

Mike Marzinski of Manistee won first place in the general public category in Circle Rocking S Children's Farm's scarecrow contest. Photos: Courtesy of Nancy Supran

Scarecrow contest

Circle Rocking S Children's Farm names winners from Ludington to Interlochen

BY COMMUNITY SUBMISSION

Circle Rocking S Children's Farm in Free Soil held its annual scarecrow contest on Monday.

There were many entries from the Manistee area. Trophies were awarded to first place winners and ribbons were given out to second and third place.

The first-place winners were as follows:

- General public: Mike Marzinski, of Manistee;
- Business category: Orchard Market in Free Soil;

- Nonprofit: Trinity Lutheran Church in Ludington;

- "Special needs" category: Portage Group Home in Onkama; and

- "Special needs" scariest scarecrow: Brandon Layson, of Interlochen.

Circle Rocking S Children's Farm is a nonprofit that "is dedicated to providing animal touch therapy, music therapy and recreation free of charge to children of all ages with disabilities."

Find more information at circlerockingsfarm.org/.

First place in the nonprofit category went to Trinity Lutheran Church in Ludington.

Brandon Layson, of Interlochen, won first place in