Do you know what to do in an emergency?

Community CPR-30 is the South Australian Ambulance Service (SAAS) program designed to allow SAAS to engage with our community, encouraging them to be a part of the cardiac arrest chain of survival.

The use of a short video and simple inflatable manikins allows participants to practise some key components of basic life support in a relaxed, nonthreatening environment. SAAS trainers will guide participants, provide feedback on techniques, and answer questions regarding CPR and AED use.

Community CPR 30 does not replace nationally accredited CPR/AED training programs asrequired by many professions or workplace first aid codes of practise.

Community CPR 30 is a non-accredited program Ambulance with no formal assessment and, therefore, no statement of attendance or qualification is issued. It forms part of the SAAS H.E.A.R.T program, which aims to improve "out of hospital cardiac arrest"

Community CPR 30 is a free program and the running time is 30 minutes. Maximum class size is 20 people per session. Send an email Angela Bakonyi angela.bakonyi@gmail.com if you are interested.

Telephone Scam: Overseas and Premium Numbers

The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) reports Scamwatch has found that Australians lost $48,830 to premium service scam calls and texts in the past 12 months.

The ACCC received 277 reports of the 'wangiri' scam in one week in February.

How it works

Scammers made their money by enticing people to call back a premium number similar to those used by psychic hotlines and sex lines. The scam is known as a wangiri scam, a Japanese word loosely translated to "one cut".

The scammer calls for just one ring then cuts the line leaving a missed call on the victim's phone. When the victim calls the number back they could be put on hold, have music playing or try and chat.

The wangiri scammers want the caller to stay on the line as long as possible, thereby increasing the amount of money they make as the money makes its way back to the scammer.

What you can do

To avoid extra charges on your phone bill, ignore calls from country codes you don't recognise and from 19 or 1900 numbers in Australia.

Blocking problematic phone numbers and not returning missed calls from unknown numbers can help you avoid becoming a victim.

The best thing you can do to protect yourself during a dodgy call is HANG UP

The ACCC says if you call your mobile provider and tell them what's happened, you won't end up having to pay the charge.

Vicious Cycle

Victims were targeted because they had offered their information freely while signing up for apps or entering contests. That information is collated and sold off.

Once a victim returns a scam call scammers sell contact details to other fraudsters for people who they think might be susceptible to scams.

The ACCC encourages victims to report their experiences to its Scamwatch website.

Fun in the Sun: Beach Safety Tips

The warmer weather is here and we would like to remind the community to stay safe when using our beautiful beaches.

- Be aware of water safety issues at the beach, including rips and current, maritime safety and dangers of marine life.
- When at the beach, always swim between the red and yellow flags.
- Supervise your children at all times.
- Never leave valuables unattended or under a beach towel. Use a watertight container or leave your items in a secure location.
- Be aware of alcohol consumption when swimming. Alcohol impairs your judgement.
- Be aware it is an offence to possess and drink alcohol at many beaches. If you see any antisocial or suspicious behaviour please call police on 131 444.

Bicycle Security

CYCLISTS are being warned to watch out for thieves as latest figures show more 2400 bikes reported stolen last financial year, RAA Insurance can reveal.

Bicycles can be a very tempting target for robbers, with some insured by RAA worth up to $8000.

This makes them popular with thieves prowling the streets as well as those breaking into homes and sheds, RAA Insurance spokeswoman Hayley Cain warned.

Robbers will also steal lights, wheels, helmets and quick release seats, she added.

While not all robberies were reported, police figures showed Adelaide City Council was the most popular site for bike thieves, followed by Charles Sturt, Port Adelaide Enfield, Onkaparinga and Marion councils.

"It's important bike owners check the policy conditions of their insurance, as it may only cover the bike when it is in your home and not when it is in use," Ms Cain said.

Police regularly report the theft of bikes from unlocked sheds, highlighting the need for vigilance by homeowners.

Ease of transport also made bikes tempting targets as they can provide thieves with their means of escape from the scene of the crime.

Cyclists could limit thieves' opportunity to stealing their bike from home or while it's in public locations, according to Ms Cain.

Tips for deterring bike thieves

- Use a quality lock (preferably two locks of different types if in a high risk area or you have detachable wheels or seat) as thieves use bolt cutters and pliers
- If you must leave it outdoors, park it in an open, well-lit area and lock it to a fixed object
- Using a steel U-shaped lock and cable, lock your bike to a fixed object and wind the cable through both tires and the frame leaving as little space as possible within the "U" of the lock
- Keep the lock off the ground and face the keyhole towards the ground
- Remove the front wheel and lock both the wheel and the frame together if it's a quickrelease wheel
- Take your bike seat and accessories with you if they're easily removable and/or expensive
- When you are at home keep the bike inside, in a locked shed or use an asset protector
- Engrave your bike frame and take photos of bike and accessories.

Neighbourhood Watch areas work against crime: the public are the eyes and ears for the police in our neighbourhood.

Keeping people informed, being observant and alert, is being proactive against crime. The police can only be in one place at a time, and the area they cover is large.

Any information the public can give Police helps in their investigations. Come to a meeting, see what we do and show support for your NHW area (details on front page).
