your newsletter and you can have a lot to do with it—if you'll take the time. My game would certainly appreciate it. Happy Holidays!
